Campus
1962
This is Emory University. Out of four years in the development of men we have tried, in a few words and fewer pictures, to extract the essence of Emory life, to re-create it for posterity in these pages. To abbreviate four years in the life of four thousand people is not an easy task. But we hope that in future years an hour spent reading this book will, in some measure, be a nostalgic return to Emory University.
Emory is a place of constant activity. This activity takes hundreds of different forms, and all are part of the education of a man. Classes are only one part of life on the campus. We learn, too, from the thousands of new acquaintances made here, from moments of relaxing conversation, and even from a quiet walk from place to place.
Our memories of Emory remain alive as a series of impressions. We remember how, after the hectic rush of the day, we welcomed the opportunity to escape for a moment from the academic world, although we were still part of it.
The cool and quiet night always brought with it a multitude of diversions. The sound of masses on the move cut through the stillness of the evening as we danced to the music of the immortal Ray Charles. Scarcely a night went by that did not usher in some new activity.
The night was also a quiet time. It was the lonely, contemplative, personal time of the day. It was a time to collect our thoughts privately, or to confide them to one other. In the still of the night we sometimes knew, if only for an instant, that the activities of the day did have a purpose; that we were heading toward some goal.

1962 Campus Dedicated to
It is with great pride and affection that the staff of the 1962 Campus dedicates this yearbook to a man who has lived Emory University since his days here as an undergraduate.

GEORGE FREDERICK COOPER, JR., son of a Methodist minister, came to Emory from Birmingham, Alabama, after completing his first year at Jacksonville State Teacher’s College. Upon graduating with an A.B. in History, Coach Cooper became Instructor in Physical Education at Emory Junior College in Valdosta where he remained until 1946 with the exception of thirty eight months spent with the Marine Corps during the war. For his meritorious participation in three operations, he was decorated with a Silver Star and two Purple Hearts.

He moved to the Atlanta campus in 1949 as an Instructor and in 1952 was made an Assistant Professor. Since 1959 he has served as an Associate Professor after obtaining his M.A. in 1953. Coach Cooper has been an active part of life at Emory serving as chairman of the Student Organizations and Activities Committee and a member of the Student Conduct Committee. He has also served as a member and chairman of several national level associations dealing with physical education. His relations to the students of the University can best be exemplified by noting that he was tapped into Omicron Delta Kappa in 1958 and the class of 1959 honored him by selecting him as an honorary member.

George Cooper is a man who is recognized as having successfully combined the ability to inspire each individual to develop his potential along with a genuine interest for his students. It is unfortunate, we feel, that the phrase which best characterizes Coach Cooper’s attitude with regard to his students has been used to the point of its becoming a cliche; nevertheless to know Emory’s coach is to realize his desire that “it is not whether you win or lose but how you play the game.”

Because of his sincere concern for all aspects of the University we dedicate this, the 1962 Campus, to George F. Cooper.

In Memoriam

Editor of The Emory Alumnus for 16 years, Randolph L. Fort left a deep imprint on his University and his profession. Through the pages of the magazine he reported the major events and small happenings of the campus with a thoroughness that makes The Alumnus during his editorship a complete modern history of Emory. Winner of the Robert Sibley Award for editing the "most distinguished magazine of the year" and the American Alumni Council’s Alumni Service award for "outstanding service rendered to an institution and to the cause of education by organized alumni effort," Randy Fort had earned 55 national awards through the excellence of his magazine.

President S. Walter Martin reflected the University's reaction when he said: "Mr. Fort's passing is a great loss to Emory. He was singleminded in his devotion to the University and to his work here."
What is the essence of a university? There are classes, books, activities. There is a large campus; that campus is a microcosm: it is self-sustaining in a great sense. Its citizens are many and various—there are enough of them to populate a city. How then do we seek the vital force that activates this giant mass? Turning back the pages of memory one just begins; turning these pages our memories are resurrected, filling ghost-like across our minds, and, if we will let them, speaking to us of a time gone by.

It is hard to see a child without admitting a certain element of identification. As children, scarcely having crossed the threshold of life, we had no thought except to follow parental authority. If we have crossed another threshold by entering into this university, what do we now follow? The answer must be knowledge. Surely this must be so, as we hurry from place to place, stopping only occasionally for a conversational interlude. So swift is this life! But perhaps through the window of recollection we can stop it for a fleeting moment...
But knowledge—this much-sought-after god—must become a big business. Our little city becomes a mass of administrative personnel, multi-colored forms, and, most important, perplexed students. Finally the product is ready for the classroom. The result: intellectual curiosity, in triplicate.

Sometimes we become more than followers of the knowledge-god. As weary slaves we plod through the dungeons of learning.

But escaping from the dungeon we jostle each other in the eager rush to class. We develop outside of the classroom, too; the body develops in pace with the mind.
Characteristic of the beginning of college life is a certain boundless enthusiasm. Whether it be shown in victorious shouts after an athletic contest, in a gay rendezvous on the campus, or in after-hours relaxation, there is an unlimited quantity of energy in evidence everywhere.

Would it be good if this enthusiasm lasted all year? Perhaps so; perhaps not.
At the beginning of the year there is the mad rush to the bookstore to buy textbooks, paper, pencils, and all the physical paraphernalia associated with knowledge. Here the student exchanges the great root of all evil for the keys to intellectual paradise.

Inextricably mingled with the preparations for academic activity are the most hectic days of the year—Rush Week. The fraternity houses are neated, the smiles perfected, the grip strengthened for innumerable firm handshakes, and all is made ready. Yet at the end the rushee must make his own decision. It is not an easy one, for it involves the saying of goodbyes as well as the choosing of his fraternity.
There is time, too, to find respite from books in the current diversions: The Twist sweeps the campus, leaving behind an imposing array of sprained muscles and tired ball and socket joints. A small contingent from the Congo arrives to entertain the Emory student.

Allegedly on the more serious side, the campus burns with election fever. For a week the University is defiled with signs and plastered with banners. After the election, the victors pass into obscurity somewhat later than the defeated.
Our little city sustains itself financially in many strange and exotic ways. Hidden Persuaders are glorified, the destruction instinct is turned to advantage. Slavery is reincarnated in lighter tones.

Humanity on the move: our little city rolls along on all kinds of wheels. No space is spared. Efficiency is bloated to fantastic proportions.

In classes, in study, we feel almost crushed under the weight of knowledge.
Two of the most anxiously-awaited extracurricular activities each year are two "sings." The inter-fraternity and Pan-Hellenic sings attract large audiences who come to hear the finished product of weeks of concentrated effort.

