Near Villa Rica, in Carroll County, Georgia, Asa Griggs Candler was born December 30, 1851, the son of Samuel Charles and Martha Beall Candler.

The Campus

1930
As a small boy young Candler watched with intense interest the forming of the armies of the South, and his natural love for his section and his State was intensified by the havoc he witnessed in the years when Georgia lay prostrate before the armies of her conquerors.
Candler's school-days were spent in the shadow of Reconstruction and when he was prepared for entrance into the junior class of the University of his State, grim economic necessity compelled him to turn instead to gainful occupations.
In Gratitude
In Affection
In Loving Remembrance

The Editors of The Campus, on behalf of the Student Body and the Sons of Emory throughout the World, dedicate this Volume XXXVIII to the Cherished Memory of

Asa Griggs Candler
1851 – 1929

Christian Gentleman
Lover of His Fellow-Man
Benefactor of This University
The young man was filled with a keen desire to serve his people as a physician. Denied the chance for medical education, he nevertheless continued his studies and soon apprenticed himself to a druggist in Cartersville, Georgia.

FOREWORD

When Memories grow dim with passing years, may the Campus of 1930 ever be a medium through which, in retrospect, pleasant remembrances shall carry us back to re-live the happy days spent at Emory. Mindful that the joyous experiences, the opportunities to acquire knowledge in preparation for future life were made possible by the philanthropic influence of Asa Griggs Candler, we have endeavored to intermingle with these pages of college life a sketch of the career of that noble character, that it may serve as a lasting tribute to him, as well as become a source of inspiration to those who would seek an ideal in living lives of glory and honor.
While engaged as a druggist’s clerk, Candler profited by the opportunity to acquire a splendid knowledge of drugs, and this knowledge proved to be the turning point in his life and the beginning of his great fortune.
Atlanta, the capital city of the State, rising from the ashes of the War, bursting with new life and opportunities, now beckoned the young man, and in 1873, with his possessions in a carpet bag, he turned to the growing city, which was to be thereafter his pride and his joy and the place in which his highly altruistic spirit could exert itself for the good of his fellow-man.

NURSES
The aim is to promote and maintain the highest educational and professional standards in connection with our training and to secure for the school, the hospital, and the home, the best effort of which each student is capable—to promote and encourage all enterprises which tend to make the school more progressive and to improve living conditions in the home—to create a sense of unity, responsibility and fellowship among the women of the school, and to center social activities in the home—to regulate all matters of personal conduct on the part of the students in the home, the school and the hospital.

1929-1930 finds Wesley Memorial School of Nursing undergoing the experience that any institution of its kind must bear in establishing Student Government. Officers were elected in the fall of 1929, and a council composed of the officers and chairmen of committees was formed. Aside from the honorary aspects of council and committee memberships many duties attach themselves to the student leaders in regulating student affairs. The committees and their chairmen are as follows:

Jennie Mae Culp, Chairman
Jack Ross, Chairman
Margaret Currie, Chairman
Lois Pickens, Chairman
Claudia Mitchell, Chairman
Helen Jackson, Chairman
Doris Moore
Louise Abbott

The officers of the Student Government Association are:

Ossie Bailey, President

Winter—Birches
While actively engaged in the drug business, Asa G. Candler purchased the secret formula of Coca-Cola and recognizing at once its great value, he devoted long hours of research as a chemist to the improvement and perfection of the formula. With the organization of the Coca-Cola Company, the foundation of his great fortune was laid and he was thus afforded the opportunity, with increasing wealth, to exercise his altruistic ideals.

LECTURES

The Student Lecture Association brought to Emory University during 1929-1930 some of the finest speakers, who spoke on very interesting subjects, that have ever been heard on the Campus. The work of this group is highly commendable, and the vast improvements in their program each year serve as an advancement of Emory's purpose to be a competent institution of learning.

In time of great crisis, the citizens of Atlanta, without reference to partisan alignments, called Mr. Candler, against his wishes, to the mayoralty of the city, and as a result of his wise leadership, Atlanta successfully met its difficulties and emerged as a better and a stronger city.

The act which above all others has immortalized his name was his first great gift to Emory, the gift which made the University in Atlanta possible. Always a devoted supporter of education and the church, he poured out his wealth lavishly in support of these two institutions. In a very real sense Mr. Candler may be called the Founder of the University.

ATHLETICS
Athletic Council

Control of athletics at Emory is vested in the Athletic Council, which is composed of representatives elected from the various schools, the managers of the several sports, and the faculty committee on athletics.

The Council has a constitution by which it is governed, and, according to its content, all of the details of the athletic program are administered.

Football

Under the efficient supervision of J. L. Harris, Manager; Wallace Watson and Cecil Heiner, Assistants, the managerial end of the football season was exceptionally well handled, and the games were played under conditions which were much more favorable than they have ever been before. Wallace Watson has been chosen to succeed J. L. Harris as manager for the coming season. Several improvements were made during the football season which are worthy of note. The goal posts were painted white, making them easily visible. Red flags were placed on the goal lines at the corners of the field, making the games easier to play and easier to follow. Signs designating the yard lines were placed along the sides of the field. Heavy rope lines were erected on both sides of the field to prevent interference in the "laying by the spectators. An impartial referee was secured to officiate at all of the games.

As for the coaching, the four teams were as evenly balanced as they possibly could have been. Each of the coaches must be commended for his untiring efforts to make his team victor in the close competition which marked the 1929 football season. Up until the last week of the season, three of the four teams were engaged in a race in which each had a chance to emerge victor or co-victor of the championship. The other team, the Rats, were always considered dangerous, and nearly upset things when they defeated the Seniors, 7 to 0 at the start of the second round.

The Coaches of the various teams were:

Prof. J. B. Peebles ................ Sophomores

EMORY CHAMPIONS

Aided by several stars from the Medical School who were allowed to play with the Senior team, the Seniors brought their football careers at Emory to a glorious close by winning the championship in a race that was not decided until the final whistle of the last game of the season.

"Hub" Michaelis captained his classmates in their victorious campaign, and by playing a good, consistent game at the center position was veritably the hub of the championship team. Prof. E. H. Rece, as coach, was another important factor in the success of the Senior squad.

Opening with an impressive 25 to 0 win over the Freshmen, the Seniors were favorites in the competition from the start. But not until Bobby Sledd intercepted a forward pass and returned it 20 yards for a touchdown in the last few minutes of the final game with the Juniors, giving his team a 12 to 0 victory, was the title assured.

Two veterans of the football campaigns for the past four years were chosen from the Seniors as All-Emory lettermen. They are Bobby Sledd, who plays guard, and Jack Stone, tackle.

Elton Bolton
Junior Football Team

Having won the championship as Sophomores, the Juniors came back this year with their ranks depleted by the loss of such stars as Sam Becher, Buck Jaudon, Carl Lewis, Murl Hagood, Ad Smith, Raymond Cole, Mac Debele and Bob Woodward, but in spite of this, they put in a strong bid for the title again, losing their opportunity only when the Seniors eked out a victory over them in the closing game of the year.

Coach Bob Tyler spent his third season with this group of players, having coached the Class of '31 gridders for three consecutive years. Captain Dumas also worked with Mr. Tyler in building the Junior squad.

No captain was elected for the entire season, a different man being appointed for each game. Harry Lange was called more often than any other player so he may be deemed the leader of the squad.

Juniors who were awarded letters at the close of the season were Harry Lange, Roy Sellers, Tig Thrasher and Garland Paulk.

Buck Williams       Tackle
Sophomore Football Team

Bolstered by the addition of Claude Quillian and Gene Griffin, newcomers at Emory, and by new candidates like Ed Crawford, the Sophs made all kinds of trouble for their opponents, and finished as runners-up in the race.

