Foreword

In publishing this edition of The Emory Campus we have departed from numerous customs and precedents which have governed this book in the past. Probably these changes have not met with the favor of all students, and there are possibly some who think that unnecessary inconveniences have been placed upon them. We think however, that our actions were necessary in gaining the end toward which we have striven, the publication of an annual that will be a credit to this institution. And realizing that an annual, to be a credit to an institution, must be representative of the whole institution, we have endeavored to faithfully portray student life at Emory in all of its phases.

To
William S. Elkin, A.B., M.D., F.A.C.S.
Dean of Medicine
Physician, Teacher, and a Builder of Emory, this volume of The Emory Campus is dedicated.
Dr. William S. Elkin

Dr. Elkin was born in Lancaster, Kentucky, April 26, 1858. Having completed his preliminary education in the schools of that city he entered Centre College at Danville, Kentucky, where he graduated A. B. in 1879. He then entered the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1882 in the first class to take the three years' course. The same year Dr. Elkin came to Atlanta to take up the practice of his profession. From the very beginning his work was conspicuously successful as it has been all through his life. His thorough training, sound judgment, untiring industry, and remarkable ability to make and keep friends brought him rapidly to the front among his contemporaries. From the beginning of his medical career he was deeply interested in medical organizations and education. In 1884 he organized what is now the Fulton County Medical Society, and during the same year he became connected with the Southern Medical College as Demonstrator of Anatomy. In 1893, when the Atlanta and the Southern Medical Colleges were consolidated to form the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, Dr. Elkin was retained as Professor of Operative Surgery in the new institution. Upon the death of Dr. Hunter B. Cooper, in 1906, Dr. Elkin was chosen to fill the chair of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Two years later these chairs were separated and he became Professor of Gynecology, which position he continued to hold until 1921, when he gave up teaching to confine his work to the office of Dean.

Dr. Elkin became Dean of the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1905, and from this time until the present day, through his continuance in this office, he has been able to render unsurpassed service to medical education in Georgia and the South. He was in the office of Dean in 1913, upon the reunion of the two schools to reorganize the old Atlanta Medical College, and two years later he was still retained as Dean when the college became the Medical School of Emory University.

For many years Dr. Elkin carried on his surgical work in his private institution, first under the name of the Elkin-Cooper Sanitorium and later as the Elkin-Goldsmith Sanitorium. He is at present Division Surgeon of the N. C. & St. L. Railroad and local Surgeon for the L. & N. Railroad, the Atlanta Joint Terminals, and the American Railway Express Company. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of the Fulton County Medical Society, the Medical Association of Georgia, the Southern Medical Association, American Medical Association, the Southern Surgical Association and the American Railroad Surgical Association. He has held very important positions in railroad companies and insurance companies in the past. He has been active in every enterprise for the upbuilding of his chosen city, being Director of two banks and in 1907-10 President of the Capital City Club. In 1887 he was married to Miss Nellie Duncan, of Lancaster, Kentucky.

While our Dean has always been a man of thrifty methods and sound business judgment, which have netted him a goodly share of worldly possessions, he has no quality which has been more prominent than his generosity. He can always be depended upon to give more than his share to any worthy object. His donation of $2,500 in 1910 to the college laboratories gave them such equipment as to greatly raise the rating of the institution in the American Association of Medical Colleges. A short time before this, through the efforts of Dr. Elkin, the school had been the recipient of $25,000 from Andrew Carnegie. Dr. Elkin's interest in the Medical School has remained at the highest pitch since he first became Dean, seventeen years ago.

Emory University is fortunate in the possession of such a man for Dean as William S. Elkin. His rare medical training and experience, his executive ability, his knowledge of men, his wonderful tact and high ideals give him peculiar qualifications for the position which he fills so admirably. His intense interest in everything pertaining to the school and its advancement, his cheerfulness and unlimited store of human sympathy endear him to the faculty and student body alike. May Emory long continue to profit by his good sense, may he for many years charm us with his smile.

THE UNIVERSITY
Historical

The first school of what is now Emory University was founded in 1836. This was Emory College, "Old Emory," at Oxford, Georgia, which in 1914 became the School of Liberal Arts of Emory University. The first class was graduated in 1841, and the institution continued as a small college until it was incorporated in the university to which it gave its name. The beautiful old Oxford campus was given over to the use of the Emory University Academy.

In 1854 the Atlanta Medical College was founded by physicians and other citizens of Atlanta. The college was successful from its beginning, and numbers among its graduates prominent and successful physicians and surgeons throughout the South. With this school was merged the Southern Medical College, in 1898, the new institution taking the name, Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons. In 1913 this school combined its resources with those of the Atlanta School of Medicine under the old name, Atlanta Medical College. A year later it became the School of Medicine of Emory University and entered into a new period of increased resources and usefulness.

With the founding of the University in 1914, the Candler School of Theology was organized. It is the only divinity school within the bounds of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, east of the Mississippi River, and from the very first has been one of the pre-eminent schools of this kind in the country.

At various times in the history of "Old Emory" a law department had been maintained and in 1916 a school of law was organized and endowed. This is the Lamar School of Law, named for one of Emory's most illustrious sons, and already one of the strongest law schools in the South.

In 1919 the trustees of the University, realizing a need of other courses of instruction and the better organization of existing courses, established the Graduate School and the School of Business Administration. Both of these have been successful from the start and have a wonderful future.

Thus it will be seen that the Emory of to-day extends the traditions and usefulness of institutions which are rich in history and combines with this that of modern methods which has been proved worthy. Situated on a new and beautiful campus, with more than a national patronage, and enjoying the generosity of her loyal sons and other benefactors, the New Emory bids fair to become the University of the Southland, for who of the founders of Old Emory ever dreamed that today she would dwell within marble halls?

ACADEMIC
The Coca-Cola School

We're not allowed a football team
That will break thru Georgia's line;
With all the baseball bull we fling
We'll never beat Tech's nine;
But our poker teams are winners,
Defeat we never fear.
So buy your lot and hike the pot;
We need your money here.

CHORUS:

Emory, Emory, thy future we foretell.
We were raised on Coca-Cola
So no wonder we raise hell.
When e'er we meet Tech's engineers,
We drink them off their stool.
So fill your cup, here's to the luck
Of the Coca-Cola School.

We cannot pull off gay soirees
We never fling a dance
And, as to all those spicy shows
We haven't got a chance.
But when it comes to slinging "bull"
I guess we hold our ground,
For if "bull" were only water
This would be a seaport town.
Here and There

There are three kinds of fools: (1) fools, (2) damn fools, and (3) people who think that editors and business managers of college annuals retire on their graft.

"The Junior Prom at Emory Friday evening was one of the most brilliant affairs in the history of Atlanta's social activities. The new five hundred thousand dollar gymnasium was beautifully decorated for the occasion and about five hundred were present. President H. W. Cox and Miss Dollie Dubutante led the grand march."—From the Atlanta Smootch, of November 20, 1935.

* * *

"Yesterday was a great day for the football team of Emory University. Before a crowd of 40,000 spectators, which taxed the capacity of the new stadium on the campus, the Methodists defeated the strong Leland-Stanford team, champions of the West, in the greatest intersectional game of the decade. The captain says that the sight of Bishop Candler, the chancellor, wearing a skull cap in the grand-stand and cheering with all his might helped them more than anything else to win the victory."—From the Police Gazette, of November 29, 1940.

"The fact that all students of Emory University were given a week's holiday in celebration of the football team's recent victory over Leland-Stanford recalls to the editor the great difference in opinion that has come over the administration of his alma mater since he was a student. Just a few years ago, in 1922, six or seven seniors failed to graduate on account of lacking one credit point due to the fact that they went home to see a sick mother or something like that, and lost a credit point for their absences."—George MacDonell in The Atlanta Constitution, December 1, 1940.

Seniors
Jes' Lonesome

When he silver moon's a-peekin'
    Just above the maple trees,
And the night wind's softly talkin'
    In a husky sort o' wheeze—
When the old clock on the court-house
    Says a quarter after ten,
And, off somewhere in the distance,
    A dog bays now and then—
Oh, a kind o' wistful feelin'
    Creeps around a fellow's heart,
And it makes the slow walk homeward
    Long—when once it seemed so short.
There's a lonesome sort o' achin'
    For a face he does not see,
For eyes sparkling in the starlight
    And a laugh of girlish glee;
There's a sort o' empty feelin'
    In the whole night-darkened worl'.
How that lonesome, empty achin'
    Makes a fellow want his girl.

I Love a Butterfly Maiden

I love a butterfly-maiden
With a beauty gorgeous yet fantastic—
Her forehead lofty and Grecian;
Her tresses glossy as the plumage of a raven,
Hyacinthine, and cut short in the
Bohemian spirit of the eternal girl
Within her growing woman's bosom—
A wisp dashed carelessly across the forehead
As a curtain draped over the portrait
Of one of Leonardo's women;—
Her mouth sweet, Eros-born—lips that command reverence
And the bended knee—a kissing-altar
Where sacrifices kindle my spirit
As a Quaff of new vintage;—
Teeth brilliantly white, and radiant in smiles;—
Her form grace's own;
And then there's a melody in her syllables
That pours forth flute-like as the notes of the morning birds;
And her eyes, in the name of Venus, her eyes,
Gray with an almost imperceptible touch of emerald,
Overhung with jetty lashes of shadowy length—yet
Eyes so peculiarly strange!
Ah, Maiden, one among legions, one in countless years.
Warp and woof for the saccharine stuff of dreams:
A fabulous Houri of the Turk,
A sylph in this Eden's bowers!
A naiad in its fountains!
Sufficient guerdon to besiege ten thousand Troys!
But——
As a tame tiger doth growl at the smell of blood,
Sometimes I see within the depths of those strange eyes,
In the zenith of excitement,
A flaming fire that seems to be fed by
The preponderous passion of centuries!
And my heart throbs madly as I think—that
A butterfly doth sometimes
Brush the dust from off its wings,
Never to fly again.

