Greetings to the Class of 1930

S. W. Foster, President

Atlanta-Southern Dental College

To the Class of 1930—I extend greetings and congratulations.

You have the honor of being the first class to graduate since the requirements for entrance upon the study of dentistry have been advanced from high school graduation to one year of university work.

You will soon have fulfilled the rigid requirements of the college. You will cease then to play the role of dental students. You will be clothed with the more dignified responsibilities of a practitioner of your profession.

By virtue of your higher education you have the requisites for moulding a wonderful character, for the development of a useful life, and for rendering a lasting service to your fellowman and your profession.

Since you have been students you have, to a major extent, been free of responsibilities. Your instructors have had to carry these for you. Let me remind you that when you pass from the halls of your Alma Mater, you will no longer have your teachers to lean upon. You can only carry the results of their teachings with you. I would not discourage, but rather hope to fortify you. Often a student feels that if he can only make the grade and graduate, the rest will be easy. How different when he gets a glimpse of actual professional life and awakens to a sense of his real responsibilities. It is an office, practice, with daily emergencies, exactions and perplexities that "test the temper and try the soul." You may frequently become discouraged and be driven to an almost pathetic feeling of helplessness because of the dilemmas constantly arising.

Should such a condition develop with you let me remind you for your solace and encouragement, that those who have gone before you and have attained greatest distinction traveled the same road you are traveling and were confronted with the same problems which may confront you. The greater the obstacles which you overcome, the greater will be your victory. "Victories that are easy are cheap. Those only are worth having which come as the result of hard fighting."

You have within yourself unlimited possibilities. So shape your life work that your forces may be properly directed along constructive lines.

Let me urge you to make friends with fellow practitioners and make contact as quickly as possible with your dental society.

The older men in the profession will welcome you. They realize that on you the future progress of dentistry is dependent.

Assume your obligations to your profession and your fellow man as real men and be not afraid. You will ultimately reap a rich and just reward.
S. W. Foster, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

President, and Professor of Dental Pathology, and Dental Therapeutics
Ideals

There are always among us those who scoff at ideals. Such persons say that in this day and time ideals are impracticable. Such statements are partly wrong and partly right. From the standpoint of material progress it is often true that ideals are a handicap; but from the standpoint of one's self—and by "self" I mean one's true self—ideals alone can bring happiness and a sense of peace and honor.

It is not necessary that ideals be attained in order to bring this feeling of inner peace and understanding. An ideal once attained is no longer an ideal: it becomes a fact. Then the mind forms a new ideal, a little greater, a little higher than the old. By this process of character evolution man is brought nearer and nearer the supreme goal—which fortunately, is never fully achieved—the goal of perfect self adjustment, a state of absolute harmony with and understanding of the forces of life and love. Therefore, if we look closer at the statement that ideals are unattainable in the present age, we must become increasingly aware of the fact that it is only a half truth and a semblance of truth only for those whose minds and souls do not have sufficient stamina to overcome the barriers of circumstance and environment. For those who have the moral courage to combat the tendencies of the present age—to those whose souls are undisturbed by the bickerings, petty jealousies and material concepts of men—to those who can still hold their heads above the mire of materialism—to those who do not bend the knee in servitude before a material God—this age is not a disappointment. It is a challenge, a challenge to greater efforts, to greater ideals.

Let us look at the ideals of the dental profession. What are they? Should they not embody primarily the desire to benefit one's fellow man, to help reduce the sum of pain and suffering in this world? And yet, is it not true that a great number of students approach the study of dentistry with but one objective in view—that of making money? The lofty, ethical side of the profession is subordinated to that false ideal. With such subordination comes a gradual and insidious subordination of character, and finally, the aftermath, unhappiness.

There are many short cuts to the establishment of a profitable dental practice. They may enable a man to gain financial independence more quickly; but, like most short cuts, they take the traveler through only the least attractive landscapes of life. They lead him around the beauties—the quiet valleys and the peaceful hillsides. There are two ways to gain the top of a mountain. The longer way is the sinuous path that presents a new beauty at every turn. But if one prefers, he may be hoisted to the top by means of a chain and pulley. You, as students, already know the two paths leading to the establishment of your practice and to financial independence. Will the summit of your mountain be only a material elevation of so many feet, or will it be an eminence, a lofty shrine?