Winners of the inter-fraternity sing this year were Sigma Chi, in the large fraternity division, and Kappa Alpha in the small fraternity division. Delta Gamma won the Pan-Hellenic sing. Choral director Norman Luboff and Prof. E. H. Rece presented the awards.
One of the functions of a great university is to recognize the nation's distinguished citizens for their accomplishments. Thus, on April 20, 1961, Emory University conferred upon Dean Rusk, United States Secretary of State, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Rusk, a native of Canton, Georgia, arrived amid fanfare and a police escort, then entered in a processional with the Marshals, Trustees, and Faculties of the University into the Glenn Memorial Auditorium for the formal ceremony.

Outstanding achievements by students on campus, too, are recognized in ceremonies on Honor's Day. In a processional complete with gowns, music, pomp and circumstance, the University formally recognizes new initiates into the various campus honor societies and confers special awards. This is a day eagerly awaited by hard-working, sincere, successful students.
On our way to and from classes we see once a week the Symbol. It calls us to seek the Almighty in a hot, close room, where we assemble sheeplike to hear the Word, as presented by the week’s great seer, flown from the corners of the earth to save us from ourselves. But by and by heads nod, textbooks are seen, and whispered conversations are heard. Finally the hour allotted for the feeding of the soul has elapsed and it is time once again to return to reality in the classroom.

But if we do not find spirituality because of the campus church, surely we find it in spite of it. Where, then? Might it not be in the flowering dogwood? In the new leaves on the trees? There are no symbols here; no time limit; no empty words. Only peace and contentment.
Emory's annual snowstorm comes with startling regularity in early February, bring relief from the hot, stuffy classroom and escape into a white world of fun. If the storm is even moderately severe, the great university grinds to a crunching halt. Listen as you will, you will hear no one mourn. All are too busy revelling in newly-found diversions.
Outside of the classroom the spot most seething with activity is Cox Hall. Here faculty and students alike gather for a chat, a meal, or an hour of study on the sunlit porches.

This building never slows its pace, come rain, shine, or snow; for the thirst for knowledge is inevitably accompanied by far less subtle urges.
The university is a maze. It is a place of intense and fantastically diverse action. This action, if it is to be remembered, must be recorded by an instrument more permanent than the eye. It must be immortalized for posterity and made available for the interpretation of future generations.

It is for this reason that almost nothing escapes the shrewdly discriminating, skilled eye of the university photographer.
Spring comes, and with it the comfortable and distracting laziness called Spring Fever. Our earlier vitality succumbs to a pleasant languor.

Yet we muster enough energy to participate in new activities. Lawn displays—some less impressive than others—adorn fraternity lawns, footlights dim and curtains rise, and voices burst into song. And, of course, admiration of beauty is intensified as we renew our memories of the recent Miss Emory contest.
It is the end of another year, and our thoughts turn to various new activities. Spring diversions claim more and more of our attention. But these new channels for our enthusiasm do not quench our ever-present thirst for knowledge; for they last for the moment only. For a deep feeling of personal satisfaction and accomplishment, nothing can equal an hour or two with the books.

And because of the eternal thirst, there is an ever-growing aspect to our university. We must fill the well, that others may drink, as we have done. And so we grow—and will continue to grow as long as the progress of man continues.
And now it is over. There is no time now for rejoicing or regret, for these four years are gone, and can never be relived. The words of the commencement speaker recall to us a kaleidoscopic pattern of impressions of Emory life. We have spent four years on a campus dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge. We have had successes and failures, and have made mistakes. And we have learned much.

But our thirst for knowledge has not been quenched; it has not even been slaked, and never—must never—diminish.
The future stands before us. College is not the end, and the value of our education at Emory does not stand separate in itself. What part, then, does this education play in our future lives?

There is no complete answer to this question. These four years have been valuable because they lead along the path of the quest for Truth. We cannot promise ourselves great roles in this discovery. But we can leave college better armed for the search, and stronger in the conviction that here, in the quest for Truth, lies the justification of man—his driving passion, his obsession, his raison d'être.

Dooley Returns to Emory
The perennial symbol of Emory's spirit in the spring, S. Walter Dooley, has enlivened the campus each year since 1941, just as he did with a whirl of gaiety last April.

Dooley, as an Emory tradition, has been around for a long time. The original skeleton, as it is rumored, was born over 100 years ago when Emory was located at Oxford, Ga. In 1889, the, as yet, anonymous skeleton wrote an article to the campus magazine to inform all that his name was Dooley.

The years from 1909 to 1941 found him inactive. However, in 1941, Emory's struggling Press Club staged the first Dooley's Frolics, and thus he was reborn. With thanks to the personalized skeleton, the frolics was a success. The student who now wears the costume is unidentified.

Beside the name of S. Walter Dooley on the Emory alumnus file is written "bonafide alumnus," with the notation "deceased."

D.V.S., the Senior Honor Society, was founded on the old Oxford, Georgia, campus fifty-nine years ago; it represents the highest honor which can come to a man while he is a student at Emory University. Moreover, the Senior Honor Society has long stood for those things which make Emory a great university; the success of the university is, in a large part, the success of D.V.S.

The members of the Senior Honor Society have always observed the strictest secrecy in matters involving the society. This is done, not to be pretentious by being secret, but because the Society has always felt that its purposes might be best achieved if its members refrained from any public utterances concerning the Society or any of its activities.

D.V.S. considers for membership each man who is an undergraduate student of Emory University in the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Business Administration; because of this, little-known workers are often chosen for membership in the Society. If a man is not elected to membership at the time he is considered, his name cannot be brought before the Society again.

Never in the entire history of the Society has an individual to whom membership was offered failed to accept it. The emphasis which the Society places upon the quality of the men elected to membership can be evidenced by their successes on their student and professional lives.

In all cases, in choosing their seven successors, the members of the Society choose a man not for what he should be or might have been, but for what he is. Everything a student does to help the University in the classroom, on the athletic field, or in student activities brings him nearer to membership in D.V.S. Each year seven men are chosen for their accomplishments, men to whom the university can point with pride and say, "These men represent all that Emory stands for."

The privilege of wearing the badge of D.V.S. is not merely a reward for past accomplishments. It is, to a great extent, a challenge to the wearer to do greater and better things for his University in the days which remain to him as a student and in the years following his graduation.
Phi Beta Kappa, founded at the college of William and Mary in 1776, is the oldest national honorary society in the United States. The Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, was chartered on September 11, 1928.

The purpose of Phi Beta Kappa is to encourage learning and achievement in colleges and universities.

Based upon outstanding scholarly attainment, the range and character of courses elected, a consideration on the moral character of the student and his general promise to the world of scholarship is bestowed upon students having a 2.5 average their first three years in college or a 2.25 average through the fall or spring quarter of their senior year.
Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honor society for men was founded December 3, 1914, at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia.

The two-fold purposes of ODK are to honor those Emory men who have demonstrated leadership in student affairs and to serve the University. Through its annual leadership workshop for high school students and by meeting on a common plane with members of the faculty and administration to solve mutual problems, ODK performs a valuable service for Emory.

