THE OXONIAN 1908 Published by the
SENIOR CLASS
EMORY COLLEGE
FOREWORD.

In presenting this volume of the OXONIAN for 1908, we have desired to revive the very commendable custom of publishing a college annual, and we have striven to present the lighter and more pleasant phases of the Emory man's college life. We trust that to the Alumni it will serve as a pleasant reminder of their college experience, and that to the present Emory student it will in future years serve as a bright record of his undergraduate life. Although our experience is limited in this field, we hope that our aim has been accomplished and that you will "view this not with a critic's eye but pass its imperfections by."
Dedication.

To their Faithful Coach, Dr. Charles W. Peppler, as a parting token of their personal esteem, and of their sincere appreciation of his services, the Senior Class dedicates this volume.
Board of Editors

WALTER HILL BECKHAM
THOMAS JACKSON DEMISEY, JR., A T Q

DILLARD BEARDEN SEWELL, Σ N
THOMAS MARVIN SULLIVAN

ROBERT McDONELL ARNOLD, Φ Δ Θ
SAMUEL CLEAVELAND HADDOCK

CHARLES HOWARD ORR

CHARLES ASHFORD COTTER, Δ T Δ

Editors in Chief.
Business Managers.

Editors.

Athletic Editor.
Art Editor.
College Calendar.

1907.

September 18, Wednesday .............. Fall term begins.
October 29, Saturday ................... Anniversary of Few Society.
November 24, Thursday ................ Thanksgiving Day.

1908.

January 31, Friday ..................... Fall term ends.
February 1, Saturday .................. Spring term begins.
February 22, Saturday ................ Celebration of Washington’s Birthday.
March 8, Saturday ..................... Anniversary of Phi Gamma Society.
April 26, Saturday ..................... Memorial Day.
June 5, Friday, 10 A. M ............... Annual Meeting of Board of Trustees.
June 5, Friday, 8 P. M ............... Freshman and Sophomore Declamations.
June 7, Sunday ......................... Commencement Sermon.
June 8, Monday, 10 A. M ............. Junior and Senior Orations.
June 8, Monday, 4 P. M ............... Champion Debate.
June 9, Tuesday ....................... Annual Address before Literary Societies.
June 9, Tuesday ....................... Annual Reunion of Alumni Association.
June 10, Wednesday .................... Commencement Day.
Pierce Science Hall.
BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

Mr. ASA G. CANDLER, President .................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1905.
Rev. J. P. WARDLAW, Vice-President ........................................... Americus, Ga ...1905.
Mr. PAUL F. WHITE, Secretary ...................................................... Oxford, Ga ...1905.
Prof. H. H. STONE, Treasurer ....................................................... Oxford, Ga ...1905.

CLERICAL MEMBERS.

Ex-officio.

Bishop W. A. CANDLER, D. D., LL. D. .............................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1898.

North Georgia Conference.

Rev. CLEMENT A. EVANS, D. D ......................................................... Atlanta, Ga ...1880.
Rev. C. E. DOWMAN, D. D ................................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1905.
Rev. W. F. GLENN, D. D ................................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1892.
Rev. W. P. LOVEJOY, D. D .............................................................. Marietta, Ga ...1896.
Rev. J. H. EAKES, D. D ................................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1905.
Rev. JAMES E. Dickey, D. D ......................................................... Oxford, Ga ...1903.

South Georgia Conference.

Rev. JOHN B. McGEHEE, D. D ......................................................... Helena, Ga ...1874.
Rev. W. F. SMITH ................................................................. Dawson, Ga ...1905.
Rev. J. O. A. COOK, D. D ............................................................. Columbus, Ga ...1886.
Rev. W. C. LOVETT, D. D ............................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1890.
Rev. J. P. WARDLAW ................................................................. Americus, Ga ...1891.
Rev. J. B. STONE ................................................................. Macon, Ga ...1903.

Florida Conference.

Rev. T. J. NIXON ................................................................. Gainesville, Fla ...1905.
Rev. F. PASCO, D. D ................................................................. Miami, Fla ...1880.
Rev. J. P. HILBURN ................................................................. Live Oak, Fla ...1905.

LAY MEMBERS.

Col. LEWIS D. PALMER ............................................................... Nashville, Tenn ...1874.
Hon. HIRAM P. BELL ................................................................. Cumming, Ga ...1874.
Mr. R. B. REPPARD ................................................................. Savannah, Ga ...1880.
Hon. JAMES M. PACE ................................................................. Covington, Ga ...1883.
Hon. JAMES K. HINES ............................................................... Atlanta, Ga ...1885.
Col. R. E. PARK ................................................................. Macon, Ga ...1886.
Mr. CHARLES G. GOODRICH ..................................................... Augusta, Ga ...1890.
Capt. J. P. WILLIAMS ............................................................... McCrae, Ga ...1905.
Prof. R. J. STROZIER ............................................................... Macon, Ga ...1891.
Mr. W. P. PATTILLO ................................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1891.
Mr. GEORGE WINSHIP ............................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1895.
Hon. H. E. W. PALMER ............................................................... Atlanta, Ga ...1897.
Hon. T. M. SWIFT ................................................................. Elberton, Ga ...1897.
Mr. A. G. CANDLER ................................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1899.
Hon. GREEN S. JOHNSTON ..................................................... Statesboro, Ga ...1899.
Mr. L. E. ROBESON ................................................................. Marietta, Ga ...1904.
Hon. DUPONT GUERRY .............................................................. Macon, Ga ...1901.
Prof. W. A. BASS ................................................................. Atlanta, Ga ...1902.
Dr. J. D. WATKINS ................................................................. Miicanopy, Fla ...1902.
Hon. I. E. SHUMATE ............................................................... Dalton, Ga ...1903.

ALUMNI MEMBERS.

Mr. H. R. DeJARNETTE, one year .............................................. Eatonton, Ga ...1904.
Mr. M. W. MUNROE, two years ................................................ Quiney, Fla ...1905.
Rev. J. T. DAVES, D. D., three years ....................................... Griffin, Ga ...1906.
Historical Sketch.

The incorporation of a Methodist College in Georgia was authorized in 1836 by the State Conference then in session at Columbus, Ga., and trustees were immediately appointed to select a suitable place for the institution. After much investigation the present location about forty miles from Atlanta, was selected. Then about fourteen hundred acres having been purchased and laid off in streets and lots, two or three buildings were erected on the campus, a few dwellings arose in the new township, and the enterprise was launched.

At the suggestion of Dr. Ignatius A. Few, the little town was given the classic name of Oxford in honor of the great English University. The name Emory was given the college as a tribute to the memory of Bishop John Emory, who was killed a few years prior to the founding of the college in an unfortunate carriage accident.

In 1838 the doors of the college were first opened for the reception of students, and four years later the first class of three men was graduated. The college then consisted of two or three buildings in a town of perhaps less than seventy-five inhabitants. During the years that have followed, one thousand, four hundred and eighty seven young men have received diplomas from the institution, ten handsome college buildings now adorn the campus, and the little village of Oxford has grown to a town with a population of over six hundred.

The growth of Emory in the sixty-nine years of her career has been marked. From almost obscurity she has become to be recognized as one of the best and most powerful institutions in the State. With a curriculum which is practically second to none, and a faculty composed of some of the best known educators in the South, she has surpassed every other denominational institution in Georgia and now vies with the State University alone for prestige.

The life of the college has extended through the administration of twelve presidents, and each year has witnessed progress and development. It was during the administration of Dr. A. G. Haygood that the college first began to take on new life. Mr. George I. Seney, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who was deeply interested in the institution, donated a hundred thousand dollars toward the handsome building now known as Seney Hall.

Under the presidency of Bishop W. A. Candler, one hundred thousand dollars were added to the endowment of the college. The new Library Building, known as Candler Hall, was then erected at a cost of twenty-five thousand dollars.

Pierce Science Hall was added a few years later in the administration of Dr. C. E. Dowman, and last year, as a result of the efforts of President James E. Dickey, a handsome new Gymnasium was completed at a cost of over thirty thousand dollars. Funds are now being received for the erection of a handsome auditorium and college chapel on the college grounds which will be known as the Young J. Allen Memorial, a tribute to the memory of the late Young J. Allen, one of Emory’s most illustrious sons.

The original plan of a circular campus has not been destroyed during these years, by the addition of new buildings; the idea has been excellently maintained, and to-day this great, green circle, bound by a natural hedge of the fragrant honey-suckle and studded with great trees, many of them monuments to some departed class, is indeed an attractive and beautiful sight. Near the center of the circle stands the monument to Dr. Ignatius A. Few, the first president and one of the founders of the institution. Numerous gravel walks, like broad yellow bands, lead here and there through the grass, while the great encircling buildings over-looking the campus give a distinct modern touch to Nature’s picture.
College Chapel.
A more suitable or lovely location for Emory College could hardly have been found. As the little college town was named for the great University across the sea, so was it also patterned. The long shady streets, bordered with the massive remains of a once forest primeval, and lined with natural lawns and quaint old homes, differ but little from those of the older college town, save possibly with the exchange of oaks for elms, and youth for age.

Shut in from the noise and clamor of the outer world, with a picturesque little horse car as the sole connecting link to the outside, the little town forms a retreat most conducive to study, and becomes in truth a veritable little world within itself. Here, although intercollegiate athletics are prohibited, all kinds of sports and games are enjoyed. Class meets class in football and baseball. Tennis tournaments, trophy cups, races, track meets, all are here lost and won, with all the excitement, all the enthusiasm, incidental to greater and more formal varsity contests.

Few and Phi Gamma Literary Societies have trained speakers and produced orators almost from the beginning of the college itself. With a joint membership of a large per cent. of the four hundred students enrolled, they have acquired much success, and are in an excellent condition. During the last twenty-two years they have jointly published The Emory Phoenix, a monthly familiar to most college exchange tables.

The social life at Emory is indeed ideal. Too small for the forming of aristocratic factions and circles, yet large enough to be recognized as a strong college, and to afford the privileges as such, Emory offers to boys in all stations the opportunity of enjoying true college life upon an equal footing.

The following fraternities have chapters at Emory: Chi Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Nu. In addition to these the Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club has a strong chapter. The D. V. S., a local senior society, and the Pendragons, an honor society, are two important organizations.

Possibly one of the most interesting places on the Emory Campus is the old Confederate Cemetery just back of the college chapel. It was early in the struggle of the sixties that Emory closed her doors to her students to become soldiers. The times were too exciting for the cry of war not to be heard even in this quiet retreat, and the students responded, many of them not even returning first to their homes to say goodbye to loved ones.

As the strife grew fiercer and the list of wounded increased, building after building threw open her doors, until the whole college was converted into an improvised hospital. Many were the souls which left their mortal clay in the old college buildings, to be buried in this little corner of the campus, and tradition tells of the blood stains that are still to be seen on some of the floors.