Oliver Puckett, the devastating tackle, captained the squad, and set a good example by playing a fine game throughout the season. Prof. J. B. Peebles, who has probably been coaching Emory football teams longer than any other man, directed the activities of the team, and turned out the group which was probably the best-drilled aggregation on the campus.

The Sophomores scored seven touchdowns, one extra point after touchdown, and one safety, to lead the team scoring for the season with 45 points, two more than the Seniors gathered. Their biggest single triumph was the 25 to 0 licking they administered to the Rats.

Five Sophs made the All-Emory Team. They were Oliver Puckett, Gene Griffin, Eddie McIlwain, Claude Quillian and Scott Hogg.

J. E. Greene    End
The class of 1932 made a very favorable debut in Emory football. In the first half of the season, they lost to the Seniors, 25 to 0, tied the Juniors, 6-6, and lost to the Sophomores, 25 to 0. However, they showed a complete reversal of form in the second half, handing the Seniors their only defeat of the season, the score being 7 to 0. They lost to the Juniors, 6 to 0, and to the Sophs, 8 to 0, but the glory of their victory over the Champion Seniors was not dimmed.

Tom Law, the most brilliant individual player on the squad, made a fine captain, and led his team in spirit as well as in action.

Coach J. G. Lester, one of the old stand-bys of Emory football, was in charge of the training of the Rat squad, and had a well-drilled team at the end of the season.

As a result of their steady playing, Tom Law, Milton Camp and Russell Bridges won their letters in their first season at Emory.

The All-Emory Football Team

BOBBY SLEDD, Seniors—Guard

The toughest guard in school, that's Bobby's title. He has played in every game since the middle of his Freshman year, without a substitute and with but one time out. He brought his career to a fitting close by intercepting a Junior pass and racing twenty yards to a touchdown that beat the Juniors and gave the title to the Seniors.

CLAUDE QUILLIAN, Sophomores—Halfback

Because of his hard, shifty running with the ball, Quillian probably caused more meandering on the part of his opponents' defense than any other ball-toster. Besides his nifty stepping and deceptive hip-movement, Claude had a very annoying straight-arm, and used it to great advantage. Not only did he shine as a ground-gainer but was most consistent in running interference and on defense, as well.

SCOTT HOGG, Sophomores—Halfback

Although handicapped by lack of weight, Scott made up for it in toughness and elusiveness, and was one of the best ball-carriers of the season. His specialty was an off-tackle dart, followed by a spin and cut-back, a play that netted many yards and frequent touchdowns for the Sophs. Scott was also noted for his hard, sure tackling.

JACK STONE, Seniors—Tackle

A veteran of four campaigns, Jack was the mainstay of his side of the Senior line, and was a big factor in their championship drive. Stone was a veritable rock on defense, and on offense he was capable of making wide openings through which his backs could plunge for many yards. Jack was the personification of coolness and steadiness at all times during a game, but this trait detracted not one bit of the fight that was in his make-up.

HARRY LANGE, Sophomores—Quarterback

"Dutch" could—and did—do more different things with a football than any other back. He could run ends or back the line. When his team was in the hole, many times he punched out of danger. He probably made the best average on punts that has been made at Emory in several seasons. The Juniors' built a nice passing attack around his ability to heave the ball, and were able to make themselves dangerous throughout every game.

TIGNER THRASHER, Juniors—Center

Outstanding at center since his Freshman year, Tig was again the leading light in the Junior line. A cool and accurate passer and a quick charger, he was most effective on offense. He seemed always to be in the critical spot while on defense, sometimes playing in the line, and often dropping back to aid the secondary in breaking up passing attacks. Tig never requires a substitute. Due to his leadership qualities, he was elected Captain of the All-Emory Team.

Eddie McElwain, Sophomores—Quarterback

"Pinky" was the smartest signal-caller in the race, and taking advantage of the varied talents of his cohorts, directed the Sophs through the season with the best balanced attack shown by any team. Eddie could run, throw passes and receive them equally well, and was always one of the most dependable backs in school.

EUGENE GRIFFIN, Sophomores—End

Playing his first year at Emory, Gene became known for his brilliance as a defensive end. In the second Senior-Sophomore game Gene was the whole show, figuring in nearly every tackle that was made by the Sophs. He was also a constant threat as a pass receiver.
The All-Emory Football Team

Milton Camp, Freshmen—End

Camp made his debut in Emory football by putting up one of the best exhibitions of steady wing-play seen in several seasons. He was speedy in going down under punts and passes on offense, and on defense he soon taught opposing quarterbacks to call their plays for other points than his flank.

Tom Law, Freshmen—Fullback

Tom was the big gun of the Freshman attack in every game, despite the fact that he was “spotted” by his opponents as a dangerous threat. He drove through the line and skirted the ends with equal alacrity. He scored the touchdown that resulted in the only defeat for the champion Seniors, and also made the last-minute tally that earned a tie with the Juniors.

Garland Paulk, Juniors—Guard

Paulk bore a heavy burden in the Junior line, which was weakened by the loss of over half of its regulars of the season before. The opposing backs had to reckon with Garland on any play which came between the tackles, as he was always somewhere near the bottom when the mass cleared after a line play. His charging was low and hard.

Forster Memory, Juniors—End

After three seasons of consistent play at end, Forster was honored with the Block E for his ability. His specialty was going down under punts and nailing the receiver in his tracks. He is also proficient at boxing the defensive tackle out of the play. Few were the yards gained by the enemy at his flank.

Russell Bridges, Freshmen—Center

This rangy, snapper-back was one of the hardest linemen in school to take out of a play. He staged a merry duel with the opposing linemen in all of his games, being particularly good at backing up the line. His ability to diagnose the attack of the opposition was also noteworthy.

Roy Sellers, Juniors—Fullback

One of the most versatile players ever seen at Emory was Roy Sellers this season. Playing both tackle and fullback on either offense or defense, he was the most useful man on the Junior Squad. His interference was about the best shown by any back, and his line plunges were always good for yardage. His weight and strength made him one of the most difficult men on the field to oppose.

Oliver Puckett, Sophomores—Tackle

Puckett was the most powerful man in the Sophomore line, and was a star in all his team's contests. He blocked more punts than any other player in school. When his side kicked he was always one of the first to get down and tackle the receiver. It is usually necessary to put an end and two backs on Oliver to be sure that he is out of the play.
BASKET-BALL
Basket-Ball

With many improvements being made on the basketball court this year, much more interest was shown in the sport. The Pre-Season Tournament was quite a success, and was a stimulus to many men to stay out and play on the class teams. The regular season games were well managed under the capable direction of Manager Jack Jenkins and his corps of assistants. Whitley Craig made a competent referee, his decisions being well made and quite impartial.

THE PRE-SEASON AND PAN-HELLENIC TOURNAMENTS

The members of the Chi Phi fraternity were the most ardent supporters of basketball as well as the most consistent competitors. The Reds, composed of Chi Phis, defeated a group of Med students in the finals of the pre-season tournament, and later in the season, won their second leg on the Pan-Hellenic basketball cup. They were held to a close score by the Phi K. A's until the last quarter, when such stars as Moore, Thrasher, Logan, and Venable ran wild and clinched the victory.

JUNIORS

The Juniors lost their opportunity to win or tie with the Meds for the championship because of their failure to appear for the play-off which was called. Their team-work was the smoothest seen on the new court this season, and their individual stars made it a flashy combination. As Runners-Up, they were to share honors on this page with the Champion Meds, but the Meds were unable to gather for a picture.
Seniors

Displaying flashes of brilliance during certain periods of every game, the Senior team was always to be feared by the opposition. Due to this habit of suddenly breaking forth with a flurry of points, the Seniors forced their opponents to keep on their toes throughout every game. Their best game was the one in which they threw a scare into the Meds, although they finally lost by a 25 to 24 score, in the last few minutes of play. The Seniors finished in fifth place, close on the heels of the Freshmen.