ODK honoris causa members members are Joseph M. Conant, Charles N. Watson, Richard H. Rich, Alton V. Hallum, Elbert P. Tuttle, and Dr. A. C. Clement.
The Women’s Honor Organization, founded in April, 1954, was organized in order to recognize outstanding leadership, scholarship, and service to the University on the part of Emory’s women students.

WHO elects upper division Emory women to membership on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service. Tapping ceremonies are held in the fall and spring quarters, with a public installation ceremony being held in Fall, 1961, and Spring, 1962.

This year WHO has sponsored “Emory Presents,” a program of campus comments on WGST radio.

To be chosen for membership in the Women’s Honor Organization is the highest honor a woman student at Emory can achieve.

Honorary members of WHO are Dr. Marion Hines and Dr. Evangeline Papegeorge. Dean Nina Rusk is the administrative advisor, and Miss Barbara Ames is the faculty advisor.

Alpha Epsilon Upsilon, founded at Emory-at-Oxford in 1906, is the lower division honor society. Patterned after Phi Beta Kappa, AEU recognizes scholastic achievement among freshmen who have a 2.5 average at the end of their third quarter and sophomores who have a 2.25 average at the end of their fourth or fifth quarter. Moral character and promise of a contribution to the world are also requirements.

Each year on Honor's Day, Alpha Epsilon Upsilon presents an award based on scholarship, leadership, devotion to Emory to the outstanding student in the lower division.
The purposes of Eta Sigma Psi are to create within the students of the lower division an interest in extra-curricular activities which are beneficial to the University and to honor those students active in such areas.

Formed on the Emory campus in 1928, Eta Sigma Psi taps its members in the fall from the sophomore class and in the spring from the freshman class. Election to membership is based upon the leadership, character, and scholarship of the student.

Formally the Student Senate is the governing and coordinating organization for the entire student body, with representatives from each of the eight schools which compose Emory University. Informally, the Student Senate is composed of many students other than elected representatives, who are active on Senate committees. According to the preamble of the Senate's constitution, the Senate's purpose is "to achieve a more perfect government, to develop the best interests of the University and to satisfy the current and future needs for control of various student activities."

Student Senate

Since 1956, as a result of a split in the University Student Government, the College Council has been the representative governing body of the College of Arts and Sciences. Freshman members are elected in the fall, and spring elections are held for the sophomore, junior, and senior members. The Council is responsible for Orientation Week, college elections, and various social functions. This year, as a special project it sponsored a performance of the Highwaymen.

College Council

The Women's Student Association is the coordinating body of all women's student organizations. Its purpose is to strive to promote the intellectual, social, and spiritual welfare of all women students as well as to establish better relations between the students, Faculty, and University Administration. All women enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Nursing, and the School of Business Administration are members.

The WSA Executive Council is composed of the four WSA officers, two representatives from each class, and the Presidents of WHO, WAA, Choral, Panhellenic Council, Association of Women's Residence Halls, and the Student Body of the School of Nursing. This Council promotes and plans the various projects undertaken throughout the year.

Officers of WSA are: Anne Branch; Treasurer; Cathy Brown, Secretary; Margaret Huling, President; Jody Weekes, Vice-President.

Women's Student Association

Emory Honor Council

The Emory Honor Council is the administrative body of the Honor System. It is a body of students guided by faculty members which strives to maintain the highest possible standards of honor among the students of Emory. Possible violations of the Code are reported to the chairman of the Council who starts the machinery for a trial. Witnesses and suspected violator are thoroughly questioned by the Council members and faculty advisors. If a violation has been committed, the Council decides upon a sentence, varying from probation to expulsion from school.

The Code reads: Upon every individual who is a part of Emory University falls the responsibility for maintaining in the life of Emory a standard of unimpeachable honor. The Honor Code is based on the fundamental assumption that every loyal person in the University not only will conduct his own life according to the dictates of the highest honor, but will also refuse to tolerate in others action which would sully the good name of the institution.

Emory Traffic Court

The Traffic Court, organized and operated for the purpose of judging student traffic offenses, has jurisdiction over all cases of traffic violations on the Emory campus. The members of the court represent the various schools of the University and are appointed by the Deans of their respective schools.

The Traffic Court is under the guidance of the University Committee of Traffic and Safety.

Women's House Council

House Council is a self-governing organization of the undergraduate women's dormitories. Executive Council is the coordinator for the five residence hall councils. The officers of Executive Council, including dorm presidents, are elected in a mass meeting, and representatives are elected in floor meetings for a member on each floor. The councils handle all minor rule violations and social events, like exam break parties. They refer special conduct cases to Executive Council. Dean Rusk and the Housing officials work with Executive. Mrs. Moore advises each of the dorm councils.

Men’s Residence Hall Council

The men’s residence halls are governed by an organized student government under the guidance of Mr. Carmen Battaglia, Supervisor of Men’s Housing and Assistant to the Dean of Men. Each hall has its own council, consisting of a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Treasurer Secretary, Social Chairman, and Sports Chairman. Officers are elected each fall by the hall residents. The Council enforces housing rules and sponsors break parties and sports competition between the residence halls. Ex-Officio members of the Council are the Resident Counselors, members of the university’s staff, who live in the dorm and act as liaison between the student and the Administration.

Student Center Board

The Student Center Board is the governing body for Emory's newly founded Student Center in the Alumni Memorial Building. The purpose of the Center is to foster and centralize the cultural, social, and religious growth of all Emory students. For equal representation the Board is made up of members from each of the schools, the administration, alumni, and a director. The Board functions through committees made up of volunteer students interested in the various phases of the Center's operations.

Student Development Committee

The University in making a continuous effort to improve and increase the quality of its program and the amount of its service needs the benefit of student opinion and advice. The Student Committee on Development is one important means toward these ends, for it can serve as a primary means for communicating to the student body as a whole the inside story of Emory operations and its hopes and plans for the future. As a group of leaders on the campus participate in this effort, these leaders pass on to the rest of the students the information, ideas and ideals which will benefit the entire University.

Publications
Emory's chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon was organized for the purpose of recognizing those students who display a high degree of interest and participation in campus publications.

To be eligible for membership a student must have worked on one of Emory's student publications for at least five quarters and showed interest and ability in college journalism. Pi Delta Epsilon strives to maintain a high standard of competence and integrity in Emory's publications.

The Publication Committee, a committee of the Student Senate, oversees both financially and ethically all activities of the campus student publications, The Wheel, The Campus, and The Phoenix. The committee checks the financial operations of these publications, appoints their editors, managing editors, associate editors, and business managers; and draws up other pertinent policies. The committee is composed of several members of the Senate along with the editors of the three publications and their advisors.

