E. M. Hastings, Grand Treasurer.

Montgomery, December 4, 1860.

Companion E. M. Hastings, from the committee to revise the Constitution of the Grand Chapter, made a report, and it was made the special order for to-morrow at 3 o'clock.

Companion R. C. Torrey made the following report from the Committee on Foreign Correspondence, and it was received and ordered to be published with the printed proceedings:
To the M. E. Grand Chapter of Alabama:

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence beg leave to report, that they have had the pleasure and the task, of examining the proceedings of the following Grand Chapters:

California. 1860 | Mississippi 1860
Canada 1860 | Missouri 1860
Florida 1860 | New Jersey 1859-60
Georgia 1860 | North Carolina 1859-60
Indiana 1859 | South Carolina 1860
Iowa 1859-60 | Ohio 1859-60
Kentucky 1860 | Tennessee 1859
Louisiana 1860 | Texas 1860
Maine 1860 | Vermont 1859
Maryland & Dist. of Colum 1859 | Virginia 1859
Michigan 1859 | Wisconsin 1860

We notice, in the first place, a pleasant contrast in the matters presented in their proceedings, with what met our eye one year ago. Then a question was agitated respecting not only the powers, but the existence of the General Grand Chapter. Many considered it not only a useless body, but as a positive evil. Others strenuously contended for its great utility and continued existence. The difficulty between it and the Grand Chapter of Michigan added fuel to the fire. The Grand Chapters of Virginia, Florida and Pennsylvania, had never acknowledged its jurisdiction, while those of Kentucky and North Carolina had withdrawn. Several others were making preparations to withdraw.

This state of things called forth, in the several State Grand Chapters, much discussion, which involved the origin and history of Capitoluar Masonry, and the powers and appropriate duties of the General Grand Chapter. Sufficient on this subject was said by us in our last report. We now allude to it thus to express our pleasure at the happy change which we perceive in the manner and tone of the latter proceedings. The General Grand Chapter has voluntarily divested itself of several assumptions of power. It has now become rather an advisory tribunal—an arbiter to decide questions and disputes which may be voluntarily referred to it—and undertaking to promulgate and establish a uniform system of work; and this, in view of the ability and zeal of the very learned and enlightened Companions who have it in charge, we hope and trust it may fully accomplish. We caused the revised Constitution of this august body to be printed in the proceedings of our last Convocation, and to it we would refer all who desire more particularly to ascertain its office and powers. It succeeded in healing the Michigan difficulty by a course which smacked more of expediency than of assertion of authority—but which had the merit of getting out of a difficulty by the shortest route. Sufficient for us that harmony prevails in Michigan.

We are struck, too, with the general and uniform harmony which prevails throughout the Masonic body from Canada to Mexico, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Happily for us, too, we are relieved from discussing many points which engaged our attention a year ago.

The increase of Royal Arch Masonry in the new jurisdictions in the West, appears to be healthy and probably not too rapid, while in the older States it is not exciting more than ordinary zeal.

With these preliminaries we propose to bring together some of the matters which may possess a more general interest, as they are presented in the printed proceedings of the several Grand Chapters, so far as they have reached us.

California.—May, 1860—Henry Hare Hartley, G. H. P. In his opening address the G. H. P. says that the past year has been one of general prosperity. Not one of the Companions who met at the preceding meeting had been summoned hence by death.

He heartily approves of the amendments of the Constitution of the General Grand Chapter, by which its assumed powers have been so much curtailed that it cannot be considered anything but an advisory body, without power to do harm.

He expresses an opinion that when a member of a Symbolic Lodge, who is a Royal Arch Mason, is suspended for non-payment of dues by his Lodge, it operates as a suspension in the Chapter, the only difference being that in the one case he may restore himself by paying his dues, while in the other case a vote of the Lodge is required.

The Committee on Jurisprudence sustain this view, and say: "We are prohibited by the ancient rules of the Order from holding Masonic intercourse with a suspended Mason, during the period of his suspension, and that it is not the province of any individual Mason, or any body of Masons, other than that which possesses jurisdiction in the case, to enquire either into the cause or manner of that suspension. * * * The Symbolic degrees being the foundation on which the entire structure of Masonry rests, the standing of a Mason should be good in his Lodge, to entitle him to Masonic fellowship in the Chapter; otherwise he could enjoy all the privileges and rights of a Royal Arch Mason, which include those of a Master Mason, while he would be regarded as masonically unworthy to enter a Lodge. Such an absurdity Masonry does not tolerate.” A similar decision has been made by the Grand Chapter of Iowa.