Sophomores

Doped as one of the three leading contenders for the title, and displaying team work that every team feared, the Sophomore team fell from grace during the last half of the season when they lost three of their best men because of probation. During the first half of the season they defeated the Meds, who in turn defeated the Juniors and caused a triple tie at the half-way mark. The Sophs finished in third place for the season.

Freshmen

The Freshman season was marked by the early disappearance of the usual trouble with Ral teams that is caused by each man's effort to play the way he did at his high school. Within a remarkably short time the Freshman team was a smoothly working outfit, good enough to finish in fourth place for the season. Their outstanding win was a 35 to 25 victory over their Sophomore rivals, who, up until this game, were contenders for the title.
Lawyers

The members of the Law School Team are to be highly praised for the excellent spirit they showed during the entire season. Although it seemed they would never win a game, they played until the end and then defeated the Theologs in the last game of the season. It is this kind of spirit that makes Emory's intramural athletics a success. The Lawyers finished in last place in the standing of teams, but would rank among the leaders in sportsmanship and fighting spirit.

Graduates

Combining former Emory players with men from other colleges and a few who had never played before, the Grads got off to a bad start and failed to win a game during the first few weeks of the season. At about the middle of the season they began to develop some teamwork and closed the season with three consecutive wins. These victories, coupled with a game that was forfeited to them early in the season, placed them sixth in the final standings.

Theologs

The team which represented the school of Theology was another which showed remarkable sportsmanship and tenacity. The Theologs, at the beginning of the season, had a team that would give any of their opponents a run for their money, but through mishaps of various kinds they were somewhat disabled. They finished the season in seventh place. Their team was one of inexperienced men at the outset, but they worked themselves into a smooth working combination by the close of the season.
TRACK
Track Resume

Clyde Bowie and Rufus Yeomans, as Track Managers are to be commended for their fine work in preparing for the track season, and in carrying it through to a successful close. They cooperated with Coaches Kopf and Fitts in an admirable manner, and ran everything quite efficiently.

Coach Frank Kopf, who came to Emory in the fall of 1928 to take charge of track and cross country, is one of the best known men in track circles in the South. He has turned out many high-caliber track teams at several prep schools where he has coached. He has begun his work with the Emory Squad in such a way as to assure everyone that he means to have Emory recognized as having good track teams with many track stars.

Judging by the average performance of the team as a whole and considering the caliber of the opposition encountered, the track team of 1929 had a better than average season. The state meet opened the season and Emory placed third in this fast event. Presbyterian College, with an exceptionally fast crew of sprinters and hurdlers, gained an early lead during Emory's dual meet with them, and they managed to hang on to it, nosing us out 66 to 65 in a most interesting meet. Emory triumphed over Birmingham-Southern the following week by a score of 86 to 48. Twelve of the fifteen first places were captured by Emory men.

In addition to the intercollegiate schedule, there are three other track meets held at Emory every year. The Interorganization Meet was won by the Campus Club, led by Emil Jalouk, Vogel, and Numan, with a score of 45 points. Allen Logan steered the Chi Phi into second place with 43 points, while the Sigma Chis, title holders for two years, came third with 29 points.

Bob Vogel scored 24 points to lead the Sophs to a win in the Fall Interclass Meet, by a margin of 45 to 40 over the Juniors. In the Fall Handicap Meet, Tom Roberts and Allen Logan shared honors with each winning two firsts and a second place. Gold, silver, and bronze medals were awarded in each event.

The Hare and Hound races, which were held during the Winter quarter, were won by Carlton Numan, who won every race in which he ran to score 111 points. Franklin McElhenny, after tying with Frank Blackwelder and Joe Mosley for second place, won a special race held to break the tie, and took second honors. Lambda Chi Alpha won the team cup by a decisive score, while the Sigma Chis were their closest rivals and were runners-up.

The Track schedule for 1930 again consisted of the State Meet, and Dual Meets with Presbyterian College, and Birmingham-Southern. The team also participated in the Tech relays.
Track Letter Men

Albert Evans, Field Events

Captain of Track

Having made a name for himself in baseball and football, Al also became outstanding in track work. His specialty is the javelin throw, but he is capable of good performances with the weights as well. In recognition of his personal popularity and interest in the team, Evans was chosen to lead the team.

Carlton Nunan, Mile Run

Returning for his second season, Carlton again ran in the one-mile race and garnered enough points to earn his second monogram with the track squad. He also ran the half-mile event on several occasions to pick up a few points for the Gold and Blue. His stamina and grit always keep him in every race, and he is usually among those who lead the pack.

Bob Vogel, Sprints

Coming to Emory with a splendid prep record, Bob lived up to it and was the star of the team in his freshman year. His time on the century dash is close to ten flat, and his mark on the 220-yard dash is between 22 and 23 seconds, thus establishing him, in his first year, as one of the best sprinters seen at Emory in many years. And he has three more seasons!

Tom Roberts, Half-mile

Besides being the second best half-miler in the state, Tom was the reliable anchor man on the mile relay team, and was usually good for points in the 440-yard run. Roberts, with his remarkable sprinting finish, was one of the most spectacular half-milers in the South, and in the state meet he pushed Young of Georgia, so hard that Young broke the record almost four seconds. Tom clipped two seconds off the old mark, but placed only second in the race.

Raymond Squires, Half-mile

Another man who showed class in his freshman year was Squires. Although he was hindered throughout the season by a trick knee, Ray still acquired the necessary points to be awarded his letter. With more experience he gives promise of scoring many points before he leaves Emory.
Track Letter-Men

Allen Logan, Field Events

Allen Logan, the most widely-known track athlete ever to attend Emory, was again one of the biggest scorers on the squad. Due to his studies in the freshman Med. class, Allen had little time to practice or compete, but in spite of this, he scored 45 points during the season to lead the squad in scoring. He also established new state records in the high jump and pole vault. Other events in which Allen starred were the discus throw, shot put, javelin throw, and the broad jump.

Luther Rutland, Two-mile Run

After a year of hard training in the cross-country races, the bare and hound events, and spring track work, Luther, who had never tried running before, became a durable and dependable two-miler, and made his letter with points to spare. Being a junior when he first made his letter, he has one more campaign in packing the cinders.

Arthur Kasey, 440-Yard Dash

(Alternate Captain)

Running his first year on the team, Arthur held down one of the places on the fastest mile relay team that Emory has ever turned out. Kasey also won points in the 440-yard dash, and due to his consistent work and his qualities as a leader, he was elected alternate captain of the squad.

Arthur Fincher, Pole Vault

Fincher showed good form in the vaulting event and was consistent both in practice and in competition. Since he made the team in his first year at Emory, he ought to be a real star with the long stick before he has finished three more seasons.
BASEBALL
Bill Daniels as manager of baseball, and with a staff of wide-awake assistants, worked constantly throughout the season to promote the sport on the campus. The schedule was favorably arranged and the games were played promptly. The equipment was cared for in a commendable manner, and the field was always kept in good playing condition. Dr. Turner’s assistance in umpiring the games was invaluable in making the season a success.

The team which represented the College of Arts and Sciences had five men to earn positions on the All-Emory Team, and with their fine playing they won the championship during 1929, after a close and exciting race with the Theologs. An extra game had to be scheduled to break the deadlock which existed after the regular schedule was completed. The College Team was led by the pitching of Bob Jones, while the star hurler for the Theologs was Hodges.

The Freshmen were third in the race for the championship, earning that place mainly by the fine mound work of Ed Crawford, who made his letter.