Editor Bruce Thompson and his staff have attempted to create a yearbook that may well be said to be the most beautiful of all the past Emory yearbooks. The 1962 CAMPUS presents a pictorial coverage of the past year's events and a pictorial scrapbook of socials, fraternity activities, and other events of the past year that will serve in later years as a pleasant reminder of their college days to the students of Emory. The biographical sketch of the Senior Class makes the yearbook especially meaningful to those graduating. A directory of the supporters of the University is presented through the advertising section.

Taylor Publishing Company, the fourth year, is publisher of the CAMPUS. Wiley Perry, photographer of the University, took the photographs in this book.

Headed by Bill Garland, Editor, The Emory Wheel began its 43rd year of publication last September. Throughout its year of publication, "The South's Most Independent Collegiate Newspaper" has, because of its outspoken editorials, become the center of controversy many times. It has led successfully many crusades for the betterment of the University, although some of the reforms which it has long supported are only now gaining wide acceptance.

The Wheel has been awarded the All American rating, the highest recognition given by the Associated Collegiate Press, twenty-one times since 1937. Published every Thursday during the school year, The Wheel is distributed free of charge to members of the Emory community.

The South's Oldest Collegiate Magazine, headed by Editor Bill Hedgepeth, is in its 74th year of publication. This year The Phoenix featured quality literature as well as the best in humor. This university magazine serves a two-fold purpose, both as an outlet for Emory's creative talent through which national literary recognition may be gained, and as a source of high entertainment for the members of the University.

The Phoenix is an important representative of Emory to many collegiate and commercial magazines around the country. That it is well-received is illustrated by the fact that much material has been re-printed nationally and recently the Associated Collegiate Press awarded the magazine one of the highest ratings given.

The Emory Glee Club under the direction of Mr. R. Sterling Beckwith, completed its forty-second year at Emory. The club has completed three successful tours of Europe, and has sung in the Bahamas, Puerto Rico, and Cuba, the first college glee club to visit the latter country. It has also appeared in principal cities along the Atlantic seaboard, from Miami to New York, and as far west as New Orleans.

During the Spring of 1961 the Club took a tour which carried the group all the way to Key West. In November of the 1961-62 season, the club made a trip to Birmingham. The high point in the season was the February joint concert with the Robert Shaw Chorale, performing with them Bach's Passion According to St. John.

The membership of the Emory Glee Club is drawn mainly from the undergraduate men of Emory University. For the annual Christmas program the Emory Glee Club staged the very ambitious Christmas Story by Heinrich Schuetz, a 17th century composer. The group was accompanied by a small orchestra and the principals in the story were ornately costumed.
The Emory Women's Chorale was organized in 1954, shortly after Emory's College of Arts and Sciences became coeducational. Much of the Chorale's growth has taken place under the leadership of its present conductor, R. Sterling Beckwith. Mr. Beckwith was trained at Harvard and in Europe, where he studied conducting, composition, voice, and musicology. The membership of the Women's Chorale is drawn from the undergraduate women of the University. Proceeds from the drive were divided between the Panhellenic Council as an aid in its fund for a new house and to the Student Center Board.

APO members perform various other service projects throughout the year.

Intercollegiate Soccer

Eagles first big season . . .

The Emory Eagles roared to victory this year with a phenomenal 8-4 season. This far surpassed any previous season for Emory soccer, still a relatively young sport on the campus. Coached by the very capable Bill Williams, led by team captain Wheeler Bryan, and sparked by top-scorer Hoke Cooley, the team drew crowds to their home games unequaled in the history of Emory intercollegiate athletics.

The team was extremely fortunate in having a very capable group of freshmen and other surprising new players. With the promise of this year’s team, the future for Emory soccer looks very bright.

Young Team Gains Experience

The 1962 edition of the Emory wrestling squad lacked experience, depth, and wins. The Edwards brothers provided most of the high spots with their occasional victories, which bespoke of brighter things in the future. Freshmen and Sophomores dominated the team, and with the added experience of a year behind them, should help produce a winning season in a few years.

The team had extremely stiff competition throughout the season and under the able coaching of Dr. Partin, and more emphasis put on the sport, the team will surely make a fine showing in ensuing competition.

Mermen End Season With 5-5 Record...

Paced by returning lettermen and bright newcomers, the Emory swimmers captured five first places out of the ten meets in which they participated. Such notable stars as Harry Lange, the undefeated backstroker; Pete Mattina, freestyler; and Bob Blau in the butterfly, helped the team to its victories. Veteran freestyler, Larry Blau, and talented diver, Fred Cameron, were big factors in the success of this year’s edition of the Emory swimming squad. Once again this year, Ed Smyke coached the team expertly to a good season.

Prospects Bright for Cindermen . . .

With nearly the whole team from last year returning, Coach Bill Williams expects a good season this year. School record holders, Dick Calhoun in the broad jump and John Findley, in the discus, plus sophomore sprint champion Ben Shapiro are ready to improve on their performances of the 1961 competition. Backing up the veterans will be a strong group of freshmen. They will lend depth to the team that is always needed in a good squad.

In 1961 competition the team got off to a fast start by taking their first quadrangle meet. Coming in second in the last triangle meet, the squad downed Presbyterian to break even with a four win-four loss season.

Good Season Expected...

The fortunes of the Emory tennis team took a turn for the good last season when the squad finished with a 10 won 6 loss record, the best record in fifteen years.

On the strength of last year's team and the promise of several new members, Coach Ed Welch has predicted an even better season than last year.

Leading the team this year are returning lettermen, Bruce Jones, Bucky Mundorff, Neal Romano, and Bob Massey. High expectations are held for Tommy Purdom, a transfer student from Young Harris College, who according to Coach Welch, is the best tennis player ever to play at Emory.

Ably coached, experienced, and hungry, the 1962 edition of the Emory tennis team should surpass last year's excellent record.

Interfraternity Football

Sigs win again...

In one of the tightest fought battles in interfraternity football in recent years, Sigma Chi barely nosed out Phi Delta Theta for the coveted crown. Operating this year under new rules that altered the size of the playing field and which provided that ties should be settled by the number of first downs made, the competition was fierce. Losing only to them on this penetration system, Phi Delta Theta was declared runner-up to the perennial winners, Sigma Chi. Others in the Championship flight included Sigma Nu and Alpha Epsilon Pi. After losing only one game in the first round of play, Sigma Alpha Epsilon took the second flight.

Intersorority Volleyball
ADPi's Make Carnival of Contest . . .

Opening the women's intramural sports program for the year, Emory coeds competed in weekly games of volleyball. Going into the finals on November 9, Alpha Delta Pi led Flight I and Kappa Kappa Gamma led Flight II. Displaying excellent teamwork and using no substitutes, both teams ended competition with ADPi defeating Kappa in two games, 6-4, 9-6.