On the subject of dimitting, the Committee on Jurisprudence say: “Our association is purely voluntary. Originally composed of operatives, for operative purposes, drones were not permitted to enjoy its benefits; neither was any one compelled to work. Whilst the drones were expelled from the Lodge, those who preferred to withdraw from the active labors of the craft had only to signify their desire. The rules which governed the fraternity while they were operative builders, are the ancient usages and customs of the Order by which we are now governed; these rules are the common law of our Order.”

Canada.—Annual Convocation, February, 1860, and Special Convocation, July, 1860. Thomas Douglas Harrington, Grand Z. This Grand Chapter is now recognized by the Supreme Grand Chapter of England, and is in correspondence with all, or nearly all, the Grand Chapters of the United State. It adopts the intermediate degrees of Past Master and M. E. Master, which are not recognized in England. The principal officers are the Grand Z., Grand H., and Grand J. Eighteen Chapters are under its jurisdiction.

Florida.—January, 1860. The Grand H. P., D. P. Holland, says: “Recollect that oratory is not Masonry; poetic imagery, fluency of language, scholarship and ability to disclose the vaults of ancient mysteries, are not of themselves Masonry. Be not then deceived by false teachers. To know what Masonry is, ask yourself what was Masonry?—for what it was, it must ever be else we are at fault. To ascertain and discover Ancient Masonry, and disconnect the spurious from the genuine, test that work which is offered you by the Masonic trying-square, which is the several lectures or traditions, and then if it is square work, and plumb work, it is such work as you are authorized to receive.”

This is well, and well said. He pays a feeling tribute to the memory of that "old Father of Masonry in Florida," P. G. H. P., Gad Humphries.

He considers that the present Constitution of the General Grand Chapter has made it a thing of name and not of power, and sees no reason why his Grand Chapter should connect itself with it.

It was ruled: That when a candidate has been balloted for and accepted, and the Lodge closed, a Lodge can be opened below with a less number than is necessary to open a Chapter.

That a P. M., by degree, who has never been a Master of a Lodge, cannot be present at the conferring the P. M. degrees by Masters of Symbolic Lodges.

That the degree of P. M. is conferred in a Chapter only for the purpose of qualifying the applicant to take the Royal Arch degree.

GEORGIA.—April, 1860. The G. H. P., P. T. Schley, is not profoundly impressed with the dignity or utility of the General Grand Chapter, even with its amended Constitution. He remarks that "the sixth amendment, which would have stricken from the degrees that of P. M. was lost by an overwhelming vote, the Grand Chapters of Indiana and Georgia only voting in the affirmative—and which vote would seem to contradict the boasting of our learned Masonry—that Free Masonry is a science—as I am not aware of any science or art, unless it be the art of Signor Blitz, McAllister or Jacobs, which admits or practices such farce, flummery, and disgraceful foolery, as has been done by many in qualifying (!!) a Master to preside. * * Perhaps it is well enough it should form a part of the Constitution of such a Grand Chapter; which by its own vote, has shorn itself of all dignity and even power to command respect or obedience."

There is undoubtedly much occasion for the severe criticism of our M. E. Companion, in the manner in which the degree of Past Master is too often conferred; but we think that this abuse might be corrected, and the degree with propriety retained. If there is utility in the degree, the improper manner in which it is frequently conferred, is not a good reason for blotting it out.

He further adds: "The General Grand Chapter was about half opened after a sort of fashion, new to me; and it was not closed, except in a half sort of a row. Such is the body from which we are to obtain the true light, and at whose Fount to drink the living waters of Sublime Masonry."

We trust our worthy Companion will attend the next Convocation of the General Grand Chapter at Memphis, in September, 1862, and there give to Companions Mackey, Penn, Hillyer, Lewis, and others, the aid of his acknowledged skill and experience.

He gives good advice when he says that he "fears that Companions too often seek office more from a notion of its honors, than a desire to learn and discharge its duties creditably to themselves, or the information and satisfaction of their Companions. It is not every Companion who is called a clever fellow, that should be put in office. The Companions of every Chapter should look well to the social position and standing of those whom they elect to office. He should be not only a clever fellow, but a clever man in mind, talents, acquirements and zeal as a Mason, and a zeal according to knowledge.

