Emory's Contribution to the World

The value of a college to a country depends upon the number of men it equips for all walks of life and their degrees of efficiency.

Emory has been doing business for a long time and her sons have multiplied in great numbers. You will find them in almost every avenue of life. It has been the source from which the Church has drawn men who have reached the top in the ecclesiastic world. Some of our most capable and scholarly Bishops were nurtured in dear old Emory. They came to her as green Freshmen, she tutored them for a few years, planing down the bumps and filling up the indented places, and turning them out men that you can spell with a capital letter. These men have been the leaders of the Church in America, and have represented the Church in ecumenical conferences. They have been the men with prophetic vision and foresight, the watchmen on the tower, who have sounded the warnings when danger approached, and guarded against evils unforeseen by the average churchman.

From her halls have gone some of the greatest missionaires of the world, who, by their lives of sacrifice and self-denial, have been a glory to Emory, and a power to God. Some of these men have written numerous volumes in foreign languages, and have thus reached the representative men of foreign governments.

Emory is well represented in the professional world. She is happy to count a large number of her sons at the top of the medical profession in this country, and some of them are now on their way to France.

In the category of teachers Emory has sons that are second to none. She has produced literary and scientific men whose ability is recognized through the nation. Our Government, recognizing their ability, has recently claimed them for service in the present war.

You will find Emory men in the camps and on the firing line in France. Wherever they are they are recognized as men of character and ability. They are soldiers for all that pertains to the welfare of the college, the State, the Church, the Nation, and all mankind.

She has a worthy contribution to the roll of statesmen. She has sent to the halls of congress and the senate, men who had convictions and who faithfully and eloquently defended them.

FOREWORD

We have done our best to make the Campus of Nineteen Eighteen a credit to the Institution and to ourselves. Whether we have succeeded or not you can best judge for yourselves. Money matters have been a source of worry and the price of material high, but we are not kicking. In fact, we are proud of our work and feel that you will be generous with your criticisms and show the same patriotic spirit toward this book that you have exhibited throughout the year.

BY WHITLEY T. LANGSTON

Thy way was long, and dark the night,
Some said thou slept, or wast afraid;
But thou hast found at last the light,
One moment at thine altars stayed—
Upturned thy face, unsheathed thy blade—
Then, full upon the morning bright,
Hast flung thy battle-flag of right:

And from the strength of thy broad, fair lands,
There gather a thousand battle bands,
To stand beneath that flag—as one—
To guard thy honor from the Hun—
To fight on till the fight be done,
And thy truth-hallowed cause be won.

It matters not that fools did say
"Her scabbard holds a rusted blade."
Already, in the present fray,
They flee before its gleam, afraid
Of the wordless answer that it made,
On the eventful battle-day,
When Honor bade, "Go! Strike and slay!"

And now we follow with low-breathed prayer,
The gleam of that beacon sword, on where
Its flame illuminates the field of fight
And thy banner o'erhead, a promise of light
That shall banish the dark of tyranny's night.
'Tis freedom's rainbow across the sky,
And the world re-echoes our battle-cry
"Liberty, truth, and right!"
I say Atlas old man I'm ready to relieve you now!
Senior Class History

WHEN the old Spanish bell in Seney's peaceful tower pealed forth the welcome to the "new boys" of 1914, it was heralding the advent of what will be known in Emory history as the "War Class." We have experienced an unexplainable damper that had its cause in the war, but, in the eyes of those gone on before, and the faculty, and even in our own opinion, we have surprisingly surmounted most of them.

With a class that once totaled 85 strong, we are now 23 strong. But we are proud that more than a score of our classmates are now in the service. While the rest are for the time being raking, scraping and borrowing to meet that $10 engagement with our honorable "Ceph" Stone, Bursar, in re sheepskin, which may of necessity be a matter of thrift stamps,—a regular Senior by word, which by some might be termed a worthy monomania. The Seniors kept the lead from the beginning of the thrift stamp campaign. But our real sacrifice was when we crushed the precedent of untold years by calling off the Senior banquet in favor of the W. S. S. movement.

In scholarship, in athletics, in military work, in literary work, in social life, in all branches of college activities, we have had men who made for 1918 an enviable record. Our class will not be without its "Magnas" and its "Cums." The sentiment of the class has always been for a thorough-going and respectable scholastic standing.

In athletics as Freshmen we won the first football game in a decade. Our baseball team for the four years has been a marvel. And in basketball and track we hold our share of "E's."

In the literary field we have many good debaters,—strong writers, forceful speakers,—men who with their eloquence and with their pen have won distinction and influenced thought and activities in no small way.

Soon our history will be a closed and sealed book. Our race at Emory will have been run and won! Of all the classes of Emory unless it be the Class of '61, our class knows not what the world has in store for it. But we do know that wherever we go or whatever we do, the memory of old Emory will occupy a sacred place ever in our reminiscencies.

"Men, like bullets, go farthest when they are smoothest."

"Remember this—that there is a proper dignity and proportion observed in the performance of every act of life."

WINSTON STILES ALLEN, B. S.
LA GRANGE, GA.

Kappa Alpha Fraternity; D. V. S.; Few Literary Society; Champion Debate '17; Owl's Social Club; Chi Sigma Chi Social Club; Susie Dahm Social Club; Editor-in-Chief Emory Weekly, '17-'18; Intercollegiate Debate Council, '16-'17-'18; Junior Commencement Speaker; Mid Term Debate, '17; Associate Editor Emory Weekly; '16-'17; Pan-Hellenic Council, '17-'18; Secretary Pan-Hellenic Council; President Few Society; Chancellor Few Society, '18; Chairman Board of Directors Few Society, '16-'17-'18; Impromptu Debate, '17, '18; Critic Few; Corresponding Secretary Few; Lieutenant Cadet Corps, '17-'18; Assistant Manager Track Team, '16, '17; Manager Track Team, '17-'18; Baseball Team, '16-'17-'18; Basketball Team, '16, '17; All-Emory Football Team, '18.

Please notice that the first three letters of his name spell "win," and "Jack" is a winner, too. He goes far because he is smooth. "Politician" is his third name, and he knows how to use diplomacy to gain his ends. He generally gets the office he wants, and is always ready with a flood of oratory to "steam-roller" an assembly into his view of the subject. Jack has attained some record as an athlete, also, and is a clean sport, and one of our most popular men.

J. HERMAN ALLISON, A. B.
CLEVELAND, GA.

Non-Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Champion Debate; Impromptu Debate; President Few; Board of Directors Few; Junior Commencement Speaker; Temperance Contest, '17; Secretary Young Harris Club; Ministerial Association; Intercollegiate Prohibition Association; Y. M. C. A.; Corporal Company B; Pastor Redan Circuit, '18.

Allison is a conscientious, sincere, earnest man. He does not care for the "show" of life, but takes delight in dealing with the "vital" things. He has made a reputation as a debater in the Literary Society, and has won his laurels there instead of on the athletic field. You can not meet him without feeling that you have met a man who is extremely earnest in the efforts of his life.
"For a man seldom thinks with more earnestness of anything than he does of his dinner."

"To God, thy country, and thy friends be true."

CHARLES T. BACON, JR., B. S.
MAYSVILLE, GA.

