Dedication

To Dr. Malvern Dumah Huff, in whose every thought and action has come to repose our implicit faith and to whom we have come to look for guidance, we, with an affection that is far deeper, richer, warmer than mere tongue or pen can embody, do most sincerely dedicate this, the nineteen hundred twenty-eight issue of our ASODECOAN. His even voice bespeaks understanding and encouragement; within his heart is he firm yet tender, inspiring confidence and appreciation; showing a true and zealous interest in that which spells progress; disdaining that which tends toward retrogression. By devotion to an ideal has he done great things, yet is he destined to move onward toward the realization of greater accomplishment. We deem it more than a privilege to dedicate our book to him, whose companionship and association we have come to revere and respect.
Cornelius Celsus, at the time when the Romans conquered Greece, made an extensive study of medicine and dentistry. In the Law of the Twelve Tables, the Romans mentioned teeth bound with gold bands.

Foreword

Along the trail which countless previous staffs have traveled, we have tarried a bit in an effort to find that something which is new and individual. Our results we are now passing on to you, hoping it shall revive the pleasant past in a most brilliant future. As it comes into your hands, may you receive it kindly. We ask you to criticize justly, but not too severely. Then we shall not have labored vainly.

W. E. MECOM, Editor.
Hippocrates, among the Greeks, was first to write of dentistry and medicine, compiling, revising and adding to all the works he could find, and afterward destroyed by fire the temple, wherein he had gathered his writings.

A Year of Progress

Most assuredly has this, in no uncertain terms, been a year of progress. Notwithstanding the fact that the college administration is always striving and succeeding in making each year more complete, but especially, so it is evident, have they succeeded in making this past year the most complete and comprehensive of all. Working in full co-operation with the vision of aiding the great masses of humanity, unselfishly are they accomplishing a great task, and a greater service to mankind. Even as this has been a great year of progress, may there come greater ones to this institution, which is doing its share in fitting men to minister to the suffering of the world and its many nations of people. Such is the spirit of our year of progress.
Summary of School

A full summary of the year would require great length. Here can only generalities be mentioned. The spirit that has been manifest by students, faculty, and administration will long serve to refresh the memory of this year in the heart and mind of the men, who are taking departure of us soon. This particular year has proven a most successful, as well as enjoyable one. Also in this past nine months have come changes in classes and schedules, which will undoubtedly make for higher standards and greater efficiency. The association of professor and instructor with the student seems to have reached a closer nature, and thereby, through their companionship and association we have come to revere them all the more. They have imbued us with a spirit of dentistry that shall never die, and to them be the glory. Forsooth, every man shall cherish the thought of this year.

His grades have been well above 90, and his operative skill is well above the average of the class. This man has a smile as broad and a heart as big as the plains from which he came, and that is Oklahoma. We look with pleasure back over the years he has been with us, in which time he has become a popular favorite with his classmen. His is the manner of the real gentleman: no fooling. SAM W. FENNELL

Sam can do a mean saxophone as well as practice dentistry. And by his smile you can not help but like him; he is friendly and helpful to those about him, and for a man to remain this way through a course in dentistry, it is something that is genuine. A proficient operator and technician, we are confident he is headed for a great future.
SAMUEL STOKES FILER
KEY WEST, FLA.

Florida Club; Cotillion Club.

America's city of perpetual summer gave us a man well worth the knowing. Quiet, reserved and dignified, his is the manner of the true heart. Once a friend of his you are always. His ability is convincing, and his skill undeniable. All who know Stokes think and speak praise of him. There is all the reason in the world to believe that he will come by success early; there are certainly no reasons for believing otherwise.

North Carolina Club; Student Council '26-'27; Class President '27-'28; North Carolina Club; Married Men's Club.

Buck loved the old farm, but the call of dentistry was too great for him. Among his great points these two stand out: unusual ability and a sense of duty that is high. These have endeared "Buck" to all of his classmates. Confidently does he face the future, and we are firm in our conviction that his is to be continued happiness and prosperity.
Joseph W. Fuller, Jr.