Among the edicts of this Grand Chapter we find the following:

"The presiding officer of a Chapter is, for the time being, supreme; and no appeal can be taken from his decision, and such appeal be decided by the Chapter. The redress is by appeal to the Grand Chapter, to whom the presiding officer is alone amenable."

"Neither of the first three officers of a Chapter shall call upon any other than a Past or Present High Priest to preside."

"All Chapters under the jurisdiction of this Grand Chapter are prohibited from conferring the degrees upon an unaffiliated Mason."

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence "hit off" the General Grand Chapter in the following rather grandiloquent and ironical manner: "The General Grand Scaffolding, by the agency of which this magnificent structure has been erected, and by whose presence the beauty and splendor of the principal arches are somewhat obscured, having accomplished the purpose for which it was erected, and proving somewhat troublesome in the Grand Arch of Michigan, received a blow from the setting mall of Companion Coffinberry, that shook the entire structure. North Carolina and Kentucky, alarmed at the danger, violently tore down the post in front of their strong arches, and seven others were in favor of destroying the whole. The Master Builders and such workmen as could trace their official genealogy from the first erection of this modern contrivance, recently met and took down all but the base poles and basement story of this threatening structure; leaving these, we presume, for the purpose of affording the G. G. Council recently in session, a conspicuous place for exemplifying the true work, when discovered; but intimating by their record, that in a few years, when the Western porches shall have been completed, all this rubbish will be removed. Then a platform will be erected in front of this magnificent Temple, and the Craft, assembled to witness the dedication and divine approval, with one accord will involuntarily raise their hands in admiration of its transcendant beauty, and exclaim, RABBONI!"

The committee then present a review of the proceedings of the several Grand Chapters which have come before them, and conclude their able and interesting report by again throwing their sharp fires into the body of the General Grand Chapter after this fashion: "We are truly rejoiced that the body of this National Masonic Patient, after having its constitution so thoroughly repaired, has been placed under the care of that learned physician and eminent Mason, M. E.
Comp. Mackey, to be raised to working condition; for he will surely raise it by a stronger grip than any other Companion within our knowledge, if there shall be found sufficient vitality in the debilitated system to induce reaction; if not, there is no one better qualified to embalm it according to the strictest Egyptian ceremonies."

Considering how harmless as well as useless the General Grand Chapter is alleged to be, and doomed to death and burial, it has called forth a wonderful amount of comment. As a matter of literary justice, we add that the report is from the pen of Companion
M. P. Kellogg.

INDIANA.—May, 1859. M. E. Daniel K. Hays, G. H. P., declares that a non-affiliating Mason cannot hold membership in a Chapter; that the original intent of Royal Arch Masons was that their members should maintain a good standing and membership in a Lodge of Craft Masons. The fact that a Companion being expelled by a Lodge, deprives him, without the action of a Chapter, of all the rights and privileges of Royal Arch Masonry, teaches the same doctrine.

The above rule does not prevail with us, and, we think, for good reasons. A non-affiliated Mason is subject to the action of the Lodge within whose jurisdiction he resides. Though he cannot be compelled to attend its meetings or pay dues, he may be tried by it, and suspended or expelled; which suspension or expulsion does not relate to his membership, but is a deprivation of all the rights and benefits of Free Masonry. One member of a Lodge might prevent a most worthy Companion from affiliation in that Lodge, yet nothing would be more unjust than to allow such action to deprive that Companion of his privileges as a Royal Arch Mason, and contrary to the unanimous desire of the members of a Chapter.

The G. H. P. further says that a dimit should not be granted to any one, simply because he desires to get rid of his membership.
He may have leave to withdraw—but without a dimit.

To the question whether a High Priest, in the absence of all Past High Priests, can install himself into office, he replies that he cannot. No one can take upon himself this office, but he "must be called and chosen" and "set apart" to this high office by one higher than himself.

With regard to the singular request of two Companions, who desired a total severance of their connexion with Masonry, because they regarded it as contrary to the teachings of the Bible, he properly says that these Companions either do not understand Masonry, or they do not understand the Bible. With equal propriety he says they ought to be allowed to withdraw.

He considers the General Grand Chapter not only calculated to preserve the unity and protect the interests of Royal Arch Masonry throughout this Confederacy, "but a means of preserving the cement of National Brotherhood from the East to the West, and between the North and the South of this greatest, freest and best of all countries."