It is my sincere hope that after graduation all of you will create within your minds an ideal worthy of yourself and of the dental profession. May I offer this motto—it will serve as an armor and as a staff. "To Thine Own Self Be True." If you will adopt such a motto you cannot be false to any man. And happiness will be yours always.

Student Council

When the purpose of the Student Council was explained to the student body they unanimously accepted it, and this marked the ending of a vigilance committee which had previously been operating in the college.

The formation of the Student Council occurred in the fall of '21 and in accordance with the rules of the council two men were elected from each class as representatives.

The purpose of the Council is a noble one. Its record has proved it to be a necessary part of the welfare and progress of the student body and we hope that its work will continually advance and that it will enjoy the distinction and honor it justly deserves.

Senior Class History, '30

October 1, 1926, we came together enrolled as the Freshman Class of Atlanta-Southern Dental College (due to the first year of pre-dental entrance requirements), the smallest class in the history of the school. We felt like a small unit compared to the other classes, but realized the advantages of a small class and set to work in earnest. Dissecting, carving teeth, making impressions and vulcanizing blocks of vulcanite seemed like slow drudgery to the most ambitious Freshmen who thought they should start right out extracting teeth. We worked looking forward to the future.

On October 1, 1927, we started the Sophomore year with three new men added to the roll. As Sophomores we realized that we were to enter into the real technical work of dentistry as well as theoretically. The very difficult task of setting up teeth, constructing crowns and bridges, casting metal bases, etc., proved very interesting, and we felt that now we were on the right track. It was hard, but we enjoyed it, still looking to the future when we would wear white coats and hear names called on the microphone for real patients.

In 1928 we had eight new men added to the roll of the Junior Class, then we had twenty-seven men. On October 1, we eagerly though nervously donned brand new operating coats and all stood lending an anxious ear to the microphone which was to call us into the infirmary. Infirmary roll call, the realization of the responsibility that rests upon the shoulders of the men of our profession in handling and protecting the health and welfare of the people who place themselves in their care, these things are never impressed upon the student more forcibly than when he interviews his first patient. The stage fright was soon over, and we worked hard to develop operative skill. Then at the end of the year we realized that in just one short year we would be graduate dentists. It didn't seem possible.

We started our Senior year with twenty-eight men, having one new man added to the class. This was the final lap. After looking at the requirements for the Senior year it was evident that the faculty had planned for us to work. As Seniors we took to our work more seriously, and with a feeling of responsibility, eager to learn all about Oral Surgery, Peridontology, and all other specialties.

It has been a great four years in a great school and it is with a feeling of sadness that we think of leaving the school, faculty and friends.

And finally we want to say good-bye to a faculty of true gentlemen, who have not only worked with us and prepared us for our life work, but who by their association have inspired us to the highest ideals and ethics in our profession.

Junior Class History

October twelfth. Roll call. Red letter day for the Class of '31. The Juniors are to be called on the infirmary roll, and for most of them it will mean their first patient—all things come in time.

Through the long hours in which we carved teeth and learned to make dentures in the Freshman Lab., and then struggled with the more intricate technique of the Sophomore, we watched the white-coated Juniors and Seniors rush or stroll, as was their wont, through the corridors. Some carried from laboratory to infirmary or back again, pieces of work, which to us offered—well, beyond the possible. But we very patiently listened to their complicated explanations, looked wise, and then when they moved on, turned with a sigh, back to the task of obtaining that technique which now we realize is so important. Then as we applied solder to metal and metal to flame and a crown resulted, into the minds of most of us would come dreams of the day when we too should have patients.

At last the great day arrived and none of those present in the Junior Lab. who heard: "L. H. Edwards, L. H. Edwards roll call," come from the microphone, will ever forget the sight of Luther running around with his operating coat under his arm, crying: "What am I going to do now? What am I going to do now?"