At the end of the season, the Women's Athletic Association recognized an all-star team. It included Harriet Allison, Robin Hall, Valette Jordan, Pat Spencer, Ellen Teer, Beth Wilson; with substitutes Judy Hansberger, Virginia Hogan, and Ethlyn Sims. These and other players were invited to represent Emory in the Georgia AAU meet.
Intersorority Archery and Tennis
ADPis and Thetas Win Fall Minor Sports . . .

Capturing the fall archery competition, the Kappa Alpha Thetas moved into the lead for women's minor sports. Two girls from each sorority competed in two rounds of twenty-four arrows each. The top scorers were Susan Pyle, Kappa Alpha Theta, Robin Hall, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Helen Ross, Alpha Delta Pi.

Tennis was seeded this year according to the results of last year's matches. In the single elimination doubles tournament played October 5 to November 2, the Alpha Delta Pis and Kappa Alpha Thetas met in the finals. Representing Theta were Martha Bell and Barbara Boya. Carrying the ADPi colors were Susan Drake and Ann Branch. The ADPi team took the first two sets with the scores of (6-0), (6-3) to emerge as the 1961 tennis champions.
Cross Country

ATO Harriers Win . . .

Alpha Tau Omega won the annual cross country competition by virtue of grossing the smallest amount of points, 64. Sigma Chi was a distant second with 76 points, and Pi Kappa Alpha was third with 96 points. Others in order of their finish were: Chi Phi, Sigma Nu, Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, and Delta Tau Delta. Bill Elbert, a graduate student running as an independent, finished first. Second place went to Don Smith, Alpha Tau Omega, while Ed Nunan, Phi Delta Theta, was third.

The race this year was run for the first time on a new cross country course laid out on the Candler estate. The hilly terrain and roughness of the course make the race much more challenging and interesting.

Interfraternity Wrestling
ATO’s Cop Victory . . .

Exhibiting some of the best wrestling ever seen in the interfraternity tournaments, ATO walked away with the trophy by amassing a total of 83 points, far outdistancing Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi who took second and third respectively. Winners in each of the weight classes included Ben Branch, Beta Theta Pi, in the 123 pound class; Lloyd Massey, ATO, in the 130 pound class; and Phi Delt, Randy Brown in the 147 pound class. ATO, Ed Seagraves won the 157 pound class; James Edwards, ATO, the 167 pound class; and KA, Allen Binns in the 177 pound class. Other winners were Bill Mills, Phi Delt, in the 191 pound class, and Sigma Chi, Al Barnard in the heavyweight class.

Interfraternity Swimming
Sigs Splash to Victory . . .

Sigma Chi added to its athletic laurels by taking the interfraternity swimming championship during the fall quarter. Led by Bill Buntin, the Sigs finished first in three events to build up an insurmountable lead. ATO finished second, and Phi Delta Theta barely nosed out Delta Tau Delta for third place. Sigma Chi teams finished first in the 200 yard medley relay, Tug-of-War, and Bill Buntin took first in the diving. ATO finished first in only one event, the 75 yard individual medley, but piled up enough points by taking seconds and thirds to place them in second place. Phi Delts took third place by finishing second in four events, thus edging out the Delts, who took two firsts.

Sigma Chi Retains Crown . . .

With a perfect record in the championship flight play, Sigma Chi took the interfraternity basketball title for the second straight year. Led by John Stone, Bill Buntin, Allen Mathews, and Jay Noell, the Sigs walked over all comers in Flight one. ATO finished second, followed closely by AEPi and Phi Delt in that order.

SAE took the second flight their hard-playing team, and Chi Phi rolled over all competition in Flight three play.

Alpha Chi Omega Captures
1962 Title . . .

Basketball competition began this winter with weekly games on the flight level. At the end of preliminary competition Alpha Chi Omega emerged as the victor in the first flight, and the Kappa Alpha Theta team took top honors in flight two play.

In the February 22 finals, the Alpha Chi powerhouse, coached by Blanton Bessinger crushed the favored Thetas, ably coached by David Hortin, with the score of 39-27. High scoring honors for the evening went to Melanie Mathews with 23 points and Peggy Simpson with 19.

The season was highlighted with excellent sportsmanship demonstrated by all the teams in this year of exceptionally fierce competition.

Interfraternity Volleyball

Sigma Chi Takes '61 Championship . . .

Sigma Chi used their "B" Team to edge the AEPis for first place in flight one championship game last spring quarter. The big man for the Sigs was Waldo Kennedy, who has been called the finest player at Emory. His spiking led the Sigs to a perfect record and their second volleyball championship in two years.

Sigma Nu beat off all comers in flight two to take the honors in that division. In flight three play, Phi Delta Theta, Tau Epsilon Phi, and Delta Tau Delta battled to a three way tie. The Phi Delts won in the play-off.

The season was one of few surprises as the teams picked at the beginning of the season proved to be the eventual winners.

Pi Kappa Alpha emerged the eventual winner in a dispute over ineligible players. After the regular season, Chi Phi appeared to be the winner of Flight I play, but when it was discovered that they were using an ineligible player, Phi Delta Theta and Pi Kappa Alpha the second and third teams in the flight played a game to decide the championship. The Pike teamwork and their good fortune won the game for them, by the score of 1-0.

The season was one marked by considerable interest and heightened by good sportsmanship.
Interfraternity Softball

AEPi Takes ’61 Championship...

Overpowering other teams in the championship flight with their hitting, AEPi captured the softball crown during the 1961 spring quarter. Losing only to the winners, Sigma Alpha Epsilon was declared runner-up. Phi Delta Theta was a close third, followed by Alpha Tau Omega. The AEPi’s were strong favorites to take the championship, and they did not disappoint. Phi Delt, SAE, and ATO fought a close battle for second place, depending mostly on the strong arm of their pitchers, but they were no match for AEPi batters led by top-scorer Dave Kross.
Athletics for All

Emory's Progressive Sports Program . . .

Emory has long been noted for its physical training curriculum and its progressive program of intramural athletics. Offering sports ranging from basketball and fencing to canoeing and riflery, Emory attempts to meet every interest of the student. In the six quarters of required participation, the student gets a chance to take many of the courses offered, including Emory's famous course in survival swimming.

The intramural program includes competition between fraternities, sororities, professional-school teams, and various other groups. The teams competing in basketball, softball, football, swimming, soccer, tennis, volleyball, and track vie for the annual athletic trophies. Intercollegiate rivalry in soccer, swimming, wrestling, tennis and track round out the athletics program.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council governs the fraternity system. It makes decisions in matters of common interest, and works to enforce University policy and promote co-operation among the fraternities. IFC is composed of two representatives from each fraternity, and meets at a different fraternity house every two weeks.

IFC sponsors Greek Week, the Empty Stocking Drive (for charity) and the IFC Sing. It provides a check on the fraternities during Rush to ensure compliance with all Rush rules. It also awards each year the David S. Thorne Memorial Scholarship, amounting to half a year's tuition, to a deserving fraternity pledge.