George Thomas Alexander, B.S., M.D.

Moulton, Ala.

"Alex" joined us in our Junior year, coming from the University of Alabama, where he took his first two years in medicine, and his collegiate work done at the University of Alabama, where he was a member of the Skull and Keys. George Thomas is one of the best liked boys in the class. His character is beyond reproach and his characteristics too numerous to mention. We look forward to great and wonderful things in medicine from him.

Charles Galloway Boland, B.S., M.D.

Atlanta, Ga.

Born February 13, 1898, Bickley, Ga.; Emory College, '14-'18; President Student Volunteer Band, '20; Prophet, First Year Medical Class, '19. This promising young man was born in Bickley, Ga., and after roving around a bit, came to reside in Atlanta. He is always quiet till someone suggests a little hymn between classes; then he never fails to deliver the goods. For some unexplained reason he claims China as his field, and we predict that the yellow man will stare in wonder as Dr. Boland drives by in his Ford.

Cecil Brannen, M.D.

Brantley, Ala.

Born Brantley, Ala., November 15, 1898. Alabama Polytechnic Institute, '15-'16; University of Alabama, '16-'18; University School of Medicine, Mobile, Ala., '18-'19. Cecil came to us as an unsuspecting country boy, from the wilds of Alabama. He entered our class in our Sophomore year, and he has proven to be a good fellow. The only thing that we can see to mar the future of this aspiring disciple of Hippocrates is morning calls.
Ollie C. Brannen, M.D.
Brantley, Ala.

Born Luverne, Ala., 1895; University of Alabama, '16-'18; University of Alabama Medical School, '18-'19; Class Historian, '18-'19; Class Secretary and Treasurer, '20-'21. Ollie is one of the "Alabama boys" who cast his lot with us in our Sophomore year, and he quickly made a host of friends—and certainly this can be said also of his stay in Troy, for we are sure that there will be at least one letter from the aforesaid town on the nine o'clock mail. His genial nature and efficient diplomacy bespeak for him a very promising future.

Herschel Baker Bray, M.D.
Wrightsville, Ga.

Born Wrightsville, Ga., May 23, 1897; Pre-Med. work Emory College and Mercer; member M. E. R. C.; entered Medical School fall 1917, re-entered fall 1920. We suspect that the twilight twinkling of cow bells, the mid-day blast of the dinner horn, and the plaintive wail of a "hard-tail" are sweeter to his ears than a symphony. Nevertheless, he well deserves the title, "A Son of Rome," as his oratorical displays would do credit to any of the ancient speakers of the Forum. Success is his for a certainty.

James Hill Byram, B.S., M.D.
Newnan, Ga.

On the 18th day of February, 1899, the inhabitants of Newnan, Ga., were increased from nine to ten by the arrival of "Jake." Jake made a wonderful record at the University of Georgia, taking every honor there that a man could make, and left to enter medicine here in 1918. A member of the Caduceus Honorary Senior Society, Vice-President of the Senior Class, a demon in finance, and a man that never worries, is what Jake boasts of. With the unusual ability to play in playing time and work in working time, we know he will rock along to a sure success, both professionally and socially and neither patients nor friends will suffer.
Francis B. Camp, B.S., M.D.
Springfield, Mo.

This ardent follower of medicine came into the world on December 31, 1896, at Springfield, Mo. He entered Westminster College at Fulton, Missouri, and remained there four years, in which time he became a Phi Delta Theta and a member of "Quo Vadis." Francis entered Emory in 1918 and during his second year complained of suffering from "Bachmanitis," of which he was cured in June of 1919. On December 29th, 1920, Francis proposed to "Mary," and they were married and lived happily thereafter. With his good looks and winning ways and his wonderful adaptability to any task he undertakes, we know that in Francis medicine shall advance. He is Secretary and Treasurer of our class and a member of the Caduceus.

William Hodge Clark, B.S., M.D.
Tampa, Fla.

Born at Charleston, S. C., September 4, 1893. "Bill" took his high school work at Tampa, Florida, and premedical work at Emory University. He entered the Medical School in 1918 and has made quite a record for himself in the last four years. He has a brilliant mind and a goodly store of energy. He takes with him our best wishes for success.

Charles J. Colquett, M.D.
Brantley, Ala.

Born Brantley, Ala., December 25, 1896: Alabama Polytechnic Institute, '15-'16; University of Alabama, '16-'18; School of Medicine, Mobile, Ala., '18-'20; Class Treasurer, '18-'19; Assistant Business Manager, Corolla, '19-'20. In 1896 Charlie was a rare Christmas gift. Since entering upon his medical career, he has been constantly on the resident staff of some large hospital, and we feel sure that the experience that he has thus gained will be of much value to him in his future practice of medicine. His specialties are surgery and ladies.
James Taylor Cowart, M.D.
Walden, Ga.
ΣAE, AKK, Asklepios

Jacob Frederick Crane, M.D.
Newnan, Ga.
ΦX, Asklepios

Born May 21st, 1897, at Newnan, Ga. "Jake," as all the boys know him, in 1916 entered Trinity College at Durham, N. C. While there, besides being one of the honor men of his class, he was very interested in athletics, being Physical Director his last year. Jake entered medicine in 1918, and since that time counts his friends in his class by his acquaintances. We know that he will make a splendid physician and those who receive his services need fear no harm.

Charles Wesley Daniels, B.S.
Atlanta, Ga.
ΣN

It was in Buchanan, Ga., on August 30, 1893, that the world was made happy by the birth of a smiling baby boy, named Charles Wesley Daniels. Charles, with his ever-likable smile, entered Emory in 1916 and began his premedical course. He was a member of the Beta Omricon Pi's and of the football team. Charles, or "Doc," as we call him, entered medicine in 1918 at Emory, and is the historian of our Senior Class. His wit and truly wonderful smile has gained for him the name of the best mixer in the class. We know his success will be unlimited.
EDGAR WILLINGHAM DAVIS, B.S., M.D.
Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Born Five Mile, Ala.; University of Alabama, '16-'18; B.S. Med., University of Alabama, '20. Though "horne" (as he styles it) in Five Mile, Alabama (five miles from we know not where) his fame and skill as an interne, surgeon, obstetrician, gynecologist, and diagnostician have spread even to the wilds of the mining region of West Virginia. If deliberation of speech is indicative of rare judgment, the Southland will soon be able to boast of one as great as Cabot. Nerve, ability, and "Ole Lady Luck" will insure him a bright medical career.

ROGER WILLIAM DICKSON, B.S., M.D.
Fitzgerald, Ga.

And it came to pass that on December 24, 1896 (one day more and Santa Claus might have brought him) there was a little babe born in Fitzgerald, Georgia, and "Roger" was his name. His real degree of activity began the day he entered the University of Georgia in 1915, where he was made an A. T. O. At Georgia he was member of the K. K. K. Social Club, Tau Sigma Honor Roll, and Pan-Hellenic Council. In 1918 he entered Emory and began his medical career. He was Secretary and Treasurer of the Sophomore class and is the "orator" of our graduating class. He is also a member of the Caduceus Honorary Senior Medical Society. There is no harder worker in school than Roger, and no one more conscientious. His honesty, energy, and unquenchable determination spell success.

GUY JACKSON DILLARD, M.D.
Colbert, Ga.

Born at Lexington, Ga., March 8, 1897. Guy is one of our University of Georgia boys and a very proud one. He entered medicine in 1918 and has made an enviable record for himself. He is at present a Junior Intern at St. Joseph's Hospital. He is a member of the Caduceus Senior Honorary Society. Dillard is an efficient student and is going to specialize on diseases of the kidneys. We predict a brilliant future for him.
Alvin Barney Eberhart, A.B., M.D.
Gillsville, Ga.

Born at Gillsville, Ga., December 24, 1890. Eberhart is an A.B. from Mercer, where he was a member of the Varsity baseball team and President of the German Club. He entered Emory in 1918, in search of his M.D. degree. All those associated with him have found him to be a faithful worker and a true friend, and we know that some day he will be unexcelled both as a physician and as a citizen.

James Kenneth Fancher, A.B., M.D.
Atlanta, Ga.

Born at Union Springs, N.Y., July 24, 1892. Fancher is an A.B. from the University of Montana, where he was a member of the football, baseball, and basketball varsity teams for four years, being captain for two years. He was also winner of the Montana Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest in 1911. While at Montana he was also a member of the Glee Club, orchestra, and Tau Beta Kappa. He entered Emory in 1918 and is one of our best liked fellows, being a member of the Caduceus. Fancher's perfect bearing and strong personality contribute much to an otherwise firm foundation for becoming a successful doctor.

Ralph Waldo Fowler, M.D.
Marietta, Ga.

Born Marietta, Ga., July 4, 1898; University of Georgia, '16-'18; President Sophomore class, '19-'20; Caduceus Club. This specimen is one of the hardest of the entire lot to classify, and in spite of the fact that he spends much of his time riding Marietta cars and half of the rest of it with his friend Pythias (alias Kay), he still finds time to devote to the study of infant feeding and the etiology of nocturnal enuresis. He is of recent pediatric fame, having been resident physician in Babies' Hospital, Wilmington, N.C., last summer. If he has as large a practice, relatively speaking, as he has a fountain pen, his success is undoubtedly assured.

Benjamin Goldstein, B.S., M.D.
Birmingham, Ala.

Born November 1, 1897, at Birmingham, Ala. "Ben" is a graduate of Birmingham High School and holds a B.S. degree from the University of Alabama, where he graduated with honors. His first two years of medicine were spent at the University of Alabama, at Mobile, and in 1920 he decided to come to Atlanta, where he became one of our classmates. Ben is one of the most liked fellows in the class and his quiet and easy manner in handling affairs will make him one of the famous doctors of this country some day.