Such are the memories, such the traditions which surround and inspire the Emory student. The student is far more fortunate than of fifty years ago. Each year has added something to the college in addition to wealth and power. Something to be studied and learned. Traditions and legends of a college have an inspiration and incentive peculiarly their own, and are not to be disposed. But besides the new, the old beauties, the old legends, the old traditions still live and play their part in the Emory student’s life, and each year as the college continues to send out younger and fresher men to join the ranks of her ever increasing alumni, who knows but what there may be among them another Young J. Allen yet unknown, or another L. Q. C. Lamar yet to bring honor to her name.

W. CLYDE COOPER.
FACULTY
REV. JAMES EDWARD DICKEY, D.D.
Chi Phi Fraternity.
Professor of Mental and Moral Science.
A. B., Emory College, 1891; Member of the North Georgia Conference since 1891; Adjunct Professor of Mental and Moral Science Emory College, 1891–96; Alumni Professor of History and Political Economy, 1896–99; President and Professor of Mental and Moral Science since July, 1902; D. D., Kentucky Wesleyan College, 1903.
JOHN FLETCHER BONNELL, Ph.D.
Kappa Alpha Fraternity.
Professor of Natural Science.
A. B., Emory College, 1871; Ph. D., Southern University; Student of Harvard University, 1871-72 and 1903; Co-Principal of Union Springs (Ala.) Institute, 1872-74; Principal Milner High School, 1874-75; Professor of Natural Science, Emory College, since 1875.

MANSFIELD THEODORE PEEDE, A.M.
Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.
Professor of Pure Mathematics and Astronomy
A.M., Randolph-Macon College, 1878; Instructor in Bethel Academy (Va.), 1880-82; Graduate Student of John Hopkins University, 1883-85 and 1887-88; Acting Assistant in Mathematics, University of North Carolina, 1889; Professor of Mathematics, Emory College, since 1889.

HARRY HARLAN STONE, A.M.
Kappa Alpha Fraternity.
Professor of Applied Mathematics.
A.B., Emory College, 1880, and A.M., 1883; Adjunct Professor of Mathematics, Emory College, 1880-91, and Professor of Applied Mathematics since 1891; Student Harvard University summer of 1891.
JAMES PARKS HANNER, Jr., A.B.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.
Pendragon Honor Club.
Professor of Modern Languages.
A.B., Vanderbilt University, 1894; Professor of Modern Languages and History, Millsaps College, 1894-1900; Student University of Chicago, summer quarter of 1896; Student in University of Leipzig and in Barcelona, 1900-1901; Professor of Modern Language, Emory College, since 1901.

FREDERICK NEWTON DUNCAN, A.M., Ph.D.
Professor of Biology.
A.B., Indiana University, 1900, and A.M., 1901; Student Indiana Biological Station, summer of 1902; Teacher of Science, Central Normal College, 1898; Assistant in Chemistry, Indiana University, 1900-01; Associate Professor of Chemistry, Southwestern University, 1901-02; Acting Professor of Biology, Emory College, 1902-03; Professor of Chemistry, 1903-06; Clarke University, 1905-06, and Ph.D., 06; and Professor of Biology since 1906.

EDWARD KIMBROUGH TURNER, Ph.D.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.
Pendragon Honor Club.
Professor of the Latin Language and Literature.
A.B., Southern University, 1890, and A.M., 1892; Fellow, Vanderbilt University, 1893-95, and M.A., 1895; Headmaster, Bridgeport, Ala., Training School, 1895-97; Principal of Sub-Freshman Department, Southern University 1897-98; and Adjunct Professor of Modern Languages, 1898-99, and Professor of Ancient Languages, 1899-1900; Student at Leipzig, Berlin, Halle-Wittenberg, 1900-02, and Ph.D., 1902; Professor of Greek, Southern University, 1900-03; Professor of Latin, Emory College, since 1903.
CHARLES W. PEPPLER, Ph.D.
Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity.
Pendragon Honor Club.
Professor of Greek Language and Literature.
A. B., Johns Hopkins University, 1892, and Ph.D., 1898; Hopkins Scholar, 1889-90; Honorary Hopkins Scholar, 1890-92; University Scholar, 1892-94; Fellow, 1895-96; Professor of Greek in Emory College, since 1898. Student in the University of Berlin, 1902.

EDGAR HUTCHINSON JOHNSON, A.M.
Professor of History and Political Economy.
S.B., Emory College, 1891; Professor of Mathematics, Quitman College (Ark.), 1891-93; Student Johns Hopkins University, 1893-95; S.M., University of Chicago, 1899; Adjunct Professor of Mathematics, Emory College, 1895-1900; Professor of History and Political Economy, Emory College, since 1900; A.M., Harvard University, 1903.

B. A. WISE, A.M., Ph.D.
Phi Beta Kappa Society.
A.B., Randolph-Macon College, 1897. A.M., 1898; Professor of Latin, Randolph-Macon Academy, 1897-1901; Ph.D., Johns Hopkins, 1905; Professor of Latin, Belmont School, 1905-06; Professor of English, Milsaps College, 1906-07; Professor of English, Emory College, 1907-08.
REV. REMBERT GILLMAN SMITH, A. B.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.
Asso. Professor of Mental and Moral Science.
A. B., Emory College, 1897; Teacher and President R. E. Lee Institute, 1897-1900; Principal Monticello Academy, 1900-02; Member of North Georgia Conference since 1902; Associate Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Emory College, since 1903.

F. F. FARMER, A. B.
A.B., Emory College, 1904; Principal Public School Baconton, Ga., 1904-05; Superintendent City Schools, Broxton, Ga., 1905-6; Adjunct Professor of Mathematics since 1907.

GEORGE PINCKNEY SHINGLER, Jr.
B.Sc., S.B. (M.I.T.)
Kappa Sigma Fraternity.
Acting Professor of Chemistry.
B.Sc., Mercer University, 1900; Assistant in the Department of Chemistry, Mercer University, 1899-1900; Teacher in the Public Schools of South Carolina and Georgia, 1900-1903; Student at the Summer School of the South, Knoxville, 1903; Graduate Student in Agricultural Chemistry, University of Georgia, 1903-04; Graduate Student in the Department of Chemistry, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1904-05, 1905-06, graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, 1906; Acting Professor of Chemistry, Emory College, 1906-07.
Language Hall.
Campus View.
Senior Class.

Colors: Red and Black.
Flower: Red Rose
Motto: Dum, vivimus vivamus.

Yell.

Rackety-cax, coax, coax!
Rackety-cax, coax, coax!
We are the stuff as sure as fate,
We are the class of 1908.

Officers.

Dux .............................................. Samuel C. Haddock.
Historian ................................. Robert M. Arnold.
Prophet ........................................ David C. Jones.
Poet ................................................ Walter H. Beckham.
Chaplain ....................................... Thomas M. Sullivan.
Treasurer ..................................... Ralph M. McGhee.
History of the Senior Class.

Who cares whether folks say you are the best class or whether you are a set of fickle, foolish freaks. Who cares for public opinion, when the bare facts stand out as proof of deeds of valor. It makes no difference what folks say when the foot-prints of noble men are stamped with a clear impress on the sands of time.

Such foot-prints has the glorious class of 1908 left in its march from Subdom. Since its organization the deeds of its real men have been recorded—deeds that need to be commended, deeds that need to be condemned; some that need to be laughed at, those that need to be taken seriously. But whatever be the case, our acts are committed, our history is written and we look back over the past, not with a feeling of regret, but with a certain degree of satisfaction.

We think of the pleasures we have experienced and the sorrows we have had; of the games we have lost, of those we have won; of the acts we have committed and the pranks we have played. We see our path strewn with Coca-Cola bottles and cigarette “stumps” and lastly we observe “Madam’s” tank all smeared with the red and black. Oh, the naughty deeds of underclassmen days! But nobler acts than these are recorded. How many times has the midnight oil been burned in an effort to observe like “Madam!” How frequently have we stood for three-fourths of an hour and endured the vibration of “Pug’s tongue of parchment! How often has “Pep” struck an “adorable passage” and his majesty, the King, related the story of the “soft-flowing Ocmulgee”—and we have had to endure it! We have forced a laugh at the jokes of “Oedipus” and “Fox.” We have listened to “Ceph” on Sunday make his announcements concerning the ladies of the church.” “Ferd” has “cut” and smoked while Hannan has propped up his feet—they have had their influence. “Zeke” has sung in chapel and we have groaned; while “Sub” has covered his face and we have rejoiced. Oh, the innumerable experiences through which we have passed!

But turning aside from all that is frivolous to investigate the real merits of the class of ’08 and the accomplishments they have achieved, we find good marks in abundance. From the beginning, our class-room work has not suffered, but we have made no attempt to dazzle those about us with brilliancy. Our mental development has been forward and today we feel stronger than ever before and realize more fully the good that is derived from a college education. Neither have we been lacking in athletics, but all along have held our own and finished the last football season victoriously. But our grandest fame rests in the fact that some of our men have stood out among their fellows as moral leaders and men of character, despite the difficulty of leading such a life. Some have been examples of that true manhood which people admire and have stood for all that is commendable and worthy of praise.

We have nothing to regret and as we stand upon the eve of graduation, we are proud to be numbered among that body of men known as the class of 1908.

Robt. M. Arnold, Historian.
WILLIAM NELSON ARMOR, S. B.
Eastman, Georgia.
Sigma Nu Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; I. O. N. A. Social Club; Baseball Team '05, '06, '07.
ROBERT MCDONELL ARNOLD, A. B.
Perry, Georgia.
Phi Theta Delta Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society; Few Literary Society; May Debater '06; February Debater '07; Impromptu Debater '07; Few Society Anniversary Orator, '07; Champion Debater, '08; Lee's Birthday Orator, '08; Georgia Day Orator, '07; Speaker's Place, '07; Junior Oration Medal, 07; Senior Banquet Speaker, '08; Historian of Class '07-'08; Literary Editor of Oxonian; Baseball Team, '08.

[Signature]

"IF LOVE WERE AWAY" (S. BANQUET)
WALTER HILL BECKHAM, A. B.
Zebulon, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; February Debater, '07; Impromptu Debater, '07; Washington's Birthday Orator, '08; President of Phi Gamma; Phoenix Medal, '07; Editor-in-Chief of Oxonian; Poet of Class '07, '08; Secretary E. C. A. A.; Football Team '06, '07; North Oxford Tennis Club; Relay Team '05, '06. Memorial Day Orator '08; Speaker's Place '08.
FESTUS LETUS BEDINGFIELD, Ph. B.
Covington, Georgia.
Track Team, '06, '07; Special Gymnasium Class.

THE MIDWAY SPORT.
BEN TYLER CARTER, Ph. B.
Macon, Georgia.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Socia Club; Pendragon Honor Club.
CHARLES ASHFORD COTTER, Ph. B.
LaGrange, Georgia.
Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Art Editor of Eranos; Art Editor of Oxoniau.
EMORY JONES DANIEL, A. B.
Senoia, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; President of Few; Delegate to Y. M. C. A. Student Conference, '06; Member of Board of Directors of Few '06; Member of Ministerial Association; Speaker's Place '08.
THOMAS JACKSON DEMPSEY, JR., A. B.
Jackson, Georgia.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; Pendragon Honor Club; Phi Gamma Literary Society; May Debater, '04; Impromptu Debater '07; Champion Debater, '08; President of Phi Gamma; Business Manager of Emory Phoenix; Editor-in-Chief of Oxonian; Prophet of Class '04; Relay Team, '06; Champion in Tennis Doubles, '06; Council on Inter-collegiate Debate.
ALEXANDER EDWARD DEWAR, S. B.
Largo, Florida.
Honor Roll, '04, '07; Speaker's Place, '07; Football Team, '04, '05, '06, '07; Track Team, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08; All Emory Football Team, '04, '05, '06, '07; Holder of College record on mile run.