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Pan-Hellenic Council; President Class, '14-'15; Freshman Banquet Speaker; Sophomore Banquet Speaker; Baseball Team, '15, '16, '17, '18; Basketball Team, '14-'15-'16, '18; Manager Basketball Team, '15-'16; Relay Team, '14, '15; Historian Class, '16, '17, '18; Battalion Adjutant.

Charles has a record of attending all the class banquets, from his Freshman year up, and on such occasions he generally makes a speech. Charlie is in for a good time and believes in enjoying life. He is a star on the ball diamond, and on the basketball floor he gets the "tip."

EDWARD PARKE BILLUPS, A. B.
ST. ALBANS, WEST VIRGINIA.

Non-Fraternity; Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Treasurer I. P. A., '16-'17; President Ministerial Association, '17-'18; Secretary Intercollegiate Prohibition Association for the State of Georgia, '17-'18; Relay Team, '17; Secretary and Treasurer Class, '18; Business Manager Emory Glee Club, '17-'18; Business Manager Emory Phoenix, '17-'18; Second Lieutenant Company B.

"Skinny" hails from away up in the coal fields. That name was derived from his physical appearance, but the poetical description fits the "inner man." Bill is one of our most popular men, and a perfect gentleman. He is a leader in the student body, and in all his college work. He is a man who strives to be true to God, true to his country, and true to his host of friends. For such a character success in life is inevitable.
"If any one attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot."

WILLIAM STEWART BUSH, B. S.
GRAY, GA.

Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Pan-Hellenic Council; Y. M. C. A.; Football Team, '15, '17; Second Lieutenant Company A.

Bush is a loyal American. He has recently been appointed to West Point, where he will equip himself for the best he can give his country. His "heart beats true for the Red, White and Blue." Bush is one of those rare fellows with a mathematical mind, and guards that old football with a vim.

GEORGE WILLARD COBB, JR., A. B.
MEMPHIS, TENN.

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Class Poet, '14-'15; Honor Roll, '14-'15; Ministerial Association; Treasurer Ministerial Association, '16-'17; Secretary and Treasurer Tennessee Club; Commencement Speaker, '16; Sophomore Declamation Medal; Die Astronomische Gesellschaft; Impromptu Debate, '17.

George makes words his slaves. As Homer would describe him, he speaks in "winged words." Sometimes he astounds the professors in his questions and answers, for they have to crack some of the big words before they can tell what George is driving at. He is a ready speaker on debate, too, but at times he "draws out the thread of his verbosity finer than the staple of his argument." He takes no part in athletics, but shoots'em up in literary work. He is a good student and a Christian young man.
"On their own merits modest men are dumb;"
"God hath blessed you with a good name: to be a well favored man is the gift of fortune, but to write and read comes by nature."

B. M. CRITTENDON, A. B.
SHELLMAN, GA.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Football Team, '14, '16, '17; Bachelor's Club; Second Lieutenant Company B, '17; First Lieutenant Company A, '18; Owl's Social Club; Susie Dahms Social Club.

"Critt" is not one of those fellows who makes "Much Ado About Nothing," but is quiet and modest in his make-up. He does not put himself to the front, but relies on "merit" to take him through, and he generally gets there too. He has been a member of the class football team three years, and plays end like a professional. He belongs to the Bachelor's Club, but by all appearances his membership in that body will be short-lived.

EASON CROSS, A. B.
SPRINGFIELD, GA.

Eason has been here for a long time and has had plenty of opportunities to make a reputation for himself, and that is just what he has done. He is not strong for athletics, but just look what a list of literary achievements! He has made quite a record as a speaker and a writer, of both prose and poetry. He takes a very active part in the debates and all literary society work, and is one of the leaders among the student body. Eason is a man you can count on in an emergency, and the world is looking for just such men.
"No profit grows where is no pleasure."

"Be silent or let thy words be worth more than silence."

A. C. DARLING, JR., B. S.
ANDALUSIA, ALA.

Sigma Nu Fraternity; Beta Omicron Phi Social Club; Chi Sigma Chi Social Club; Owl's Social Club; Susie Dahm Social Club; Football Team, '14, '15, '16, '17; All-Emory Football Team, '17; Manager Baseball Team, '15; Class Prophet, '15-'16; Assistant Business Manager Phoenix, '16-'17; Athletic Committee, '16-'17; Bachelor's Club; Captain Company A, '17-'18; Business Manager Weekly, '17-'18; Pan-Hellenic Council, '17-'18; Manager of Whompus, '18; Alabama Club.

"Count" has the distinction of belonging to four Social Clubs, and is what you would call a "society man." The boys have given him the endearing name of "Honey Darling," but we are not quite sure the girls address him thus. "Count" is one of our baseball and football men, and is a wearer of the "E." If he tackles the problems of life like he tackles a football game, there will be no problem unsolved.

“Ike” is a combination rarely found. He takes part in the literary societies, belongs to the social life, is a fine football man, making the All-Emory team, and at the same time is a “shoot
’em up” in class work. “Ike” has been here for four years, and has carved a fair record in Emory’s
Hall of Fame.

Basketball Team, ’18.

“Ham” is the man who commands all influence in the student body. He is our Honorable President, and ably defends the cause of the students before the Faculty. “Ham” is an all around man, a good athlete, a good student, a leader, and a gentleman. His name is written high up in Emory’s Hall of Fame, and some day it will be a well-known name to the world. He “is his own star.”

Oratorical Contest, '17; President Georgia State I. P. A., '17-'18; President Glee Club, '17-'18; Editor-in-Chief the Campus, '17-'18; Contributor to the Emory Phoenix, the Emory Weekly and other periodicals.

This husky Tennessee lad was reared in a Methodist parsonage and looks forward to no greater pleasure than that of spending the rest of his life in one. Houts is a fellow of high ideals and possesses a sufficiently large quantity of that substance—perseverance—to attain them. He is a conscientious student and a lover of books, but is not an exclusive book worm. He is a singer of no ordinary ability and writes poetry well. He is truly devoted to his calling—the ministry—and if ever he turns the world up side down you can rest assured that he has reason to believe that he found it down side up.

RALPH HUCKABEE, JR., Ph. B.
ASHBURN, GA.

Few Literary Society; Freshman-Sophomore Debate, '15; Relay Team, '15-'16; Football Team, '14, '15, '16, '17; Secretary Student Body, '17-'18; Member Central Board, '17-'18.

"Huck" is the man with a giant avoirdupois, and when he gets down on that football line, "there's something don't!" He has the record of being the only man in school who can play a hard football game and come out without a scratch, or even a speck of dirt on his togs. A miracle! "Huck" is one of our best scientists, and the Chemistry department will have a hard time getting along without him.
"And what's impossible, can't be,
And never, never comes to pass."

"How partial is the voice of fame."

LOUIS P. HUSBANDS, B. S.
MOULTRIE, GA.

Kappa Alpha Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Class Poet, '14-'15; Football Team, '14, '16; Manager Football Team, '17; Relay Team, '15; Baseball Team, '15; Assistant to Business Department Emory Weekly, '16-'17; Assistant to Business Department Emory Campus, '15-'16-'17; Impromptu Debate, '17; Pan-Hellenic Council, '17-'18; Business Manager Emory Campus, '17-'18.