William Benjamin Hair, B.S., M.D.
Lena, N. C.

Born in Lena, N. C., September 6, 1891. "Doc" Hair immediately took up his new duties in life with a vim and vigor. It was not long until Doc entered Wake Forest College, in 1913, and there remained for a B.S. degree. Doc believes that "variety is the spice of life," and so took his first year of medicine at Wake Forest College, N. C.; his second year at Jefferson Medical College; and came to us in 1919 for his last two years. At Jefferson Medical College he was Vice-President of the South Club and President of the Davis Obstetrical Society. We look forward to Doc's being a great capitalist some day, if his efforts in behalf of his patients are remunerated.

John Franklin Holley, M.D.
Sampson, Ala.

Born at Sampson, Ala., March 8, 1897. "Doc" Holley is one of our University of Alabama boys and one whom we are proud of. He entered Emory to take up his studies in medicine in 1918, and has been one of our faith students during the past four years. Holley is lean in stature, but possesses an unusual amount of intellect, and we predict for him nothing less than a great future, crowned with the most wonderful success, which is bound to come to one of his ability.
Zachariah Wiley Jackson, B.S., M.D.
Winder, Ga.

AKK

Born August 7, 1898, at Winder, Ga. "Zenus" is a full-fledged University of Georgia man and extremely proud of it; but some day we know that it will be the opposite: the University of Georgia will be proud of him; for since his entrance into the Medical School he has proved a wonder. His recitations in the classroom have been among our best; you can always depend on him for a clear-cut, concise statement of facts. The writer is looking forward with special interest to some day when the name of Z. W. Jackson will be among the foremost doctors of our country.

Harris Quillian Jones, B.S., M.D.
Cartersville, Ga.

XΦ, ZZX

This midnight serenader from Cartersville was born on a cold day in January, 1899, the day being the 30th. Upon his arrival he immediately began to play the mandolin and has since acquired great skill with the pick. But, dear friends, this isn't all "Quill" has done; for he entered Emory University in 1916 and remained two years in his pre-medical work, during which time he was a member of the basket-ball, baseball, and track teams, and also a member of the orchestra. He entered the Medical School in 1918 and was made President of his Freshman Class. He entered Grady Hospital in 1919 as a Junior Intern. He is a member of the Caduceus Senior Honorary Society. Quill, under cover of his calm and seeming indifference, has a seething ambition and energy, and has stood with the best in his class for the past four years. The degree of Doctor of Medicine is honored by his name.

Henry Thomas Jones, A.B., M.D.
Jones Mill, Ala.

ΠΚΦ, κΨ, Asklepios

Born Jones Mill, Ala., September 15, 1898; Alabama Polytechnic Institute, '12-'13; A.B., University of Alabama, '16; University of Alabama Medical College, '18-'20; President Medical Class, U. of A., '18-'19; Vice-President, Sophomore Class, U. of A., '19-'20; Caduceus Club; Phi Beta Kappa. Henry owes his distinction to so many causes that it would be useless to try to chronicle them. He is another one of the Alabama boys who came to us in his Junior year with a reputation for scholarship and good fellowship, which we are glad to recognize and perpetuate.
Frank Alfred Kay, M.D.
Birmingham, Ala.
KΨ, Asklepios

Born Birmingham, Ala., July 18, 1899; Birmingham-Southern College, '16-'18; University of Alabama, School of Medicine, '18-'19; Caduceus Club; President, Senior Class, 21-'22. "Neurosis" comes from the "Magic City," of which he is a proud exponent. Since spending some time serving an internship among the residents of padded cells, there has come into his vocabulary a term which we think he is inclined to use too frequently in the diagnosis of obscure conditions, namely, psychoneurosis. His favorite diversion is quoting statistics that "ain't." We have heard that he is going to specialize in gynecology, which is a beautiful science, so he says.

John Mac Kirby, M.D.
Baywood, Va.

Born at Baywood, Va., November 26, 1893. "Mac" attended V. P. I. in 1916-'17-'18, and while there made quite a record in athletics, winning six medals. He is one of the champion cross-country runners of the South, as well as the holder of the high jump record. He joined us in 1918, and we may say that when you find one that excels him in honesty and brotherly love drop us a line; for he can't be found. In John Mac Kirby medicine has gained a genius.

William Jerome Knauer, M.D.
Jacksonville, Fla.
ΘΧ, ΞΖΧ

This gentleman was born at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1896. He entered the University of Florida in 1915, where he established an enviable record in college activities. Heeding the call of Aesculapius, Jerry entered the Columbia University Medical School in 1917. The next year he joined our ranks and soon won his way into our hearts. He "shoots-em-up" equally well on the golf links and classroom. In this, his Senior year, Jerry is a member of the Caduceus and Medical Editor of The Emory Campus.
Wendell Lee Latimer, A.B., M.D.
Lowndesville, S. C.

Born Lowndesville, S. C, January 2, 1895; A.B., Erskine College, '10-'14; Medical College of S. C., '17-'19; Caduceus Club. Here is a quiet, unassuming fellow who talks very little but says much with few words. With us he has made a record which is an honor both to himself and his Alma Mater. He stands high among his fellows and is a man of high moral character. He goes out from us as well prepared to practice his chosen profession as any man in his class, and we can but predict for him a most successful and useful career.

Malcolm Mooney Neel, M.D.
Geiger, Ala.

Born Geiger, Ala., April 16, 1898; University of Alabama, '16-'18; University of Alabama Medical School, '18-'19. His visits to slumberland rival those of Rip Van Winkle and his financial schemes would do justice to a Ponzi. Though of small stature he has been able to carry on his work at Battle Hill (which consists principally in the drinking of sweet milk to his gastric capacity), walk three miles to the car line every morning and attend most of his nine o'clock classes. We predict that he will soon put Geiger on the map.

David Henry Poer, B.S., M.D.
Atlanta, Ga.

Born in Jesup, Ga., August 16, 1899. Henry entered Emory in 1916 for his college work and carried off many honors, a few of them being, Freshman Debater, member of Student Council, Varsity Football and Baseball, Student Activities Association, Pyramid, and Honor Graduate. In 1918 he entered the Medical School and has been Historian of the Sophomore Class, President of the Junior Class, Assistant Business Manager of the Campus, '19-'20, and is our representative on the Student Council. He is also a member of the Caduceus Honorary Senior Medical Society. Henry's work in school has been above reproach since the first roll call. Always conscientious, ever industrious, and usually right, he is known and respected for his energy, judgment and conversation. For four years his station in activities or out of school has been at the top always. We are looking forward to great things from him in pediatrics.
PAUL EDWIN PURKS, B.S., M.D.
White Plains, Ga.
ΚΨ
Born White Plains, Ga., March 20, 1898; Emory College, '16-'18. "Cy," as he is styled, after taking in all the local schools could offer with the ease of a billy goat digesting tin cans, came to the Medical College to find some real work—and we think he has succeeded thus far. He modestly confesses that he is not a ladies' man, but we have learned during the study of our profession when to "add a little salt." He will make good.

WILLIAM BRYANT RAWLS, B.S., M.D.
Williamson, Ga.
ΔΤΔ, ΦΧ
Born February 2, 1900, Concord, Ga. "Willie" took his pre-medical work at Emory and in 1918 entered medicine. During the summer of 1921 he was Roentgenologist at Grady Hospital, and at present is a Junior Interne there. The class has no fear for what the future holds for W. B. Rawls, nor will his patients suffer from lack of genuine attention.

COLQUITT OTIS RITCH, B.S., M.D.
ΦΧ
Born at Odum, Ga., October 17, 1897. "Co" took his first year of pre-medical work at Valparaiso University, where he was a member of the Varsity Football Team. In 1917 he entered Emory for the remainder of his academic work and where he was also a member of the Varsity Football Team. In 1918 he started in medicine and has become one of the best liked boys in his class. He is a member of the Caduceus Senior Honorary Society. With an unquestionable ability, a disposition of rare charm, an unwavering cheerfulness and a lovable manner, Ritch has gained for himself a warm place in the hearts of his classmates.
Julian Gladstone Riley, A.B., M.D.
Orangeburg, S. C.
ΣAE, AKK

Born Orangeburg, S. C, January 12, 1900; University of South Carolina, graduated, '18, A.B.; Caduceus Club. Had Sir Walter Raleigh seen Riley approach that dampened spot, he would readily have divested himself of all raiment, for fear of spotting his Royal Highness's attire, so neat. He is a good fellow, and a magnet for the ladies. If he can conquer these last-named assets, we predict for medicine a new epoch.

Raymond Reid Roberts, M.D.
Lawrenceville, Ga.
ΚΨ

Born Lawrenceville, Ga, February 22, 1897; Emory College, '16-'18. "Railroad" has won a cozy corner in the hearts of his classmates and incidentally of some of the fair sex. He is a devout student of regional anatomy, and his hobby is the removal of foreign bodies from the stomach. He numbers his friends by the score. He has never failed us, so we predict for him in future success and an honor to the profession.

Harry Sam Rowe, B.S., M.D.
Elba, Ala.
ΠΚΦ, ΚΨ

Born Elba, Ala., June 22, 1898; University of Alabama, '14-'18; B.S., University of Alabama, '18; U. of A. Medical School, '18-'20; Vice-President, Senior Class, U. of A., '17-'18; Vice-President, Freshman Medical Class, U. of A., '18-'19; President, Sophomore Medical Class, U. of A., '19-'20; Varsity Football, U. of A., '16-'17. "Harry" is certainly a man of giant proportions, and we can say for him that this does not only apply to his stature. He made quite a record over in his native state and since he has been with us he has held up his former record. We have heard that he belongs to the Rinctum Club.
Curtis Daniel Vinson, M.D.
Atlanta, Ga.
ΚΨ

Born Welston, Ga.; graduated State Normal School, '11; University of Georgia Summer School for Teachers, graduated, '15; Mercer University Summer Schools, '16-'17. "Vinson" was born on a farm near Welston, Ga., and though we do not believe that he is sensitive about his age, he would not reveal to us that secret, but we believe that it was some time since that memorable conflict between the States. If he shows as much perseverance in the practice of his chosen profession as he has in the pursuit of his "sheepskin," he has a great future before him. We are sure that he can attribute much of his sticking plaster qualities and his past successes to his "better half."