So the Juniors turned with a will to succeed. Theory as well as infirmary practice is absorbing their attention. Why! they are really studying—though some of the profs. may not agree to that. There are cases on record where some were so interested in a difficult restoration, that they forgot to go to lunch.

Shhh—this is not to be mentioned very loud and especially not to the Seniors, but Dr. Enloe and Dr. King both agree that the Class of '31 is the best Junior Class to enter the clinic.

Sophomore Class History

The summer months passed and the call of the profession brought back the class of '32, which returned with a determination to make the year one of the best.

The ordeal of checking-in was as usual somewhat unpleasant, and more so since the technic of borrowing to check in has become dangerous even to the experienced fellows. But soon the All Cord Arms were obtained, some being placed over the control of electric motors and others over the old foot-engine, the latter source of power being used due to misfortune or family pride and desires to peddle through with the old machine used by fathers or other relatives. In spite of all these unpleasant things the preliminaries ended with every member in high spirit to start the year's work.

The first class met, the roll was called, and much to our sorrow. Turner, the boy who came to us from the orange groves in the sunny lands of Florida; "Red" Jones and Stevens, the loyal boys from the old "North" State, all fellows with characters of sterling qualities, were missing. Where they have gone we do not know, but they are being missed by their fellow classmates. Our hope is that in time they will return to carry on the work they have so diligently started.

Now from personals to problems. We started the study of Black's cutting instruments, every one being such a very important factor that all Sophomores must be able to recognize them without searching for figures and know how to use them. Most everyone accomplished this without so much difficulty and with the aid of the engine we started the work of preparing cavities and plugging amalgam. But hard as we tried, it was almost impossible to get Dr. Enloe's check in a R-I-G-H-T.

Then in Prosthetics we had plenty of fun making lingual bars, etc., those little pieces of work you so carefully wax up and invest with a prayer, and then live through several hours of suspense too great to mention.

In Crown and Bridge we had a delightful time burning up crown after crown and comparing pieces of solder with a gnat's eye. And one boy had to learn how to carve the occlusal of an upper first molar again.

The few times we were aroused from peaceful slumber during our lectures in Bacteriology, we learned that bacteria are not decimated by "fitting from place to place."

Physiology as taught us by Dr. Boland was very interesting, but the jokes were a lap ahead of everything. We are still wondering how many of the fellows will reach for the beautiful white dove and catch or not catch.

Metallurgy has been said to be one of the most important courses in our study. You just must know about the metals you are working with, and that gold that fuses at 1777 degrees F. is not good gold.

Last, but not least, Chemistry, said to be the broadest field of them all. But don't ask us—"luck" was our motto.

Along with the school work we have all enjoyed some of the social life of Atlanta and A. S. D. C. Rush seasons for fraternities and dances where we met the fair ones of old acquaintance and new ones too! Then gave them a break and presented the very, very young doctors (Freshmen). These young "doctors" lived through the happy days of rush season in this state and then were just plain Freshmen, all good fellows trying to get along.

The twenty-first of December ended the first half of our school work for the year and we all rushed home carrying with us the spirit of a jubilee good time for the Christmas holidays.

On January 2, we were all back to our work fully refreshed, having acquired lots of inspiration from different sources that made us more determined to do better work and end the year's work in grand style.

We have carried our work on as best we knew, and now that our Sophomore year is rapidly drawing to a close we feel that we have accomplished a great deal. But as we leave A. S. D. C. for the summer months we know that when we return in October many familiar faces will be missing—the faces of those getting their degree. Luck to them and the best of everything! We shall return next year to carry on the work with the determination to reach the goal they have reached.

Vacation, October 1, and the first "patient!"

FRESHMEN
Freshman Class History

The word "history" means, as a matter-of-fact, a systematic narrative of past facts and events arranged according to the sequence of time and causation. Up until now the history of our class possesses nothing of very much importance or of very great interest. If only our history could be written, say, a few years from now so that there would be, at least some changes developed in our class, it could be accomplished more successfully. But this history must be written now; therefore we can only narrate a few events.