The Lawyers and the Bus. Ad. School Teams finished third and fourth, respectively, but while they suffered many defeats at the hands of opponents they fought hard during every game.
All-Emory Baseball Team

Frank Wilder, Third Base

After several seasons of good baseball, Wilder developed into one of the best men on the hot corner Emory has seen in many years. He was good in the field as well as at bat, and had an accurate throwing arm. His work was a big factor in the success of the College team.

Fielding Ficklen, Center Field

Probably the best man in the league when it came to taking fly balls out of the air, "Fick" easily qualified for his place on the All-Emory team. He is a veteran of the Emory diamond, having played probably more seasons than any man in school. He did much toward bringing the Lawyers into third place.

Bob Jones, Pitcher

Bobby's steady performance on the mound was the greatest single factor in the victorious season enjoyed by the College team. Jones showed remarkable endurance in the many extra inning games he pitched.

Roy Williams, Second Base

Willie was an unusually heavy hitter for a man of his size, and he also covered plenty of territory in the vicinity of second base. He was the one who delivered the winning punch in the extra game for the championship.
All-Emory Baseball Team

Peter Wilkin, Right Field

Peter was famous as a slugger, but as an outfielder he also attended to his business of patrolling the outer regions. He has made his letter every year he has played at Emory and bids fair to repeat during 1930, his last season.

Ed Crawford, Pitcher

Showing plenty of speed and control on the mound, Ed was quickly recognized as a pitcher who was stingy with his hits and free passes. He was the only member of the Freshman Team to be picked for his letter.

Harry Lange, First Base

Although occasionally erratic, "Dutch" usually came through in the pinches, and was designated as the best all-round first-sacker in the league. His peppy talk kept the College Team in good spirits and helped materially to win the pennant.
MINOR SPORTS
Tennis Team

The victory of the 1930 Tennis Team over Georgia by the decisive score of five matches to one was the highlight of the successful season enjoyed by the team. They also defeated Clemson, taking six matches and yielding none. Emory was leading Birmingham-Southern two matches to one, when the rain came and caused the meet to be called off. Our racketeers also did well in the State Meet, but yielded to Georgia in the singles and to Tech in the doubles. These teams went on to win the championship in their respective events. Jack Boykin, of Georgia, was crowned Singles Champion of the State at the close of the State Meet.

Tennis has become the leading sport at Emory in recent years. More students participate in the game than in any other form of athletic activity. Much interest was shown in the Fall Championship Tournament, in which Gene Griffin stroked himself to victory. The forming of a Junior College team met with much enthusiasm and turned out many aspirants for places on the team to represent the two lower classes. In the Tennis meet held on Junior College Day, Emory's entrants emerged with victories in both doubles and singles. Gene Griffin was our singles entry, and Russell Bridges and Alex Winn teamed together to make a winning doubles combination.

The Golf Team

The 1929 golf season may be deemed a success in view of Emory's victory over Tech in a practice match. The team also tied with Vanderbilt, and placed third in the State Meet. This year's schedule will probably include practice meets with Boys' High, Darlington School of Rome, and Georgia Tech, and regular matches with Vanderbilt, Clemson, and Alabama. Emory will also sponsor the State Meet, at which time Emory, Tech, and Georgia will clash for state supremacy.

The team of 1930 is composed of the same men as last year's team, with the exception of Alton Irby, who won the right to take the place of Julius Hughes, crack Atlanta Champion. Prospects are bright for a winning team.

GOLF SQUAD

The golf squad was chosen by holding a match-play tournament and picking the semi-finalists for the team. Twenty-five players participated in the tournament, sixteen of them qualifying for the match play. "Pup" Gordon eventually won the loving cup awarded the champion, and took over the No. 1 position. Alton Irby was the other finalist.

Swimming Team

Swimming, though only a comparatively young sport at Emory, has made great headway. With the expansion of Emory's athletic program, swimming is expected to become more and more popular. A number of men were candidates for the 1930 team, and the season was quite a success, and a vast improvement over that of 1929.

Mr. L. F. Van Landingham
Hailed by his co-laborers as the First Citizen of Atlanta, at a dinner at which large numbers of the leading men of the State were present, Mr. Candler was presented a great loving cup as a token of appreciation and esteem.
Horses! Horses! Horses!

This little scene presents a few of the noble Eck-wooses who roam our Campus. The photographer snapped them as they gamboled on the banks of the Emory Lake. The pig broke loose from his pen back of the A. E. P. house. The perspective of Cal Weaver is a bit faulty, for his head was really facing the camera as the picture was snapped. The rest of the herd was later found peacefully grazing on the lawn of the Sigma Chi House. Rex Tumlin, King Horse, was over behind the barn engaged in mortal combat with the leader of a rival band to uphold the prestige of his followers and to win the favor of the blue-ribbon filly of the herd.
The Bats Social Club

The pictures of the members of the Bats Social Club were not placed on their page in the Clubs Section because the engraving was misplaced for two months. It was not found until it was too late to be included in its proper place and with regrets, apologies, and best wishes we are placing it here, rather than leave it out altogether. Dooey did a smart piece of detective work in snooping and snarling, tracing and tracking, until he found it buried in the body of a dead skunk in Hell's Half Acre, back of the Pi Kappa Alpha House. Dooley's powers of deduction led him to the conclusion that Plink had stolen it from the editor's room, after he was "black-balled" twice when proposed by Bloodworth (bottom left in picture) for membership. Bloody was later elected President of the club, anyhow, so he didn't need Plink's vote after all.

SERVING THE LAWYERS OF THE SOUTH FOR MORE THAN TWENTY YEARS
A COLLEGE-BRED SCENE which came in a four-year loaf, enacted by none other than Monsieur Stro-zy. Anyone else in the picture will surely be recognized as the man who holds the weight of the world on his shoulders.

Ajax—I'm so a-weary (Socratically speaking).

Stroze—The world is indeed excess baggage for one of your size to bear its burdens. Climb upon my knee, Freddy Boy, as usual. And now, what further wouldst thou have?

Ajax—What, I ask you, in the name of Abadacabra, is there for me to have? I'm finished, ain't I?

Robert—No! You ain't!

Ajax—At least somebody gave me credit for being intellectual.

Stroze—Listen, person. In spite of my grapple, you would make Phi Beta Kappa. I read in Rabelais that "coming events cast their shadows before them," (or was that the cigarette ad?), but this is one time that going events cast their shadows behind them. For I must go. And you will remain. At any rate I've still got hold of you. Don't fall off my knee yet. I dread to think of next year—after all—the Goodyears, you know.

Robert—You leave. Then go from the small laboratory of the university to experiment in the proclivities of the later life—emerging from your alma mater a stately, learned, urbane citizen of the world, which is—"Comme il faut!"

R. M. S.—Which is so much blank? Don't go around doing any experimenting. Your "jin-jing" days are over. From now on you're a "has-jined". I've seen to that. You're one who belongs—and that's a distinct class. I've nurtured, watched, would have prayed, for you. From the time you entered school I've gradually submerged you. And here in my last few months of rule you begin to gradually slip. Your voice seems distant.

Ajax—You should take more lessons.

Stroze—But on the whole, I suppose, you do right well.

Freddy (singing)—You are Bobby—yes by d—!

I know Rotterdam you am.

Much obliged to Bobby!

Apage Satana—and push hard.

May 31—Annual goes to press.

The evil results of the teachings of one Clark Warburton are here reflected in this pitiful view of the unhappy married life of Mr. James Q. Hackney, an old student of Prof. Warburton's. This "futuristic" scene shows Mr. Hackney, the financial giant of Wall Street, deeply engrossed in scrutinizing the returns from the stock exchange during the panic of 1960. His beautiful wife has been entreating him, begging him to abandon his wild speculation for many years. Now the climax comes! As his fortune dwindles before the attacks of manipulators and swindlers his wife pleads with him to sell his holdings and live quietly and happily on what remains of his once great fortune.