Joe came out of Tech High and then started his real work with us. Here he has proven a diligent student and a lover of good books. His work in the laboratory and at the chair is the type of which a man should be proud. His attitude is constantly that of kindness and understanding. We believe Joe is planning to practice in Atlanta. Regardless of that, and wherever he may go, our good wishes for good luck are his.

Here is a man from the sunny lands of Florida, who, by his ever smiling face and willingness to help, has won for himself a host of true and loyal friends. Also during his four years of dentistry, he wooed and won the heart and hand of a mighty fine girl. Together we know that they will find happiness and success soon and plenty of it. Always smiling, always cheerful, always helping, this man has dedicated his life to the cause of dentistry. Glenn is well liked and admired by all of us. Leroy C. Grant
"Joe"
Jackson, N. C.

All-American Club; Cotillion Club; Stray Greek Club; Class Poet '26-'27.

So they say. Leroy forsook a great future in music to study dentistry. In the four years he has been one of us, we have come to like and respect him as a true friend. Here in these four years he has labored earnestly and sincerely. And now that he is on the eve of leaving us, it is with regret that we see him go. The coming years are to be filled with success for him, we are sure.
C. W. Graves
"Daddy"
Nashville, Tenn.
Tennessee Club: Secretary Asodecoan '28.

"Daddy" Graves is one of the most likeable fellows in school. He is never too busy nor too tired to help some other fellow. He served twenty-two months in the army during the war as dental assistant. Here he learned the secret of Exodontia, which has won him so much praise during his infirmary practice. Daddy is a very conscientious, hard-working fellow. And his ambition surely spells success for him.

William Wallace Gravely

\(\Lambda \times \Lambda, \Xi \Phi \Phi\)

South Carolina Club: Masonic Club; Stray Greek Club.

It did not take long for "Bill" to get acquainted in Atlanta, and the more you know him the better you like him. He is a top man in his class, a good student and a better operator; a dependable friend, with personality a plenty. "Bill" is the type who will make a success no matter what he should try. The future looks mighty good for him.
This sturdy lad has certainly been on the map in the years he has labored with us. He has been kind, patient and quiet, and thereby has come by a wide circle of friends. Griffin not only can but does do mighty good work. He is sincere in all that he undertakes, and when it is finished you can bet on it being good. We who know him are sorry we must lose him soon. Yet we wish him success and good fortune all along the way.

In his four years in Atlanta and Atlanta-Southern Roland has made many friends, both in school and out. He is efficient and sincere in his work; conscientious and deserving of the best that life has to give as a reward. We are sure Roland will prove an asset to his profession. His record while here is surpassed by none, and his good works shall lead him toward success.
RAM BEHARI GOIL

Edgar Karlton Halbert

Peter comes to us from the hills of Alabama, and wherever you might chance to meet him he is always smiling. He seems to derive a genuine pleasure from doing his work and doing it well. "E. Stanley William Hall
"Red"
Rockwood, Tenn.
Tennessee Club.

"Red," after finishing from Berea Academy, decided to render humanity some real service, and accordingly cast his lot with the rest of us some four years ago. And happy were we too to have him among us. In that length of years "Red" has proven himself an apt student, and he can deliver dentistry when he is called on. Success be to you, Red, for well can it be said, "He is a hard worker and will waste no time."

Here is a smiling fellow, typical of the sleepy hills of Tennessee, from whence he hails. We, who know him best, have been proud to call him friend, for you can not help but like him. Always ready to help and to understand. “Charlie” keeps happy all the day and goes about his work with a song in his heart. His work shows that he knows how, too. Our good luck and best wishes are yours, Charlie. Take them with you wherever you go.

James Linwood Hester

“Jimmie”

Fort Deposit, Ala.

Alabama Club; Corn Club; Senior Page.

“Jimmy” has not fought the entire four years with us, as he took his freshman year at University of Southern California. However, due to plenty of personality and sincerity, he lost no time in gaining many friends among his class-mates. He stands well up in his class, both scholastically and as an operator. With his cheerful nature and ever helping hand may he climb high, and there we know he will attain success.
Albert Erwin Howell
"Freshman"
East Spencer, N. C.