Cc. & £>^
RUCK FINISHING—RUN—

A. E. Dewar
LESTER CLAUDE DICKSON, Ph. B.
Fayetteville, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; President of Phi Gamma;
Fall term Debater, '07; Impromptu Debater, '05,
'06, '07; Champion Debater, '08; Senior Banquet
Speaker, '08; Law Course, '06, '07, '08.

Lester C. Dickson
QUILLIAN FELKER, Ph. B.
Dalton, Georgia.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; I. O. N. A. Social Club; Baseball Team, '05, '06, '07, '08; All-Emory Baseball Team, '85, '86, '07; Captain Junior Baseball Team; Football Team, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '07.
HORACE THRESHTON FREEMAN, A. B.
LaFayette, Georgia.

Phi Gamma Literary Society; Pendragon Honor Club; February Debater, '07; Impromptu Debater, '07; Champion Debater, '08; Respondent to Few Anniversary, '07; Phi Gamma Society Anniversary Orator, '08; Honor Roll, '07; Speaker at Senior Banquet.
SAMUEL CLEVELAND HADDOCK, A. B.
Shellman, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; President Few; February Debater, '07; Council on Inter-collegiate Debate; Honor Roll, '05, '07; Speaker's Place, '07; Naughty Eight Social Club; Historian of Class '05; President of Class '07, '08; Literary Editor of Oxonian; Special Gymnasium Class, '05; Football Team, '06, '07.

Haddock

WHEN THE CLASS MEETS, FIND THEM ALL ORDER.
BENJAMIN SIMMS HEARD, S. B.
Covington, Georgia.
Sigma Alpha Epislon Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society; Relay Runner, '04, '05, '06, '07; Single Tennis Championship, '05; Tied Double Tennis Championship, '07.
GEORGE WASHINGTON HUTCHINSON, A. B.
Adrian, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; Naughty Eight Social Club; Vice-President of Ministerial Association, '07, '08; Vice-President Y. M. C. A.; February Debater, '06; Impromptu Debater, '07; Respondent at Few Anniversary, '06; Editor-in-Chief of Emory Phoenix; Speaker at Senior Banquet.

AN EXAMPLE—
"CHRONIC GAG '08 IS THE BEST LOOKING CLASS Emory Ever Had."
DAVID CLUIE JONES, A. B.
Mansfield, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Assistant Business Manager of Emory Phoenix; Prophet of Class, '07, '08; Baseball Team, '05, '06, '07, '08; Football Team, '06, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '07; Relay Team, '07; Basketball Team, '08.

THE FOXY PROPHET.

D.C. Jones
LOUIS MARVIN LESTER, A. B.

Guyton, Georgia.

Chi¥Phi Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Pendragon Honor Club; President of Phi Gamma; May Debater, '07; Impromptu Debater, '07; Welcome Address at Phi Gamma Anniversary, '07; Honor Roll, '06, '07; Speaker's Place, '07; Football Team, '07.

G. M. Lester

COULD "PARDON" CATCH A SNAIL?
RALPH MORTON McGHEE, A. B.
Rome, Georgia.
Chi Phi Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Pendragon Honor Club; Delegate to Students' International Volunteer Conference, '05; Board of Directors of Georgia Students' Missionary League, '06, '07; Treasurer of Class '06, '07, '08; Honor Roll '05, '06, '07; Speaker's Place, '05, '07; Football Team, '05, '06; Football Team Manager, '06; Relay Team, '06, '07; Basketball Team, '08.

Ralph M. McGhee

A treasurer has a cinch.
CHARLES HOWARD ORR, Ph. B.

Washington, Georgia.

Few Literary Society; President of Few; Athletic Editor of Oxonian; Baseball Team, '05, '06, '07, '08; Football Team, '07; Basketball Team, '08.
ISAIAH TILLMAN PEARSON, A. B.
Richland, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Local Editor of Emory Phoenix, Speaker's Place, '07.

I. T. Pearson

Humor is the thing politicians provide yourself.
ARTHUR GUY ROBERTSON, A. B.
Dalton, Ga.
Football Team, '06, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '07; Baseball Team, '06, '07; Relay Team, '06.

A "BAD MAN FROM BITTER CREEK"
DILLARD BEARDEN SEWELL, A. B.
Lexington, Georgia.
Sigma Nu Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society;
Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; President Phi Gamma; Athletic Editor Emory Phoenix; Business Manager Oxonian; Football Team, '06, '07.
MARVIN WESLEY SMITH, A. B.
Bethlehem, Georgia.
Honor Roll, ’06; Speaker’s Place, ’07; Relay Team, ’04, ’05, ’06, ’07; Baseball Team, ’07, ’08.

M. S.

THE SMITH HERMITAGE.
WILLIAM CARLOS SMITH, A. B.
Dublin, Georgia.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society; I. O. N. A. Social Club; Senior Banquet Speaker; Baseball Team, '05, '06, '07, '08; Manager Baseball Team, '07, '08; Football Team, '04, '05, '06, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '06, '07; Captain Football Team, '06, '07; Relay Team, '04; Basketball Team, '08; Captain Field Sports, '08; LIVINGSTON SNOW.
Quitman, Georgia.
Kappa Alpha Fraternity; Two years Special Course, elected to the Class of '08; Left End Football Team; Right field Baseball Team.

KIDDO FINDING HIS DAILY DUTIES.
TRAMMELL STARR, A. B.
Calhoun, Georgia.
Chi Phi Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society;
President of Phi Gamma; Special Gymnasium
Class, '06.

WHEN LITTLE TRAMMEL GOES TO SCHOOL.
BONNELL HAROLD STONE,
Oxford, Georgia.
Kappa Alpha Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society; Phi Gamma Literary Society; I. O. N. A. Social Club; President of Phi Gamma; Historian of Class, '05, '06; Speaker's Place, '06; Special Gymnasium Class '05, '06; Baseball Team, '08.
CARL THEODORE STOVALL, Jr., Ph. B.
Vienna, Georgia.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society;
Speaker's Place, '06; Prophet of Class, '05.
WILLIAM RANDOLPH STRICKLAND, S. B.
Valdosta, Georgia.
Sigma Alpha Epislon Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society, Football Team, '06, '07.
THOMAS MARVIN SULLIVAN, A. B.
Homer, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Fall Term Debater, '06; Impromptu Debater, '06, '07; Champion Debater, '08; Exchange Editor of Emory Phoenix; Washington's Birthday Orator, '07, '08; Lee's Birthday Orator, '05; Speaker's Place, '06; President of Ministerial Association; Business Manager of Oxonian; Chaplain of Class, '07, '08; Football Team, '04, '05, '06, '07; Manager Football Team, '06; All-Emory Football Team, '07; Basketball Team, '08.
GOODRICH COOK WHITE, A. B.
Newnan, Georgia.
Chi Phi Fraternity; D. V. S. Senior Society; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Fall Term Debater, '06; Literary Editor Emory Phoenix, Honor Roll, '06, '07; Speaker's Place, '07; Evans' Bible Medal, '06; Speaker at Senior Banquet; Assistant Manager of Track Team, '07; Manager of Track Team, '08; Relay Team, '05, '06, '07; Football Team, '07.
THE JUNIOR.
Junior Class

Colors: Purple and White.
Flower: Honeysuckle.
Motto: Carpe Diem.

Yell.
Rah, Rah, Rah!
Sis, Rah, Boom!
Nineteen-nine!
Give her room.

Officers.
Dux ........................................ Evans V. Heath.
Historian .................................. Jackson N. Townsend.
Prophet .................................... Rufus H. Anderson.
Poet ....................................... W. Clyde Cooper.
Chaplain .................................. Samuel Y. Allgood.
Treasurer .................................. Edgar C. Wilson.

History of the Junior Class.

NOT unusually, a class Historian is supposed to be a voluminous “liar” with a preponderous verbosity and without the capacity of even knowing the truth. However, such an one is not needed to write the history of the Junior class. Already the feats of some of its members sound stronger than fiction and need no exaggeration to produce pleasant sensations.

To make a long story short, we entered in the fall of 1905 about seventy-five strong with the verdant spirit common to a Freshie, but even in that year the faculty became aware that something unusual had gotten in the “hopper.” Nor were they long disappointed, for the next year we got down to work in real earnest. We had increased in numbers above the high water mark and were about one hundred strong, having representatives from every section of the State and several thrown in from the neighboring states. Some were descendents of old English families, some of Scotch, some of Irish, some of Welch, some of Scotch-Irish, some of Scotch-Irish-Welch. Such a variety as never before composed a college class. Junior year found our ranks somewhat thinned out. In fact the two preceding years of continuous grinding had left nothing but the pure grain, the chaff had been thrown aside. Such, however, was not without its results. Prof. Weber had fled to the cane breaks of Louisiana rather than tackle us again, and Prof. Brown to the University of Chicago to have the translation to the Anabasis revised.

It might be asked that we produce reasons for our greatness. We produce them. Actual facts show that we have been sifted down to about 50 members. Of these there are ten prospective lawyers, six ministers, five doctors, five teachers, three civil engineers, one architect, one illustrator, one journalist, one banker and one foreign missionary. Such a variety itself tends toward greatness, for it creates life and life is greatness. Moreover, we boast the youngest class in college, having an average age of eighteen years.

In athletics the Junior class has always taken a leading part. Each year we have ably championed the winning teams in both baseball and football. Our men always get some of the most prominent places on the all-Emory team. What class can produce better football men than Roberts, Lambert, Hill, Reeves and Heath, all of whom have distinguished themselves in these parts. We have also ranked among the first in baseball, backed by such men as Beckwith, Roberts, Ed Green, Hill and Parham. Our men have easily taken the relay pennant every year since entering college. In the annual track meets we have always furnished a fair portion of Emory's representatives, in such men as Lambert, Brinkley, Joe Bryan and Ward. In connection with our athletic achievements we take pleasure in mentioning the name of our efficient coach, Prof. Hanner, who has taken great pains in developing the athletic spirits of our class.

And last but not least, we are constrained to mention our worthy class-room workers. Who, more fortunate than Ponce de Leon, seemed to have found the fountain of eternal youth—knowledge—and have plunged deep beneath its limpid waters. Tom Rivers, whom all the Jonesboro girls so dearly love, has made a good record, leading his class with an average of more than 98. An ardent supporter of the standard oil company, and well versed in that indefinable art of boot-licking, he has already secured a sure mortgage on the summa cum laude. But closely following Tom comes Hinton, Brinkley, Wilson, Sam Buxton and Walter Bryan, who has already qualified for the Cecil Rhodes scholarship. Of course, space forbids mentioning all of those worthy of mention. But all the way from Saltzburger Morgan and dancing Holbrooks down to Okefenoke Bunn we believe we have a class of strong, true, brave men.