With a vile oath, he flings her aside, strikes her, kicks her and then strides manfully to the ticker to resume his watching, waiting, and worrying.

"Heavens!" cries he, while biting his nails and tearing his hair. "If American Amalgamated and Consolidated Aeroplane-Hangars continues to go down I will be ruined! Then all I will be good for is to teach school. But my advice to my pupils, in that case will be better than ole' Warby's ever was back in 1930. I'll pound into their heads one thing—"Beware of the Stock Market."

"I LOVE A MAN WHO SMOKES A PIPE"

— Mildred Flannigan.

(When Dooley was campus agent for the NO-SPIT Pipe and Tobacco Company his first move in his sales promotion campaign was to feel out the co-eds on the subject of smoking. Each of the young ladies was asked to write her impressions on smoking, and when the smoke of competition cleared away it was found that Miss Mildred Flannigan, May Queen at Woodberry Hall in 1910 and now a senior at Emory, had submitted the best article. Its beautiful descriptions and personal touches lent such charm to it that she was awarded the silver humidor by a unanimous decision of the judges. She also sent in a picture to illustrate her conception of the ideal smoking man, and with her permission we are reprinting it, together with an excerpt from her letter.)

"I love a man who smokes a pipe. When Bill comes to see me he always brings his pipe. We turn the lights low by the fireside and he sits in the easy chair, with the flickering light casting fleeting shadows on his strong, manly face, puffing away at his briar. An occasional wisp of smoke curls lazily upward, hesitating about that cute scar on his nose, drifting over his forehead, and into the darkness above. And he blows fascinating little smoke-rings for my amusement. How glad I am he doesn't use cigarettes and smelly, old cigars! A pipe is so manly, so dignified, so fascinating, so intriguing! Yes, I always prefer a man who smokes a pipe!

IT HAD TO BE GOOD TO GET WHERE IT IS
The Old Model T

Half a block, half a block,
Half a block onward.
All down Peachtree Street
Rode the old Model T.

"Peaches, here's your can,"
"Leaping Lena," it said.
All down Peachtree Street
Rode the old Model T.

But does the driver lose his poise?
Not tho the driver knew:
A mighty Packard blew.

His not to make reply:
He knew the reason why—
The battery had said, "Bye-bye."
All down Peachtree Street
Rode the old Model T.

"Ring," the lights said;
Flashed the lights red.
Stopping the traffic dead.

But not the Model T—while
All the world wondered.
Covered in the exhaust smoke.
Right thru the line it broke:
A pedestrian
Reeled, and the language he spoke
Volleyed and thundered.

Then onward it rode.
Rode the old Model T.

Cadillacs to the right of it,
Packards to the left of it,
Nashes in front of it.
Honked and blew:
Hit it on front and back
And now it was a hack
And thru Five Points it came back.
Came with tires dropping off
And its rims leaving a track.
All that was left of it
Rode the old Model T.

They wouldn't sell the junk
For all the money in a trunk.
And it a wonder to me.

But they made that pile of junk
Suck air, when it's long been defunct
Noble old Model T.

SOUTHERN BEAUTIES (Continued)
What is a University?

CALLING a group of buildings a University doesn't make it a University.

A University must have money, men, ideals, and standards. Money for buildings, equipment, and operating expenses. Scholarly men—men whose love of learning is animated by an even greater love of God and man—for a faculty. Ideals of character and conduct which tend to develop the best in each individual student. Standards of training which insure that its students will receive what a University purports to give: instruction of the quality accepted and approved by the highest accrediting agencies.

In addition, a real University must have research facilities through which its scholars may strive to extend the boundaries of human knowledge; it must also provide extension courses through which any earnest man or woman may obtain the advantages of University training by correspondence or by afternoon and evening study.

To be a University in every sense of this definition is Emory University's purpose.

EMORY UNIVERSITY
ATLANTA, GEORGIA
Bared's Manual

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

We are all right, we are! And nobody can deny it. Or rather we don’t care if they do deny it. Of course we are in the main just a bunch of good ole poor country boys struggling hard for an education and the things that go with it. We’ve already got the extras, but Fred and Bob seem to be getting most of the education for us. The influence of a faculty member has meant so much to them that we are considering having Mr. Warburton and his wife live with us next year to teach us how to study, and inspire us to yearn for knowledge rather than the inadequate grades that attempt to measure knowledge.

We welcomed the K. A.’s to their new home next to us with open arms but they surely do make us jealous. We’ll have some beautiful living-room furniture yet, though, because Cousin Will Chambers is soon to give us ten thousand dollars, which is half of his first year’s earnings. How unselfish it is of him! We do keep our lawn and porch looking nice, and we still make all of our theologs and drunks come in the back door. Taylor and Billy almost resigned when this was passed.

George Lawson’s wife would not let him go to the Pan-Hellenic Banquet this year. It got him into trouble once before. Haygood and Griffin did well that night but not so well as George, we hope. Our Theolog still keeps up our chapter spirit. Cousin Will is gone but his memory lingers on, da—m it! There are plenty of boys left for Strozier to twist around at his will. And Fred will be back next year! Haygood’s coming up, but we are going to try and keep him away from Fred’s influence. We are no longer distinctive by being all alone on the new Row, but still, just look how far the Sigma Chis are from us!

We expect any day for Henry Sherman to kill off a few K. A.’s in his dashing Flivver, and we hope they get Hal because he is such a bad influence on our Billy. Bobby Chambers would come around the house more if he didn’t have to pass the K. A. house every time. Our Tech and Georgia chapters have done right by Georgia Epsilon, giving us Adams and Chambers, each with sporty roadsters. We still have to baby little Raymond, but he’ll be a Strozier some of these days!

PHI DELTA THETA

We are a good national fraternity, and we have been established here long enough to be anything. The only way we can explain our present status is in terms of the old principle of Physics that what goes up must come down. Somebody unkindly compared us to the stock market crash. But remember that the stock market is gradually coming back. We have better freshmen this year than we have had in two years past, and we still cling to the belief of trying to make people think you are good whether you are or not. We hated to see the Deans abolish Little Commencement. Our house was just dead that entire weekend. Ivey took us down to the A. E. Pi house one night, though, and we raised h—!

Two of our most promising Sophs, Callaway and Crawford, were very unloyal to us and flunked out of school. Tom was doing his best to keep up his high social position among the Atlanta girls, but Deb just would keep butting in and spoiling things, so it’s just as well. We hoped to get Ed into D. V. S. eventually, because Bob and Billy Smith both promised us they would politic for him. Hinky Bowden was the only All-Emory man qualified to run on the publications ticket and then he was defeated. Don’t ask us why, as we don’t understand politics and think it a little beneath us, anyway. Hinky’s still working hard and showing promise, and we are thinking of swapping him to the Pi Kappa Phis for two freshmen so he will have a chance to get somewhere.
Well, we have a transfer that might be termed intercollegiate and you may hear from us yet. Harrison just won't stay away from Decatur, and Slick is fast becoming one of those boys, but we don't care—if they don't. Billy Smith is still as dumb as ever and a bigger liar. We threatened to excommunicate Deb so he quieted down and confined himself to wearing loud clothes as his principal way of expressing personality. Nobody begrudges us getting the President of the Student Body, because he's one of our good boys, but now that he's gone we will just have to revert back to our old state. We are haughty, indolent, well-dressed, and good-looking, and don't care, so why should you?