On the first day of October, 1929, our class, consisting of many young men and a young lady, made its first appearance into the world of dentistry. Some eager, some cheerful, some depressed, and some unaffected, but yet all of us had the same desire—the desire to achieve the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.

We were some time in getting down to our daily routine. The first week was spent in "checking in" books, instruments and materials.

After our class settled down to work and we knew each other fairly well, we decided to organize in order to work in an orderly fashion.

We were soon to learn to listen to our favorite song, Dr. Stegall's "keep right on. 'Doc.' you are headed straight for a ten."

One of our best friends on the faculty always comes to deliver his lectures on organic chemistry furnished with a joke to put us in a good humor and in an attentive mood.

Although we have not been here long enough to have very much history, we hope that the Class of '33 will continue as a whole through the entire course without losing a single member. Our endeavor is to make a complete history and one of which we should always be proud.

Phoebe Carmen Midulla,
Class Historian.

"Well," said Dr. Coleman, "I believe that's all. And now are there any questions before the quiz?"

Kiser: "What's the name of the text in this course?"

Dr. Coleman has been acquitted for the shooting.

Then there's the one about the Scotchman who bought two loaves of bread for supper and then sat in the subway waiting for the jam.

Hussey: "What'cha doing 'Mac,' studying?"

McLeod: "No!—Just checking up on the man that wrote the book."

How about the man that Hussey and McLeod assembled with a head from Canada and his lungs from Asia? Eminence—Eh—What?

Can anyone explain the affair the night McClung scratched his finger and said,—"I'm bleeding to death—but I don't care—me and my girl's mad."

Wanted: To borrow $12,000.00 so I can go to Oklahoma and get married.

Signed—Fritz Byrd.

Mrs. Culpepper: "Edwards, don't be a fool."

Edwards: "Why? Do you want a monopoly on the business."

COMPARE HARVARD EQUIPMENT
with that of any other make

TODAY, as in previous years, Harvard offers a complete line of dental office furniture—the New Peerless Harvard Chair, embodying many new and improved features of which quite a few are distinctively Harvard; a variety of Harvard Cabinets, made famous by Harvard Craftsmanship; the Harvard Units, Model A and B, the units which, when introduced, became popular overnight; the Harvard Electric Engine, for years recognized for its trustworthiness; the Harvard Wall and Auxiliary Cabinets, seen in so many dental offices; the Harvard Laboratory Bench, typical of Harvard's fine cabinet workmanship; the Harvard Lathe, well known for its dependable qualities.

Every piece of the Harvard Line easily meets the three important requirements of the Profession—high efficiency, modern and attractive appearance and long life of dependable service.

And Harvard Equipment is always designed and constructed to stand the acid test of comparison with any make of equipment—regardless of price.

Inspect and examine the Harvard Line at the depot of your nearest Harvard Dealer—and compare it, point for point, with that of any other make. Harvard equipment is also sold on a very liberal time payment plan, if you desire it.

The
Co.
Canton, Ohio
Manufacturers of Chairs, Cabinets, Units, Engines and other dental equipment.

The RICHWOOD No. 780
Harvard's newest creation in dental cabinets—modern and dignified in design, solid mahogany generously inlaid, beautifully finished and completely fitted. See this striking example of Harvard's progressiveness at your nearest Harvard Dealer's Depot, or write us for descriptive literature.
PREPAREDNESS

If you would rise above the mediocre, be satisfied with nothing but the best; give the best and demand the best.

Surround yourself with the best of equipment, because, consciously or unconsciously, we all react to the stimuli of our environment.

In addition to making your work easier and more efficient, good equipment elevates your professional status in the minds of your patients.

The S. S. White Equipment Unit No. 6 and the Diamond Chair No. 2 represent the most modern of equipment for the dental office. Together they will provide the modern appliances for efficient service and comfort to your patients and ever be a source of inspiration to do your best.

Write to your dealer or direct for literature, office planning service and deferred payment contracts.

Dental Graduates of 1930

It has been the pleasure of the Atlanta Branch of The S. S. White Dental Mfg. Co. to supply many of you with the material aids with which you have accomplished the purposes of your college courses.