JACKSON N. TOWNSEND, Historian.
SAMUEL YOUNG ALLGOOD, A. B.
Marietta, Ga.
Few Literary Society; Vice-President Y. M. C. A.; Relay Team, '07.

RUFUS HARRISON ANDERSON, Ph. B.
Jersey, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Class Prophet, '07, '09.

STUART BRINKLEY, A. B.
Thomson, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Honor Roll, '06; Relay Team, '05, '06, '07; Track Team, '07; Baseball Team, '08; Second in Tennis Tournament, '07.
JOSEPH MARCELLUS BRYAN, Ph. B.
Wrightsville, Georgia.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club;
Phi Gamma Literary Society; February Debater,
'08; Honor Roll, '07; Baseball Team, '07, '08;
Track Team, '07; Special Gymnasium Class, '07.

WALTER SPEIGHT BRYAN, A. B.
Wrightsville, Georgia.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Few Literary Society;
President of Few; Impromptu Debater, '06;
February Debater, '07; Fall Term Debater, '08;
Emory-Wofford Debate, '08; Poet at Anniversary
Few Society; Speaker's Place, '07; Honor Roll, '07;
President Y. M. C. A.; Baseball Team, '07, '08;
Track Team, '07; Special Gymnasium Class, '07;
Basketball Team, '08; Captain Basketball Team,
'08.

HARVEY CARSWELL BUNN, Ph. B.
Fairfax, Georgia.
Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Welcome Address Phi Gamma Anniversary, '08; Special Gymnasium Class, '07.
ROBERT LEWIS BUXTON, S. B.
Girard, Georgia.
Few Literary Society.

SAMUEL HAESELER BUXTON, A. B.
Girard, Georgia.
Few Literary Society.

WARNIE CLYDE COOPER, Ph. B.
Norwood, Georgia.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Phi Gamma Anniversary Poet, '06, '07, '08; Class Poet, '06, '09; Speaker's Place, '06, '07; Special Gymnasium Class, '08; May Debater, '08.
GLOVER BERRY COPELAND, S. B.
Dalton, Georgia.
Baseball Team, '05, '06, '07; Football Team, '05, '06, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '06, '07.

HARRY STEWART DALEY, A. B.
Atlanta, Georgia.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Fall Term Debater, '07.

HAYGOOD EVANS, A. B.
Oxford, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; Relay Team, '04, '05, '06, '07; Special Gymnasium Class, '06, '07; Football Team, '07.
EDGAR HILL GREEN, S. B.
Shellman, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Baseball Team, '07, '08; Basketball Team, '08; Delegate to Southern Students' Conference, '07.

SAMUEL GREEN, A. B.
Kirkwood, Georgia.
Delta Tau Delta Fraternity; Football Team, '06, '07; Relay Team, '06, '07; Baseball Team, '07, '08; Track Team, '07; Basketball Team, '08; Special Gymnasium Class, '07.

EVANS VIRGILE HEATH, A. B.
Girard, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Fall Term Debater, '07; May Debater, '08; Speaker's Place, '07; Dux of Class '06, '07, '08; Football Team, '07; Baseball Team, '08.
OTTO LEE HENDERSON, A. B.
Tampa, Florida.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; O. K. C. Social Club.

ALEXANDER FRANKLIN HILL, Ph. B.
Greenville, Georgia.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Phi Gamma Respondent to Valedictory Address, '08; Speaker's Place, '06, '07; Declamation Medal, '06, '07; Lee's Birthday Orator, '07; Football Team, '05, '06, '07; Captain Football Team, '06, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '07; Baseball Team, '06, '07, '08; Basketball Team, '08.

HERMAN CLINTON HOLBROOK, A. B.
Cumming, Georgia.
Few Literary Society.
BOLLING HARVEY JOHNSON, A. B.
Plains, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society.

JACOB FRED LAMBERT, A. B.
Columbus, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; Historian of Class '06, '07; Football Team, '05, '06, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '06, '07; Track Team, '06, '07; Holder of Emory Record for Shot Put.

JOHN DWIGHT McCORD, A. B.
Manassas, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Chaplain of Class '05, '06; President Missionary Department Y. M. C. A., '08, '09.
THOMAS OLIVER MARSHALL, A. B.
Cedartown, Georgia.
Chi Phi Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Football Team, '06, '07; Speaker's Place, '07.

HUBERT L. MOBLEY, Ph. B.
Hogansville, Georgia.
Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Baseball Team, '07, '08; Relay Team '06, '07; Track Team, '07.

LELAND MOORE, A. B.
Dublin, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; May Debater, '07; "Midnight Shower Club."
LEROY GLEEN PARHAM, A. B.
Odessa, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Poet of Class '05; Chaplain of Class '06; Track Team, '07; Baseball Team, '05, '06, '08; Relay Team, '04, '05, '07; Manager of Baseball Team, '05; North Oxford Tennis Club.

WILLIAM COURTNEY PENNINGTON, A. B.
Covington, Georgia.

THOMAS ELLIS REEVE, Ph. B.
Calhoun, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; Relay Team '07; Football Team, '07.
THOMAS MILTON RIVERS, A. B.
Jonesboro, Georgia.
Sigma Nu Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club; Honor Roll, '05, '06, '07; Sub-Freshman Scholarship, '05; Georgia Day Orator, '06; Pasco Physics Medal, '07.

JOHN WILLIAM ROBERTS, Jr., Ph. B.
Oxford, Georgia.
Kappa Alpha Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club; O. K. C. Social Club; L. O. N. A. Social Club; Honor Roll, '04; Dux of Class, '04, '05; Football Team, '04, '05, '06, '07; Captain Football Team, '04; Baseball Team, '04, '06, '07; Captain Baseball Team, '07; All-Emory Football Team, '03, '04, '07; All-Emory Baseball Team, '07; Track Team, '07; Basketball Team, '07.

HORACE SANDIFORD, S. B.
Oxford, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society; May Debater, '07; "Midnight Shower Club."

"Midnight Shower Club."
DUKE CLINTON THOMAS, A. B.
Geneva, Georgia.
Few Literary Society.

JACKSON NORTON TOWNSEND, A. B.
Tifton, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Fall Term Debater, '06; May Debater, '07; Impromptu Debater, '07; Emory-Wofford Debate; Historian of Class '07; Football Team, '07.

CLYDE HERNDON TYLER, S. B.
Loco, Georgia.
Phi Gamma Literary Society.
CHARLES SIMS WARD, A. B.
Carrollton, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Track Team, '07; Football Team, '07; Relay Team, '07.

ATTICUS WATSON WHITE, A. B.
Orange, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; Fall Term Debater, '07; Champion Debater, '08; Relay Team, '07.

EDGAR CUMMINGS WILSON, S. B.
Tallahassee, Florida.
Pendragon Honor Club; Relay Team, '05, '06, '07; Honor Roll, '06.
WILEY BURGE WISDOM, Ph. B.
Chipley, Georgia.
Chi Phi Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Social Club; Phi Gamma Literary Society; Relay Team, '05; Special Gymnasium Class, '07; Football Team, '07.

ALEXANDER ABBOTT WOOTEN.
Moultrie, Georgia.
Few Literary Society.

WIGHTMAN SAMUEL BECKWITH, A. B.
Oxford, Georgia.
Baseball Team '06, '07.
CHARLES CRAWFORD HINTON, Ph. B.
Macon, Georgia.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Pendragon Honor Club;
Football Team, '05, '06, '07; Honor Roll '06, '07

SIDNEY CLARKE MORGAN, A. B.
Tusculum, Georgia.
Few Literary Society; May Debater, '07; Football Team, '08.

HARRY YOUNG McCORD, Jr., A. B.
Atlanta, Georgia.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Theta Nu Epsilon Social SENEY HALL.

Offices of President, and Secretary, and Lecture Room.
THE SOPHOMORE
Sophomore Class.

Colors: Orange and Black.

Flower: White Carnation.

Motto: Conspirati in optima; Fratres in omnibus.

Yell.

My! My!
Ki-yi-yi! Ki-yi-yi!
Whom do you spy?
Sophomores! Sophomores, 1910!

History of the Sophomore Class.

As we cast our eyes in a retrospective view over the past years of “underclassmanship” we yawn in unison a deep sigh of relief at the thought of having traveled that dusty road; while on the other hand we are thrilled with joy at the thought that within a few short months we shall inhabit that realm whose mysteries are known only to those whom we know as “upperclassmen.”
With a few who are designated as "alumni subs" we began our freshman year with about seventy-eight, hale, hearty and hard working men destined to make a worthy population; some as farmers, lawyers, doctors, politicians, and great statesmen. Few periods in the past annals of this noteworthy institution of learning have witnessed a more promising body of students; even though some did have the "moss still growing on their backs and the cobwebs in their manifold colored locks." For we must necessarily remember that some of our country's most famous men were of this description, consequently we have hopes; and, as it is generally known, "Father Time" reveals many secret surprises, good as well as evil; hence we have no doubt that when he unfolds his manuscript we shall see above all the names of our classmates; men whom we shall be proud to claim as our fellow students.

In athletics we held our ground excellently considering the fact that we were merely Freshmen. But on to the field of study. Never have we been equaled, being composed of stars that slept at night and shown forth by day; mathematicians who worked out the problem of what is familiarly known as "boot-licking"; logicians who concluded that college life was a non-studying experimental theorem; theologians who proclaimed that Franklin was one of the twelve tribes of Israel; and finally members of the "Sine-cure Club," whose motto was "No work between meals." With such a band of men as this it may easily be conceived to what degree of superiority we attained. And at last, with our ups and downs, struggles and victories, we reached Sophomoric class.

It was with no little regret that on our return to assume Sophomorical duties we found some few of our beloved classmates had for diverse reasons remained at home. Happily, however, some had plunged into the shackles of matrimony, and now in a little cottage of their own "two hearts beat as one" and the sound of pattering feet and the chuckling of a tiny voice fills to overflowing the love-throbbing hearts. But in return for those who have left us we were not disappointed in those who have taken their places.

The class now numbers sixty-six; and truth demands me to say that the class of this year, is, if possible, superior to the one of last year. Most of the fuel ignited last year is now burning fires and flaming lights; unfortunately, however, seems to have been "unignitable" and in that part are those who love "Trig" some of it and "Analyt" so well that they will continue to pursue them for another year or so.

In the field sports this year we are surpassing everything. Just naturally, we make the "diamond" glitter and the football field tremble under our "Iron-sides." There is no doubt at all but that we have the baseball pennant safe under our protecting shield.

It is useless to say that a class of "all-wise Sophs" never miss the opportunity of visiting their fair female friends, Midway and especially Cov. being famous Sunday resorts for the "love and society-seeking gentlemen." Entertainments and various other social functions are not infrequent affairs; and we occasionally see a "swell Soph" out driving with the lady of his choice.