Louis is a man of business. Fortune has endowed him with an instinct for business life. He has been assistant Business Manager of two Emory Publications, and is proving his ability in being Business Manager of the Campus this year. Louis is also a good athlete, and a good student. "Impossible" is a word he never uses, but with a smiling face he tackles his problem to a finish.

JAMES GEORGE LESTER, JR., B. S.
COVINGTON, GA.

Chi Phi Fraternity; D. V. S; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Owl's Social Club; Y. M. C. A.; Honor Roll, '15-'16; State News and Alumni Editor of the Emory Weekly; Bachelor's Club; Football Team, '15, '16, '17; Basketball Team, '15, '16, '17; Baseball Team, '15, '16, '17; All-Emory Football Team, '16, '17; Captain Basketball Team, '17; Captain Football Team, '17; Manager Baseball Team, '17; Relay Team; Alpha Epsilon Upsilon; Central Board, '17; Chairman Athletic Committee, '17.

Fame seems to have singled out this lad as a special favorite. He literally eats up that old Math, and has taken about all the courses offered on that subject. He not only “shoots 'em up” in that line, but Jim is an autocrat of the athletic world. He makes his “E” in all the branches of college athletics. He is a clean sport, a clean man, and an ardent student.
"The love of learning, the sequestered
nooks,
And all the sweet serenity of books."

JOHN W. LOGAN, A. B.
ELBERTON, GA.

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Alpha Epsilon Upsilon; Y. M. C. A.; Honor Roll, '14-'15-'16-'17-'18; President, Vice President and Member Board of Directors Few Literary Society; Sub-Freshman Scholarship, '14; Latin Medal, '15; Freshman Commencement Speaker, '15; Fall Term Debate, '16; Orchestra; Football Team, '18; Baseball Team, '17; Junior Commencement Speaker; Reppard Greek Medal, '17; Spring Term Debate, '17; Senior Commencement Speaker.

John is one of those regular "book worms." He eats Latin, Greek, Philosophy like fresh breakfast food, with good rich cream and plenty of sugar. You will always find John's name on the Honor Roll, and at the head of the class. He played our Center this year, and tossed that old football with the same degree of accuracy that he would decline a Greek noun or conjugate a verb. He is a fine discriminating student.

HERMON WILKES MARTIN, B. A.
FITZGERALD, GA.

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Sigma Upsilon Literaty Fraternity; Alpha Epsilon Upsilon; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, Chairman Membership Committee, and Group Study Leader; Honor Roll, '13, '14, '17, '18; Special Gym, '13, '14; Tennis Club, '14; Basketball Team, '18; Senior Class Prophet; Chancellor and President Few Literary Society; Junior-Senior Oration Medal, '16; Junior Commencement Speaker; Senior Commencement Speaker; Associate Editor Emory Weekly, '14-'15; Editor-in-Chief Emory Phoenix, '17-'18; Pan-Hellenic Council.

Hermon is truly a knight of learning. He is an honor student, and has a distinct literary taste, and a style of his own that forestalls the stroke of an artist. He has a message for the world, and the world will get it in due season, both from his lips (for he is an orator), and from his pen. When it happens his classmates will say: "I told you so."
"Charms strike the sight, but merit wins the soul."

J. W. O. McKIBBEN, A. B.
COVINGTON, GA.

Non-Fraternity; Ministerial Association; Young Harris Club; Junior Commencement Speaker; Pastor Newton Circuit, '17, '18.

Are you looking for show? Then look somewhere else, you will not find it in Mac. But if you are looking for a man of real merit, and a man you can count on, here he is. Mac is one of the very few Seniors who enjoys married life, holds down a circuit and drives fourteen miles a day to school. Now say he hasn't a man's job! He is a diligent student, a noble character, and a solid man.

WALTER McD. PEARSON, B. Ph.
LUMBER CITY, GA.

Non-Fraternity; Ministerial Association; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Chaplain and Recording Secretary Few, '17; Relay Team, '15, '17; Secretary Ministerial Association, '18; Member Board of Directors and President Few, '18; Literary Editor Annual, '18; Member Glee Club, '18; Prize Short Story Phoenix, '18; Football Team, '18; Washington's Birthday Orator, Few.

This young lad is a "silent force." He talks little but what he says is worth listening to. Every man stands on the same platform to him, and he treats them all alike, kind, courteous and true. Walter is a consistent, honest student, and pulled down the prize for the best short story this year. He takes an active part in the literary society, and censors the literature of the Campus this year.
"Fear not, my lord, I'll play the orator
As if the golden fee for which I plead were for myself."

"This old fellow is simple in that his simplity is the purest sincerity, the kind that men and women love.

J. B. RAGSDALE, A. B.
LITHONIA, GA.

Non-Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Assistant Treasurer Few, '16-'17; Treasurer Few, '17-'18; Member Board of Directors Few; Fresh-Soph Debate, '16; Impromptu Debate, '16, '17; Football Team, '17; Speaker Senior Banquet; Chairman Greater Emory Committee, '17-'18; Glee Club, '17-'18; Winner I. P. A. Contest Medal, '17; Second Lieutenant Company A; Sophomore Commencement Speaker, '16; Junior Commencement Speaker, '17.

Do you want to make him happy? Then praise his oratory. "Rag" is one of those fellows, who hangs his silvery words on the brightest stars, and whose silvery tones reach ad infinitum. Some of these days this voice will be sounding through the halls of our Senate, on the leading questions of the day. There won't be any Senators asleep then, either, those on his side will be awake to learn, and his opponents had better be busy taking notes, if they expect to refute his argument.

JOHN MARVIN RAST, A. B.
LOUISVILLE, GA.

D. V. S. Senior Society; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Commencement Speaker, '15; Fall Term Debate, '15; Welcome Address Few, '16; Class Poet, '15-'16; Delegate Georgia Students' Conference, '15; President I. P. A., '16, '17; Critic and Vice President Few, '17; Chairman Publication Committee, '17-'18; Board of Directors Few, '17; Central Board; Special Gym, '16; Football Team, '17; Exchange Editor Phoenix, '17-'18; President Few, '18; Relay Team, '14-'15; President Y. M. C. A., '17-'18; Track Team, '17; President Class, '16-'17, '17-'18; Impromptu Debate, '16-'17; Champion Debate, '18.

"Rats" is a quiet, unassuming fellow, but he is right there when it comes to doing things. He does not pose as an athlete on the field, but in the class room and Literary Society his brain does all kinds of athletic stunts. For instance, it will be away down at Wesleyan while Prof. White is explaining some psychological principle. But if you look at his record you will see what type of man he is. He is a friend to everybody, and everybody is a friend to him.
"I have found you an argument; I am not obliged to find you an understanding."

"To have the great poetic heart, is more than all poetic fame."

CLARENCE B. RAY, B. S.
LUMBER CITY, GA.

Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; S. G. C. Club; President S. G. C. Club; Ministerial Association; Chaplain Few, '15; Chaplain Class, '16-'17, '17-'18; Member Board of Directors Few, '17; Vice President Few, '17; President Few, '18.