Another Tar Heel! But he is a real man for all of that, and you will not find any among us who will deny that. A. E. is a very efficient operator and is never completely satisfied with his work, which is always good. Thereby he proves himself a conscientious worker. A. E. is a typical gentleman, a good student, and is never idle. We expect great things in the future from this careful student of dentistry.

Eugene M. Howell
"Gene"
Marion, Ala.

Alabama Club: Three Year Club: Stray Greek Club.

After receiving his A.B. at Birmingham-Southern, "Gene" tried the world and found it cruel; so he decided for a "flowery bed of ease." His earnest efforts, together with his ideals and ambitions, will probably insure this for him in the future. Although retiring, Gene has made friends, both professional and student. His favorite remedy is Herpicide; his chief desire is to get married, and this being leap year, we expect the worst.

It was indeed a lucky day for the profession when this wanderer paused in his travels to pursue the course of dentistry. “Red” makes friends with all with whom he comes in contact, and his personality explains his popularity. His good nature is always unaltering, and he is always ready to help anyone. As a student “Red” has been most successful, and we are sure that his success shall continue with him.

John S. Jenkins

“Wagon” is the only representative we have from the land of pretty women and fast horses. He was most cordially received when he drifted into Georgia. “Jenks” in his four years has been one of the outstanding men of the class, rightfully due to his ever smiling countenance. Charlie Henry Johns, Jr.
“Charlie”

President Xi Psi Phi Fraternity ’28; Chairman Pan-Hellenic Council ’28; Cotillion Club; Stray Greek Club; Georgia Club.

This man is a keen thinker, possesses rare judgment, and is an able operator and orator, the latter being acquired by coming in contact with traveling men, as he was reared beneath the roof of a hotel. He is everybody’s friend. He is popular with and admired by his fellow students. Charlie is an efficient and conscientious operator, and we predict for him a most successful career.

A. H. Johnson
“A. H.”

A ripping good fellow, don’tcha know, being an Englishman. Notwithstanding that, “A. H.” is one of the cleverest students in our midst, and one of our best scholars. He is always ready to do anything for his classmates, and no one ever had a better friend. We are certain that dentistry will be proud of him some day, and we are proud of having known him.

His conscientious striving marks for him an early and continued success, and surely he shall come to be outstanding some day in the profession.
Henry Oscar Johnson
"Cousin Willie"

ASA
Alabama Club: Associate Business Manager

Of a modest and retiring nature, it is necessary for one to know him well before his worth can be fully appreciated, and having had four years to look him over, we can say truthfully that no man in the college enjoys more friendships than does "Bill." His ability to show a sincere personal interest has built for him a large practice at the college, and we predict for him the same success on the outside.

Oren Johnson
"Tater"

Oren came to us as a product of old Auburn. He is the possessor of a rare personality, and stands well up in his classes, where his average is one of the best, although he is no book-worm and combines a bit of practical and social life with his intellectual pursuits, and thereby attains the happy medium. The future looks mighty fine for our friend and companion, Oren.

It has often been said that good things come in small packages. If that be applicable to a human being, "Shorty" is worth his weight in gold. Since being here he has made up for his size by his record of good work. E. B. came to us in '25 and is making the course in three years. All who know him call him friend, and we all wish him luck in his travel and his work.

Red has a mighty likeable disposition and a smile that never shall wear away. He is in earnest and very conscientious in doing his work, and this accounts for his high standing in his class. Due to his love for his work, the diligent way in which he applies himself, and the happiness that is ever with him, his profession shall welcome him and count on his success.
Here is another Tar Heel who is proud to boast of the fact, and we cannot blame him. John is a rather quiet young fellow, and has made a creditable record as a student. When you need a friend John is that friend; you can depend on that. With his friendly disposition and cheerful attitude, we believe most sincerely in him as a long and abundant success.