And on we go through pleasures, toils and snares wending our weary way until finally with joyous hearts and souls full of ecstacy we reach our goal, the end of our diplomatic pilgrimage.

P. H. C., Historian Class '10.
Sophomore Class Officers.

HENDERSON WARREN
Dux
A. A. LEMON
Prophet
C. D. GIBSON
Chaplain

P. H. CHRISTIAN
Historian.

D. H. MALONE
Poet

HENDERSON WARREN
Dux

A. A. LEMON
Prophet

C. D. GIBSON
Chaplain
Sophomore Class.

W. E. Binford .................................. Covington, Ga.
B. C. Bird ........................................ Colquitt, Ga.
W. F. Buford ...................................... Jackson, Ga.
G. E. Clay, Φ Δ Θ ................................. Walnut Grove, Ga.
A. K. Cooper, K A ............................... Covington, Ga.
J. T. Coppedge .................................. Fayette, Ga.
P. G. Corker, A T Ω ............................. Dublin, Ga.
O. N. Dowd ........................................ Richland, Ga.
J. W. Edmonson, X Φ ........................... Atlanta, Ga.
S. J. Evans, Δ T Δ ............................... Ashburn, Ga.
C. R. Fox .......................................... Madison, Ga.
C. W. Fulford ..................................... Wrightsville, Ga.
H. W. Gallaher, Σ A E ........................... Tampa, Fla.
D. L. Gibson, Σ N ............................... Moultrie, Ga.
S. T. Harrell, Φ Δ Θ ............................. Quitman, Ga.
R. A. Holmes, Jr. ................................ Sylvester, Ga.
S. E. Jenkins, A T Ω ............................. Albany, Ga.
E. D. Kenyon ...................................... Roanoke, Ala.
W. S. Lane ........................................ Roanoke, Ala.
A. A. Lemon, K A ............................... MacDonald, Ga.
T. A. Lewis ........................................ Thomaston, Ga.
J. E. Lovett ....................................... Sparks, Ga.
G. A. McMullen .................................. Bayview, Fl.
C. R. McWhorter ................................ Bowersville, Ga.
P. M. Munro, A T Ω ............................. Buena Vista, Ga.
H. E. Pafford ..................................... Waycross, Ga.
F. B. Rawlings, Φ Δ Θ ........................... Sandersville, Ga.
H. V. Reynolds, K A ............................. Marietta, Ga.
W. Rumble ........................................ Smarrs Station, Ga.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>T. J. Sappington</td>
<td>Tifton, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. L. Stanford</td>
<td>Mountville, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S. V. Stiles</td>
<td>Atlanta, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. O. Suttles</td>
<td>Atlanta, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. C. Tanner</td>
<td>Auburn, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O. B. Trammell</td>
<td>Jeffersonville, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. B. Wade</td>
<td>Smith Station, Ala.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. Warren</td>
<td>Tampa, Fla.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O. H. Wesley</td>
<td>Atlanta, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. W. Wright</td>
<td>Cairo, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. O. Woodruff</td>
<td>Porterdale, Ga.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
THE FRESHMAN.
Freshman Class.

Colors: Red and White.

Flower: Marechal Neil Rose.

Motto.

In studio vicimus,
In athleiicis vincimus.

Yell

Boom alacka! Boom alacka!
Wah who, reven!
Razzle! Dazzle! Hobble! Gobble!
Nineteen eleven!
Ti hip! Ti hi!
Sis! Boom! Bah!
White and Red
Kills 'em dead.
Ha! Ha! Ha!
History of the Freshman Class

THE history of this class is of necessity a part of the history of the college for the past two years, consequently I will endeavor to write a brief sketch of this brilliant and heroic class of '11.

Despite the fact that the regular history of this class should not be written just yet, also the "mishaps" and "misfortunes" through which we have passed have only recently gone by, we are handicapped by the deficiency in the amount of material consequent to our comparatively short career as a class. While some of our members who have had the pleasure of emerging from the dark and shadowy regions of Subdom have begun to "get on" to the ways of college life, still a goodly number of us have lost no time since last September in "catching" the college spirit.

One of the occasions which we shall not forget was that autumn morning we were ushered into the august presence of Madam Peed. We soon became familiar with those geometrical "whys" and "wherefores" and knew that a step was to be explained hitherto unknown when Madam exclaimed, "Now, young gentlemen, you will observe, etc."

The average age of the members of our class I have been unable to ascertain but this I know, that some are direct descendants of Adam, some declare they have the philosophic blood of Socrates coursing through their veins while others give strong proof of the theory of evolution. Nevertheless we deem it a privilege to be a member of the class of '11. We feel safe in saying that the future is bright before us and that Emory's banner shall not be lowered on account of our existence.

We have men in our class whose hopes are "hitched to a star," some of them whose ideal vocation in life is to pull the twine over a donkey; some believe that Ichabod Crane was the model man of the hour; others have declared themselves averse to the fair sex and expect to become monks in some remote regions, while others pride themselves as politicians and seem to think Hoke Smith must be still deposed and that even William Jennings Bryan shall be a man of the past.

Our class has made great progress not only in their literary courses, but also on the athletic field. Our football team, under the direction of our proficient coach, Prof. Shingler, made no disgraceful record during the past season. Our baseball team deserves special mention and during the next three years we defy the other teams at Emory to equal us.

Although the elements of our future greatness are almost invisible and until the present have been almost unrecognized by the upperclassmen, the class of '11 has already demonstrated features sufficient to forecast for us a successful career while at dear "old" Emory, and the shaping of illustrious lives which shall reflect honor to our Alma Mater.

HENRY D. HAWKINS, Historian.
Freshman Class Officers

J. R. WEBB
Dux

T. N. BUSSEY
Prophet

H. H. JONES
Chaplain

H. D. HAWKINS
Historian
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>City, State</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A. M. Aiken</td>
<td>Mansfield, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E. E. Adair</td>
<td>Cartersville, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. P. Arnold, Φ Δ Θ</td>
<td>Perry, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. H. Arrington, Δ Τ Ω</td>
<td>Augusta, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. S. Barrett, Δ Τ Δ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. Blackwell, Δ Τ Δ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. Boza</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. H. Burt, Δ Τ Ω</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F. D. Bush, Σ Ν</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>T. N. Bussey</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. P. Barfield</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. H. Brewton</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. A. Carruth, Κ Α</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. G. Cheshire, Σ Ν</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. H. Clark</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>T. M. Christian, Φ Δ Θ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Converse, Σ Α Ε</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. B. Crane</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>T. H. Daniell</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. T. Decn, Δ Τ Δ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>T. G. Elder</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. V. Elliott</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. E. Freeman, Κ Α</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. N. Fuller, Σ Α Ε</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. H. Fudge, Σ Ν</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. D. Gray</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. P. Greer</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>P. B. Harman</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. F. Harris</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. D. Hawkins</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. H. Howell</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. R. Huggins</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. M. Jackson, Χ Φ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Z. T. Jackson, Χ Φ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E. W. Johnson, Κ Α</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. H. Jones, Δ Τ Δ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O. W. Little</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. F. Montgomery, Σ Α Ε</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>P. M. Muse</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. J. Peavy, Δ Τ Δ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Name</td>
<td>Fraternity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------------------</td>
<td>------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. M. Peeples</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. S. Pendleton</td>
<td>Σ Α Ε</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. E. Rhodes</td>
<td>Χ Φ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. A. Saunders</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. T. Sharp</td>
<td>Δ Τ Δ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>George Shelton</td>
<td>Σ Ν</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. O. Stanford</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. M. Starr</td>
<td>Χ Φ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. G. Smith</td>
<td>Δ Τ Δ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. T. Taylor</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. C. Thomas</td>
<td>Α Τ Ω</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. N. Trimble</td>
<td>Κ Α</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H. D. Todd</td>
<td>Δ Τ Δ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E. R. Turner</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. R. Webb</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. S. Wright</td>
<td>Φ Δ Θ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lott Warren, Jr.</td>
<td>Π Κ Α</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Sub-Freshman Class
Colors: Yellow and White.
Flower: Cactus.
Motto: Help!
Yell: Rah!!! 1912!

Officers

Dux .............................................. J. F. Myrick.
Historian ........................................ B. E. Wilcox.
Prophet ......................................... J. E. English.
Poet ................................................. A. S. Howell.
Chaplain ......................................... T. O. Lambert.
Secretary-Treasurer ......................... C. C. Morgan.
History of the Sub-Freshman Class

WHEN September 19th of 1907 rolled around, there gathered in the lecture room of one, a. Farmer, a group of boys, assorted Sub-freshmen, who straightway began, with their jack-knives, to carve on the desks of said room the titles by which they are known. And accompanying the titles thus inscribed in this hall of fame, is the place of residence and “dip” year of each of the Subs thus commemorated. And when the years have sped by and some of these one time Subs are Seniors, the prints made on those desks of time will stand forth to illustrate the truth that no man can be judged merely by his beginning. Then again, they will serve as an index to the many writers of biographies, who must needs choose some of this class as their subjects of praise.

And on September the twentieth, when the college inspector passed through the above mentioned room, he counted on said desks thirty-eight newly chiseled epigraphs, and thereupon he reported to the secretary the names of the thirty-eight Sub-freshmen comprising that class. But, as the weeks wore on toward Christmas, and then forward to the last of January, some of those names did not widen and deepen, but were allowed to grow dim. So, when the inspector passed through that room during the first of February, he received that nine of those names had grown dark and dusty and that they were the same size, then as formerly. Accordingly those nine names were stricken from the roll of students for referring to the secretary’s figures, one, who had not enough energy to keep his name pure and clean, was not worth trouble required to educate him.

And all men recognize the truth of this assertion: In any man’s signature can be traced some of his foremost characteristics. Even so in these carvings can be detected certain traits. At one place can be seen the carefully arranged signature, perfect in design, which suggests the careful, pains-taking student sure of his rise to higher heights. In some other position is found a fancy, flourishing signature which clearly indicates that there are some sporty Subs. In still another place is seen the small, poorly carved title of one of those of our midst who has the regular habit of busting, who makes it a science. And there is yet one more style of signature to be seen in this room—the even, steady, open signature which points to the athlete. He, it is, who is expected to uphold the banner of the class in the strife for honors on the diamond.

And on one morning when the Sub professor was slightly tardy, one among the Subs dared the wrath of that reverend official and did carve on his desk these words, “F. F. Farmer from Broxton, Ga.” and when said official did see the inscription on his desk, he waxed hot and, shaking his head in wrath, he exclaimed, “Well, now, just see!” And when those Subs had shown their appreciation of his position by a hearty cheer, again he said, “Well, now, just see, young gentlemen.” And this being his habitual stopping place, he has never made further progress with his fierce denunciation.