KAPPA ALPHA

We haven't done so badly this year, getting a new house and some good freshmen, mixed in with the others. It has been awfully hard training the boys to walk on the new floors, but Hal helped out greatly in that. You know that swagger he gets. Of course one or two of the brothers already knew, and we have developed such a spirit of co-operation in the chapter by having some common interest like this. We had to teach Burr-head to use the new telephone when we moved in. He thought you had to talk in French, just because it was a French phone, so he told Randy to tell her he wasn't there the first time he got a call. Well, there are a number of little things like that to learn among the nouveau riche, but we do believe we are getting by with it gracefully. It was all right about Bobby Chambers but it does look like he would have stayed at Tech. That was the only thing to mar our triumphal entry into the new house. The color in the living room is designed to portray the wild, untamed spirit that still runs rampant in the veins of Graduate Randy. Taken as a whole, we are not complaining about the situation and we are anxiously waiting to see the effect of sitting a freshman in a red leather chair on a green carpet in a lightly shaded green living room with light tan lounges and nonchalantly offering him a pledge button.

Hitch was broken-hearted and in despair at being balled by the Owls, but our long line of D. V. S. men could not let him down, and he redeemed himself. With so many Pi Alpha men in the chapter Dr. Guy looks on us with approbation (most of the time). Hal still bemoans the passing of that profitable custom of having a Fashion Show. We are proud that we could retain our iron mastery of the Glee Club and grab off another presidency. Brother Stauffer got his presidency of the "Y" and then refused to associate with us further, which we didn't mind so much. Slapper and Emmett didn't stay with us long this year, so we are improving in our morality slowly but surely. Ask Herbert, he'll tell you. Duncan Graham went to Georgia, but John Candler came to Emory. And what does that prove?

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

We are the boys who do not need to wear Tuxedos to the dances. Our position has been secure for years; we get things whether we deserve them or not, so why bother. After a period of ten years we received a major honor from the Democratic Party. Not that Jack deserved it, but we had no other way of anyone in the chapter doing anything. We can't work. All we are able to do is sit in our collegiate Fords, and try to keep Pruny dressed in brown. It has been rumored around the campus that our house is a Hell-hole of perdition, but we take this method of announcing that the report is only folklore. Anyway, Joe doesn't get up the games, but he does hold the choir-practices. Several transfers helped meet the monthly installments on the house, and there are persistent rumors that we will soon have a palatial home on fraternity row, with plenty of room in front to wallow.

We are quite proud of our distinctive jargon, and the co-eds seem to like it too. Bill Merritt is not so proficient at it as Pruny, but Dot don't mind that. Alwyn and Russell are pretty good boys in spite of what they had to live down. We don't amount to much, we have no accomplishments, we didn't get very good freshmen, we have no big cars but we still have Garrett and his Oxfordian clothes. Bear with us!

It really is astounding the success we have had on the campus in recent years. We are on the weak side in politics, but we are without doubt the strongest of the weak. The Sigma Chis think they are the power of the All-Emory Party but we know better. We boast a man who made all three big honor societies, and he helps us boast about it too. And he also crashed through and became vice-president of the student body. We certainly are glad Bob Crawford was running for president on the same ticket.

And socially, my dear! Why, our Atlanta boys can get the rest of the brothers in some of the nicest homes in town. We are crazy about Frances Mitchell and were so sorry we all had classes the afternoon he gave his lovely tea. And oh! what big ears we have! The Smith brothers acquired another Lincoln this spring, and have become more Chi Phi than ever before.

We seem to have a corner, or rather two corners, on most of the athletic trophies around here. When our new house is built we are going to have us a whole room set aside for our cups and medals, instead of just building a puny little show-case like the Sigma Chis did. Our big, strong, rich, influential Atlanta alumni have just built our Tech and Georgia chapters some new houses and its our turn now. We plan to install a chapter at Oglethorpe next year because a good Atlanta boy goes out there every year or so and we can't afford to let the K. A's or the Pi Kappa Pi's get them.

Graves is leaving us this year, but Tig will wear the triangle for us, and Add and Ed will drive the Lincoln, so we'll get along all right. We don't give a d—n about that Phi Beta Kappa key, because now we have a Rhodes scholar. Hurray for Craft! He'll be in Europe next year.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

We have adopted a new rushing rule—pledge everybody that comes in the house during rushing season and we are obliged to get some good boys. That has worked splendidly for us this year. We pledged them as they entered last fall and woke up a few weeks later to find that we had four or five good freshmen, which is better, by three or four, than we have done in any one year recently. We have finally secured our social position for Lucian is head of the Bats—and what's more, we didn't have any Bats at all three years ago. We still invite Lanky and Gates to all of our parties, but they never seem to come. Rivers has got the campus by the old proverbials, and is loath to let go. We tried to bribe him into going into Law School, but he has definitely decided to put all of these college trivialities behind him and make his mark in the world.

We have a happy-go-lucky bunch of boys that enjoy themselves thoroughly all of the time.
Tucker has the reputation of talking more and saying less than any man on the campus. Each one of us bought a Thrift Book from Herbert to help him along in the world. Hell's Half-Acre has just about passed into oblivion. We saw no need in musing matters so we just go on into the house now.

We haven't any money, the train runs through our front yard, we keep in politics pretty well, we stay pure, and we still have Eugene playing in George Berkey's Orchestra. Here's to the Dream Girl of Pi K. A. as played by Herbert and Gene.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Nobody seems to know whether we are still on the campus or not. Julian Dell was the only outstanding man we have had in twenty years, and he left us in the lurch. Nobody has any offices, nobody gives a damn whether they have or not, nobody will work for any—in fact, there's nobody to work, and nobody would give us anything if we did. So far as the campus is concerned, our chapter is composed of Dupuis, Edgar and Ted—good enough but not enough
I love the ones that do,
I hate the ones that don't,
I despise the ones that say they will,
And then they say they won't.
But the ones that I love best,
And I know you'll say I'm right,
Are the ones that say they shouldn't,
But you know darn well they might.

* * * *

I used to raise my hand in school
The teacher, she'd say 'No,'
But I used to fool the teacher 'cause
I didn't have to go.

* * * *

"Mother, let's go over and see the stork," said the little boy at the zoo.
"Why do you want to do that?" said Mother.
"I want to see if he remembers me."

* * * *

"There's something in that, too," said the burglar, as he thrust his hand into the cuspidor.

"Are the Thetas away? I see they have no lights on."

"Naw. They're just havin' a party."

* * * *

"Let me show you something snappy in a new sedan," said the auto salesman.
"It won't do a bit of good," she replied,
"and I don't think you could any way."

* * * *

If all the chairs in the chapel were stacked one on top of another the student body would be glad.

* * * *

"Where is the President's office?"

"Follow the passage until you come to the sign marked 'No Admittance.' Then you go up the stairs till you see a sign 'Keep Out.' Follow the corridor until you see a sign 'Silence.' Then yell for him."

of them. We hoped to come back into prominence via the All-Emory Party, and now that hope is lost. We still think, though, that Dell would do better at the head of that party than Gardner Allen. Ted couldn’t stand it any longer, and went and got married, so there we lost a perfectly good major and O. D. K. man. Ed Hill took courage when an All-Emory man got manager of the Glee Club and is working harder than ever, even harder than L. O. did selling ads. Willie Spann really is a good boy at times, and we still have hopes for Ed Jones.

We can’t seem to do anything. There are fraternities which have been here only one third as long as we have who have the edge on us in every way. What to do? Nothing. We gave up five years ago.

SIGMA NU

We are the under-dogs. Everybody picks on us, whether we deserve it or not. We ask for everything and get nothing. We never have more than two or three major honors at a time, and a couple of dozen minors. But outside of politics we do shine! We were one of the few fraternities to have a house party during the Coca-Cola Week-end and no matter how hard the Deans tried to find out things about it, we kept the girls under cover! Max Hall bids fair to be another Duncan Graham, and in our present condition we feel the need of them. And yet with every rose you pick a thorn. The spirit of Fagan is dead in the chapter, at least most of them.