Ray hails from Georgia, but you might think he came from Missouri, because you have to convince him of the truth of your statements, and if you undertake to disprove one of his you have a job on your hands. He will split hairs with you on most any subject, and before he is done you will have decided that "the only argument available with an east wind is to put on your overcoat."

EUGENE H. SANDERS, Ph. B.
NASHVILLE, GA.

Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Prohibition Association; Greater Emory Committee, '15-'16; Pan-Hellenic Council, '16, '17, '18; Special Censor Few; Delegate to Y. M. C. A. and Missionary League Conference, Cox College, '15; Chaplain Few; Literary Editor Phoenix, '16-'17; Critic Few, '16; Promotion Committee Y. M. C. A., '16-'17; Vice President Few, '16; Poet Class, '16-'17, '17-'18; Secretary Prohibition Association, '16-'17; Ministerial Association; President Few, '17; Washington's Birthday Orator, '18; Board Directors Few, '18; Secretary Leaders' Voluntary Bible Class; Secretary, Vice President, President, and Treasurer S. G. C. Club; Contributor Emory Phoenix; Contributor Emory Weekly; Contributor to Schnittkind's Anthology of American University Poetry.

Sanders is the man who has both the "poetic heart," and "poetic fame." He is one of our representatives in Schnittkind's Anthology of American University Poetry, which is an honor to him and to the University. Sanders, like Pope is very small in stature, but he is "there with the goods." Someone will be made immortal by his songs.
WILLIAM ELDRIDGE SMITH, B. S.
DUBLIN, GA.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Chairman Athletic Committee; Captain Company B; Pan-Hellenic Council, '16-'17; Fall Term Debate, '16; Impromptu Debate, '17; President Special Censor Phi Gamma; Central Board, '17-'18; Historian Class, '16-'17; Assistant Business Manager Campus, '16-'17; Beta Omicron Phi Social Club; Baseball Team, '14, '17, Captain, '14; Football Team, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17; Manager, '14; Captain, '16; Basketball Team, '14, '16, '17, '18; Relay Team, '13, '16, '17.

"Sub" is a man who looks to the future and acts accordingly. He wants to know the outcome before he acts. He is an all around athlete, and always plays a clean, consistent game on the football field or on the baseball diamond or the basketball floor. He does things with military discipline and promptness. He is honest in his relations to his fellow man, and is a diligent worker. He is such a man as the business world needs today.

WALTER CALLAWAY STEPHENSON, A. B.
COVINGTON, GA.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Few Literary Society; Boynton Prize Essay Medal; Champion Debate, '18; Impromptu Debate, '16, '17; Honor Roll, '14, '15, '16, '17; Mid Term Debate, '16; Fresh-Soph Debate, '15; Sophomore Commencement Speaker; Publication Committee, '16-'17; Board of Directors Few, '18; Few Respondent at Phi Gamma Anniversary, '17; Critic and Special Censor Few; Washington Birthday Orator, '17; Class Prophet, '14-'15; Orchestra and Glee Club.

Walter has quite a reputation as a debater, and a speaker. He knows how to handle argument in such a manner as to make you think white is black. Walter is an honor student, and one of the leaders among the boys.
Junior Class History

In the fall of 1915 one of the largest and best Freshman classes that ever attended this institution began to make history. Since then our ranks have been depleted year by year and now we stand on the brink of Seniordom with only a little over a score. Not in the least dismayed we are courageous and will continue to do our part for Emory and the Class of '19.

Our record has been one of continual achievement and our men have made a record of being fighters to the last ditch. Grit and determination has been our middle name from the start and will be until the finish.

Our history can never be a complete one for our achievements have been so numerous that unless one kept a diary of events it would not be possible to remember them. But such glorious events as winning the Pennant in Football in '17, and only being nosed out at the finish of our two previous seasons must be recorded as an example for posterity.

The Class of '19 has been a class of the highest scholastic standing. It has men who have been both a joy and a fear to the professors. We can predict with safety that some of our men will in future years hold various chairs in the big universities throughout the country.

Nor is our record alone confined to the Athletic Field and Class Room. Our men have branched out into every phase of college activity and they have made enviable records. The literary societies are carried on the backs of some of our men, who have no equals in school in the art of debating and declaiming.

Realizing that the most we can say for our Class of '19 would be inadequate, we are leaving for the classes to come after us an example of Patriotism, Thrift and Grit. These have been the moving spirits of the class, which have made us go forward in spite of obstacles, in spite of hard luck. These things have made us grit our teeth and smile and achieve.

Sophomore Class History

ACTION speaks louder than words. Hence an attempt to record '20's accomplishments would serve only to detract from their real glory.

We are sure of the immortality of our deeds without written memorials, for the place of the present Sophomore in Emory's tradition is a secure one. It is the place of the historian, however, to state the facts in the case.

In the fall of 1916, we came to Oxford over one hundred strong. Our history-making career began immediately. During that year we produced eight "E" men, won the relay race and captured the basketball championship. Our work in the class room was no less brilliant than that on the athletic field. Our outlook for the present year is a promising one, although we have suffered from the loss of several star members who have enlisted in their country's service. But a repetition of these bare facts becomes indeed monotonous.

Nineteen-twenty, with all its genius, lacks one who is as capable of writing history as the class itself is in making it.

A class unusual in quantity and quality, proud of its individual spirit, but boastful of its "Greater Emory Spirit" as exemplified by its record. We have accomplished much, we will accomplish more.

ROBERT FLOWERS, Historian.

A Summer Morn

By Glenn A. Duncan

Under the infinite vaults of the sky,
   Moist with the drops of a summer morn's dew,
Flecked with bright flowers the meadows all lie
   Under the veil of an ethereal blue.

Bright with the light of a summer morn's sun,
   Bordered by the fields of an emerald green,
Gently the brooks with a merry tune run,
   Making a world like the sun in his sheen.

Freshened and bright in their splendid array,
   Roses now drooping are dripping their worth,
Filling the air, as to breezes they sway,
   Full with the pureness of Heaven and earth.

Cheered by the freshness of summer morn's air,
   Cooled by the breath of a sweet-laden breeze,
Lost in the thoughts that are free from all care,
   Then, I'm as free as the wind in the trees.
GEE' HOW WILL I EVER MANAGE TO GET IT!
WITH high school diplomas and brains in which, in their opinion, was stored most of the knowledge of the world, a number of the new men arrived on the Campus on September 19, 1917, to make the halls of learning of old Emory resound with their superior intellect. But soon after attacking the schedule, a few decided that if they ever got their classes straight they would have done a good term's work, and when the first examination had come around and the mid-term reports were issued, every man was convinced of his total ignorance of many, many subjects.

On the athletic field the Class of '21 had made a splendid record. Our football team gave the other classes a hard struggle for the pennant, and although we did not win the pennant, the men went into every contest with a determination to win, fighting with a courage which kept our opponents busy until the final whistle was blown. One of our men made All-Emory.

While most of this history has dwelt on our athletic accomplishments, we do not mean to infer that our class has not made a good record in the literary field. We have a number of regular "shoot-em-ups," who take great pride in burning the lights of Haygood Dormitory until late into the night. Yet, we have within our midst the students who know that to study is not all there is in college life. A man must learn to meet his fellowman face to face; to understand his peculiarities; to develop friendship, and to aid him whenever possible. Such can be learned in college, and the sooner a man learns in what manner to meet all types of men, then he is that much ahead in the struggle for success.