B. E. WILCOX, Jr., Historian Class 1912.
Sub-Freshman Class Officers.

B. E. Wilcox
Historian

A. S. Howell
Poet

J. F. Myrick
Dux

C. C. Morgan
Sec'y-Treasurer

T. O. Lambert
Chaplain
Sub-Freshman Class.

A. Andrews ........................................... Cuthbert, Ga.
W. B. Burke, Χ Φ ..................................... Macon, Ga.
J. W. Bell ............................................. Shellman, Ga.
W. S. Clark ........................................... Folkston, Ga.
W. L. Converse, Σ A E ................................ Valdosta, Ga.
James English ........................................... Waycross, Ga.
A. S. Howell ........................................... Vidalia, Ga.
P. Hudson .............................................. Thomson, Ga.
W. W. Jamar, Α T Ω ................................. Savannah, Ga.
F. L. Micou ............................................ Lanett, Ala.
C. C. Morgan ........................................... Vienna, Ga.
J. F. Myrick ........................................... Dovedale, Ga.
V. B. Newton ........................................... Oliver, Ga.
L. S. Perry ............................................. Atlanta, Ga.
J. B. Parham ........................................... Odessadale, Ga.
H. M. Quillian, Α T Ω .............................. Covington, Ga.
P. T. Hinson ........................................... Hinson, Fla.
O. H. Smith, Χ Φ ..................................... Columbus, Ga.
W. V. Smith ........................................... Attapulgus, Ga.
L. N. Todd ............................................. Augusta, Ga.
R. N. Watson .......................................... Odessadale, Ga.
W. M. Walker .......................................... Tifton, Ga.
A. W. White ........................................... Atlanta, Ga.
B. E. Wilcox, Jr. ...................................... Fitzgerald, Ga.
Chapter Roll

Alpha—University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.
Beta—Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.
Gamma—Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
Delta—Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J.
Epsilon—Hampden-Sidney College, Hampden-Sidney, Va.
Eta—University of Georgia, Athens, Ga.
Theta—Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.
Iota—Ohio State College, Columbus, Ohio.
Lambda—University of California, Berkeley, Cal.
Mu—Stephens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J.
Nu—University of Texas, Austin, Texas.
Xi—Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.
Omicron—Sheff Scientific School, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
Rho—LaFayette College, Easton, Pa.
Phi—Amherst College, Amherst, Mass.
Chi—Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.
Psi—Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa.
Omega—Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga.
Chi Phi Fraternity

Founded at Princeton 1824.

Gamma Chapter.
Organized 1869.
Colors: Scarlet and Blue.

FRATER IN FACULTATE.
James Edward Dickey, D. D., President.

FRATERS IN URBE.
Capers Dickson,
William Henry LaPrade, Jr.

FRATERS IN COLLEGIO.
Goodrich Cook White.
Louis Marvin Lester.
Wiley Burge Wisdom.
Linton Kelly Starr.
George Marshall Jackson.
William Edward Rhodes.
William Blount Burke, Jr.
William Stuart Witham, Jr.
Angus Millard Perkerson.
Ralph Martin McGhee.
Trammell Star.
Thomas Oliver Marshall.
John William Edmondson.
Zimri Thurman Jackson.
Harlan McKinney Starr.
Oscar Hurt Smith.
Charles Foster Jones, Jr.
Active Chapter Roll of Kappa Alpha

Alpha—Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va.
Beta—University of Georgia, Athens, Ga.
Delta—Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C.
Eta—Richmond College, Richmond, Va.
Theta, Kentucky State College, Lexington, Ky.
Kappa—Mercer University, Macon, Ga.
Lambda—University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.
Nu—Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala.
Xi—Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas.
Omicron—University of Texas, Austin, Texas.
Pi—University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.
Sigma—Davidson College, Davidson, N. C.
Upsilon—University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.
Phi—Southern University, Greensboro, Ala.
Chi—Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.
Psi—Tulane University, New Orleans, La.
Omega—Central University of Kentucky, Danville, Ky.
Alpha Alpha—University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.
Alpha Beta—University of Alabama, University, Ala.
Alpha Gamma—Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La.
Alpha Delta—William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.
Alpha Zeta—William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.
Alpha Eta—Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.
Alpha Theta—Kentucky University, Lexington, Ky.
Alpha Kappa—University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.
Alpha Lambda—Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland.
Alpha Mu—Milsap College, Jackson, Miss.
Alpha Nu—George Washington University, Washington, D. C.
Alpha Xi—University of California, Berkeley, Cal.
Alpha Omicron—University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark.
Alpha Pi—Leland Stanford, Jr., University, Stanford, Cal.
Alpha Rho—West Virginia University, Morgantown, W. Va.
Alpha Sigma—Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga.
Alpha Tau—Hampden-Sidney College, Hampden-Sidney, Va.
Alpha Upsilon—University of Mississippi, University, Miss.
Alpha Phi—Trinity College, Durham, N. C.
Alpha Chi—Kentucky Wesleyan University, Winchester, Ky.
Alpha Omega—N. C. A. & M. College, Raleigh, N. C.
Beta Alpha—Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, Mo.
Beta Beta—Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va.
Beta Gamma—Charleston College, Charleston, S. C.
Beta Delta—Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky.
Beta Epsilon—Delaware College, Newark, Del.
Beta Xeta—University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla.
Beta Eta—University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma.
Beta Theta—Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.
Beta Iota—Drury College—Springfield, Mo.
Kappa Alpha Fraternity

Founded at Washington and Lee University 1869.

Epsilon Chapter.
Organized 1869.

Colors: Crimson and Old Gold.
Flowers: Red Rose and Magnolia.

FRATER IN URBE.
Dr. Chas. E. Dowman.

FRATRES IN FACULTATE.
Dr. J. F. Bonnell, Vice-President.
Prof. H. H. Stone, Treasurer.

FRATRES IN COLLEGIO.
Bonnell Harold Stone. Livingston Snow.
Alvah Kilpatrick Cooper. Asa Abel Lemon.
Homer Virgel Reynolds. Richard Brogden Trimble.

Roy Miller Lilly.
Active Chapter Roll of Phi Delta Theta

Roll of College Chapters in Divisions.

Alpha Province.

Quebec Alpha (1902) — McGill University, Montreal, Canada.
Ontario Alpha (1906) — University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada.
Maine Alpha (1884) — Colby College, Waterville, Me.
New Hampshire Alpha (1884) — Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.
Vermont Alpha (1879) — University of Vermont, Burlington, Vt.
Massachusetts Alpha (1886) — Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.
Massachusetts Beta (1888) — Amherst College, Amherst, Mass.
Rhode Island Alpha (1889) — Brown University, Providence, R. I.
New York Alpha (1872) — Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.
New York Beta (1883) — Union University, Schenectady, N. Y.
New York Delta (1884) — Columbia University, New York, N. Y.
New York Epsilon (1887) — Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.
Pennsylvania Alpha (1873) — Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.
Pennsylvania Beta (1875) — Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, Pa.
Pennsylvania Delta (1879) — Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa.
Pennsylvania Epsilon (1880) — Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

Beta Province.

Virginia Beta (1873) — University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.
Virginia Gamma (1874) — Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va.
North Carolina Beta (1885) — University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Gamma Province.

Kentucky Alpha Delta (1850) — Central University, Danville, Ky.
Kentucky Epsilon (1901) — Kentucky State College, Lexington, Ky.
Tennessee Alpha (1876) — Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.
Tennessee Beta (1883) — University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

Delta Province.

Ohio Alpha (1848) — Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.
Ohio Beta (1860) — Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio.
Ohio Gamma (1868) — Ohio University, Athens, Ohio.
Ohio Zeta (1883) — Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.
Ohio Eta (1896) — Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio.
Ohio Theta (1896) — University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Michigan Alpha (1864) — University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.
EPSILON PROVINCE.
Indiana Alpha (1849) — Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.
Indiana Beta (1850) — Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind.
Indiana Gamma (1859) — Butler University, Irvington, Ind.
Indiana Delta (1860) — Franklin College, Franklin, Ind.
Indiana Epsilon (1860) — Hanover College, Hanover, Ind.
Indiana Zeta (1868) — DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.
Indiana Theta (1893) — Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.

ZETA PROVINCE.
Illinois Alpha (1859) — Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.
Illinois Beta (1865) — University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.
Illinois Delta (1871) — Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.
Illinois Zeta (1878) — Lombard College, Galesburg, Ill.
Illinois Eta (1893) — University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.

Theta Province.
Wisconsin Alpha (1857) — University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.
Minnesota Alpha (1881) — University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.
Iowa Alpha (1871) — Iowa Wesleyan University, Mount Pleasant, Iowa.
Iowa Beta (1882) — University of Iowa, Iowa City, la.
Missouri Alpha (1870) — University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.
Missouri Beta (1880) — Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.
Missouri Gamma (1891) — Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.
Kansas Alpha (1882) — University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan.
Nebraska Alpha (1875) — University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.
South Dakota Alpha (1906) — University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S. D.
Colorado Alpha (1902) — University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo.

ETA PROVINCE.
Georgia Alpha (1871) — University of Georgia, Athens, Ga.
Georgia Beta (1871) — Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
Georgia Gamma (1872) — Mercer University, Macon, Ga.
Georgia Delta (1902) — Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga.
Alabama Alpha (1877) — University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala.
Alabama Beta (1879) — Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala.

THETA PROVINCE.
Mississippi Alpha (1877) — University of Mississippi, University, Miss.
Louisiana Alpha (1889) — Tulane University, New Orleans, La.
Texas Beta (1883) — University of Texas, Austin, Texas.
Texas Gamma (1886) — Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas.

IOTA PROVINCE.
California Alpha (1873) — University of California, Berkeley, Cal.
California Beta (1891) — Leland Stanford, Jr., University, Stanford University, California.

KAPPA PROVINCE.
Washington Alpha (1900) — University of Washington, Seattle, Wash.
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity

Founded at Miami University, 1848.

Georgia Beta Chapter.
Organized 1871.

Colors: White and Blue.

Flower: Carnation.

FRATER IN FACULTATE.
Prof. James Park Hanner.

FRATRES IN COLLEGIO.

Carl Theodore Stovall, Jr.  Robert McDonell Arnold.
Harry Young McCord, Jr.  George Pierce Hammond.
Frank Witt Adams.  Fred Bangs Rawlings.
Samuel Vernon Stiles.  Earnest Stowers Armistead.
Sam Thomas Harrell.  George Ward Wight.