He adds: "That it has been said of many in times past, that they were the most profane and drunken class of the community. I am sorry to have to admit that there was ever any truth in the charge; but there has been some ground for such complaint, and there still is, to some extent."

This is a mortifying confession, and we trust it will apply to but few localities. Possibly in this we may find a key to the request of those two, who desired to withdraw from Masonry, finding it to be contrary to the teachings of the Bible. If they judged Masonry by such fruits, their request was not unreasonable. We find no report from a Committee on Correspondence.

Kentucky.—October, 1860. The G. H. P., Thomas Todd, reports Royal Arch Masonry to be thoroughly disseminated throughout the State, many Chapters at work, with full membership, and high character. There is about one Chapter to four working Lodges, and one Royal Arch Mason to six Master Masons—which is a natural and proper proportion.

The General Grand Chapter, (from which Kentucky is severed) finds no favor in his eyes, notwithstanding its modified Constitution. He thinks that if the ten or fifteen gentlemen who enjoy the high sounding titles of the General Grand Chapter were satisfactorily honored and rewarded elsewhere, and their Masonic ambition gratified, the General Grand Chapter itself would be suffered quietly to fall to pieces and be forgotten.

When we reflect that the General Grand Chapter exercises no jurisdiction in Kentucky, and that its officers are among the most enlightened, laborious and respected Masons in the United States, this imputation of personal and unworthy motives is most uncharit­able, ungenerous and unjust.

He urges a compilation of the history of Royal Arch Masonry in that State.

A newly revised Constitution is published in the proceedings.

Louisiana.—February, 1860. The G. H. P., Comp. Fellows, objects to the requirement of a collar, to be worn as part of the clothing of a Royal Arch Mason, and thinks it an innovation, introduced from a foreign jurisdiction. He thinks that the triangle within the circle on the flap of the apron, incorrectly placed, but that the position of the two should be reversed.

Your committee do not profess to be sufficiently well versed in the mere externals of dress to express an opinion on the above points, but are inclined to think that it is immaterial how such questions are settled.

He thinks that exact uniformity in words and mere forms are not essential, in comparison with uniformity in the ties which bind us together, in the means of recognition, and in the order of succession of the various steps in the ceremonies pertaining to the several degrees; that the good time is near at hand when uniformity of principles, ideas and thoughts will be attained.

He favors the abolition of all dues from the craft, except to the Blue Lodges, on the ground that many are deterred from advancing beyond the Symbolic degrees, by the increasing dues which attend each step, till the amount at length becomes alarming; that these higher bodies ought to be supported by the fees alone, which being once paid, there is an end of further compulsory contributions. He states that this principle of exemption from dues has been adopted by the Grand Council in Louisiana, and that it works well.

The committee to whom this subject was referred, reported adversely to the views of the G. H. P., and declare, that in the assessment of dues in all Masonic bodies, this principle should obtain, to possess only such amount as will meet the absolute incidental expenses. By abolishing dues and depending upon the uncertain resource of fees for degrees, you subject your Chapter not only to the embarrassment of debt, but to a greater curse, the plea of expediency for receiving into the fraternity those who otherwise would be rejected, merely to replenish the treasury. And they cite an instance where a Lodge was nearly ruined by adopting the policy of depending upon fees alone.

We think the committee had the best of the argument.
Among the edicts of this Grand Chapter, we find one declaring it incompetent for a subordinate Chapter to confer degrees on a Master Mason who has but one arm. We believe this principle is adopted by the General Grand Chapter, and by most of the Grand Chapters in the United States. It has always seemed to us one of extreme hardship, and not devoid of injustice. If a member of a Chapter loses his right arm, we do not, on that account, deprive him of his membership, nor of any of the rights and privileges of Masonry, except that of further advancement. If worthy Companions are retained, notwithstanding this misfortune, it is difficult to show, on principle, why others in like condition and equally worthy, should not be received. We honor the Master Mason who, in defence of Right and Truth, his country, his altar or his home, loses his right arm, and—we close the veils of the Tabernacle against him. We commiserate his misfortune, and sympathise with his loss, and commend his bravery; and then we reward him by telling him that he is no longer fit to be received as one among us. One misfortune is assumed to be a sufficient ground for adding another. If he appeals to us, that upon his first entrance into the Lodge he was taught that it was the internal and not the external qualities of a man which Masonry requires, we must reply to him that this is an exception to the principles which Masonry teaches. If he insists that the "Rule and Guide of our Faith and Practice" assures him that the loss of the offending right hand is no bar to his reception into the kingdom of Heaven, we must answer that there is a principle connected with our ritual—mere form—which cannot yield to such considerations as these. He must be content with knowing that the loss of an arm is a sufficient reason for being debarred from receiving or diffusing further Masonic light and knowledge among men. Though the heart be in the right place, the arm is not, and he can go no further. Do we not herein sacrifice a great principle to an inferior one?