Panhellenic Council

Emory's Panhellenic Council is composed of two representatives from each sorority, and is advised by Dean Nina Rusk. As the governing body for the sororities, it is responsible for setting policies and handling any matters concerning the sorority system as a whole. It is especially important during Rush, to decide upon and enforce Rush rules, act as counselor, and help with such mechanics as matching bids. Officers are selected by a rotation system. Each sorority is responsible for electing a girl to the office which it is that sorority's turn to fill.

Panhellenic sponsors several events during the year, among them the Panhellenic Sing and the pledge dance (sponsored jointly by Junior Panhellenic and Junior IFC).

Greek Week, an annual event, was held during the week of November 13-18 this year. Its purpose was to promote good will between fraternities and provide an opportunity for discussion of problems shared by the chapters. It is sponsored by the Interfraternity Council. Events of the week were both instructive and enjoyable. Banquets were held for officers of fraternities, IFC, and Panhellenic, and the fraternity housemothers. Another banquet, open to all fraternity men, featured as its speaker Frank G. Slaughter, famous novelist. On Friday night the Chorale and Glee Club presented a concert of folk music. Afterward, all fraternities held open house. The highlight of Greek Week was the dance on Saturday night, held in Cox Hall. Always one of the outstanding social events of the year, this year the dance featured Ray Charles and his band. The 28-year-old singer of blues and popular hits and his 16-member band, which includes 4 female vocalists, the Raelets, provided highly enjoyable entertainment and a good climax to the week's activities.

From its founding at Barnard College on October 24, 1909, Alpha Epsilon Phi has grown to a national organization with a total of well over one hundred active chapters, alumnae associations, and parents' clubs. In Epsilon Eta's few years at Emory, it can boast of these past honors: Sweetheart of Alpha Epsilon Pi, Court members of Tau Epsilon Phi, Wheel girls, and Miss Emory semi-finalists. The academic honors include two Phi Beta Kappas, Phi Sigma Iota, and Kappa Delta Epsilon. At present, Alpha Epsilon Phi participates in campus leadership in both Junior and Senior Panhellenic, Hillel, the Emory Players, the Women's House Council, the Wheel, and the Campus.

Quarterly parties, teas, and banquets, several visits to Aidmore, and functions with our Atlanta Alumnae Association—all of these things plus the campus activities add to the spirit, the fun, and the friendship of Alpha Epsilon Phi at Emory.
For the Chi Omegas 1961-62 was a year full of fun and achievement. Sisters took an active part in the Women’s Chorale, International Relations Club, Student Senate, Skin-Diving Club, religious groups, and the Student Development Committee. They also have earned membership in the honorary organizations of Kappa Delta Epsilon and Phi Beta Kappa. A Chi O was selected as a finalist in the 1962 Miss Emory contest. Chi Omega came in second in the Alpha Tau Omega Sweepstakes.

On the social side, Chi Omegas enjoyed several banquets and teas with alumnae, the White Carnation Formal, and an Over-the-Rainbow party.

Besides their many social and campus activities, the Chi Omegas have an active philanthropic program. As their service project this last year, the Chi O’s worked at Egleston Children’s Hospital, and filled stockings at Christmas for the children at Sheltering Arms.

Delta Delta Delta has a busy social program. Events include a Founders’ Day Banquet, Pledge Formal, combo parties, and a spring houseparty.

Along the altruistic line, Tri Delt service projects include working during the week with Sheltering Arms and offering a cash scholarship to a deserving Emory co-ed.

Throughout the year the sisters of Kappa Delta sorority find themselves actively engaged in all phases of campus activities. For example, KD's are members of the Emory Players, the Campus, College Council, House Council, Barkley Forum, the Psychology Club, Chorale, and the various religious organizations. Last spring the KD's won second place in the Panhellenic Sing. Also, individual members have received such honors as membership in Alpha Epsilon Upsilon and Women's Honor Organization. Since the date of its re-activation, Gamma Upsilon chapter has been represented in numerous campus activities. A Beta has been a moving force in the development and expansion of the Student Center. This fall two of our members led the Debate Team to victory in one of its most important contests. At the present time a Beta is Public Relations Director for the IFC and one of the members is Secretary of APO. On December 24, 1824, Chi Phi was formed as an outgrowth of a religious and literary club at Princeton University. This gives it the distinction of being the first social fraternity. The fraternity has followed a somewhat conservative expansion policy, but it now has ninety percent of its chapters located in the fifty top institutions in the nation.

Gamma chapter was the first fraternity formed on the Emory campus on May 17, 1869. Since then the chapter has earned many honors and distinctions during its long life at Emory University.
Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, founded at Bethany College, West Virginia, in 1859, established Beta Epsilon chapter in 1882 at Emory-at-Oxford College. The Delts captured major trophies in 1960, winning the large division of the Interfraternity Sing and the trophy for the highest scholastic average of its active members. Delts are well represented in all school activities such as the Wheel, where they claim the Editor, Executive Editor, and Feature Editor. The Vice-President of the Barkley Forum, the Presidents of both AEU and The ECA are Delts. The President of the Stipes scholars is also a Delt. The highlights of the year were the Go-to-Hell party in November and The Rainbow Ball.

1961 was another bright year for Kappa Alpha. Their rush program again proved successful and brought continued excellence in their fine Southern tradition.

Turning to campus activities, KA's were found on the newspaper staff, Interfraternity Council, APO, and Circle K. They also took second place in the IFC Sing and third place in Dooley's lawn competition.

Along with these accomplishments their tradition of beautiful Southern Women was carried on by their number one belle, the KA Rose, who not only became the Providence Rose in the Kappa Alpha Rose, but was also elected to be Dooley's Frolics Queen.

In whatever they do, be it maintaining old traditions or establishing new ones, the KA's maintain a top position.

On campus, Pi K A copped third place in cross-country and took three places in wrestling. The four men initiated during fall quarter proved to be a great asset to the chapter and began taking an active part in the operation of the fraternity. Emory is rightfully proud of the first twelve men who have been chosen to receive the Candler Professorships. They represent the best traditions of their professions and the University which they serve.

DR. LOEMKER, professor and chairman of Philosophy, is a leading authority on Gottfried Wilhelm von Leibniz, German philosopher. He received his A.B. and L.L.B. degrees from the University of Dubuque and S.T.B. and Ph.D. degrees from Boston University. DR. MATHEWS, professor of History, has won wide recognition in the field of modern European diplomatic history. He received his A.B. and A.M. degrees from Duke and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. DR. WEENS, professor and chairman of radiology, is an outstanding specialist and a consultant at Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. He received his M.D. at Berne, Switzerland.

JOSEPH J. MATHEWS, Ph.D.

H. STEPHEN WEENS, M.D.
Since the calibre of its faculty is the most important factor in the life of a university, these memorial professorships are an appropriate tribute to a man whose lifelong devotion to his Alma Mater enables Emory University to serve more fully the community, the south, and the nation.