James Slater Wight.
Active Chapters Alpha Tau Omega

Alabama Alpha Epsilon—Alabama Polytechnic Institute.
Alabama Beta Beta—Southern University.
Alabama Beta Delta—University of Alabama.
Florida Alpha Omega—University of Florida.
Georgia Alpha Beta—University of Georgia.
Georgia Alpha Theta—Emory College.
Georgia Alpha Zeta—Mercer University.
Georgia Beta Iota—Georgia School of Technology.
Louisiana Beta Epsilon—Tulane University.
Texas Gamma Eta—University of Texas.
Illinois Gamma Zeta—University of Illinois.
Illinois Gamma Chi—University of Chicago.
Indiana Gamma Gamma—Rose Polytechnic Institute.
Indiana Gamma Omicron—Purdue University.
Michigan Alpha Mu—Adrian College.
Michigan Beta Kappa—Hilldale College.
Michigan Beta Lambda—University of Michigan.
Michigan Beta Omicron—Albion College.
Wisconsin Gamma Tau—University of Wisconsin.
Colorado Gamma Lambda—University of Colorado.
California Gamma Iota—University of California.
Iota Beta Alpha—Simpson College.
Kansas Gamma Mu—University of Kansas.
Minnesota Gamma Nu—University of Minnesota.
Missouri Gamma Rho—University of Missouri.
Nebraska Gamma Theta—University of Nebraska.
Washington Gamma Phi—University of Washington.
Maine Beta Upsilon—University of Maine.
Maine Gamma Alpha—Colby College.
Massachusetts Beta Gamma—Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
Massachusetts Gamma Beta—Tufts College.
Massachusetts Gamma Sigma—Worcester Polytechnic Institute.
Rhode Island Gamma Delta—Brown University.
Vermont Beta Zeta—University of Vermont.
New York Alpha Lambda—Columbia University.
New York Alpha Omicron—St. Lawrence University.
New York Beta Theta—Cornell University.
Pennsylvania Alpha Iota—Muhlenberg College.
Pennsylvania Alpha Rho—Lehigh University.
Pennsylvania Alpha Upsilon—Pennsylvania College.
Pennsylvania Tau—University of Pennsylvania.
North Carolina Alpha Delta—University of North Carolina.
North Carolina Xi—Trinity College.
South Carolina Beta Xi—College of Charleston.
Virginia Beta—Washington and Lee University.
Virginia Delta—University of Virginia.
Ohio Alpha Nu—Mt. Union College.
Ohio Alpha Psi—Wittenberg College.
Ohio Beta Eta—Ohio Wesleyan University.
Ohio Beta Mu—Wooster University.
Ohio Beta Omega—Ohio State University.
Ohio Gamma Kappa—Western Reserve University.
Tennessee Alpha Tau—Southwestern Presbyterian University.
Tennessee Beta Pi—Vanderbilt University.
Tennessee Beta Tau—Southwestern Baptist University.
Tennessee Omega—University of the South.
The Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity

Founded at Richmond, Va., 1865.

Alpha Theta Chapter.

Organized 1881.

Colors: Sky Blue and Old Gold.

Flower: White Tea Rose.

FRATRES IN FACULTATE.
Rev. Rembert Gillman Smith, A. B.
Edward Kimbrough Turner, Ph. D.

FRATRES IN URBE.
Dudley L. Williams.
William T. Burt.

FRATRES IN COLLEGIO.
Thomas Jackson Dempsey.
Walter S. Bryan.
Hubert L. Mobley.
W. Clyde Cooper.
R. Hall Davis.
P. Gratlan Corker.
J. Lynn Blackwell.
Ralph H. Arrington.
W. Wallace Jamar.

Joseph M. Bryan.
Harry S. Daley.
William Ashley.
Paul M. Munro.
S. Elliott Jenkins.
Russell A. Peeples.
W. Clark Thomas.
Walter H. Burt.
Henry M. Quillian.
Active Chapter Roll of S. A. E.

Maine Alpha — University of Maine.
Massachusetts Beta Upsilon — Boston University.
Massachusetts Iota Tau — Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
Massachusetts Gamma — Harvard University.
Massachusetts Delta — Worcester Polytechnic Institute.
New York Alpha — Cornell University.
New York Mu — Columbia University.
New York Sigma Phi — St. Stephens.
New York Delta — Syracuse University.
Pennsylvania Omega — Allegheny University.
Pennsylvania Sigma Phi — Dickinson College.
Pennsylvania Zeta — Bucknell University.
Pennsylvania Delta — Gettysburg College.
Pennsylvania Theta — University of Pennsylvania.
Washington City Rho — George Washington University.
Virginia Omicron — University of Virginia.
Virginia Sigma — Washington and Lee University.
North Carolina Xi — University of North Carolina.
North Carolina Theta — Davidson College.
South Carolina Gamma — Wofford College.
Michigan Iota Beta — University of Michigan.
Michigan Alpha — Adrian College.
Ohio Sigma — Mt. Union College.
Ohio Delta — Ohio Wesleyan University.
Ohio Epsilon — University of Cincinnati.
Ohio Theta — Ohio State University.
Ohio Rho — Case School of Science.
Indiana Alpha — Franklin College.
Indiana Beta — Purdue University.
Indiana Gamma — University of Indiana.
Illinois Psi Omega — Northwestern University.
Illinois Beta — University of Chicago.
Minnesota — University of Minnesota.
Wisconsin Alpha — University of Wisconsin.
Georgia Beta — University of Georgia.
Georgia Psi — Mercer University.
Georgia Epsilon — Emory College.
Georgia Phi — Georgia School of Technology.
Alabama Iota — Southern University.
Alabama Mu — University of Alabama.
Alabama Alpha Mu — Alabama Polytechnic Institute.
Missouri Alpha — University of Missouri.
Missouri Beta — Washington University.
Nebraska Lambda Phi — University of Nebraska.
Arkansas Alpha Upsilon — University of Arkansas.
Kansas Alpha — University of Kansas.
Iowa Beta — University of Iowa.
Iowa Gamma—Iowa State College.
Colorado Chi—University of Colorado.
Colorado Zeta—Denver University.
Colorado Lambda—Colorado School of Mines.
California Alpha—Leland Stanford Junior University.
California Beta—University of California.
Washington Alpha—University of Washington.
Louisiana Epsilon—Louisiana State University.
Louisiana Tau Epsilon—Tulane University.
Mississippi Gamma—University of Mississippi.
Texas Rho—University of Texas.
Kentucky Kappa—Central University.
Kentucky Iota—Bethel College.
Kentucky Epsilon—Kentucky State College.
Tennessee Zeta—Southwestern Presbyterian University.
Tennessee Lambda—Cumberland University.
Tennessee Nu—Vanderbilt University.
Tennessee Kappa—University of Tennessee.
Tennessee Omega—University of the South.
Tennessee Eta—Southwestern Baptist University.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity

Founded at University of Alabama, 1856.

Georgia Epsilon Chapter.

Organized.

Colors: Purple and Old Gold.

Flower: Violet.

FRATRES IN COLLEGIO.

Quillian Felker.
  William Randolph Strickland.
  Otto Lee Henderson.
  William Henderson Warren.
  Albert Sidney Pendleton, Jr.
  Hugh Nelson Fuller.
  Quillian Lemuel Garrett.
  Louis Stovall Perry.

Benjamin Simms Heard.
  Leonidas Carswell Kolb.
  Thomas Alwyn Wilson.
  Harry William Gallaher.
  Albert Converse, Jr.
  L. F. Montgomery.
  William Loraine Converse, Jr.
  Edgar Eugene West.
Active Chapters of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity

Lambda—Vanderbilt University.
Pi—University of Mississippi.
Phi—Washington and Lee University.
Beta Epsilon—Emory College.
Beta Theta—University of the South.
Beta Iota—University of Virginia.
Beta Xi—Tulane University.
Gamma Eta—George Washington University.
Gamma Iota—University of Texas.
Omicron—University of Iowa.
Beta Gamma—University of Wisconsin.
Beta Eta—University of Minnesota.
Beta Kappa—University of Colorado.
Beta Pi—Northwestern University.
Beta Rho—Leland Stanford University.
Beta Tau—University of Nebraska.
Beta Upsilon—University of Illinois.
Beta Omega—University of California.
Gamma Alpha—University of Chicago.
Gamma Beta—Armour Institute of Technology.
Gamma Theta—Baker University.
Gamma Kappa—University of Missouri.
Beta—Ohio University.
Delta—University of Michigan.
Epsilon—Albion College.
Zeta—Addlebert College.
Kappa—Hillsdale College.
Mu—Ohio Wesleyan University.
Chi—Kenyon College.
Beta Alpha—Indiana University.
Beta Beta—DePauw University.
Beta Zeta—University of Indianapolis.
Beta Xi—Ohio State University.
Beta Phsi—Wabash College.
Gamma Delta—West Virginia University.
Alpha—Allegheny College.
Gamma—Washington and Jefferson College.
Nu—Lafayette College.
Rho—Stephens Institute of Technology.
Upsilon—Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.
Omega—University of Pennsylvania.
Beta Lambda—Lehigh University.
Beta Mu—Tufts College.
Beta Nu—Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
Beta Omicron—Cornell University.
Beta Chi—Brown University.
Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth College.
Gamma Epsilon—Columbia University.
Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan University.
Delta Tau Delta Fraternity

Founded at Bethany, W. Va., 1859.

Beta Epsilon Chapter.

Organized 1882.

Colors: Old Gold, Purple and White. Flower: Pansy.

FRATER IN URBE.
L. Z. Johnson.

FRATRES IN COLLEGIO.

Active Chapter Roll of Sigma Nu

Pi—Lehigh University.
Beta Rho—University of Pennsylvania.
Beta Sigma—University of Vermont.
Gamma Delta—Stevens Institute of Technology.
Gamma Epsilon—Lafayette College.
Gamma Theta—Cornell University.
Gamma Psi—Syracuse University.
Sigma—Vanderbilt University.
Gamma Iota—State College of Kentucky.
Mu—University of Georgia.
Theta—University of Alabama.
Iota—Howard College.
Kappa—North Georgia Agricultural College.
Eta—Mercer University.
Xi—Emory College.
Beta Theta—Alabama Polytechnic Institute.
Gamma Alpha—Georgia School of Technology.
Epsilon—Bethany College.
Beta Beta—DePauw University.
Beta Nu—Ohio State University.
Beta Zeta—Purdue University.
Beta Eta—University of Indiana.
Beta Iota—Mt. Union College.
Beta Upsilon—Rose Polytechnic Institute.
Gamma Pi—University of West Virginia.
Gamma Beta—Northwestern University.
Gamma Gamma—Albion College.
Gamma Lambda—University of Wisconsin.
Gamma Nu—University of Michigan.
Gamma Mu—University of Illinois.
Gamma Rho—University of Chicago.
Delta Theta—Lombard University.
Beta Mu—State University of Iowa.
Gamma Sigma—Iowa State College.
Gamma Tau—University of Minnesota.
Nu—Kansas State University.
Rho—Missouri State University.
Beta Xi—William Jewell College.
Gamma Xi—State School of Mines and Metallurgy.
Gamma Omicron—Washington University.
Upsilon—University of Texas.
Phi—Louisiana State University.
Beta Phi—Tulane University.
Gamma Upsilon—University of Arkansas.
Delta Beta—Dartmouth.
Delta Gamma—Columbia University.
Gamma Eta—Colorado State School of Mines.
Gamma Kappa—University of Colorado.
Gamma Chi—University of Washington.
Gamma Zeta—University of Oregon.
Gamma Phi—University of Montana.
Beta Chi—Leland Stanford Junior, University.
Beta Psi—University of California.
Beta—University of Virginia.
Lambda—Washington and Lee University.
Psi—University of North Carolina.
Beta Tau—North Carolina A. & M. College.
Delta Alpha—Case School of Applied Science.
Chi—Cornell University.
Sigma Nu Fraternity

Founded at Virginia Military Institute, 1869.

Xi Chapter.

Organized 1884.

Colors: White and Old Gold.

Flower: White Rose.

FRATRES IN COLLEGIO.