No Chapter under the jurisdiction of this Grand Chapter can confer the Chapter degrees upon a non-affiliated Mason.

Maine.—May, 1860. The M. E. G. H. P., Moses Dodge, in his opening address, speaking of the General Grand Chapter, says: "With me it has long been a settled belief that the necessary laws of true Masonry are simple and obvious, and approach as near perfection as those of any human institution can; and that centralization of power, legislative enactments, and compulsory Masonic laws, will only have a tendency to mar the primitive beauty and destroy the harmony and purity of those landmarks that were ordained and instituted for our government and guidance long centuries ago, and which are consecrated in the heart of every true craftsman."

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence, in their report in relation to the same subject, express their belief that "the strength of the Masonic tie and of this body has been tested in a manner to inspire new confidence in its mission, and to establish its moral power on firmer foundations than it ever rested upon before."

Maryland and District of Columbia.—May, 1860. James Goszler, G. H. P., comments, in his address, upon a difficulty created by the refusal of the Council of High Priest to ordain a Companion who had been only elected H. P. of a Chapter, and by which they prevented him from exercising the duties of his office—a resolution of the Grand Chapter making such ordination a prerequisite to his entering upon his official functions. He recommends an alteration of their Constitution, disclaiming this right. He remarks that while he admits the beauty of the degree, he sees no utility in it, or that a Companion is better qualified to perform the duties of High Priest of a Chapter, after he has received it, than he was before.

Mississippi.—January, 1860. The address of the G. H. P., M. S. Ward, is confined to local matters. The Committee on Foreign Correspondence review, with comparative brevity, the proceedings of twenty-six Grand Chapters. We observe nothing in it which calls for special comment.

The Grand Chapter adopts and warmly recommends the "Book of the Chapter," by Comp. Mackey, and resolve: "That Royal Arch Chapters have no right to confer the Past Master's degree on a Master Mason, merely for the purpose of qualifying him to preside as Master of a Blue Lodge."

A committee reported that the General Grand Chapter might be useful as an advisory body, with power to adopt and recommend to State Grand Chapters a uniform system of work and lectures—to act as arbiters between conflicting jurisdictions, and settle questions of Masonry; and it was resolved that the late amendments to its Constitution have removed the great cause of dissatisfaction and objection to such a body, and that they were willing to continue their connexion with it for the present.

Missouri.—May, 1860. J. W Crane, G. H. P. A prosperous and most harmonious condition of Royal Arch Masonry is announced. The Committee on Foreign Correspondence review the proceedings of eighteen Grand Chapters. The proceedings relate almost entirely to matters of local interest.

New Jersey.—M. W Goodwin, G. H. P. We have the proceedings of the Grand Chapter from its organization in 1856, to its last Convocation in 1859. The G. H. P. says that the fierce political storm, which swept over the land in 1827, so completely prostrated Royal Arch Masonry in this State, that all his endeavors to ascertain the origin of the old Royal Arch Chapter have proved ineffectual. We trust that with patience and perseverance, some secret ark or vault may be found which will disclose the desired records. He cautions his Companions against too great haste, and especially against any innovation in the ritual, or deviations from it.

NORTH CAROLINA.—June, 1859. No address from the G. H. P is reported. The Committee on Foreign Correspondence present a brief report, which is mainly devoted to the proceedings of the General Grand Chapter.

A committee reported that the Royal and Select Master's degrees are, or should be, a part and parcel of Royal Arch Masonry; but they reported a resolution, which was adopted by the Chapter, disclaiming all control over these degrees.

OHIO.—October, 1859. George Rex, G. H. P. The G. H. P. advises that Chapters should not be established except in large cities or a densely populated county, where their jurisdiction would be comparatively limited in territory.