After a decision that pulling teeth was better than peddling pills, Lehigh left Trenton for the Sunny South to take up his work along that line. From the beginning he earned the reputation of being a hard and steady worker. That is why he has climbed to the top in his classes. With such determination as is his, Leahy is bound for the high-roads of success. Good luck and good speed.
Just name any little or big spot in the nation, and more than likely Lindell has covered it in his travels. He can laugh at cold weather, because he has a mighty warm heart. His friends—and they are many—can vouch for that. He is a good student and a fine operator; a sincere friend and a gentleman. Our best wishes go with him to San Diego, where he intends to practice.

Senior Class History

The history of this memorable class dates back to the fall of 1924, when a few less than a hundred ambitious youths matriculated in Dr. Byrnes' College on the famous old Butler Street.

A great many of us had looked forward to coming to Dental College for many years, and after reading such wonderful things about Atlanta-Southern, we knew there could be no university as great. You can imagine our surprise when we came up in front of the school; we all felt like going back home.

We soon got straightened out and down to work, carving teeth for Dr. Tucker, and mixing plaster for Dr. Varn. Among other things that we learned from them was their technic on calling the roll; so we managed to find out where the Bonita, Cameo, and several other of the show places were located. We had a big year together and came back in the fall all the more determined to be better dentists. We elected Coffey president of the class, and he proved a worthy official. Being "sophs" we were very much insulted if not called Doctor, but we found out that getting that degree was not such a crip after all. We had a good time during the year, even though some of it wasn't as pleasant as we might hope for. It was in the spring of this year that we left the buildings on Butler Street and moved into our new building. We all took a new lease on life.

Then the next fall,—how many of us will ever forget their first patient? We feel greatly indebted to Dr. Enloe, Dr. King, Dr. Simpson, and Dr. Medlin for spending so much time with us during the trying hours. Our number was increased by transfers from Vandy and other schools.

We went home feeling we knew all about cavity preparation, and had a great summer bushwhacking.

At last we are all seniors,—one hundred and two of us. Our anticipations have matured at last, yet it saddens us to realize that soon we will part, and each go his separate way. We will never forget A. S.-D. C. and each other, and shall look forward to coming again to our Alma Mater.

THE STORY

October 1, 1925—

Old "29" pulls out of station "Dumb Dora" Freshman on time, and loaded to the hilt with aspiring young "D.D.S.'s." Before she was hardly in motion, we were run into a sidetrack of getting books, outfits, and checking in. We weren't experienced then; so very little growling was done. The journey this year consisted of playing in plaster, carving teeth, making chemicals, and studying flesh, the foregoing being merely tickets collected at the end of the journey by the respective conductors. The following men leaned out the window and fell off: Cooper, Lindsley, Stephens, Walker, Williams, Wyman, Durham, Jones, Hamerick, and Harrington. We wonder what became of them.

June 1, 1926, Old "29" pulls into station. "Sophisticated Sophs" there to give the tired and weary passengers a rest.

October 1, 1926—

The engineer, with the help of the fireman and switchman, gets the train in motion and again we are off. The same sidetracks again delay, but with much fussing around we get under way. We are kept busy this journey making tickets, such as crowns, bridges, fillings, and plates. And the conductors take them up again. "29" pulls into station "Jubious Juniors" on June 1, 1927, all tired, but feeling good, and our journey half over. The following men wander away from the train, never to find their way back: Allgood, Croft, Foushee, Gunter, Harris, May, Mills, Morris, and McAbee. Almost a corresponding number of new passengers have been picked up along the route.