Edward Yancey Walker, Jr., B.S., M.D.
Eatonton, Ga.
ATO, AKK

Born in Willard, Ga., January 25, 1900; Ga. Tech, '16-'17; Emory College, '17-'18. "E. Y.," we have heard, when he first came to delve in the mysteries that are bound up in the human body, at the very mention of pelvimetry and femoral curves, blushed with all the ardor of an un kissed maid of thirty-nine. He has been a faithful student, and since it has been promised that all things shall be added unto the faithful, it is useless to put into words the successful practice that awaits him.

William Chester Warren, B.S., M.D.
Atlanta, Ga.
ΨΦ, ΑΚΚ, Asklepios

A mother and father were the happiest people in the world when on the 19th day of September, 1898, the stork arrived with "Bill" in Atlanta. Would space permit we should like to tell you of the whole life of this young Hippocrates, as we know him; but we must now slip to his collegiate honors. Bill entered Oxford in 1916, being initiated into Chi Phi fraternity as a starter. He was Captain of the Basket-ball Team, member of the Baseball Team, Champion Tennis Player while at Oxford and on the Honor Roll, '17-'18. Bill entered the Medical School in 1918 and has made his pathway one of glory and success, and his "Hello, fellows," let us hope will always remain with him. He is a member of the Caduceus. Bill's personal magnetism, his cool, level-headed judgment, intensiveness of thought, and accuracy of speech and action, have won for him the respect of his associates, both among the students and faculty. It is a pity that the South hasn't more like him.
JAMES MORTON WHITWORTH, B.S., M.D.
Camilla, Ga.
SAE, KΨ

Born Camilla, Ga., May 25, 1898; Mercer University, '16-'18; Student Activities Council, '19-'20, '20-'21; Class Editor, CAMPUS, Senior Medical Class. "Skinner," we have heard, had a period of service with Uncle Sam, receiving the title of lieutenant, while at Mercer. He has a cortex that is full of jokes, and he delights in ever telling them. We used to hear that he intended practicing his chosen profession in South America, but since the beginning of the present session, this place has been changed to a distant portion of the "Land of Flowers." We wonder whence this change?

RICHARD BLANTON WILSON, B.S., M.D.
Hampton, Ga.
ΣAE, AKK

Born Hampton, Ga., December 28, 1898; Emory College, '15-'18. "Kid" has been styled a "lion" with the ladies and we would like to know what fair damsel could resist the happy smile from this bashful, rosy-cheeked exponent of the arts and sciences. In future years when our student days begin to grow dim, we will turn back to this volume and be pleased to look into the face of this student of medicine who is as square and straightforward as a man ever becomes. Of a man who possesses these qualities we can't expect anything less than a bright future.

HAGAN EMMETT WOOD, B.S., M.D.
Bristol, Tenn.

Born in Bristol, Tenn., November 27, 1898. Hagan came to us from Oxford, where he took his pre-medical work. Since entering medicine he holds the honor of being the only man that has held an office in the class for four consecutive years, the office being that of chaplain. Hagan's reticency, close application to study, and love for his chosen profession, carried him unseathed by conditions to the point where he now stands—admirably fitted in mind and body to practice medicine intelligently and successfully.
The Oath of Hippocrates

SWEAR by Apollo, the physician, and Aesculapius, and Health, and All-heal, and all the gods and goddesses that, according to my ability and judgment I will keep this oath and this stipulation to reckon with him who taught me this art, equally dear to me as my parents; to share my substance with him, and relieve his necessities if required; to look upon his offspring on the same footing as my brothers, and teach them this art, if they wish to learn it, without fee or stipulation; and that by precept, lecture, and every mode of instruction, I will impart a knowledge of the art to my own sons, and those of my teachers, and to the disciples bound by a stipulation and an oath, according to the law of medicine, and to none others. I will follow that system of regimen which, according to my ability and judgment, I consider for the benefit of my patients, and abstain from whatever is deleterious and harmful. I will give no deadly medicine to anyone if asked, nor suggest any such counsel; and in like manner I will not give to any woman a pessary with which to produce abortion. With purity and holiness I will pass my life and practice my art. I will not cut persons laboring under the stone, but will leave this to be done by men who are practitioners of this work. Into whatever houses I enter, I will go into them for the benefit of the sick, and will abstain from every voluntary act of mischief and corruption; and furthermore, from the seduction of females or males, of free-men and slaves.

“Whatever in connection with my professional practice or not in connection with it, I see or hear, in the life of men which ought not to be spoken of abroad, I will not divulge, as reckoning that all such should be kept secret.

“While I continue to keep this oath unviolated, may it be granted me to enjoy life and the practice of the art, respected by all men, in all times. But should I trespass and violate this oath, may the reverse be my lot!”

Book IV.
THEOLOGICAL
The Modern Circuit Rider
The History of the Theological Class of 1922

The history of the Class of 1922 has been real history. As you will find, in part, in the write-ups alongside each picture, the men have taken their places in the various student activities, athletics, and scholarship. Many of our men served in the recent world conflict. The moral and religious needs of humanity were impressed upon them with greater intensity and immediately upon their discharge from service, they came to Emory to further prepare themselves for the work of ministering to the needs of the world. The wearers of the khaki, together with those who were not privileged to serve in the ranks of military service, formed the Class of 1922.

Our men are not all from Georgia. We have representatives from most of the Southern States, but we are glad to say, there are no state-lines at Emory. We have one representative each from Japan and Korea, and of both of them we are justly proud. No less than eighteen prominent colleges and universities are represented in our class by men, many of whom have won high honors both for themselves and for their institutions.

Our Class is not composed of men who have just drifted into the ministry for the comforts that it affords, or for the "loaves and fishes," that they might sail through life on "flowery beds of ease." More than a third of our Class are diligently preparing themselves to be "bearers of the Light," to lands beyond the seas. Several are looking forward to mountain-mission work and to rural work in our own country. We believe that every one is seeking to fill his place in the service of the Master.

For three years we have sat under the instruction of our pious and learned doctors of the faculty, who have been real big brothers to us, and with all the revolutionizing of our views, we do not yet consider ourselves heretics. We entered the First Year Class with our minds saturated with traditional beliefs and preconceptions of the Bible, even to the extent of believing that Moses wrote the account of his own death. But we were led through the barriers of OT and NT Introductions, bare-footed and alone, until we seemed lost in the chaos. But by the tender counsel and instruction of our beloved brothers of the faculty we have discovered ourselves on firmer ground than ever. We realize our unworthiness, but we are ready to take our place in the work, to which we are called, of ministering to our fellows.

A.B., Ashbury College; Cosmopolitan Club; Theological Librarian, (3); Vice-President, Senior Class. Summer Term.

His name sounds bad, but it misrepresents him. Yum is much of a scholar and it is to be doubted if we have ever had an oriental Americanized so completely.
Dawning

After the night comes the morning,
Chasing the shadows that, lingering late,
Slowly are slipping from willow-fringed spate.
Gay sings the birds from brier and tree,
Throats all a-quiver in mad ecstasy—
    Happiest music at dawning!

After the night comes the morning,
Tenderly murmuring wakens the earth;
Vibrant with life is the day of its birth;
House windows blank in the night dark and cold.
Now in the sunlight are crimson and gold—
    Radiant world at the dawning!

After the night comes the morning.
There in the half-light my Love comes to me.
Bright in her eyes the dear love-light I see;
Shy, and reluctant to show to my heart
Love has made all of the shadows depart—
    Glorious Love at the dawning!

Vanitas Vanitatum

"Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity."—Ecclesiastes.
Smell the dying breath of yonder new-mown hay—
Smell the soothing rain as 't loves the earth with kisses—
Smell the mellow sod upturned by rugged swain—
And yet there're some who praise perfumes of Araby!

Hear the dying notes of yonder trumpet-swan—
Hear the mock-bird pour his ceaseless silv'ry flow—
Hear the insects hum their twilight serenade—
And yet there're some who listen to the songs of Sirens!

See the embered fire immortalize the West—
See the moonlit lake lie in its crystal pomp—
See Aurora blush to kiss Apollo's lips—
And yet there're some who lose a soul in search of Beauty!

Vanitas vanitatum! Vanity of vanities!

Alma Mater

In the heart of dear old Dixie,
Where the sun doth shine,
There is where our hearts are turning,
Round old Emory's shrine.

CHORUS:

We will ever sing thy praises,
Loyal sons and true,
Hail thee now, our Alma Mater,
Hail the Gold and Blue.

Tho' the years around me gather,
Crowned with love and cheer,
Still the memory of old Emory,
Grows to us more dear.

—J. Marvin Rast, '18.
REALIZING the great need of a school of law in the South, thoroughly equipping its students to grapple with modern problems, and to develop in its students the power of legal reasoning which only the study of the common law can give, the Lamar School of Law was founded. Its purpose was not to turn out a great number of attorneys at law but to give those who could meet its entrance requirements, and were willing to spend three years communing with ancient and modern jurists, the opportunity to become lawyers. It is needless to say that in this land of the modern two-year night course which guarantees to admit one to the bar of his State, that it could not at first boast of a great number, and until the fall of 1919 it could not lay claim to a great number of alumni.

In that year, the war having closed, several of its former students who had returned from the war, and others, to the number of seventeen, were found to be enrolled for the law course. Thus we lay claim to being the first real bona fide class presenting themselves to receive the benefits which only this law school can give. I do not desire to dwell on the handsomeness of the class as a whole, but the class realized from the first what was expected of them, and that their attractiveness would not have gotten them by the professors of law anyway.