He also ruled, that a member who had been indefinitely suspended could not be reinstated except by petition and unanimous vote—but the Chapter decided that a Royal Arch Mason, indefinitely suspended for unmasonic conduct, may be restored at the pleasure of the Chapter pronouncing the sentence, by a majority vote, at a stated meeting, on proper petition filed one month before being voted upon, such vote being by ballot.

The G. H. P. also complains that members of subordinate Chapters are frequently suspended for non-payment of dues, and during the term of such suspension, no dues are paid for them to the Grand Chapter. By paying their dues to their Chapters, they become reinstated, but the dues to the Grand Chapter are not accounted for.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence present a brief report, which is mainly devoted to the proceedings of the Grand Chapter of New York.

The Committee on Jurisprudence reported that the expulsion of a member of a Chapter by a Lodge of Master Masons, expels him from a Chapter without action on its part, for the reason of the requisite of his being a Master Mason in good standing is thereby taken away. The restoration of the expelled member by the Lodge does not restore him to membership in the Chapter; and in order to restore him to such membership, the same proceedings are necessary in the Chapter as in the Lodge.
The Committee on Grievances had nothing before them.

Ohio.—October, 1860. The M. E. High Priest condemns in strong terms the too common case of using substitutes when only one or two Companions are exalted at the same time. This practice, which had its origin in what is called "convenience" he declares to be "contrary to the traditions, usages, teachings and obligations of the order, and should be abandoned at once and forever in every Chapter in which it has obtained." The Grand Chapter adopted a resolution concurring in this opinion, but failed to pass an edict prohibiting it.

It was decided that the High Priest of a Chapter cannot, by virtue of his office, confer the degree of Past Master on the Master elect of a Lodge of Master Masons, except upon a petition presented to the Chapter over which he presides, and after the applicant has received the degree of Mark Master. The degree of Past Master, regularly conferred in a convention of Past Masters, is legal, and need not again be conferred upon the recipient, should he apply for the Chapter degrees. But he cannot sit in a Lodge of Past Masters, under the authority of a Chapter, until he has received the degree of Mark Master.

It was further decided that the exaltation of a Royal Arch Mason constituted him a member of the Chapter without his signing the By-Laws. Also, that the installation of any officer of a Chapter by proxy, either with or without notice to him, is inconsistent with the obligations which he is required to assume, and unauthorized by the obligations of Royal Arch Masonry.

South Carolina.—February, 1860. Comp. Mackey, the M. E. High Priest, and G. G. High Priest of the General Grand Chapter, has much to say respecting the latter body, and its new Constitution. He conscientiously believes that it now possesses more power for good, and less for evil, than it has ever had since its organization in 1806. He states that the representatives of the Grand Chapters of Mississippi, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan, attended the last Convocation under instructions either to procure permission to withdraw, or obtain a dissolution of the General Grand body; but they were so well satisfied with the amendments of the Constitution, that they became advocates of its continuance.

Our Companion has high hopes that it will accomplish much in seeing "that the ancient work of the order is preserved in the several degrees."

He declares that for the last six years the idea has been fast gaining ground, that the sole ground for the controversies in 1853 was the ignorance of some (who should have known better) of the true meaning of the symbolism of the lost and recovered word. The latter especially was considered simply as a sign of recognition, a password or countersign which was to secure admission to its possessor, and to some as a test of his having been accepted, and not what it really is, the philosophic expression of a profound idea, the symbol of a great truth on which the whole system of speculative Masonry depends, and for the preservation of which alone Royal Arch Masonry was constructed. Hence he attaches great importance to the result of the investigations of the enlightened committee who are to make their report at the Convocation at Memphis, in 1862.

We find nothing further in these proceedings calling for special comment.

TENNESSEE.—October, 1859. An excellent address was delivered by the G. H. P., Robert S. Moore, from which we make the following extract: “While many are flocking to our portals, and all is enthusiasm within, is there not much danger that some material may be introduced which is scarcely fit for the builder’s use, and which can add neither strength nor beauty to the edifice? I am fearful that many seek admission from motives of vain glory and idle curiosity; and when admitted, they are over zealous for a time; but when the novelty has worn away, you will hardly ever find them within our sacred walls.”

A well considered report from the Committee on Foreign Correspondence is presented, from the pen of Comp. C. A. Fuller, who is also Grand Secretary.