October 1, 1927—

Old “29” pulls out of station “Jubious Junior” on time and after the usual sidetrack trouble with the switchman we get to making good time. As we gaze out the window who rolls up on a hand-car but Superintendent Foster? After being assured that things are O. K. he rides on beyond us to make sure of our way, and to arrange for us as pleasant and profitable journey as he can. A wonderful superintendent he is, too. This year in Junior lab. coach we experience quite a bit of difficulty with our tickets.—Ray—Lyon, fail us not. Shades of Prothero, but every metal base must have a silver lining, without holes! And so, with et-cetera, we manage to get by. We are next allowed to go in the Pullman where we are allowed to don our “proud white coats.” But soon the Pullman conductor comes along and knocks us for a loop, and were it not for the faithful Pullman porters, it would be h——. Remember how your first bur hung up in the tonsil? We peer back into the sub-Pullman (clinic 2), and see Surgeon Jim developing dark color pigments. In the next coach, which is class-room, we find Leo Seligman still complaining. If we have many more quizzes it’s Milledgeville for him. Over in the corner we see Max and Ishagami in a heated argument, one using Jap dialect and the other babbling “broken bolsheivick.” Skipper X-Rack is still at the helm though and all’s well. Our flagman almost goes to sleep, and lets the freight train of bad work kill us, but he takes a new chew, spits far, and goes in to clear up the near catastrophe. A real pal is the little flagman,—the same today, tomorrow, forever. We near our station of “Isles of Golden Dreams,” and must hurry on. The rails grow rough and tiresome as though the journey will kill us, but each day makes us better prepared for the morrow, and we must carry on. We pull into the station and gaze down the tracks, with this one thought in mind:

“It can’t be long now, and next year with our faithful crew, we shall be riding the crack limited of the road.”

Sophomore Class History

Hear Ye, My Fellowmen and Sufferers, we have come from afar and wide, and bid you lend an ear to what has gone before. Some two years ago, did we not knock and bid entrance through the portals of Atlanta-Southern? As mere inquisitive freshmen we sought to delve into the mysteries of dentistry; at least they were a mystery then. And what, might you ask, should bring us together here? The answer is in the realization of one purpose, one vision, one goal in common. Some of us hail from the mountains of one state, some from the dusty plains of the home land, and others from the lowly swamps of the muddy water country.

In our two years, our number has been greatly augmented by transfers from other schools. Before and after they came, we have stirred our way through several barrels of plaster, pushed many a classmate into near coma in an endeavor to get good impressions, and have cut a goodly distance through the mid-ribs of much dark pigment. Agony has caused us to despair, tempted us to give up the ghost at times, but as the sage hath sung that 'tis darkest just before dawn, that is the way it proved to be, because in between the dull, drab hours many good times and enjoyable hours have come our way.

Having just covered only half the distance of the journey, there is much history yet to be written. If only the next two years prove as fruitful as the past two, then there shall be no cause for regret for what in the future must be written.

While it may have made things a little harder for us, we are proud that our class is the first one to be affected by the five-year ruling at Atlanta-Southern. It will only serve to make the prize we are after all the more worthwhile and all the more appreciated.

There is quite a little thrill in knowing that next year we shall be Juniors. We are having lots of fun, have had lots of fun, and shall have lots of fun, but in justice to a hard-working class, there is one thing to be said:

"We're surely not traveling a rainbow trail."

No foolin'.

Freshman Stunt Night

This year marked the first attempt of our first-year class to carry out a stunt night. With every one of them working in earnest and in harmony, they gave before a large audience of many friends, within and without the college proper, a most creditable, enviable, and enjoyable performance. All the more praise is due them, when you come to realize the disadvantages under which they worked. Everyone was proud of what they did in giving our school its first freshman stunt night. They have established a tradition once and for all that we hope sincerely shall come to be glorified in many more such nights to come, as the years roll by, and each freshman class climbs the ladder.

IN MEMORIAM

Teacher told him not to worry,
Nor to sit up late and cram,
Nor to have a sense of hurry
When he writes down his exam.

And so he did; he did not worry;
Never sat up late to cram;
Never felt the sense of hurry;
But he failed in his exam!

—MAX KRAMER.

Mrs. Culpepper: What do you want, Dr. Armistad?
Armistad: Silicate.
Mrs. C.: What shade?
Armistad: Oh, for upper right central incisor.

There are 8,000,000 dogs in America, but they are not getting anything like all of the beefsteak which nature intended as dog meat.

It used to be, "I Wonder What's Become of Sally"; now it is, "I Wonder What's Become of Sally's Root Canal File."

The man who saves money nowadays isn't a miser; he's a wizard, so say Bodenweiser and Leahy.