With the close of the year we have accomplished much, but before us lies the long path of knowledge. Its way is not easily trodden, but with the same spirit which has characterized the class this year, every man must struggle over all obstacles and difficulties, finishing our years at Emory with such accomplishments, that when in the years to come new men glance back over the pages of history they may find the Class of '21 a model to be striven after.

Love

BY W. T. LANGSTON

We may quaff the cup of pleasure
Or the wine-cup, over-long;
Gather us too much treasure,
Or live too much for song;
But by the Saints in Heaven above
There can never be a surfeit of love!

Pain lies in the dregs of pleasure,
In the goblet kissed too long;
Death is not bribed with treasure,
And silence must follow song.
But who can drink too deep of love?
Its fount is the heart of God above!

Pre-Medical Class History

With the determination of those who set out to accomplish a definite end, and with the satisfaction of knowing that we are working toward that end, the Pre-Medical Class has come to the conclusion of its initial year at Emory. Each member of the class has realized the value of a good start, and we feel safe in making the assertion that the record of the Pre-Meds. will compare favorably with that of any other class in school.

Although Oxford is our official home for only two years, investigation will reveal the fact that the members of the Pre-Med. Class take an active interest in all college activities. The names of some of its members are found on the roll of the "E" men. They play a prominent part at the literary societies, and if appearances are indicative of anything, 1917-'18's honor roll is destined to include a fair quota within that inner circle of the elite classroom marksmen.

The necessity for men who are well trained in the medical profession is recognized as being one of the most important needs of the present war. The opportunity for training and service is indeed great. With the resolution to succeed, and above all, the untiring devotion to our country and the anxiety to help all that we can in her present need, we will press onward in the faithful performance of our duties, and in the end, success will crown our efforts.

Student Government Association History

For many years previous to 1911 the Student Body of Emory College was an unknown quantity. True, there was a body of students attending Emory College at one and the same time, but their thoughts and aims were so conflicting that there was little harmony and there was no form of Government except the rules of the Faculty. Occasionally a class would enter college whose leaders worked in harmony, but this was exceptional and a state of anarchy prevailed during elections.

Thus, the students grew tired of the old system or lack of system and set themselves to the task of forming a new system of Government, a system in which every student would have a part and in which there were powers vested.

The Constitution was written and adopted and since then the Emory Student Government Association with a wise council, known as the General Board, at its head has continued to broaden out and now it has great power, which is willingly allowed by the Faculty. The Association has co-operated with the Faculty at all times and is recognized in turn by them as a very essential organization.

The Student Government Association is a very democratic organization. Every student has the right to vote provided he has paid his Student Body tax of $4.50. He also gets, in return for this tax, the Emory Weekly and the Phoenix and is credited with one dollar payment toward the Annual.

Elections are held every April and there has never been any but just treatment at the polls. All Student Government officers are elected by popular vote.

The Student Government Association of Emory College undoubtedly has its faults, but we feel that after seven years of service this system is the very best for our school.

Ralph Huckabee, Secretary.
The Failure

By Whitley T. Langston, '20.

He was a failure, so men said,
And through his weary span of years,
They laughed, and mocked or pitied him;
And even those who came, in tears,
To mourn him dead, said, in their pain,
"He was a failure, his life was vain."

They saw in him a witless fool;
His prophecies they branded lies;
And he, a sage before his time,
Failed utterly in human eyes;
So that, for epitaph, they gave
A mere "Hic Jacet" on his grave.

But that Wise One, Who, throned above,
Keeps watch and record of all men,
Wrote there beside the failure's name,
An epitaph which might have been
Well written on the bitter wood
Of Christ's own cross: "Misunderstood."

For not all those are known to Fame,
Who dream and dare and do the great:
Earth's praise is an ephemeral thing,
Tossed careless from the hand of Fate.
The Christ was slain. How many good,
Still die His death, misunderstood?

The Alpha Epsilon Upsilon Honorary Society was organized in the year 1907 for the purpose of promoting scholarship and friendship among the students and graduates of Emory College. Membership in this organization depends upon class standing and members are elected annually from duly qualified students, or graduates of Emory College. Selection from each class before graduation never exceeds one-fifth of its membership. In addition to scholarship, and with a view toward making membership an honor all the more to be cherished, high moral character is a qualification.

The following are the scholastic requirements for eligibility:

1. An undergraduate who has been in college for at least eight terms, and who has attained at either period of eligibility an average grade of 8.8 shall be qualified for election.

2. An undergraduate who has been in college for less than eight terms, but for as many as five terms, and has attained an average grade of 9.4 shall be duly qualified for election.
Y. M. C. A. History

HERE is no form of student activity which more vitally concerns the moral and religious welfare of the student body than the Y. M. C. A. This was early realized by our forefathers, and as an aid in the promotion of the principles and purposes for which our Christian institution was founded, the Y. M. C. A. was organized many years ago. Although we have no Y. M. C. A. building, the association has ever found an inviting and welcome home in Phi Gamma and Few Halls. Neither have we a Y. M. C. A. Secretary, due to the size of the student body, but there is elected each year from among the students a president and cabinet, who have initiated movements and fostered ideals which have done much to make the moral and religious atmosphere of the college what it is today. Among those who have been actively engaged in the work was Mr. Arthur Brown, who afterward became very prominent in the Y. M. C. A. work.

The weekly meetings, which are held Saturday evenings, are usually led by members of the faculty, local ministers, out-of-town speakers, and members of the Y. M. C. A. Subjects which pertain vitally to character building and the life work of the students are discussed. In addition to this, Bible and missionary study classes are held on Sunday afternoons in the various fraternity chapter houses, boarding houses, and dormitories. This work is growing in magnitude and influence each year.

Last year we sent one delegate to the Blue Ridge conference, and five the year before. We are expecting to send several men this coming summer, for nothing is more inspiring and helpful to the Y. M. C. A. work than these Blue Ridge conferences, as the men have attended them can testify.

The noteworthy work done by the Y. M. C. A. this year has not been confined to our college, but its loyal members have contributed quite a sum for the Army Y. M. C. A.

Such is the record of our Y. M. C. A. Its past is worthy and we predict a still greater usefulness in the near future when all departments of the university shall be grouped on one campus, and when we shall have a handsome Y. M. C. A. building and a secretary to help the good work along.

W. B. Sanders, Vice President.

Phi Gamma Literary Society History

The birth of Phi Gamma Literary Society dates back almost to the foundation of Emory College. The founders of the society were young men of earnest purposes, whose desire to obtain not only the advantages to be derived from parliamentary discussions, but also to secure the benefits arising from the association of young men of high character and like aspirations.

The society formed under such conditions and by such influences could not but succeed. Within two years the membership had so increased and the interest manifested became so great that it was deemed advantageous to divide the society. Half of her members withdrew to organize a sister society, which was named Few, in honor of Emory's first president, Dr. Ignatius A. Few. The division from the first proved a benefit in the way of quickening the interest in society work, not only by means of increased accommodations, but also by introducing a spirit of friendly rivalry between their respective memberships.

