GRADUATES OF 1861.

The College Company having been ordered by the Governor to the defence of the coast on the fall of Port Royal, the usual examination of the Senior Class did not take place in November, nor the Commencement Exercises in December. But, at the suggestion of the Board of Trustees, the Faculty recommended the names of those of the Graduating Class who were in the service of the country, for the Degree of A.B., to wit:

Sophomore Class........................................ 24
Freshman Class.......................................... 10
Total.................................................... 72
The attention of parents, guardians and teachers is particularly called to the requisitions for admission into the Freshman Class, and to the studies of the other classes of the College. The Faculty have resolved that, except in very peculiar and extraordinary cases, no young man shall hereafter be examined for any class who has not both read and thoroughly reviewed all that is required for admission. When the certificate of his teacher does not distinctly state this fact, the applicant will be asked whether or not he has done so, and in all cases in which a negative answer is given, an examination shall be refused to the candidate. Hereafter applicants may expect to be thoroughly examined in Arnold’s Latin Prose Composition, and teachers are requested to pay special attention to this requisition. A thorough knowledge of Arithmetic being essential to success in all the classes of the College, applicants must be prepared for a full and searching examination in this study. All applicants will be held to an examination in English Grammar, Geography and Ancient History.
A candidate for admission must satisfy the Faculty, by written testimonials, that he sustains a good moral character. In ordinary cases, the certificate must be signed by his last instructor. If from another College, his standing in that College must be shown to have been good at the time of his leaving it. The stated time for the examination of applicants is the day after Commencement; and hereafter, except in extraordinary cases, none will be examined at any other time.

Applicants from other States will be examined at any time during the session.

Students admitted to advanced standing, in addition to the requisites for admission to the Freshman Class, must be prepared for an examination in the studies which have been pursued by the class that they desire to enter, and by the preceding classes, or in other studies equivalent to them.
FOR ADMISSION TO THE FRESHMAN CLASS.

A candidate is required to have an accurate knowledge of the English, Latin and Greek Grammars, including Prosody. Morse's or Worcester and Woodbridge's Geography. Mitchell's Ancient Geography. Arithmetic, including fractions, simple and compound proportion, and the extraction of roots. Bourdon's Algebra, to Chapter IX., or Loomis' Algebra, to Sec. XVIII.

There are three recitations in each class, daily; one after morning prayers; one at 11 o'clock, a. m.; one at 4 o'clock, p. m. On Saturday morning there is one in each class. The recitations continue for one hour. Besides the recitations, there are lectures, rhetorical exercises, and especial attention is paid to English composition in all the classes.
LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains twenty-four thousand volumes. A liberal sum annually granted by the Legislature, provides for the constant increase of the number of books. The Library is opened Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, for the accommodation of the students. Resident graduates, in common with under-graduates, have the privilege of taking out books.

Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two literary societies, which are respectively reserved for the use of their members.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

There are five Scholarships in the College: One founded by Hon. J. L. Manning, yielding an income of $350 a year; two by Wade Hampton, Jr., yielding each an income of $210; one by Hiram B. Hutchinson, yielding $350, and one by Hon. R. F. W Allston, with an income of $420. These are awarded by the Faculty to young men of more than ordinary merit and attainments, whose circumstances require that they should be aided in their College course. Candidates who have not been members of the College, and whose character and scholarship are not known to the Faculty, have to undergo a special examination in order to be put on any of these foundations. They are not designed to be simply aids to indigence, but compliments to excellence.

BENEFICIARIES.

The literary societies generally have each a beneficiary, and sometimes a class supports one of its members through College.
RESOLUTION.

The attention of the Commissioners of Free Schools is called to the following resolution of the Board of Trustees:

Resolved, That the Faculty be authorized to receive one student from each Judicial District in the State, free of any charge for tuition, who shall be recommended by the Commissioners of Free Schools within that District: Provided, That there shall not be more than one student at any one time from the said Judicial District.

PRIZE ESSAYS.

Four gold medals, worth $50 each, are annually awarded to the Senior, Junior and Sophomore Classes, for the best Essays on subjects assigned by the Faculty.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses the necessary apparatus for pursuing all the Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical studies prescribed in the course.
EXPENSES.

The stated expenses of the College term, consisting of nine months, paid quarterly in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, room furniture and traveling expenses, are as follows, viz:

Board (in commons) about 37 weeks, at $3 50 per week...$129 50
Tuition, room-rent, and use of library......................... 50 00
Fuel, from.................................................$15 to 25 00
Washing, from..............................................12 to 15 00
Servant hire...................................................... 9 00
Lights, from......................................................6 to 12 00

Total..............................................................$240 50

Board at the licensed boarding-houses varies from $4 to $5 per week.
The College year has only one session, consisting of nine months. It begins on the first Monday in October, and ends about the first of July. In this session three weeks holiday is given, extending from the second Monday in December to the first Monday in January. There are three public examinations of the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman Classes during the session: one in April, one in June, and the rising examination in December. The Senior Class has but one public examination, which begins on the third Monday before Commencement.

The Annual Commencement is on the first Monday in December. The May exhibition is on the nights of the first Thursday and Friday after the first Monday in May. At each of these, the members of the Senior Class, who receive distinctions, are required to deliver speeches.