Leroy Grant (at Robert Fulton):
"Bring me a bottle of ginger ale and some cracked ice."
Waiter: "What do you intend doing with them, sir?"
Leroy: "I want the ginger ale for a girl friend in China and the cracked ice I am going to send home to my grandmother as a keepsake."
Waiter: "Very good, sir. I thought for a second you might be one of those awful drinking persons."

Robert Boyd and Gilliard Phillips, after being shown to their room in a hotel, looked from the window and noticed a large illuminated clock in a tower across the street. They both stopped their watches.
WE WONDER:
If Searcy has ever found out when the first permanent begins calcification.
If Duke Morse will ever forget that he is feeling no pain.
If John Marvin will ever lose his Pepper.

And another thing we want to know is: "Will Freshman Smith ever grow bold enough to love the women?"

We shall miss Alibi next year when it comes time for another Exodontia Clinic. He pulled one this year for us, and how!

And we will also need Firewagon to instruct us in root canal work.

We understand that in the class will, which was not published this year, Dr. Jaynes received a big cut plug of Brown's Mule.

Slick: "Not at all, if you won't give him mine."

And here's to what we would have been, if we hadn't been what we are.

Frank Robinson has discovered that the big hole in the rubber dam punch will make excellent openings in the dam to fit over the nose.

I've been a good fellow, Boys.
Earned all I've spent.

Appreciation

The staff most assuredly appreciates the work of all, whose time and efforts have gone toward the completion of the book. Theirs be the honor. Mistakes are sure to be found: pass over them lightly please, for he who is perfect is also lonesome. May your summers be long, your harvest plentiful, and as you advance toward time may you ascend to the realization of your fondest dreams.

The song is ended; may the melody linger on.

It was in 1844, just five years after the foundations were laid for the first dental school, the first dental society and the first dental journal, that Samuel S. White, visioning the needs of the profession and the expansion that was to come, founded a manufactory and a policy "to make the best goods, and to sell them at a not unreasonable profit."

From this modest beginning there grew the present complete plant for the making of dental instruments, materials and appliances, wherein every article is studied from the viewpoint of its uses and a premium is placed on intelligence and skill.

Rigid, systematic tests and inspection unite to guarantee S. S. White Dental Products as perfect as human skill can make them, while a competent organization together with the co-operation of reputable dental dealers in all parts of the world make possible an efficient service to the profession.

When a dentist with a "CDX" wants to see a probable hidden pathology, or wishes to check up his work—

1. He simply reaches over to the wall where the "CDX" is mounted on its extension bracket—

2. Positions it to the film in the patient's mouth—

3. Presses the button on the automatic hand timing switch, and the exposure is completed.

4. In approximately six minutes his office assistant will have the film developed and ready for interpretation.

Write for descriptive booklet on the "CDX" and names of authorized dealer distributors in your vicinity.

"there is true economy in the ownership of Weber EQUIPMENT"

Despite the efforts of certain selling groups to popularize the belief that only the highest priced dental equipment can be the ultimate equipment for your office, there is nothing in the experience of many thousands of dentists using WEBER Equipment to indicate anything but the highest and warmest praise for its most attractive and professional appearance and entirely satisfactory service given over a period of many years.

Our Dental Unit, Dental X-Ray, Engine, Cuspidor, Chair, Lathe and Operating Stool are more moderately priced and include greater value for your equipment dollar than that given by any other manufacturer in the industry.

Have a Weber Dealer or Weber Salesman give you an intelligent demonstration.

THE many new and desirable features possessed by the first Harvard chair, fashioned more than forty years ago, set a standard that other manufacturers had to conform to. Since that time The Harvard Company has been a recognized leader in the dental equipment field. Not only has Harvard set a standard for design but it has set a standard for quality that other manufacturers have never been able to meet at the price of Harvard Equipment. The dentist who is given unrestricted privilege to carefully compare the design, efficiency, quality, beauty and price of Harvard Equipment with that of any other make will quickly understand why it is the choice of so many leading members of the Profession and why it is sold by inviting comparison rather than by high pressure sales effort.