Several states were represented in this class, and a variety of vocations, and from the experiences of the individual members of the class the whole class has become quite well versed in certain vocations, especially is this true of telegraphing and the writer has also endeavored to enlighten the class on the production of farm products.

Be it said to our eternal credit that we have been, now are, and will continue to be in favor of intercollegiate athletics.

As we enter upon the duties of practicing lawyers we hope that our conduct in this field will be such that we will reflect to a certain extent the high ideals ever kept before us by our instructors; that we will aid in the enforcement, not the obstruction, of the machinery of the law; that we will harmonize, so far as lieth in us, our lives with the teachings of the greatest Law Giver of mankind.

Fred is a graduate of the Bingham High School, Bingham, N. Fred was on the Student Activities Council, '20-21. A good man, an efficient man, never needs publicity, for his deeds do away with any such need. Fred is an honest-to-goodness Southerner, whose success at the bar of any State in the Union would be assured from the beginning. During the two years in our law school Fred has shown himself to be a splendid student and one capable of coping successfully with any sort of legal problem that might confront a practitioner. Hit the "ball," Freddie; we are with you!

William Willis Battle, LL.B.
Columbus, Ga.
ΣΑΕ, ΦΔΨ

Willis attended Columbus High School, '12-'13; G. M. A., '13-'15; Georgia Tech, '15-'16; Columbia University, '16-'17, and for the past three years the Lamar School of Law. He was Vice-President of the Class in '19-20, '20-21; Vice-President of the Williams-Arant Law Club, won the Faculty Medal, '19-20, and the W. S. Thompson Medal, '20-21, for excellence in scholarship. Willis has a wonderful legal mind and an ability to go to the root of a legal problem with surprising accuracy, an accuracy that any one would not expect to find in a student in a law school. This ability, connected with a serious purpose to win where possible, will insure a client a first rate professional service.

Thomas Reuben Burnside, LL.B.
Thomson, Ga.
ΔΤΔ, ΦΔΨ

Reuben is a graduate of Thomson High School. He has won the following honors at Emory: "E" in baseball, '21; membership on the Student Athletic Committee, '20-21; Student Activities Council, '20-21; President Students Activities Council, '21-22; President of the 2nd Year Law Class, '20-21, and is a member of the Williams-Arant Law Club. The most difficult task in the world is the task of measuring the true worth of a contemporary; but basing our prediction on what has already been accomplished by Reuben, no client's cause will suffer when placed in his care. Reuben is a typical Emory man, as was his father in '91, a man whose character is beyond reproach, and whose friends are legion. A more gallant Southern gentleman would be difficult to find.
ALEXANDER HAMILTON DIXON, LL.B.

ΠΚΦ

Dick graduated from Pavo High School in '17; attended Oglethorpe University in '18, and since then has been attending the Leman School of Law of Emory University. "Dick" is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity. He played on the law school basketball team and is a member of the Williams-Arant Law Club. Some men are "jest nacherly" gifted with a "funny streak," and Dick is one of the few at Emory so endowed. His witticisms have been the source of much merriment, and were especially so while we were trying to stem the tide of 2nd Year Property. Before "Dick" could get through with this "guy" and that "guy" he usually found that there was very little of the "estate" to go to the "heirs." Never stop until the battle is won!

CLIFFORD WHITNEY KNOTT, LL.B.
Van Buren, Ark.
ΔΤΔ, ΦΔΨ

Entered Emory in the fall of 1918; Sophomore Class Council, '19-'20; Freshman-Sophomore Debate, '18-'19; Few Literary Society; Williams-Arant Law Club; Secretary of First Year Law Class, '19-'20; Vice-President of the Williams-Arant Law Club, '19-'20; President, '20-'21; Secretary Y. M. C. A., '20-'21. "Cliff" is our ideal of a "real man." Some think he would make a better theologian than a lawyer; but we think he will be a great asset to the legal profession, proving to the world that there is at least one "honest man and a lawyer" combined in one personality. Go to it, Cliff! May your head grow balder, your fame wider and your tribe increase as the years roll on! And Emory and Arkansas will reap the benefits of your success.

Donald is an Atlanta boy. He graduated from Tech High in '17 and shortly thereafter enlisted in the navy, serving 19 months in that branch of the service. He entered the Emory Law School in '19. He was on the law baseball team, '19-'20, '20-'21, and made the varsity team in the latter year. "Don" is one of the most likable men in the world, possessing qualities of personal attractiveness rarely found in one's friends. He shoots "straight from the shoulder," and never minces words. He has the ability to do what he starts out to do and the enigmas of the law present no insurmountable obstacles in his path. Boy, let us hear from you, by all means!
Samuel Snow Griffin, LL.B.
Atlanta, Ga.

Sam graduated from Reinhardt College in ’15. He is a Mason and a member of the Emory Masonic Club. Our friend, Samuel Snow, is one of the energetic few who have managed to work on the outside while securing an education and, consequently, knows what it means to “get down and dig.” The pages of history glow with accounts of men who have accomplished great things after having procured an education under the most adverse circumstances, and “Grif” is made up of the same determinant characteristics. Lad, the bunch wishes you well!

Gladstone Pitt, LL.B.
Atlanta, Ga.
Σ A E

Riverside Military Academy; Student Activities Council, ’21; Over Seas Club; Masonic Club. Pitt, as every one is wont to call him, has won the esteem of every man who has learned to know him, and has accomplished splendid results since entering the Law School. It is noticeable that every man studying law who was privileged to serve overseas seems to be possessed of a little more seriousness of purpose than the average run of men. Pitt belongs to this class of men and is bound to win out.

William Sentell Richardson, LL.B.
Hawkinsville, Ga.
A T Ω

“Rich” attended Hawkinsville High School; G. M. A. in ’16; University of Georgia, ’17; Mercer University, ’18 and the Lamar School of Law, ’19-’22. He is a member of the law baseball team, ’19-’20 and ’20-’21. “Rich” claims the distinction of being the best looking man in the Law School, but others are wont to contest his claim. Be that as it may, everybody will have to admit that he is an Apollo. It has been urged that he could improve his looks wonderfully if he would only part his hair in the middle—just a suggestion.

Graduation

Along the ways from yesteryear
We've come and call to mind
The matin songs we sang with cheer,
The prime of morning free from fear,
The blush of dawn behind,
The blooms of youth we fondly pressed,
The fruits of friendship we caressed,
The guides we found so kind.

The heritage of days of yore
Whirls in the glass of time,
The seeds were sown in ancient lore
And nature's wonders spread before
Us, heirs of things sublime:
Beyond the gates that open there
We'll find our God's celestial stair
And toward the summit climb.

The laurel and the olive green
May wreath the brow of fame,
The graces wove the wreathes we've seen
Around the brows that but had been
Content with virtue's name:
The wreath of hyacinth so fair
And myrtle, that we all may wear,
Preserve the heart from blame.

Oh, harbinger of after days,
Attainment's pioneer!
With advent of the future's place
In ardent hope we rise to praise
The prophecy we hear
That we shall find our way beside
The throne divine when eventide
Descends the soul to clear.

—Harold Kirby, '22.

A kiss at the station won't hurt your reputation.

Virtue is like an icicle; in the heat of passion it may melt away but if the chill of reason descends quickly enough it regains even a more beautiful form.

Mr. Candler says there is nothing he likes better than a good race. How about a football game?

Prof Hinton: "Who was it who said, 'Out, damned spot?'"

Bowie: "It must have been the dry cleaner when he was working on my dress suit after the banquet."

Percy Gardner: "Give me a penny for my thoughts?"

She: "Huh! Something for nothing."

They say the ground hog went back in his hole because he saw his shadow. I'll bet he heard the matron at the dining hall planning a meal.

There are nets and nets but we put our money on the hair nets for catching fish.

Two little worms were digging away; they were digging away in dead earnest. Poor Earnest. (That's our idea of a rotten joke.)

When there is chicken at the dining hall everybody grabs the neck from force of habit.

_Here lies the body of John J. Smith;_
_His theory was exploded_
_When he pulled the trigger on a gun_
_He didn't think was loaded._

Hancock: "I see you have a cold, Cochran."

Cochran: "(Sniff, sniff) Do you now?"

Jimmy Hinton: "Give me the names of two of Shakespeare's works."

The Politician's Son: "'The Merry Wives of Wilson,' and 'McAdoo About Nothing.'"

ACTIVITIES
Do You Know

That the libraries of Emory University contain 70,000 bound volumes besides numerous unbound pamphlets and newspaper files?

That the Lamar School of Law is the only member of the American Association of Law Schools within this State?

That the first chapter of a national fraternity to be established in the South was the Emory chapter of the Mystic Seven in 1841?

That the first fraternity house in Georgia was maintained by an Emory chapter?

That Emory possesses the most complete and valuable collection of Wesleyana in America?

That the Egyptian-Babylonian Museum of Emory University is unequalled in the South?

That forty-two loan funds are available to Emory students?

That the Emory Base Hospital Unit cared for more than 7,000 sick and wounded soldiers during the war with a mortality of less than two per cent?

That Emory has furnished the world with 3,275 physicians?

That the heads of the two universities of the Southern Methodist Episcopal Church are Emory men?

Realizing that the prestige of the Lamar School was steadily growing, and having at heart the advancement of the interests of the Law School and the University, a group of students in this department of the University came together and formed the organization known as Phi Delta Psi.

This organization is a local, honorary Legal Fraternity, requirements for membership being based on scholastic attainments, and has as its object the promotion of scholarship in the Law School and good fellowship amongst the students.

Asklepios

A Medical Honor Society Founded in the School of Medicine of Emory University

May 9, 1917

"Asklepios" is a non-secret medical honor society, membership to which is based entirely on scholarship, moral qualifications being satisfactory. It has the definite mission of encouraging high ideals of thought and action in the School of Medicine, to promote the best in professional practice, and to encourage medical research. But one-fifth of the membership of the Senior Class may be elected, and only one-half of this number may be elected from the Junior Class, but not before the last half of that year.