TEXAS.—June, 1860. The proceedings are comprised in a carefully prepared volume of 130 pages. The G. H. P., Comp. William T. Austin, devotes much of his address to a consideration of the acts, powers and duties of the General Grand Chapter, and expresses a decided hostility to that body. If it be so powerless as he admits it to be, it must surely be harmless, and we see but little occasion for the indignation which appears to be kindled within him against it. Dispensations have been issued to eight new Chapters, during the previous year.

Subordinate Chapters are prohibited from conferring the degrees of R. A. Masonry upon any but affiliated Master Masons.

Among important memoranda, we find the following: October 24, 1797, Preliminary meeting at Boston, Mass., of three Chapters.

January 24, 1798, organization of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Northern States of America.

September, 1798, first meeting after organization, for choice of officers.
January 9, 1799, name changed to "General Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the Northern States of America."

January 9, 1806, name changed to that of "The General Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the United States of America."

Among the standing regulations is one declaring that installations of officers of Chapters under Dispensation shall no longer take place.

That new Chapters shall not be established within thirty-five miles of one previously existing.

That the practice of working in Chapters on the Lord's day, is highly reprehensible.

That the subordinate Chapters are positively instructed not to confer the Chapter degrees on any one who is addicted to profane swearing, gambling, or intemperance, such being unfit material for the Royal Arch Temple, whose corner stone is morality, as taught by the Holy Bible.

Vermont.—August, 1859. The M. E. G. H. P., John S. Webster, assures us that Royal Arch Masonry in that State, stands as firm as the granite rocks of her everlasting Green Mountains.

He complains of the act of a Chapter in New York, which conferred the degrees upon an applicant from Vermont, who had previously put his petition before a Vermont Chapter, and while the latter Chapter had not acted upon it. This act was discourteous, if not illegal.

Virginia.—December, 1859. M. E., P B. Starke, G. H. P. No address of the G. H. P is reported, and the Committee on Foreign Correspondence failed to get the proceedings of the several Grand Chapters in time to make a report.

It was resolved that a Royal Arch Mason should not be deprived of his membership in the Chapter, simply because he was not an affiliated Master Mason. The attention of this body was directed to local matters, and these were few.

Wisconsin.—February, 1860. The G. H. P., H. L. Palmer, pays a tribute to the memory of John W Hunt, late Grand Secretary. Dispensations had been issued to five new Chapters.

The Committee on Jurisprudence reported that a subordinate Chapter could suspend any of its officers except the High Priest, for non-payment of dues.

2. That a Chapter may be closed by a less number than nine. This conclusion our Companions of North Carolina think hasty. They say that in such a contingency the Chapter should be "called off."

3. That in cases of exaltation, one or more Companions may be substituted in lieu of regular candidates; but this power should be cautiously exercised, and not adopted as a general rule.

Michigan.—January, 1859. The annual address of Companion Coffinberry, G. H. P., is chiefly devoted to matters of local interest, and the General Grand Chapter. We trust that his triumph in his contest with the P. G. G. H. P. will now reconcile him to the modified existence of the General Grand Body.

Forty-three pages of the printed proceedings are taken up with the elaborate report of a special committee on the same subject, the result of whose deliberations was a recommendation that the General Grand Chapter be dissolved. All this was done, however, before the last triennial meeting at Chicago.

Iowa.—Kimball Porter, M. E. G. H. P. The proceedings for 1859 and 1860 reach us, printed in one pamphlet, for the reason, we learn, that the Grand Secretary was not supplied with sufficient funds to print those of the preceding year earlier.

Comp. Eastman, G. H. P., 1859, thus beautifully sets forth the office and design of Masonry: "Has the recording angel written in the history of the year, that the close of it leaves us morally and socially better than the beginning found us—that the fire of brotherly love, relief and truth is burning upon the altar of our hearts—that the light and warmth of our sympathy and benevolence have been seen and felt in dark and benighted corners—that the warm hand of our charity has bound up the broken heart, and relieved the distress of suffering humanity when there was no human eye to see the hand, and no tongue to reveal the author! Such in my view is the great object and mission of Masonry. Its original design was to make its members morally and socially better, and secretly to answer the calls of distress, and provide a home for the orphan. I say secretly, for it was never the design of Masonry to publish its good deeds to the world. As we meet in retired places, so is the whole world to be kept in ignorance of our errands of mercy. Even the recipients are not to know the heart that sympathises, or the hand that relieved. Masonry, like the deep mystic river, should move on its mission in silence and in secret, until all things are revealed by Him, from whom nothing can be hid."