We have a few boys who really are well-liked on the campus. Willie Williams just will not behave himself; but he is one of our best boys. So self-sacrificing! Bill and Harry will tell you all about that. Ponder knows the best-looking women we ever saw, and seems to get along fine with THEM. Bishop Hawkins has returned to us and is the elevating influence of the lodge. Lamar will leave, Pee-Wee is in medicine, and we’re thinking of kicking Crawley out of the chapter, so we might be able to improve next year. But this year we didn’t do anything, we didn’t want to do anything, we missed most of the freshmen we bid, we haven’t any rich alumni, we have no prospects for a new house, but there must be something for which to give thanks. Thank God for Cal Weaver!

KAPPA SIGMA

With the aid of the Independents we are gradually swelling our chapter. We enlisted Jack and George and believe they have profited by the experience. Cloower turned into our most consistent social satellite, and is doing his best to build up the chapter standing in society. Our freshmen are certainly dumb this year. Can you understand four of them breaking their pledge to go Sigma Pi? Well, we can’t. We bid all of our hams out for three days, and thought they were thoroughly acclimatized, and then the minute they all walked in and were ready to start work in earnest (?) out walked the freshmen. We told them about Mr. Glenn’s new home, George Rogers’ voice, and Respess Chatfield, but all to no avail. We hold a peculiar position in society. Apparently we go out all the time, yet no one ever sees us where they go. But to explain that, we may say that the places we go to are so exclusive that none of the other Emory men can go there. We live a life of ease and comfort and when we do wrong Gerald Bird prays away our sins, so why worry? Not more than three of our boys are known on the campus, so that’s why we get along so well.

SIGMA CHI

We are the Sigma Chi’s (Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, Gardner Allen) laughingly referred to as the Sig’s, or just laughingly referred to. We do work but bricklayers do too so that may not be such a recommendation. To society we are an enigma. We edit the Blue Book, we give numerous parties, we have a new house, we have Ed Kane, and then we, this same bunch of social hounds, turn right around and take in Warren Hardin.

The new house hasn't helped. It was Impel that the independents at least would be impressed, but they weren't. Of course we finished our house in a hurry and moved in before Christmas. In fact we moved in in such a hurry that we forgot to dedicate it to somebody until the K. A.'s had their dedication services.

We took what we deserved from the All-Emory Party and then that very fact helped to ruin the whole party. Everything we do is wrong. We are the only poor fraternity that has built a house, we give just lots of parties, and we work. If you can think of any suggestions which would help us out of our abominable situation please send them in to Box XYZ, Emory post office, and we will take the recommendations. But please don't tell us to kick out the whole chapter and start over again from the bottom, because the National Laws of the fraternity Prohibit this. Poor, proud, but honest, we persevere.

PI KAPPA PHI

We manage to keep our heads up. George Patterson did enough politicking while he was here to last until now, and we have elected Tom Lattie to head the chapter (Exalted Mogul), and so we are sure we will come out all right. We manage to keep the house pretty quiet and peaceful, in spite of Preacher Robinson, Pete Wilkins, and Freshman Wilbanks, Euc Reeves and "Dutchy" Yarbrough are two of our best graduates (?) and they help to keep Pi Kappa Phi in the public eye, each in his own peculiar way. We were very proud to get Bill Tumlin married. It exceeded even our best hopes for them. Joe Cannon has been a help to us in being a B. M. O. C. and in seeing that Ralph would follow in his footsteps, but other than that—

We get quite a number of political honors, have a fair house, do a good bit of shining and do right well in general but we are still meddlesome and know it. Every time we think we have pulled something big we find that three or four other fraternities have done us a little better. We are not so social (technically speaking) but we are getting self-satisfied. The Oglethorpe chapter helps our rating about town by giving Balls and other parties, and we try to do something to keep up. Drink to Pi Kappa Phi!

SIGMA PI

We are the best fraternity on the campus among those who don't do a thing and still hang on. Politically, we are at the mercy of the Sigma Chis, Thetas, and Chi Phis. Socially, we are handicapped by some impossible brothers. But in general, we have a mighty good time, just among ourselves. Some of our boys dress nicely thanks to the suggestions of our sponsor, Iris Lee. Short dog Vinson tries harder than any of us to make something out of the chapter, but he had so little to start with. We are proud of our political coup in having him elected head of the All-Emory Party.

It may be that the bad influence exerted by our next door neighbors has something to do with our standing. One really must be careful of one's associates, it has been said. But we built our house by ourselves and we are going to live in it in spite of everything.

We really have a congenial bunch of boys who don't care particularly about anything or anybody. After all, that's what a fraternity really is, so if we are satisfied why shouldn't you be?

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

We are so undeserving! And we are also so grateful that we have at last lost our identity as Beta Taus, a mere local, and become a part of a great, progressive, national organization. Our good fortune lies in finding a fraternity which wanted to expand, no matter where or how, and in being a local which wanted to become a national, all at the same time. We never did think much of Pan-Hellenic anyhow, and never expect to get in it, so why shouldn't we buck it?

Some day we hope to grow and progress. There's comfort in thoughts and dreams of the future. We know, just like everybody else, that we are impossible, and incapable as well. But the day will come, maybe! Young Elliott is following in his brother's footsteps, and McDuff is trying hard in the same direction. Pot Underwood has become no better in medical school, but is still loyal to ole L. X. A., through thick and thin. We hope people won't begin to think L. X. A. is some kind of shoe polish (although we do have our bootlickers), because those letters do stand for something noble and good. We are fast learning the secrets and passwords, and will function like a real lodge before long. For ever and ever. Amen.

ALPHA EPSILON PI

We haven't much to say for ourselves. Everybody knows what we are, and we are powerless to change opinions of others. But we got in Pan-Hellenic and that's one step forward. Goldwasser has been our most progressive member, although Hoffman and Goldstein have been able to make their presence known in the Law School. We have our house right near the Chi Phis, and find them to be an elevating influence. We only wish the Phi Deltas Thetas could move next door to us.

CAMPUS CLUB

We are the only social fraternity on the campus that doesn't have a house. Some of our boys have rented a shanty which serves as a hang-out and hide-out, and it comes in handy for the poker games. We used to call ourselves independent until some soul realized what it was all about. We have a hand-clasp, some big men on the campus, give dances, and our boys do the same thing at dances that other fraternity men do, so what is there to distinguish us from the others. Nothing, sez we. We are waiting around and may decide later what fraternity we would like to have, and are sure we will get whatever we ask for. If Merrill Jackson would only buy a new car we might petition the Deke's. Of course, like the other fraternities we have a number of dark horses, but what of that? Dark horses win sometimes, don't they?

(These little fellows are happy because they have just received Lambda Chi Alpha bids and have the pledge buttons in their pockets.)

A. O. B. S. (Amalgamated Order of Beer Shifters)

ONE of the most exclusive Orders on the campus, and one which is kept mostly in the sh-h-h. There is never turmoil or strife within the ranks and members are warned that the only "Froth" allowed at the bar is the froth on the beer. Any member caught going to bed sober or signing the pledge is immediately expelled. The A. O. B. S. is a secret and fraternal organization devoted to the downfall and uplift of serious sots. Members must buy—if not at the moment, sometime. What is a decade among friends? If any member is caught cutting out paper dolls after midnight he must hand in his resignation. King Blow Fly was given a life membership for appearing at 5 A. M. and being able to play a ukelele without a rehearsal.

When this picture was taken Dupuis wanted to pass out of the picture, but was restrained. Billy was just strained. Jimmy insisted on peeping out from behind. When caught in certain moods he always thinks he looks so much cuter in a peeping pose. When meetings are held the one outstanding sign behind the counter is "Nothing is on the house but the roof." When meetings are over, even the roof is not on the house. The most preferred place of meeting is around at Guy's, because there are so many nice couches in his room where one can loll. And there are times when lolling is so necessary.