Alpha Epsilon Upsilon

Founded 1907

Devoted to the ideals of that high scholarship that lingers on the shores of knowledge to discern the light of wisdom and feel the refreshing breezes of the truth that can not die, the Alpha Epsilon Upsilon has during the fourteen years since its foundation at Emory College in 1907 by William Landor Weber, built up a membership of over fifty of the leading graduates of Emory. The founder intended that this society should, by rewarding with membership those who attain certain high standards, be an incentive to intellectual endeavor, and by uniting in fellowship those who earn distinction give them inspiration. These objects have been gained, and in order to extend the influence and increase the appeal we hope ultimately to become a chapter of the national scholarship organization, the Phi Beta Kappa. A re-organization of the A. E. U. took place in 1921, in order to give it a broader influence and appeal. At the 1921 meeting the following men were elected on a scholarship basis:

Class of 1921

Ulric Bannister Bray
Hunter Seaborn Bell
Edwin Jessup Grimes
William Powell Jones

Class of 1922

Charles Bowie Millican
John Pitts Corry
Harold Kirby, Jr.

Members in college elected on scholarship include also Prof. J. G. Stipe, Prof. G. C. White, D. P. Melson, and Lester Rumble. In addition all Emory graduates and Phi Beta Kappa men on the faculty have been elected honorary members. These include:

Bishop W. A. Candler

Much of the credit for Emory's showing in the second annual road race should without doubt go to Coach Colonel “Track” Smathers, the man of many deserving monikers and the man who is the real power behind the throne in Emory's athletic ability. Coach Smathers came to Emory as Director of Athletics when Emory, athletically speaking, was a nonentity in the sport circles of the South; his brain and activity were sensitive to the things that count, and he nursed the weakling until much latent ability came to light and Emory has taken her place beside the best of 'em in track circles.

Two victories over Southern Methodist colleges lie for the most part on his ability as a coach, and who knows just how many more are tucked up his sleeve? Emory finished dangerously close to Tech in the general track meet last spring and “Track” is planning to make it more dangerous when the shot is fired once more.

Emory is justly proud of “Track's” achievements and is glad to have him as her coach, and furthermore will back him with all the energy possible whatever he undertakes for the good of the University.

Intercollegiate Road Race

The Second Annual Southern Methodist Intercollegiate Road Race, which was staged at Emory, December 3, resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Gold and Blue. The entire Emory first team, consisting of Captain Stokes, Harper, Sanford came in first, second, third and fourth, respectively.

The home talent proved very conclusively, for the second successive time, its superiority over the other Methodist schools of the South. If the Coca Cola boys can manage to win premier honors once more, the cup will be kept by them as a permanent possession.

Each of the six teams represented entered a team of four men, the final score being as follows: Emory, 10; Wofford, 39; Birmingham-Southern, 54; Trinity, 60; Millsaps, 64; Randolph-Macon, 73.

Captain Stokes traversed the four-mile course in the record time of 22:12, which was a great improvement over the previous year. By winning out in this race, the Emory captain has the distinction of being not only long distance champion of the Southeastern A. A. U., but of the Southern Methodist colleges, also.

The sponsors, who wore the Gold and Blue of the victorious team were Miss Bertie O’Neil, of Atlanta; Miss Margaret Wilkerson, of Rome; Miss Henrietta Oliver, of Cox College.

At the conclusion of the track season, the following men were awarded stars: Stokes, White, J. B. Mitchell, Van Buren, Pearce, Brandon and Manager McFadden. The following men won the coveted "E": Captain Rochelle, Liebman, Beasley, Montgomery, W. P. Jones, Harper, Turner, Powell, Henley, J. C. Harvard and Burns.
Track

By G. R. Mitchell

For the past year, 1920-'21, Emory has made a wonderful showing in her one intercollegiate sport—track. The Annual State Track Meet, which was held on Emory's newly constructed cinder track, resulted as follows: Tech, 70; Emory, 48; University of Georgia, 27; Oglethorpe, 11; Piedmont, 9.

Considering Emory's comparatively recent advent into track circles, the record is one of which we might be justly proud. Coach Smathers used every honest means to get the men out for track, and succeeded in developing an unusually good squad of cinder path artists. Interest in track was encouraged by a Track Carnival, under the direction of Coach, which proved to be highly successful. Various organizations, classes, schools, etc., of the university competed against each other, with the result that several good track men were found.

Emory's representatives in the Tennis meet, which was held in conjunction with the State event, divided honors with Tech. Our singles man, Jack Simpson, was defeated in the finals by Blake, of Tech, but our doubles team, composed of Warren and Pope, won the State championship by subduing both Tech and Georgia.
Tennis Resume

By G. R. Mitchell

Tennis at Emory during the spring of 1921 proved to be unusually successful. Not only did many of the students gain some recreation on the four courts on the campus, but the University gained a large amount of prestige because of the superiority of the Gold and Blue racket wielders.

The first tournament of the season was held for the purpose of determining Emory's representatives in the State meet. This event, which occasioned much interest among the players and among the tennis enthusiasts in school, was directed by Coach Dewey and Manager Bell. Of course, many of our aspiring Tildens turned out to try for the honor of representing the Coca Cola School against the other colleges of the State. After many gruelling and hair-raising contests, Jack Simpson came out ahead. The next nine men finished in the order named: Pope, Thomas, R. H. Bennett, Silver, Jenkins, Kauffman, Quillian, Harvard, Corry. "Bill" Warren. Emory's former singles and doubles champion, was prevented from entering the tournament on account of afternoon classes. By mutual consent of all concerned, it was decided that Emory's doubles team should be composed of Warren and Pope. Simpson was the singles entry. Thomas was substitute.

In the State meet, Emory's players covered their Alma Mater and themselves with glory. Tech, Georgia, Oglethorpe and Emory entered teams. Blake, of Tech, won the singles title by defeating Simpson in the final round, the scores being 8-6, 7-5, 6-1. Blake drew a bye in the first round, as Oglethorpe did not enter a man in the singles. Simpson, of Emory, defeated Fort, of Georgia, in the first round in two hard-fought sets, 8-6, 7-5.

In the doubles, Emory was more fortunate. Hester and O'Neal finally fell before the victorious onslaught of the Hillbillies, giving the doubles championship to Pope and Warren. The scores, 7-5, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, show that this match well deserved the appellation of "humdinger." In the first round, Pope and Warren defeated Williamson and Cappelman, of Tech, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Hester and O'Neal defeated Dobbs and Campbell, of Oglethorpe, 6-2, 6-2.

After the State meet, a school championship tourney was held in order to determine the best players at Emory. Twenty-five men, from all departments of the university, entered the event, which turned out to be highly exciting. Jack Simpson was crowned champion when he defeated Lavern Thomas 6-2, 6-3, 7-5. One of the most interesting matches of the tournament was played between Simpson and Corry in the semi-finals. The formerly finally triumphed over Corry, 6-4, 6-8, 9-7, 6-2. These two men combined in the doubles and won the school championship after a hectic struggle. They defeated Pope and Quillian in the finals, 9-7, 6-1, 6-2. Other doubles teams showing up unusually well were Silver-Kauffman and Thomas-Bennett alliances.

At the conclusion of the season, letters were awarded Simpson, Warren, Pope and Corry.

Varsity Football Team

A. B. Clarke

“A. B.” played with the Seniors last year, and won his letter as one of the best guards of that year. This year he played with the “Preachers,” and made even a better record than he did last year.

A. S. Hatcher

This tall young man, Freshman, too, won his letter alongside a host of other letter winners of the victorious Freshman-Sophomore team. It seems that he is destined to make an enviable record at Emory as a football player.

W. H. Jones

Jones is another Freshman who won the honor of wearing the coveted “E” his first year. He was a great asset to the winning team.

C. N. Mars

Mars was the plucky center of the Freshman-Sophomore team, and naturally enough mixed up in practically every play. He has the spirit of “fight to the end,” and of “determination to win.”

Dupree Parker

“Jack” is another “new boy” who has won his way into local football fame. We prophesy that he will leave behind him a good record as an athlete.

George Waters

Thin, but ah how quick, alert, and precise! George played with the unlucky “Preachers,” but he always played with a winning spirit. His ability to catch passes is all but miraculous.

S. D. Walters

“Doug” still has the reputation of being the hardest working man on the field. It seems that he spent the major portion of his time this season recovering the ball when fumbled by his teammates.

Ebert VanBuren

Although Van has been playing only two years, he acts as if he has played from his youth up. He has the strength of a giant, the appearance of a veteran, and the poise of a star.
Varsity Football Team

Mack Anthony

Mack proved his ability as a football player last year when he was one of the greatest forces in bringing the pennant to the Sophomores. Many acclaim him the best all around man on the gridiron at Emory.

J. B. Baum

Baum is one of the best-natured and most sincere football men who has ever worn the good old "E". He was the battering ram of the "Lawyers," the object of Red Talley's "Boomeo," and the delight of all local pigskin fans.

S. S. Bennett

We don't know just exactly why he is called "Spinx," but we do know that the connection between his toe, the ball, and the goal was as "nigh perfect" as we ever saw such connection. He contributed much to the team work of the Lawyers.

M. F. Beals

Beals, the third member of the letter winners from the Law School Team, certainly played a very pretty game throughout the entire season. He worked hard and with precision.

A. W. Beasley

This young man, who won his letter last year, still believes in shifting the scene of action all over the field. Speed and punting are his special methods of obtaining this shift.

S. R. Brown

Brown hails from N. G. A. College, where he won two letters, and from Emory University Academy, where he won a letter also. He was the Captain of the "pennant winning" aggregation, the Freshman-Sophomores.