He warns us against a too numerous class whom he terms "traveling vagabonds," who "go from Mason to Mason, and from Lodge to Lodge, seeking charity upon a pretense of some woeful calamity. I have never met with one of them who was not a base counterfeit, and I make it a rule to turn my back upon that class of beggars, and to warn all, and especially young and uninformed Masons, to have no fellowship with them."

He observes that a Charter may be revoked, and yet the members cannot rightfully retain it, and pretend to meet by virtue of it. But they will be clandestine to all intents and purposes. A Chapter exists and acts by virtue of having been regularly established and chartered, and not by virtue of having the parchment in the hall.
Strangers might refuse to meet with them if their Charter was not there, but the absence of the Charter would not make them clandestine.

P. G. H. P. Eastman offered the following, which was adopted by a vote of 23 to 15

Resolved, That we believe that the ancient landmarks of Masonry make all Grand Masonic bodies sovereign and independent; and therefore we declare this Grand Chapter sovereign and independent, and in no manner whatever subject to the General Grand Chapter of the United States, and this Grand Chapter is absolved from all connexion therewith.

New Jersey.—T. J. Carson, G. H. P. The proceedings for September, 1860, have just reached us. This, one of the youngest Grand Chapters, in one of the oldest States, continues in a flourishing con­

We learn from the report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence, that our Companions of Arkansas, whose proceedings have not reached us, "Resolved, That whenever there are not present nine regular Royal Arch Masons, there is no Chapter. And if a Chapter is regularly opened with that number, and afterwards one withdraws, leaving but eight present, the assemblage is no longer a Chapter; therefore, it cannot be formally closed, nor can it "call off" until another day: the members can only disperse, and there will be no Chapter in session again until it is again regularly opened."

It strikes us that this would involve the anomaly of twice opening a Chapter without once closing it in the interval: and we cannot yield our consent to a rule which looks so much like an absurdity.
We think the better reason will allow the Chapter to "call off," even to a regular Convocation—although the same Grand Chapter, (Arkansas) decided that "under no circumstances can a Chapter
"call off" until another day or evening;" in which opinion we are again compelled to differ from them.

North Carolina.—June, 1860. E. F. Watson, G. H. P. The address of the H. P. is a well considered and carefully written docuin his heart. We would hardly know where to make an extract, where so much is worthy of it, did our space permit.

The Committee on Correspondence report on the proceedings of twenty Grand Chapters, in an able and instructive manner. The General Grand Chapter meets with no favor in their eyes. They do not agree with our Companions in Missouri, who think a Chapter may be closed with a less number than nine, but say the proper course is to "call off," otherwise the unauthorised withdrawal of members might leave a Lodge or Chapter "to close itself." Is not this the predicament in which our Arkansas Companions would place the matter?

We have now finished our review, and brought our labors to a close. We conceive the duty of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence is to present an abstract of the proceedings of the several Grand Bodies which are in correspondence with us—to state such matters pertaining to the history, jurisprudence and regulations of Royal Arch Masonry, and the resolutions, edicts and acts of the Grand Chapters, which are of general interest to the craft.

The comments and opinions which we have thought it proper to express, are to be received as those of the committee alone, and not obligatory upon the Grand Chapter. We do not wish to encroach upon the rights and duties of the Committee on Jurisprudence. Their sphere is juridical, ours is historical.

With these remarks we close our report. It has been hastily prepared amid the press of business, and the matters which are always crowded upon us when the several Masonic bodies are assembled at the same time and place. These are our excuses for what may appear crude and not well digested or arranged in it.

R. C. TORREY, Chairman.

Companion W E. Beaird made the following report from the Committee on Appeals, and the report was received and concurred in:

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON APPEALS.

Your committee, to whom was referred the petition of Joseph Webb Morris, of the State of Arkansas, stating that he is a member of Courtland Chapter, No. 25, praying the Grand Chapter to grant him a dimit, for reasons therein stated, have had the same under consideration, and are of opinion that the Grand Chapter has no authority to grant a dimit to a member of a Subordinate Chapter. We therefore recommend that said petition be transmitted to Courtland Chapter, and instruct them to grant the dimit, if no good reason exists why the same should not be done.

Respectfully and fraternally submitted.