Our contact with you has not been one of business alone, many personal friendships have been established between us. The "House of White" which Atlanta Branch tries to adequately represent, prides itself upon having grown up with the profession and counts among its friends thousands of dentists now practicing who have earned their right just as you have won it.

Wherever you may enter practice we hope you will be progressively successful and that you will permit The S. S. White Dental Mfg. Co. to cooperate with you as it has endeavored to serve the Dental Profession since 1844.

Cox: "I thought I'd hang your X-ray pictures over the mantel in the living room. They'd look nice there, beside the X-ray photo of Uncle Pinkle's spinal column. We ought to get a crayon enlargement of that, don't you think? I haven't decided where to put the vase my tonsils are in. Don't you think it would look nice on the davenport table?

Mrs. Cox: "I think grandma's spleen would match well with the trimmings in that corner, and I'm going to put my appendix on the center table by the bottle with Aunt Fanny's varicose veins. Dear me, where shall I put little Frederick's adenoids?"

Cox: "Take my gall stones away from the baby, he's playing marbles with them! Give him your teeth to play with while I arrange Uncle Gastric's tapeworm!"

Your First Equipment
-will it inspire confidence?

During this period of celebration which quite rightly attends the completion of your technical training for your profession, let us add our congratulations and at the same time suggest that you pause for a moment—and give a thought to the equipment you will install in your first office.

Your best asset will be modern equipment. It will increase your income, improve your technique, save time and eliminate much labor.

The Ritter Neptune Green operating room outfit shown at the right represents the very latest developments in Dental Office Equipment. Its appearance of clean-cut efficiency will inspire your patients with a feeling of absolute confidence. Its distinctive color will impart to your office an atmosphere of cheery brightness, creating an environment of inviting friendliness and comfort.

Let us give you a helping hand in equipping your first office. We offer you our years of experience in supplying the needs of hundreds of Southern dentists.

Convenient Monthly Payment Plan

We invite you to select from the most complete stock of modern equipment in the South, and take advantage of the Eberhart Monthly Payment Dental Equipment Plan under which you can purchase your entire equipment for as little as 10% down and spread the balance over a period of from 1 to 36 months.

Visit our show rooms at your earliest convenience. We will gladly give you full information and suggestions on securing your equipment and supplies.

Here is 25 years experience for your use . . .

During the first few years of your practice when you are swiftly and surely adding to your years of study the deft and effective technique that comes only from experience, let us assume the burden of giving you the kind of prosthetic work you must have to succeed.

The exacting requirements of your profession will not permit the added strain of worry.

By letting us solve for you each new problem on prosthetic work, you will eliminate worry, save valuable time and assure your patients of completed work that can be turned out only by the most experienced and skilled craftsmen.

Every job completed in The Eberhart-Conway laboratories is backed by over a quarter century of experience, and is worked out by skilled prosthetic experts from the individual dentist’s viewpoint.

As the South’s foremost Prosthetic Institution we offer you not only the benefit of years of experience, but friendly counsel and co-operation on any problems related to prosthetic work.

Bite forms, mailing supplies, etc., gladly furnished upon request.

OF COURSE
...you'll want your own x-ray unit

FREQUENT use of the x-ray is one of the ways by which the public is learning to distinguish the progressive dentist. More and more the leaders in the profession are installing their own x-ray units.

They find that making their own radiographs enables them to render better service, to make their time more profitable. They soon become expert in interpretation. And this ownership of an x-ray unit proves to be not an expense, but an investment from which they get a steady yield.

The Victor CDX Dental X-ray Unit has been a great factor in creating this vogue for individual ownership. The Victor CDX hangs suspended from the wall. It is electrically safe. Both transformer and tube, insulated in oil, are enclosed in the tube head. There is no high tension current exposed anywhere. You and your patient can touch the CDX anywhere while it is in operation. There is no danger of shock.

Let us send you the facts drawn from the experience of successful practitioners about this modern unit. It makes radiography almost as simple as photography. As you start out, you cannot afford to be without this important tool of your profession. Ask us for details of monthly payment plan.