DR. WHITMAN, professor of economics, has special interest in the history of economic thought and public economic policy. He received his A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Duke University. DR. WILEY, professor of History, is a recognized authority and writer on the Civil War and the South. He has received the following degrees: A.B., Asbury College; A.M., University of Kentucky; Ph.D., Yale; Litt.D., Lincoln College. DR. WILHELMI is professor and chairman of Biochemistry. A Rhodes Scholar, he has an A.B. degree from Western Reserve and a B.A. and D.Phil. from Oxford.

The program of studies in the College of Arts and Science was organized on the basis of the belief that man's greatest need is not how to make a living of great wealth, but how to make a life of superior quality. It was based, therefore, on the liberal arts tradition, with courses offered and required in each of the three great areas of human knowledge: the humanities, the social studies, and the natural sciences and mathematics. These areas correspond roughly to the need of the student to learn more about himself, his fellow man, and the world in which he lives.

Because the concern of the College is primarily with the quality of mind and spirit developed in the student, emphasis in courses is placed on basic principles and fundamental ideas. Attention is given to cause, effect, and relationships rather than to facts alone. It is believed that rigorous application day by day to the study of man's highest achievement in the most important aspects of life will tend to develop qualities of significant value in a human being regardless of his calling. It is hoped that courses in such fields of study as religion, history, philosophy, mathematics, science, language, literature, and the arts will lead the student to broader vision, keener insights, greater sensitivity, deeper understanding, and a more abiding faith. The curriculum of the Upper Division consists of the advanced and specialized studies given in the junior and senior years.

The School of Business Administration was founded at Emory University in 1919. In 1945, the Business School was completely reorganized, and in 1947, it was established in the Rich Memorial Building. One of the most highly rated business schools in the nation, the Business School offers a two year program in the principles of business administration to upper division students. Dr. Guy W. Trump is the Dean of the School of Business Administration. The student officers, the student council, and the Honor Council are elected by the student body. Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity offers an advancement of professional and social activities. A computer training center with approximately $1,000,000 worth of Remington-Rand equipment is now housed in the Rich Building. This equipment is used to facilitate teaching and research as well as to train students. A graduate program is now available in business administration. Early in 1962, the School of Business Administration and the Associated Industries of Georgia will sponsor an advanced management program. According to Dean Trump, the program is designed to "achieve a company-wide point of view" for rising executives, improve their ability to analyze business problems, and to make sounder decisions.

Students participate in directing a classroom corporation using case materials based on an actual business situation.

The Graduate Division of the School of Business Administration offers a professional program of graduate studies, leading to the degree of Master of Business Administration. The M.B.A. program at Emory University is designed to provide a broad professional training and to meet the demand for business leaders who not only have some vocational skills, but also have a sound education in the fundamentals of business. The main objective of the program is to acquaint the student with the theory, the principles and technique of analysis, organization, planning and control common to all business.

The basic requirements for admission are a bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university and an undergraduate record which indicates the ability to pursue M.B.A. program to a successful conclusion.

Gene McClure, Elliot Dunn, Sid Fortson, and Robert Harkey talk with Bjorn Christophersen in front of the Business School bulletin board.

The Business School library offers a quiet place to study.
Remington-Rand has established a computer training center at the Emory University School of Business Administration. The equipment for the center includes a Univac Solid State 90 Computer and a full assortment of punched card computers. The computers give assistance in student registration procedures and appropriation ledger accounting. The Business School also finds the center valuable in management stimulation games where students practice making business decisions.

Computer expert installs a bank of relays.

New and more up-to-date equipment is constantly being installed at the center.
As of this year, the Emory University School of Dentistry offers a Master of Dental Science degree in oral pathology, prothetics, crown and bridge, operative, orthodontics, periodontics, and pedodontics. As of September, 1962, this degree will be offered in oral surgery.

Much needed support for these improvements in the program was made available to the school through a general research support grant from the National Institute of Student Health. This made expansion of graduate programs possible by providing for research graduate students must do. This grant also provided for undergraduate student projects carried on during the year. Dental teaching was strengthened in both graduate and undergraduate fields. One area of the Dental School was renovated this year for the sole purpose of providing the first research area within the school. Thus maximum use of space has been made, and no further growth is possible until a new physical plant is provided.

The Graduate School was organized as a distinct division of the University in 1919. The degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Sciences have been offered since that time. Several other masters' degrees have been added since 1919. In 1945 the Board of Trustees approved plans for extending graduate instruction to programs leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in departments in which faculties and facilities had developed adequately. Training scholars for positions of leadership, particularly in education and research, is the primary objective of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Included as a part of the basic philosophy of the school are two very important concepts: 1) an emphasis upon a specialized area of study supported by a background of general education extending into the graduate program; 2) an explicit concern for the ethical goals of scholarship and education which emphasize character and values typical of responsible citizens as well as distinguished scholars. Underlying such concepts is the dedication of students and faculty alike to the constant ideal of quality.

The School of Law of Emory University is named in honor of Associate Justice L.Q.C. Lamar, of the Supreme Court of the United States, 1888-1893. The law school was founded in 1916 and was admitted to membership in the Association of American Law Schools in 1920. In 1923, when the Council on Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar of the American Bar Association made its initial classifications, it was approved as a Class "A" School. The Board of Governors of the Georgia Bar Association has approved Emory University School of Law as complying with the Association's standards for schools offering legal education in the state.

It is the aim of the Law School and its faculty to give such training and instruction as will fit young men and women for the active duties of the office, the courtroom, and other legal activities related to law and government, and at the same time to give them a high sense of the ethics of the profession.

DEAN BEN F. JOHNSON

The Lamar School of Law.
The Journal of Public Law is concerned with law not as a closed system or an end in itself, but as a political solution to human demands. The Journal attempts to break down the barriers of legal scholarship and to expose the processes of law to the critical analysis of other disciplines such as philosophy, economics, political science and other social sciences.

The fall 1961 and spring 1962 issues were devoted to a two-part symposium which explored the fundamental concepts of public law. Specialists in each of the major divisions of public law discussed the public purposes served by the body of law in the areas of their concern.

The fall issue was edited by James L. Perry and H. Hall Ware as co-editors; the spring issue was edited by James L. Underwood.

Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity was founded in 1902 in Chicago, Illinois. Since its beginning the fraternity has grown steadily, its present size consisting of eighty-three active chapters with a membership of more than 50,000.

William Albert Kenner Chapter was established at Emory University in 1927, and since, has been an integral part of the school, fulfilling the fraternity's basic precept: Service to the student, the law school, and the legal profession. Keener Chapter awarded gavels to the winning team of the final round of arguments in the annual spring Case Club Competition, held on Law Day, and conducted an effective speaking program for its members. The fraternity forms a strong bond among the different classes of the law school.