Since the establishing of the sister literary society, regular debates have been held between the two. At times interest has waxed extremely warm.

At commencement, 1873, occurred the first champion debate between Few and Phi Gamma societies, with the late C. E. Dowman, W. N. Sheats and O. L. Smith as Phi Gamma champions, the winners.

The original purpose of Phi Gamma Literary Society has been maintained. The constitution and by-laws have been amended or modified in many respects, frequently for the better, but the greater underlying purpose has remained unchanged and fixed throughout the years.—“To Help Men to Help Themselves and Be of Service to Their Fellow Men.”

The Maternal Port

By Roy T. Houts

A tiny ship went sailing out
Upon the mystic sea of life.
It suffered ills, was tossed about
  By waves of dread and fear and strife,
  When it left The Maternal Port.

In times of danger none was nigh;
  When thunder roared and lightning flashed,
No one there was to soothe the cry,
  Nor save the boat from being crashed,
  When it left The Maternal Port.

May some unseen and tender hand
  Protect the ship from evils sore,
And guide it to that Heavenly land,
  Where, anchored safe forever more,
  Never leaves The Maternal Port.
Few Literary Society History

WHEN in the year 1837 Phi Gamma Literary Society organized, some of her men thought that it was best to have two societies, and consequently they chose sides and in 1839 Few Society was organized. This name was chosen in honor of Emory's first president, Dr. Ignatius A. Few.

The boys always worked as enthusiastically as they had ever worked in the class room. Some days the debates would last all day and when they could not convince the men by speaking they often used their fists.

But there came a time when there were no debates, the two society halls were used to care for the wounded of the Gray and Blue.

After the war only two Few men returned, Mr. Roberts and Rev. Chas. Lane. These two men went to work and made Few a glorious society.

The annual champion debate was begun in 1873. There are now three other debates held each year between the two societies.

The purpose for which the society was organized has been accomplished in the past and we predict for her a great and noble future: "With a view to the promotion of Virtue and Patriotism, the cultivation of our forensic powers and for the sake of general improvement in Science and Literature."

To a Lady’s Hand-bag

BY ROY T. HOUTS

It’s six inches deep and round as a ring,
The top doesn’t latch, but is closed by a string.
Now some are of leather and some are crocheted,
But all of them do for the purpose they’re made.
The traveling-bag’s useless, and suit-cases too,
For every one knows what these “curios” do.
They carry the needle, the thimble and thread,
The powder, the chamois,—complexion that’s red.
The mirror, the scissors and kerchiefs galore,
A pencil and paper, and stamps one or more.
A pair of white stockings, and maybe some blues,
A pair like the rainbow with various hues.
Her money and ticket are all in the mess,
With shirt waist and nail file, and all but the dress.
Now tell me, I pray, how so meager in size,
It holds such a lot, and I’ll give you the prize.
Dooley’s Diary

HE chalk-like bones of Mr. Dooley rattle and shake in the autumnal breeze as he awakens from his summer’s sleep to be the object of fear and curiosity on the part of the new boys from home. He grins horribly when he promises to record the doleful happenings of the past year without perjuring himself.

SEPTEMBER 18.—The toughest looking bunch of “young hopefuls” ever destined to enter the portals, made sacred (?) by illustrious Freshmen of other days, causes Mr. Wheeler to cuss without interruption for four days. All old men grieve because “Bill” and “Plink” have separated.

SEPTEMBER 19.—“Bish” conducts the opening exercises in the chapel. Here’s introducing Prof. (Sneeze) Hamff. “Sleepy” Stevenson, the Commandant, fresh from V. M. I., fails to wake up in time to come to the exercises.

SEPTEMBER 20.—“Monk,” “Bill,” Burt’s successor to “Preacher,” didn’t know there was that much money in the world. New boys receive barrels of soft drinks. Oh! What a change a few short days bring.

SEPTEMBER 21.—Smithwick and Stringer introduce themselves as the original malted milk twins. Nicholson applies for the job of nurse.

SEPTEMBER 22.—Allen swears to get a “dip” and signs up for everything in school. Zeke moans that he has strayed from the path of the classics and now chooses to dwell in the land of science.

SEPTEMBER 23.—“Nag” wants orchestra for Sunday school. All sign up in French the following Tuesday.

SEPTEMBER 25.—“Honey” Darling inherits Fritz Lane’s mantle and gets the Central Board to help Weekly. “Jack” Allen assumes the attitude of Cole Blease. Nicholson defends the cause of the down-trodden Freshie and appeals for Justice, Mercy and Constitution, “although he is not against the motion.”

SEPTEMBER 26.—“Sub” tells the home-sick Freshman to cheer up. ’Tis well, for the worst is to come.
September 27.—Trouble brewing.

September 28.—Who hit Spears in the eye???

September 29.—“Earnie” Rogers accused of hazing! Strickland never leaves room at night for fear that he will be implicated.

September 30.—The afternoon train finds several Sophs bound for Mercer.

October 1.—“Sub” Smith and “Louie” Husbands demoralize Phi Gamma; buy a place on Impromptu Debate and don’t know what to do with it.

October 8.—Freshmen get all stuck up. Sophomores say that there was a terrible outrage perpetrated during the night. Cop Dial called in to prevent bloodshed.

October 9.—Major gets a job playing the “Joe Turner Blues” for the Broadway Follies.

October 16.—“Sub” observes that the general health of the Student Body is quite an improvement over that of past years. Could it be the workings of the Excuse Committee?

October 17.—Battalion officers announced. Steinberg appointed bootblack. Charlie Bacon buys some lieutenant’s bars and a swagger stick, also grows a moustache.

October 22.—First extra duty squad reports. Much wailing and gnashing of teeth. Johnson and Adams incorrigible.

October 23.—Battalion on parade in Covington. Girls all go wild over the Major.

October 24.—“Bill” Burt and “Mac” refuse to answer questions relative to uniforms.

October 27.—“Strick” taken for Pillow Boy at football game in Atlanta. Mutts seen climbing lamp post in front of Tom Pitts’?????

November 3.—“Ham” pulls for Vandy. He afterwards gives his V to Blondie of Camp 49.
November 4.—Student Body bemoans the passing of the Mule Car. Oh! What will become of the traditions of Oxford?

November 5.—Academy goes on strike but loses its nerve at the thought of riding a freight.

November 8.—“Squire” Carlton gets the decision in a two (Chair) round bout. Is acclaimed the “King of Them All.”

November 13.—Major spends night making Macon and gets back barely in time to lead Chapel.

November 20.—“Zeke” tells “Hop” Dunaway that the cavalry is not as efficient as the infantry in attacking Tacitus.

November 29.—Palmer Institute’s Student Body shows great growth overnight.

December 1.—“Foxy” presides in Chapel. A harvest of notices appear.

December 4.—“Mutts” makes a short announcement in Chapel.

December 8.—Student Body gets a holiday on Saturday to hear Sunday. “Jim” Lester attends.

December 13.—Sleet appears. Much snow-balling ensues.

December 14.—“Bill” Warren loses mouth piece of his cornet.

December 15.—Weekly becomes very much inconoclastic. “Sub” appeals to the “Bish” for help.

December 17.—Exams. begin!