W. E. Callahan

Callahan won his letter last year at left end, but was shifted this year to the backfield, where he proved himself equally as good as he was on the line. "Bill" is as nifty a football player as we ever see on our gridiron.
Football 1921

We have learned from watching the football games of the 1921 season that the word "football" is applied to the same game here at Emory that it is applied to at other colleges in the United States. We positively have the material for a winning team,—a team of which no university would be ashamed. One would say after seeing the broken field running of Beasley, that defensive work and pluck of Doug Walters, those inevitable tackles of Baum, and those forward pass miracles of Waters, "Boys, I know where to put my money."

There were four teams in the race for the pennant, two from the school of liberal arts—the Freshman-Sophomore and the Junior-Senior, one from the School of Law, and one from the School of Theology. In the beginning the dope was all in favor of the Junior-Seniors, their backfield being composed entirely of letter men, and having some veteran linemen, too. The Freshman-Sophomores could not be spotted, as practically all of their material was either new or unknown, but they soon showed that they were the fastest and most enthusiastic players in school. The lawyers put into the field with pep, being captured by a football star of Oxford days, Tom Harmon. Their team got better the more it played, and it had in its ranks one Spink Bennett, who is reported to have spent one whole afternoon trying to miss a drop kick from the forty-yard line. The Theologues were at a continual disadvantage on account of the repeated disablement of some of their best and hardest fighters. But that famous brand of pep known as Theological pep was always present in great abundance, and many are the scares that their team put to an over-ambitious rival. So the field was about evenly matched, and the grid-iron was the scene of some hard, nip-and-tuck battles, and Emory witnessed its greatest football season, before the Freshman-Sophomores finally carried home the rag.

There was a splendid spirit of good-fellow rivalry prevalent, and the players would hit their man hard and then help him to get up. We all laughed together when the Fresh-Sophs all tried to see who could make Baum grunt; when the Lawyers drank up all the Holy Water of the Theologues; when Track (we are speaking of the four-footed beast) ran interference for both sides.

We've got some good players; we've got some fine coaches; we've got some splendid rooters (note my blushes) to supply the pep; and all we want is—well, football is a good old game.
Varsity Basket-Ball Team

ALDRIDGE

A former Trinity star, and a man who made the Medical School’s quintet a real contender for the championship. His playing of forward made him one of the most valuable men the all-Emory squad had.

DOROUGH

Roving around was the peculiar pastime of "Gus." His opponent usually headed toward "Gus’s" goal too late to stop him. Gus was a steady man and one who knew the game.

M. H. WATERS

Randolph-Macon has played some fast basketball, as was demonstrated by their speedy representative, Waters. His speed and fight made him the biggest asset the Theological School had.

PUCKETT

An overseas veteran and a veteran of many a basket-ball encounter was Puckett. A good sport, a hard player, and a real fellow marked Puckett’s career during the entire season.
Varsity Basket-Ball Team

POPE

Elusive, roving, and speedy are the only appellations fit to apply to a man who played the floor as Pope did. Showing his old form, Pope played a game worthy of more room in which to display his wares.

SIMPSON

This was Jack’s debut in the realms of college ball, but he gave such a good account of himself as a forward on the Liberal Arts team that he was a very close second in the number of points made during the entire season. A sophomore in college, but a veteran of the basket-ball court made Jack a stellar place on the a.i-x.mory team.

DICK BENNETT

“Sir Richard,” a guard without a contender in the university, made Dick probably the most valuable man the Liberal Arts quintet had. Dick was captain of his team and led it undefeated through the entire season.

OASTLER

Tossing the ball with all seeming nonchalance, “Tommy” made shots from many different angles. At the end of the season he was ranked as the leading point getter.
Basket Ball

Season 1920-1921

The close of the 1920-1921 basket-ball season marked one of the most successful in the history of the University. Games were not played in the inter-class series, as had been the established precedent prevailing in the good old Oxford days, but were played on the intracollegiate program as adopted by the athletic council. This included four teams, representing four distinct schools, namely: Liberal Arts, Law, Medical, and Theological.

The games were played on the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. courts, to the tune of "Coca Cola School," furnished by the ever loyal Emory Band. There was always demonstrated a spirit of clean fight and good sportsmanship, which has always marked the Emory spirit of fair play and plenty of it.

Major honors went to the Liberal Arts quintet, but the other teams seemed to always threaten. As the curtain fell on the most successful and enjoyable cage season Emory has ever enjoyed, the Liberal Arts team presented an unbroken chain of victories. The Medical School ran a very close second, losing to the Liberal Arts only, and even though the Lawyers and Preachers tied for third honor, there was never a doubt that the two teams were putting all they had into the game. In fact these teams developed men who played on the Varsity team and were awarded the much coveted "E."

The class of basket-ball played during the entire season was exceptionally good, and sport fans and even critics would be glad to see the Emory Varsity given a chance to demonstrate that it could play intercollegiate ball with the best of teams. It is the hope of Emory men that a team will represent them in the broadened fields of intercollegiate competition in the near future. In this event, basket-ball would probably be one of the first fields opened.

The letter men follow:

O. H. Daniel
Pitcher Gainey—a world of speed and very consistent.
Pitcher Johnson—plenty of stuff and great headwork.
Catcher Stokes—one of the neatest little peggers in the game.
Catcher Bush—works his pitchers like a veteran.
First Base Kilpatrick—with his exceptional reach and batting ability was the choice for the initial sack.
Second Base Hunter Bell—showed the same stuff he's shown ever since he has been at Emory—“nuff sed.”
S. S. Copeland—a jam-up fielder and a nifty little hitter.
Third Base Dillard—one of the heavy hitters and a fielder of no mean ability.
L. F. Munn—held his field in real veteran style, showing all the necessary requirements.
C. F. Whittaker—carried off the batting honors of the team with the mean average of .615, and fielded in jam-up style.
R. F. Beasley—a fast fielder and a heady base runner.
Utility Bennet—a heavy hitter with ability to play any position with comparative ease.
Baseball Season 1921

The baseball season of 1921 saw without a doubt the fastest baseball that Emory University has ever seen. Every position on the mythical "All Emory" was hotly contested by men of real ability when it comes to showing stuff on the diamond. The Medical students won the rag after several narrow escapes in many a close game. This team was composed almost entirely of stars, from several Southern Colleges. The Junior-Seniors came second after putting up a stiff fight. This team was noted for its remarkable team work as nearly all the men had played together for three seasons before.

The redoubtable Lawyers came third in the race. This team had several good men, but was handicapped for want of a catcher. The Sophomores played in hard luck, losing some of the season's best games by a lone score. The Freshman and Theologues were left to scrap over the cellar position, the decision going to the Freshmen.

With the Home Town Papers

The college set will be joined in its post-commencement gaieties by Mr. Bowie Millican, who has recently graduated from Emory University, where he was a sergeant in the R. O. T. C., Editor of The Emory Squeal, and a popular member of the B. V. D. Club.—The Springville Babble.

* * * *

Dr. Roger W. Dickson was a surprise visitor to his home town yesterday and spent the whole day greeting former friends who have watched with pride his rise in the medical world. Although recently graduated from Emory, Dr. Dickson had to rush at once to Boston, where he will take charge of the Massachusetts General Hospital.—The Fitzgerald Fizz.

* * * *

One of the last members of the college set to reach home was Mr. Wylie Rochelle, of Emory University. He will have as his guest for a few days Mr. George Williams, one of his classmates. Messrs. Rochelle and Williams came from Atlanta in their new Rolls-Rawoyster and report a pleasant trip. While at Emory these two young men wrote a book, The Emory Wampus, which is one of the best sellers on the market. —The Westmoreland Banner.

* * * *

Hon. Archie B. Austin, of Atlanta, was a visitor to the Herald office last week. A. B., as his old friends here still know him, is postmaster there, and as a side line has just finished a course in Emory University. We always predicted that there was something in that young man, and we are glad to get his tips on how to run a newspaper. He says that there are three of them in Atlanta.—The Wingo Herald.

* * * *

The Reverend Earl G. Hamlett was a visitor to friends here last week. Most of us knew Dr. Hamlett as a boy, and we are glad to have him with us again. He has recently completed the theological course at Emory. This course is designed to train bishops for the Methodist Church.—The Water Valley Telegram.
Louis Alexander Falligant, Major, U. S. A.,
Professor of Military Science and Tactics.
THE year 1921-'22 has been a successful one for the R. O. T. C. Battalion, both from the standpoint of the Government and the results obtained for the University. The Emory Battalion, like all other units, had to pass through a period of organization and primary development. It has now passed that stage and bids fair to rival the units of the larger colleges of the Southland. The outlook for 1922-'23 is bright and the prospects for a four hundred membership are good. It is our earnest hope that war will never again cast its dark shadow across our country, but if war does come, then it will be the high privilege of old Emory to boast that her sons were ready for the work of leadership of America's legions when the nation is called.

Debate Resume

The debating season of 1921-22 has been highly successful for Emory. More intercollegiate debates have taken place this year than in any previous year of Emory's splendid debating history. The traditions of old Emory were ably upheld by nine of her sons in these debates. It was remarkable to see the high quality of the debates and the splendid ability of the opposing teams.

On January 16th, 1922, a try-out was held to decide upon the men who would represent Emory. The judges ranked the men numerically according to the ability shown by each. The men selected were present at a meeting of the Debate Council on February 10th, and at that time chose, in the order of their rank, the debates they wished to take part in.

Four debates were held, two being at Emory and two away. Teams of two men each debated with the University of Mississippi, Millsaps College, and Mercer University. Three men were on each side of a debate with Trinity College.

The debate between the University of Mississippi and Emory was held at Oxford, Miss., on the night of May 6th, 1922. J. N. Barnett, Jr., and Ralph Williams represented Emory. The subject of the debate was, "Resolved, That the Federal Government should enact legislation embodying the principles of the Kansas Industrial Court law for the settlement of industrial disputes in public utilities."