Summer plans include a drive for old bottles and stoppers. A capper will not be used in the future, as that prevents that pleasing popping sound.

CHICAGO
Rudy Vallee Hour at the S. A. E. House

(It is Thursday Night at the S. A. E. House. A happy throng is gathered around the festive board, male and female alike. All the brothers (who knew any nice girls) have dates, and Russell Bridges has one on each side of him. King Strozier reigns supreme at the head of the table.)

Bob (looking at watch): Heavens! It's almost time for good ole Rudy to come on the air! Freshmen! Arrange the chairs! (Freshmen leap to their feet, rush to the living room and arrange chairs and lounges in a semi-circle around the radio.)

Fred: Bob, may I be getting tuned in on W. S. B.?

Bob: Yes, Fred. Billy asked me first. Billy, you may go now. Take your dessert with you.

Billy: Yes, Bob.

Voice on radio: This is station W. S. B.—bla—bla—. We go now to the N. B. C. network where we hear R-r-rudy Vallee. This is Rudy Vallee speaking to you from the Villa Vallee. Our first number will be "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

Chorus: Well, I'll be da—ed! (The dog brother goes upstairs to pray.)

(Brother Vallee sings "Vagabond Lover," and a few other maladies, and then announces the "Maine Stein Song").

Taylor: Whooppee!

Bob: Shut up, Griffin! The K. A.'s will think you're drunk!

(As Rudy croons away, a deep hush creeps over the enthralled listeners. Marty and date retire to the far corner of the room. Lawson tip-toes to the telephone.)

Marty: But why do you have to go! Oh, you have a date? With a Phi Delta Theta, I suppose? Oh! woe is me!

Bob: Isn't it divine? And just to think he is one of us. A true S. A. E.

Raymond: Aw, I bet he don't even know the grip!

Bob: Go to your room, Raymond, and stay there until I come! That's awful of you to say that! Sam, wake Gus up over there! He's missed two songs and ruined another one for us by his snoring. Where are you going, Little Fick?

Ed: I'm going to write a poem about Brother Rudy.

Bob: Well, that's MIGHTY fine. Oh, how I wish Dr. Goodyear could be here with us! He's a romantic old soul, and I know he would enjoy this.

Billy: Looks like you'd be glad to get away from him once in a while.

Jack: Don't you just love to hear Rudy sing?

Lee: Uh-huh.

Bob: Well, he's signing off, and Carol's yawning anyhow. Still, I could listen to him forever, couldn't you, Fred?

Fred: Yes, Bob. Oh, my goodness! Marty's fainted!

University Coffee Shop
We are indeed fortunate to have a man like Dooley on our campus, for he can scrape up more scandal in two nights than any clubwoman can discover in a dozen bridge parties. Here we have a print of a flashlight picture that he took of the Dean's Banquet which occurred on the night following the Pan-Hellenic Banquet. The latter was so commonplace in comparison with the faculty celebration that it really should be ignored. Dr. Goodyear was admitted as "proxy" to "Prexy" who was in Gainesville that week-end.

The picture was taken a little prematurely because of an accident. Dooly was hiding at one end of the table, trying to set his camera, prepare his flashlight powder, and watch Fanny Fisk, the dancer, all at the same time. Fanny, in her writhing and wriggling, came too near the flashlight powder and Blooey! Off it went! Dooly, quick to act, snapped the camera just in time. The next minute he was bombarded with salt-shakers and chased from the private banquet hall, without opportunity to secure other incriminating snapshots.
The Car by the Side of the Road
(with all due respects to Sam Walter Foss)

There are millionaires with limousines
Who just stick to the broad highway;
There are souls who walk and walk and walk
And always have feet of clay;
There are Boy Scouts who always travel
To far places of the world—
But let me park in a car by the side of the road
And be a friend of the working girl.

Let me park in a car by the side of the road;
Where no other cars go by—
For cars bring light, and maybe the cops,
Who would disturb she and I.
I would not sit in the driver's seat
And have my fingers to twirl—
Even tho I park in a car by the side of the road
To be a friend of the working girl.

I see from my car by the side of the road
Men who ride with their wife;
The men who press on with the ardor of hope
And men who are faint with the strife.
I turn again to the girl by my side
And proceed to play with a curl—
Let me park in a car by the side of the road
And be a friend of the working girl.

I don't like girls who seem so willing
When we start for a ride.
And then want to go home to mama
When I pull over to the side.
But still I rejoice when she plays right;
And cuss when she adopts a frigid tone
Nor park in my car by the side of the road
Like a man who parks alone.

Let me park in my car by the side of the road
Where no other cars go by.
They bring light; they bring cops, maybe jail, maybe bail.
Wise, foolish—which am I?
Then why should I sit in the driver's seat
And have my fingers to twirl
When I park in a car by the side of the road
To be a friend of the working girl.

MODERN AS YOUTH ITSELF!

Within the space of a score of years, the scope of Southwestern Engraving Company has increased from the parent plant in Fort Worth to an organization of nine plants.

Pioneering the field in the introduction of modernistic art, a personal service bureau composed of former college annual editors and managers, the budget and dummy system, and field service men, the name "Southwestern" has become synonymous with art motifs that are distinctive, an understanding, helpful service, and printing plates that "print right."

In Closing

This last page, as it being composed, marks the swan-song of those whose sole interest, during the past school year has been to construct a book, which in after years, will cause to linger longer the memories of a profitable and enjoyable year at Emory. The task has required patience, perseverance, and hard work. It has presented many difficulties, and brought on considerable criticism. But in spite of these handicaps, it has been an interesting, pleasant, and constructive experience. We hope that this volume will be judged a success, for in the approbation it receives lies the reward for those who edited it, as well as the justification for its existence. It represents the best we have been capable of putting into it. Your approval or disapproval will be the judgment passed on us—whether we have succeeded or failed.

Before the cover closes on these pages, and before your perusal of their content is finished, let us express our gratitude to those who have been of invaluable service to us in gaining for the Campus whatever degree of success it may have achieved.

Mr. Clayton Webb, Mr. Earl Sanders, Mr. John Long, and Mr. Ben Bailey form the efficient staff of the annual department of Foote & Davies Company. They have given willingly of their time and knowledge in making invaluable suggestions. Their function has been more than merely to print our year book. The servicing of the book has made it what it is, and we consider that they have done their work well.

Miss Helen Morgan, of Southwestern Engraving Co., has cared for our engravings most efficiently. She has done as much in planning the lay-out as the editors themselves, and her infinite knowledge of engravings and artistic arrangements is reflected in the effective results obtained from the products of the concern she represents. Mr. B. J. Lore, also of Southwestern, is the artist who developed our theme, and his pen-and-ink sketches of incidents in Mr. Candler’s life have been highly commended by many who are capable of passing judgment.

The pictures, which were taken by White Studios, are a vast improvement over those of recent years. Mr. Munger, the photographer, and Mr. Stanley Marques, who is in charge of annual work in the South, are to be thanked for their co-operation and interest.

It is the sincere hope of the staff that this book will so impress the students that it will serve to allay the resentment felt toward those who are responsible for its publication. The criticisms which have been directed at us have decreased the interest in the annual, as well as lessened the co-operation which is so necessary to its success. Whether this has been due to our inefficiency or to unfortunate circumstances which are not generally known, it is not appropriate for us to say. We do say, though, that a greater interest in the annual, a warmer spirit of co-operation with the staff, and a more friendly attitude on the part of the student leaders and the students as a group would serve to facilitate its work, make it infinitely more pleasant, and improve its standards.

—The Staff.