December 21.—Everybody leaves Oxford but those who are sick with the measles.

January 2.—Those men who swore that they would not be back were the first to arrive.

January 3.—“Louie” Husbands lets it get out that he is fresh from Jacksonville. Is very popular for a short while.

January 7.—Freshman Rahn wants to know what tune it is that “Madam” whistles so much.
January 8.—"Mutts" relieves the coal shortage.

January 10.—"Ceph" observes that the college's coal is being burned very rapidly.

January 11.—After measles comes the mumps. "Huck" reported in a bad fix. Denies it!

January 21.—Red J Club organized, with the following charter members: Allen, President; Rahn, Secretary and Treasurer; Cox, Manager.

Frank Taylor was balled because he used up the club's store too freely.

January 27.—French officers visit Oxford.

February 1.—It is reported that several Seniors have bought one of the Atlanta hotels.

February 7.—"Graveyard Joe" seen going across campus with a cock under his arm in broad daylight! Cock fighting is strictly prohibited by the college, too.

February 10.—"Lovett" shows signs of having had a strenuous night. "Kid" Wilson qualifies for an equestrian act in Barnum and Bailey. Lee Ballard fails to qualify.

February 10.—Flag day exercises held at the church. "Ike" Gibson comes to church. Mr. Williams is so startled that he forgets his sermon.

February 11.—"Honey" reported married. Terrible commotion aroused when the Covington ladies hear of this calamity. Major still believes it.

February 21.—"Honey" comes to the city and forgets that he is only a country lad. Loses his overcoat and suitcase, also his good nature.

February 22.—"Pete" Smith wants to know what date it is.

February 23.—Cox tells "Bill" Warren that aluminum is light because it is not heavy. "Hubby" gets a 10 on a solution and becomes so excited that George Pinckney thinks he guessed it.
February 24.—Fish club holds a convention. Same old officers elected.

February 27.—The air becomes full of politics. Lack of opposition causes birth of drinks which were so plentiful in past years.

March 8.—Those pesky exams appear once more over the horizon.

March 17.—Freshmen think it a long time until Commencement. A number of Seniors wish that they had another year to get off their back work in.

March 19.—Sounds of wood meeting leather begin to fill the afternoon. Forty men report for Freshman baseball squad. There are thirty-eight pitchers in this bunch.

March 31.—First issue of Whompus. What a scandal!

April 1.—Extra force of police aid Cop Dial in keeping public property from being mutilated by the vandal hordes. Academy rampant.

April 13.—Central Board enjoy themselves immensely. Votes, votes, my kingdom for your votes!

April 14.—Husbands stands exam. every night. Hopes to stand them all by commencement.

April 20.—Time is fleeting.

May 15.—Campus comes out.

May 28.—The Beginning of the End.

June 12.—It is finished.
Four O’Clock and All’s Well

By W. M. Pearson.

ORPORAL Thomas Jackson Benton was in no idealistic frame of mind as he finished his supper and went out and took his seat in front of the crude hut in which he was billeted. Many of the men gathered in small groups here and there and an occasional outburst of laughter signified that one of their number had told a good joke. Others made their way to the “Y” shack to drop a few lines home. Soon the company street was quiet and most of the men were bunked, for the day had been a strenuous one for the Sammies. It had seemed as if the whole German army had directed their gunfire on the position held by the small band of American troops.

But Benton did not turn in. He was having one of his gloomy spells which threatened to break all previous records. And who wouldn’t have been if at the beginning of the week it had been announced by the Major that every soldier who would capture, before the end of the week, twenty-five German privates would be granted a furlough long enough to spend the Christmas holidays at home in America. One officer would be counted equal to five privates, and he lacked only five men of having the required number. The contest would close the next day at noon. What chance had a fellow to capture five Huns in that short while? Besides most of the time would be spent in the camp and the Boches were not in the habit of walking into a camp and meekly offering themselves up as prisoners of war. He was suddenly aroused from his morose thought by a slap on the shoulder. It was Chick Simmons, his bunk mate.

“Hard luck, Bent, old boy. I know it’s tough to miss going home but don’t take it so hard. Come on, it’s time to pile in,” soothed Chick as he passed into the hut.

“By the way, Bent,” called Chick from within, “I notice that you go on scout duty at one o’clock in the morning.” Benton’s spirits, at the thought of having another chance, rose at once. Thirty minutes later found Corporal Benton entertaining the surrounding neighborhood with a nasal musical in a very low key.

The night was cold but clear and the full moon, shedding forth its soft light on the open space, which only yesterday had been a human slaughter house, seemed to frown. A band of American scouts stole stealthily into the space between their lines and those of the enemy and soon each man went his separate way. After what seemed to be hours of now crawling and now walking on all-fours, interspersed with periods of long waits when he was almost afraid to breathe for fear he would be discovered by the enemy, Benton reached an abandoned enemy trench. Sliding into the trench he walked down it a short distance. Suddenly he saw something on the ground that brought forth from him an exclamation of joy. Lying on the floor of the trench was a small box of cigars with part of its contents spilled on the ground.

"This is what I call luxury," cried Benton to himself as he hastily crammed the cigars into any of his pockets that happened to have any room left in them.

"Almost as lucky as capturing five Boches at one time. Officer Fritzie certainly must have made a sudden departure to leave these behind. They are the first cigars I've had in my hand since landing in France. Think I'll celebrate," and so saying, he put one of the cigars into his mouth and was about to strike a match when something caught his eye that made him catch his breath.

Some distance down the trench was a faint light and on stealing closer, Benton saw a German lad of about twenty seated on the ground intently looking at something which he held in his hand. The German was so absorbed with his thoughts that he did not notice the Corporal when he approached within a few feet of him. In the right hand of the Hun was a small electric flashlight held so that the light fell with full force upon a miniature of a lovely German maid. The youth pressed the picture to his lips and a tear stole down his cheek as he placed the picture in an inside pocket over his heart.

Benton, concealed behind some boards and sand bags, did some rapid thinking. He had his rifle in readiness and thought how easily he could make the man prisoner. It would mean at least one prisoner nearer his prize and, although no distinguishing mark was seen on the soldier, it was possible that he was an officer. He thought of his own young wife back home; how beautiful she was the day he bade her farewell and how much he wanted to see her now; and, besides, her last letter had brought the glad tidings that there was a Thomas Jackson, Jr., also, waiting to see him. Oh, wouldn't they be glad to see him! But the sight of the love-sick boy warmed Benton’s heart. He could sympathize with the poor fellow. If he took the lad captive it was most probable that he would never see his lady fair again. Besides the German was surely a private and he wouldn’t count much towards the prize. On deciding to let the Hun go free, he determined to make the soldier retreat to his own trench. Pointing his gun at the man, he said:

“Hello, Fritzie.”

The German jumped to his feet, and in place of the expression of love and tenderness, that he had just manifest, his every feature took on an expression of intense hatred. Fire seemed to shoot from his very eyes. At this Benton attempted to explain, with what little German he knew, the situation.

“Talk to me in something I can understand,” snarled the Boche. “Nobody could understand that excuse for the German language you are trying to talk. See if you can speak English.

Benton was quite startled at this outburst but regained his senses long enough to command:

“Back up against that wall over there and shut your mouth or I’ll get careless with this gun.”