On the night of April 12th, three men from Trinity College debated Emory on the subject, "Resolved, That the Japanese should be admitted as immigrants to the United States on the same conditions as the Europeans." The Emory men who upheld the affirmative side of this question were Leroy Mandle, Henry Bullock, and E. M. Wise.

A debate with Millsaps College was held at Emory in the latter part of April. W. S. Sawyer and S. M. Kelley, represented Emory on the affirmative side of the subject, "Resolved, That the open shop policy in industry would be for the best interests of the country."

A debate between Mercer University and Emory was held at Bessie Tift College, Forsyth, Georgia, on the night of April 27th. The subject was, "Resolved, That the Japanese should be admitted as immigrants to the United States under the same conditions as the Europeans." J. L. Jenkins and J. M. Ellis upheld the affirmative side for Emory.

The Debate Council is looking forward to next year with bright expectations and has already scheduled a debate with Mississippi at Emory and one with Trinity at Durham.

C. A. Rose,
Secretary Debate Council.
Southern Maidens
Who doth not know, of a dreary day,
Through the murk of rain and darkling gray?
How the soul is warmed by the healing ray
From some sweet face that makes the street
A place where emperors might meet
More glory in her passing there
Than all the lords of empire share:
Most fitting, then, that as her dower
The hearts of men should prize this flower
So higher than the rose.

And who shall tell the destinies
That lurk within a maiden's eyes,
Or hear within her whispered rime
The gamut of all future time?
Yet sure 'tis true that lovely faces
Are but symbols of those graces
That make our greatest claim to good
Close bound up in her sisterhood:
Most fitting, then, that as her dower
The hearts of men should prize this flower—
The fairest that God grows.

Miss Frank Byers
Woman's College of Alabama
Dooley's Diary

SEPT. 28, 1921. Cries of “New Boy” and the accompanying noises of Freshmen have aroused me from a summer of delightful hibernation, and I give to the old men a hearty word of recognition and admonish them to welcome the new specimens and to make real Emory men of them. Graveyard’s force working overtime.

SEPT. 29. New men see the “sights” in Atlanta, specializing on Peachtree. School formally opened by Bish. Everybody happy!

SEPT. 30. Reported largest registration in history of University.

OCT. 5. Freshmen “Meds” meet me (Dooley) in close acquaintance. They look good.

OCT. 7. Five Service Stars illumine the Service Flag of the Sophomore Class.

OCT. 12. “Vig” is busy. All Freshmen don new caps to “enjoy permanent health” on Emory campus.

OCT. 25. Students and Faculty favor increased athletic program. Petitions good!

OCT. 27. Students and Faculty favor increased athletic program. Petitions submitted to Trustees.

R. O. T. C. joins other schools and veterans in parade for Pres. Warren Harding.

NOV. 7. Williams and Rochelle conduct the annual “Get-your-picture-took for the Campus” campaign. Clean collars at a premium.

NOV. 11. Armistice Day observed on Emory campus.

NOV. 15. Emory student body adjourns to meet at Agnes Scott “Stunt Night.” Congratulations, Miss Agnes! Excellent program.

NOV. 18. Emory University Stunt Night is unprecedented success. Dr. Dewey well pleased with showing of Glee Club and Skits.

NOV. 21. Fresh-Soph football team wins league championship. Chi Phis entertain with open house.

NOV. 22. Dr. H. C. Gossard, regional director of the Y. M. C. A, lectures on “The Devastated Regions of the World War.”

NOV. 26. Dr. Edwin E. Sparks speaks to students.

NOV. 29. Glee Club leaves for Florida and South Georgia tour.

DEC. 9. Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch visited Emory in a tour of the United States. The university drapes herself in flags and buntings to show her respect to the world hero. R. O. T. C. acts as escort, and does homage to allied commander. Even Dooley is thrilled.

Dec. 12. Everybody begins boning for examinations. Three months' work to do in a week. Midnight oil burns until daybreak. Most of the men wish they had not spent quite so much time at Nunnally's and with "HER." The thrill of finishing a term's work and of going home, however, partly compensates for the fear of the bug-a-boo of little knowledge. Freshman metal is tested under fire.

Jan. 1, 1922. Most of the old Emory men decide not to make New Year's resolutions, but to patch up some of the old ones, making them do. The enthusiastic Freshmen make plumb new ones.

Jan. 2. Pipes, cigars, dates, and a spirit of general nonchalance call off the new resolutions and break the patches in the old ones.

Jan. 4. B. F. Sims, one of the most promising freshmen in the university, has a very serious accident. A shadow is cast over the university; several fellow students give blood to help save the life of their mate.

Jan. 7. Basketball season opens on Wesley Memorial Courts. Several articles lost—or possessors otherwise relieved of them. Dame Rumor has it that "Dick" Lester and George Waters advocate a court on the campus.

Jan. 10. Tom Dillard in Obstetrics Clinic shows signs of becoming a master obstetrician.

Jan. 12. It is reported at a meeting of the Madame Rumor Club that Miss Maud Harris and "Teddy" Jack engaged in a snow battle. The faculty suffered casualties.

Jan. 17. Fashions are ever changing. "Uke" Reeves is seen with a basketball team on his upper lip. You're next, Dave.

Jan. 23. Born to Emory University, ten "Babies," all freshmen.

Jan. 24. Hares and Hounds breeze out, beginning the spring track training. They look like real runners and Dooley is pleased over the prospects.

Jan. 27. "Doc" Duncan wins cut glass fly-swatter.

Jan. 28. Ben Hill talks five minutes today without mentioning his girl, his Lizzie, or last night's party.

Feb. 2. "European Meals" are to be served from the Mess Hall and money saved will be appropriated to aid students in war stricken Europe.

Feb. 13. Emory Glee Club begins invasion of Alabama. Several of the boys are captured.

Feb. 14. Even sedate Emory men play at the game of hearts as St. Valentine invades the sanctum sanctorium of the students.

Feb. 15. Dr. Edwin E. Sparks, of Penn State, speaks at Emory on "Old Hickory Jackson."

Feb. 22. Birthday of George Washington is celebrated. Demosthenes and Patrick Henry have nothing on Dr. Ashby Jones, Jack Corry, C. M. Fisher and Lorenzo Whitaker.
Feb. 23. Coca-Cola singers begin a spell of recuperation from Alabama tour. Ain't Cupid capricious?

March 1. Rowe entertains Soph. Med. Class. Leo, that was an interesting autopsy.

March 11. Mr. Asa G. Candler is elected honorary president of the Athletic Association. He dons the new "E" sweater awarded him and makes a great speech.

March 15. "Fatty" Ray trips lightly across the library. A freshman in Alabama Hall wants to know if "it" is an earthquake.

March 18. Miss "Polly" Faust takes Mr. Asa G. Candler to the show of the Glee Club. The Constitution, the first (?) paper in Atlanta to have a broadcasting instrument, gives DIXIE the benefit of the concert of "The South's Sweetest Singers."

March 23. Photographer takes picture of Law school athletic team. Dave was absent. Bet he was sick.

March 26. Can't you beat it? "Ikey" Pharr stops studying long enuf to eat his lunch.

March 28. Wesleyan Glee and Mandolin Club at Emory. Bill Watkins attends, sits on front row, and equips himself with a pair of opera glasses. N'est-ce pas?

March 29. "Doc" Duncan wins another fly-swatter.

March 30. Dr. Shelton dubs Stokes a "Whang."

April 1. All fools' day. Most of the men remain in.

April 10. Charles B. (oozy) goes ROMEing again.

April 11. Spring suits, spring hats, spring flowers, and spring showers, every-thing elastic but the unstable dollar.

April 16. Emory goes to church. Girls will be girls, and boys like to look at pretty new clothes and new Easter bonnets.

April 18. Cochran displays his Easter suit—pointing to a new cap.

April 25. "Red" Sheffer asks the meaning of the expression "Lady Day." Strange to say, when he learns the definition, his interest is suddenly directed elsewhere.

April 26. Will someone please tell Ed. Field the meaning of Labor?

May 1. A cloud looms upon the horizon. Exams are close at hand, everybody gets serious, and even Charlie Culpepper shows signs of being something more than a frivolous freshman.

May 10. May Days are numerous. Rumors of invitations to Washington Seminary, Miss Agnes', etc., fill and thrill; but those blooming exams.

May 12. The Emory Campus just off the press. Guess I'll have to stop here and wish all my nephews and my few nieces the best of times during vacation.

Your uncle,

DOOLEY.
Eve:—"Close your eyes, Adam, I'm coming home."
Adam:—"Why?"
Eve:—"I've been A. W. O. L."

ASSOCIATED PRESS.

"May I print a kiss on your lips?" he said,
And she nodded her sweet permission.
So we went to press, and I rather guess
We printed a large edition.
"But one edition is hardly enough,"
She said with a charming pout,
So again in the press the form was placed,
And we got some "extras" out.

Father (arriving unexpectedly at son's rooming house at school):—"Does Mr. Jinx live here?"
Landlady:—"Yes, bring him in."

He:—"Well, I guess I will kiss you good-night until tomorrow."
She:—"Oh, no, George, I couldn't hold my breath that long, and besides I have got to go inside in ten minutes."

Absence makes the marks grow rounder.

"The College Publication House"

has become a familiar figure with editors and business managers throughout the South. "A trip through our plant" gives a picture of the growth of their Annual, Magazine, etc., from its beginning in the Engraving Department on through the Composing Department, Press Room, Bindery and to the Shipping Room. It is a pleasure to conduct these tours, and we are anxious to have all our friends become acquainted with the mechanical end of their publication work.

"The College Publication House"

specializes in everything pertaining to College Publications, including Annuals, Catalogs, Magazines, Booklets, Newspapers, Calendars, Programs, etc. Departments composed of experts in this line assure co-operation in compilation as well as excellent mechanical treatment.