Officers are: Pat Riley, Marshal; Bob Barton, Clerk; Don Gettle, Justice; Bill Haddon, Treasurer.

The International Legal Fraternity of Phi Delta Phi is the oldest existing professional fraternity in America. Phi Delta Phi seeks to instill and maintain high standards of professional responsibility and ethics, coupled with an emphasis on scholarship.

The fraternity annually presents awards to the outstanding freshman and the first honor graduate of the year at the Law Day Banquet held each Spring. Luncheons are held monthly, at which time speakers from the practicing bar address the group on current legal problems. Brothers as well as pledges are encouraged to participate in extracurricular activities, and each pledge class undertakes some professionally oriented activity as its project. Total membership in Phi Delta Phi is over 75,000 men.

Officers are: Bill Lewis, Historian; Tom Buck, Exchequer; Jim Geiger, Magister; Don O'Brien, Clerk; and Sam Nunn, Magister (Fall, 1961).

The Student Bar Association officers are Gregg Loomis, Vice-President; Bill Lewis, Treasurer; Jim Baker, Secretary; Randy Karrh, President; Tom Lamar, Vice-President; Hank Whisenhunt, Secretary; Fielder Martin, Treasurer; and Barrett Hawks, American Law Students Representative.

Student Bar Association

The Student Bar Association has as its purpose the promotion of scholastic, social, and professional interests of the students of the Law School. The SBA regulates all of the various activities of the Law School. All students in the School of Law are eligible for membership and after completing one semester in the Law School, they are eligible for membership in the Georgia Junior Bar Association.

Appellate arguments are presented before a moot court.

The Case Club

The Case Club is a voluntary student activity which affords each student an opportunity to supplement his legal education by preparing and presenting appellate argument before a moot court. Participants form two or three-man teams. After an intramural competition in the fall semester the teams argue a hypothetical case during the spring semester in an elimination contest. The two successful teams argue before a bench of distinguished members of the Atlanta bar. The winning team represents Emory Law School in the regional arguments of the National Moot Court.

The Law Day luncheon was held on the Quadrangle lawn in front of the Law Building. Registration was held in entrance hall of the Law Building. The portrait of the late Dean William M. Hepburn was unveiled by John H. Harper and William G. Logan.
Justices Bond Almand, T. Grady Head, W. H. Duckworth, T. S. Candler, and J. D. Quillian of the Supreme Court of Georgia heard the arguments in the finals of the annual moot-court competition.

G. Stanley Joslin spoke at Law Day.

The Emory University School of Medicine has a long and intricate history. It was established in 1915 when the Atlanta Medical College was formed through a series of mergers involving the Southern Medical College, the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, and the original Atlanta Medical College, which dated back to 1854. The facilities of the Medical School have grown considerably from the original building in downtown Atlanta. Today most of the teaching is done at the Emory University Hospital, the Woodruff Memorial Research Building, and in the 1069 bed Grady Memorial Hospital.

The Glenn Memorial Building near Grady contains classrooms, administrative offices, and research laboratories.
Membership in Alpha Omega Alpha, the highest honorary medical society, is based upon the candidate's scholarship and moral qualifications. Its aims are the "attainment of a high standard of character and conduct among medical graduates, and the recognition of high attainment in medical science in practice and related fields." Alpha Omega Alpha was established on the Emory campus in 1940. The AOA members not pictured here are Lanie Pierce, Robert A. Reed, and Charles Berner, Vice-President.

The purpose of the School of Theology is the education of men and women for pastoral ministry and for other full-time service in the Christian Church. In seeking to provide a theological education of the highest quality, the curriculum is arranged in four general areas. These are designed to awaken the student to the best Biblical, historical, theological and contemporary insight into the Christian faith and its implications for the work of the Church and the ministry. The degrees of Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Christian Education are offered by the School of Theology. The curriculum serves to achieve its primary task, the professional training of the ministry. It seeks to develop mature, growing persons equipped with the basic knowledge and appropriate skills necessary to meet the exacting demands of the high calling which is theirs under God.

The Brittain Award, named for Martin Luther Brittain, the donor of the fund, is given for meritorious service which has been performed without thought of recognition. A committee made up of the Deans of Men and Women and several faculty members review the recommendations submitted by students and faculty and decide on the recipient. In the Honors Day ceremony when students are recognized for their achievements in the academic as well as the activities areas, this Brittain award is presented. No one knows who the recipient is until they receive their program.

The cultivation of the mind is a gradual process involving original thought and creative effort. An Emory student is encouraged to develop the ability not only to learn the obvious facts but to probe beneath the surface for the underlying ideas. This capacity for understanding denotes the really well-educated man or woman and is the foundation for building successful and productive specialized careers.

SELECTING YOUR LABORATORY

With Dentists who know values, the primary consideration when it comes to Laboratory service is technical knowledge and skill. REPUTATION "record of performance" is of utmost importance. Reputations are built slowly, over a long period of years, by fine quality and superior service. When it comes to selecting your Laboratory, the deciding factors are quality, service, prestige—and other considerations less tangible than price, but much more important. We have been in this business fifty-one years; this accumulated store of knowledge and experience is at your command.

Editor's Epitaph

An epitaph is a commenting statement coming at the end of something and certainly this is true in this case. This will appear on the last page of the 1962 Campus which I hope, in some way, is a pictorial reference to the past academic year. On the second and third pages of this book occurs a color picture of Emory—it shows Emory in its entirety. The rest of the book is devoted to showing Emory through its component parts. We hope in finishing this representation that we have included those things that in future years will be recalled as outstanding in 1961-1962.

When I say "we" hope, I have certainly used the correct form of English. A book of this size takes a lot of work and a lot of hours, more than just a few people can afford to give. In general terms credit must be given to the whole staff of the 1962 Campus for their hard work and cooperation. Along with the staff have been many "outsiders" whose assistance could not have been replaced.

Wiley Perry, the University Photographer, and his assistant Bob Hopper, have been irreplaceable in their aid and suggestions not only concerning pictures but all other phases of the book as well.

The Administrative and Deans offices have always been open for questions and problems about finances and more frequently, procedure, without which, much information and time would have been lost.

Lelia Long and Saul Silverman deserve credit for the outstanding jobs they did as Managing and Associate Editors. The Miss Emory presentation was handled by Warren Coppedge who did a splendid job of organization.

I also thank Taylor Publishing Company, especially Bill Baker and Al Rasche, for their patience with us and also for their advice which was so valuable in the production of this book.

Most of all I wish to thank the student body of Emory University for the opportunity to edit this publication. The experience of working with you has been invaluable and well worth the time and effort.

To next year's staff and Editor I give my best wishes and hope you will continue to do the excellent work that you showed this year.

Thank you once again—

BRUCE THOMPSON, Editor of the 1962 Campus