The German backed slowly to the side of the trench and then with a low chuckle, said:

“See this button under my right-hand thumb? Well I guess I’ll have my say now. If you don’t put down that gun I’ll set off an explosion that will send you farther than you want to go right now. You see I have you now.” He reached into his pocket and brought forth a folded paper and continued:

“See this paper? It is a letter from my commander, announcing that if I capture one American I can go home to my lady and that is why I’m out tonight.” After saying this he let out a harsh laugh that was half sneer. Then with a start, he said:

“Oh, yes, will you be so kind as to hand me that cigar sticking in your coat pocket. There’s no need of hurry. This is the first cigar I’ve had in ages. You Americans always were extravagant. We Germans are masters of science. We know how to do without such things. While I smoke I’ll give you a few instructions as to how you must behave yourself when I get you behind our lines.”
The Hun lit the cigar, took one deep draw of satisfaction and then something happened. With a sudden puff, the cigar burst. The imprisoned gas of destruction being suddenly released began to spread. Benton ducked and escaped, but before the German had time to realize what had happened, it had reached his eyes and he was left groping in darkness.

"Why, he's an officer," exclaimed the Captain as he examined Benton's prisoner. "Lucky for you, old boy. Guess you'll be leaving us soon, eh?"

As Benton turned joyfully to his quarters he heartily agreed with the guard when he announced:

"Four o'clock and all's well!"
The First to Die

Whitley T. Langston.

Weep not for them, the first to die,
That vanguard of a holy cause.
Though in cold, foreign earth they lie,
It matters not. Without a pause
They answered when the bugles called,
For while we rest were still appalled,
Youth's heart had heard, as well as ear,
That thrilling summons, crystal-clear,
And at the trumpet note, "Advance!"
Their feet first found the road to France!

Nay! not one tear for these who died,
Their passion at its first high heat.
The happiest they, who in full pride,
Pass ere they taste or fear defeat!
Their bodies, dust in strange, far soil,
Their brave arms, crushed beneath the moil—
Belong to Death. But not their souls.
Where'er the battle-echo rolls—
Where'er a faint heart cries for aid—
Where'er the foemen must be stayed—
Waiting the hour of Truth's full dawn,
They, spirit-soldiers, still fight on.
Wearers of the 'E"

All-Emory Football Team

JUNIOR PENNANT WINNERS

W. S. ALLEN, '18, LaGrange, Ga., Backfield.
The fastest man in school, with a good head and plenty of pep makes him one of the best backfield men of the season.

C. K. BIVINGS, '19, Jakin, Ga., Backfield. With a charge like that of a battering ram this low, heavy man is wont to tear up the enemy's defense. He is a heady player and has one year's previous experience on the All-Emory Team.

A. C. DARLING, '18, Andalusia, Ala., Line. This man is the best we have to offer for a line man's position. He would make any man in the country hustle with his two hundred pounds of brawn and his quick thinking.
R. N. EMMETT, '21, AMERICUS, GA., Line. "Tub" was the bulwark of the Freshman Line and he played a clean, snappy game in spite of the weakness of his team. He would show up strong under training and experienced coaching.

T. L. HARMON, '20, MACON, GA., Backfield. A hard plunging, fast and heavy man is a rare combination, but all of these qualities are found in this man. He helped to make the Sophs. a pennant contender.

C. R. HOSALE, '19, ASHLAND CITY, TENN., Line. Hosale is one of the most versatile players in school as he plays both line and backfield with the same push that characterizes the man. This man puts all of his great frame into the game all of the time.
J. G. LESTER, '18, COVINGTON, GA., Backfield. Jim has all the "pep" in the world. He puts more life into a team than any other athlete in school and despite his weight he shows by his determination that it is not weight alone that counts.

K. F. MELTON, '19, OXFORD, GA., Line. Keller is probably the best kicker in school. He not only plays Center with a dash that seems incredible for so large a man. He is invaluable to his team.

J. E. MOCK, '19, PIEDMONT, S. C., Line. Joe's six feet, four inches of brawn make him a powerful and dangerous tackle that would delight the heart of any football coach in America. He has some Prep experience and should Emory enter the lists during his stay at college, look out!
W. W. STANCIL, '20, Sale City, Ga., Line. Stancil is the shiftiest line man we have and he plays the game earnestly with his whole self. He was the strength of the Soph. Line.

M. TURNER, '21, Jasper, Tenn., Line. Turner has the distinction of being the best end in school. He never lets a play get by his end without his being in it. He has the grit that enabled him to play a whole game after knocking out his front teeth.

R. B. WILSON, '19, Hampton, Ga., Line. To look at "Kid" one wouldn't think that he is a football player but if he were a player on the opposing side he would soon find that "Kid" is very much a football player. He breaks up more forward passes than any end in school.

Freshman Football Team

First Row—Gable, Ansley, Rogers, Turner, Emmett.

Third Row—Smith, Prof. Goodyear, Coach; Thompson, Davis, Cook.
All-Emory Tennis Team

W. H. HAMILTON, Paducah, Ky. "Ham" is a consistent player and backs up his partner all of the time. He has the speed and the endurance to burn. He is a sure, steady player.

W. C. WARREN, Atlanta, Ga. "Bill" is a brilliant and resourceful player. He uses a variety of strokes perfectly and has a puzzling service. He has won several cups outside of the school.

All-Emory Baseball Team

T. L. HARMON, Macon, Ga. Leon is one "peach" of a catcher. If he were not otherwise inclined we could safely predict a Big League career for him along with Perryman and Harris.

W. C. WARREN, Atlanta, Ga. Baseball is a sideline with "Bill" but he plays the third sack at that better than anyone else in school. He is a dangerous batter and a sure fielder.

EMORY UNIVERSITY
OFFERS COURSES LEADING TO DEGREES IN THE FOLLOWING DEPARTMENTS

1. THE SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS (Emory College) offers courses in English, Spanish, French, German, Greek, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Mental and Moral Science, History, Political Economy, and Biblical Literature, leading to the usual literary degrees. This department has a library of 50,000 volumes.

2. THE SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY (The Candler School of Theology) offers full and varied courses leading to the degree of B.D. The library of the School of Theology is rich and grows richer daily. To it belongs the famous “Thursfield-Smith Collection of Wesleyana,” which includes hundreds of autograph letters of the Wesleys and other Methodist celebrities.

3. THE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE (The Atlanta Medical College), a medical college of first grade, offers courses in medicine and surgery covering four years and leading to the degree of M.D. By arrangement with the Grady Hospital, the municipal hospital of Atlanta, and the Wesley Memorial Hospital, which is a part of the University system, the School of Medicine is able to offer clinical advantages of great value to students.

4. THE SCHOOL OF LAW (The L. Q. C. Lamar School of Law) was opened on September 27th in a most beautiful building and with a large library. The “case method” of instruction is used in the work of the school, and the course of study, which leads to the degree of LL.B., is as thorough and extensive as that offered in any first-class law school in the United States. In Atlanta every court known to the judicial system of America, except the U. S. Supreme Court, holds regular sessions. “The Lamar School of Law,” therefore, offers unsurpassed advantages for students preparing for the legal profession.