William Nelson Armor.
Thomas Milton Rivers.
Dan Lamont Gibson.
Albert Brown Wade.
Ben Hill Fudge.
Henry Grady Cheshire.

Dillard Bearden Sewell.
Dumas Hale Malone.
John William Turner.
Felix Donovan Bush.
George L. Shelton.
Isaac Bush.
Preface

In this department are represented those men who for various reasons have not chosen to become members of any fraternity. It will be seen from the class groups which are herein shown that they compose no small part of the student body, and an investigation of their individual records reveals the fact that they play a very conspicuous part in every worthy phase of college activities. Although bound together by no formal ties of love or association, yet there is found in their ranks hearts that beat as true and loyal, and characters as noble and generous as ever blessed the lives of men. As a rule they mingle in good-natured fellowship with the entire student body, their friends in fraternities not excepted, all seeking to exemplify and maintain the high standard of the true Emory man.
Ye Nons of Nineteen Eight

Farewell ye nons of nineteen eight,
'Tis well that we have met;
Although divided soon we'll stand,
Our friendship binds us yet.

Within your ranks are noble hearts
That glow with friendship's light.
'Tis well you've trod old Em'ry's way,
'Tis well you've fought your fight.

A kindly fate attend your life
And bless your future way.
Success attend your several paths
And bless you each, I pray.

Non-Fraternity Men of the Senior Class

W. H. Beckham.
F. L. Bedingsfield.
E. J. Daniel.
H. T. Freeman.
A. E. Dewar.
L. C. Dickson.
S. C. Haddock.

G. W. Hutchinson.
D. C. Jones.
C. H. Orr.
I. T. Pearson.
A. G. Robertson.
M. W. Smith.
T. M. Sullivan.
Non-Fraternity Members of Junior Class

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Allgood, S. Y.</th>
<th>McCord, J. D.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Anderson, R. H.</td>
<td>Moore, L.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beckwith, W. S.</td>
<td>Morgan, S. C.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brinkley, S.</td>
<td>Parham, L. G.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buxton, R. L.</td>
<td>Reeve, T. E.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buxton, S. H.</td>
<td>Sandiford, H.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Copeland, G. B.</td>
<td>Thomas, D. C.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evans, H.</td>
<td>Townsend, J. N.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greene, E. H.</td>
<td>Tyler, C. H.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Heath, E. V.</td>
<td>Ward, C. S.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Holbrook, H. C.</td>
<td>White, A. W.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johnson, B. H.</td>
<td>Wilson, E. C.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lambert, J. F.</td>
<td>Wooten, A. A.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Non-Fraternity Members of Sophomore Class

W. E. Binford
B. C. Bird
W. F. Buford
J. T. Coppedge
O. N. Dowd
C. R. Fox
C. W. Fulford
G. A. McMullen
C. R. McWhorter
H. E. Pafford
D. H. Perryman
W. Rumble
P. B. Sandiford
T. J. Sappington

I. Henderson
R. A. Holmes, Jr.
E. D. Kenyon
W. S. Lane
T. A. Lewis
J. E. Lovett
R. W. McGee
L. L. Stanford
W. O. Suttles
A. C. Tanner
O. B. Trammell
J. M. Wilcox
L. O. Woodruff
E. G. Mackay
Non-Fraternity Men of the Freshman Class

T. X. Bussey,
W. H. Brewton,
B. B. Crane,
C. H. Clark,
C. V. Elliott,
W. P. Gray,
A. P. Greer,
P. B. Harman,
H. D. Hawkins,
J. R. Huggins,

Hugh Howell,
O. W. Little,
P. M. Muse,
J. M. Peebles,
W. A. Saunders,
W. O. Stanford,
H. L. Smith,
J. W. Taylor,
J. R. Webb.
Non-Fraternity Members of the Sub-Freshman Class

1. J. F. Myrick.
2. D. P. Starr.
3. J. B. Parham.
4. B. E. Wilcox, Jr.
5. A. Andrews.
6. C. C. Morgan.
7. F. L. Micon.
8. W. V. Smith.
9. V. B. Newton.
11. R. L. Burns.
12. R. N. Watson.
13. J. W. Bell.
15. P. T. Hinson.
Non-Fraternity Reception

Monday night of the '07 Commencement was given over to entertainments for the undergraduates and visitors. Accordingly the non-fraternity men, as is their custom, spared no time nor pains to give a reception to their guests worthy of enjoyment. The large and beautiful Sandiford home, formerly the home of Bishop Haygood, was decorated with college colors and flags, while the large grove in front of the house presented a very beautiful picture, lighted with large Japanese lanterns and provided with settees. This provision was well made as the house was filled to overflowing, the attendance numbering more than two hundred. Refreshments were continually served, and contesting games were participated in by those inclined to play. The music was furnished by the Aragon Orchestra, of Atlanta, who gave some beautiful renditions. The members of the college faculty responded to their invitation, and were present. The hour of adjournment came at a late hour, and with reluctance the crowd dispersed from the scene of a very pleasant evening.
Theta Nu Epsilon

Founded at Wesleyan University 1870.

Colors: Green and Black.

Gamma Tau Chapter.

Established 1904.

William Nelson Armor.
Ben Tyler Carter.
Thomas Jackson Dempsey, Jr.
Quillian Felker.
Dillard Bearden Sewell.
Otto Lee Henderson.
Frank Hill, Jr.
Harry Young McCord, Jr.
Wiley Burge Wisdom.
Grady E. Clay.
Harry W. Gallaher.
Albert B. Wade.
Henderson Warren.
Pedragon

W. N. Armor (7).
W. M. Barnett (9).
Dr. J. F. Bonnell (F 7).
Prof. F. C. Brown (F 1).
P. E. Bryan (C 1).
J. M. Bryan (21).
W. L. Bryan (6).
B. T. Carter (17).
P. H. Christian (23).
G. E. Clay (15).
W. C. Cooper (8).
T. J. Dempsey, Jr. (C 2).
Dr. F. N. Duncan (F 6).
W. A. Dozier (C 3).
H. T. Freeman (22).
Prof. J. P. Hanner (F 2).

A. F. Hill, Jr. (10).
Charles C. Hinton (13).
L. M. Lester (18).
J. W. Lawrence (C 4).
R. M. McGhee (19).
R. K. Malone (C 5).
P. M. Monro (24).
Dr. C. W. Peppler (F 3).
T. M. Rivers (14).
J. W. Roberts, Jr. (12).
L. Z. Rosser, Jr. (11).
G. H. Stone (16).
Dr. E. K. Turner (F 4).
Prof. W. L. Weber (F 5).
E. C. Wilson (20).
D. V. S. Senior Society

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1902</th>
<th>1903</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Guy Trimble Smith.</td>
<td>Thomas M. Armstead.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. D. Hightower, Jr.</td>
<td>Montague Lafitte Boyd.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Guy Arthur Myers.</td>
<td>Thomas B. Cavanaugh.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hiram Warner Martin.</td>
<td>Nathan Bell Dozier, Jr.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thomas Whipple Connally.</td>
<td>Hubert E. Osborne.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1904</td>
<td>1905</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alfred Hayne Cravatt.</td>
<td>Robert Shumate Parker.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Darwin Hudson Boyd.</td>
<td>George Albert Barron.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Weldon Lucian Hatcher.</td>
<td>William Hill Lewis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hal Fitzgerald Hentz.</td>
<td>Oliver Elwin Rayne.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charles H. Richardson, Jr.</td>
<td>Harry Stone Strozier.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1906</td>
<td>1907</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Henry Ethridge Bullard.</td>
<td>Henry Grady Almand.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Egbert Earle King.</td>
<td>Benjamin Simms Heard.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1908</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Robert McDonell Arnold.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leslie Linton Blair.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carl Theodore Stovall.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William Carlos Smith.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bonnell Harold Stone.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William Roberts Strickland.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goodrich Cook White.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Naughty Eight Social Club

T. J. Dempsey, Jr.
S. C. Haddock.
D. B. Sewell.
G. W. Hutchinson.
G. C. White.
H. T. Freeman.
L. W. Lester.
Social Club

Motto: Do it Now.

Flower: Night-blooming Cereus.

Colors: Orange and Green.

Song: “I’m Afraid to Come Home in the Dark.”

R. H. Arrington, A Τ Ω
J. L. Blackwell, A Τ Ω
A. Converse, Σ Α Ε
H. N. Fuller, Σ Α Ε
G. M. Jackson, Χ Φ
Z. T. Jackson, Χ Φ
A. S. Pendleton, Σ Α Ε
W. E. Rhodes, Χ Φ
R. B. Trimble, Κ Α
ALPHA PHI. SOCIAL CLUB

Colors:
Blue and White.

Flower: Carnation.

W. W. Jamar, A T Ω
W. L. Converse, Σ A E
O. H. Smith, X Φ EPICUREANS
Q. Felker.
F. N. Duncan.
W. R. Strickland.
ENGINEERING CLASS

A. G. Robertson.
B. H. Stone.
W. H. Beckham.
H. Sandiford.
A. F. Hill.
G. B. Copeland.
W. B. Wisdom.
Prof. H. H. Stone.
ENGINEERING CLASS

A. G. Robertson.
B. H. Stone.
W. H. Beckham.
H. Sandiford.
A. F. Hill.
G. B. Copeland.
W. B. Wisdom.
Prof. H. H. Stone.
Ministerial Association.

Dr. James E. Dickey
Rev. W. H. LaPrade
Rev. R. G. Smith

S. Y. Allgood
W. F. Burford
B. B. Crane
J. T. Coppedge
E. J. Daniel
J. H. Daniell
H. T. Freeman
C. W. Tulford

C. D. Gibson
Irby Henderson
G. W. Hutchinson
A. S. Howell
S. E. Jenkins
H. H. Jones
T. O. Lambert
O. W. Little

E. G. Mackay
Leland Moore
C. C. Morgan
S. C. Morgan
P. M. Muse
J. D. McCord
LeRoy Parkam

D. H. Perryman
T. E. Reeve
H. L. Smith
T. J. Sappington
T. M. Sullivan
Clark Thomas
J. R. Webb
MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION
EMORY QUARTETTE

A. A. Wooten .............. Tenor.
E. H. Greene .............. Soprano.
J. M. Peeples .............. Baritone.
S. E. Jenkins .............. Bass.
History of Phi Gamma Society.

Phi Gamma Society was organized in the spring of 1837, the first year of the college. Like the college, it did not have a phenomenal growth at first but each year gradually increased its membership. The first years of the society were characterized more by the enthusiasm and hard work of its members than by seeking a large enrollment. In the ante-bellum days the regular weekly meeting was held on Saturday. The first three hours of the session only served to lend "excitement and ginger" to the debate and a short recess was given for dinner, after which the enthused speakers returned and continued the discussion until late in the afternoon. With such genuine enthusiasm and such a love for polemic discussion, it is no wonder that during this period were developed men who were to stand at the front as pulpit and forensic orators.

In the fall of 1839 it was decided to divide the society and form a new one. The division was effected by appointing two men to choose the members for each of the two societies. Prof. G. W. W. Stone chose for Phi Gamma and W. H. Holcombe for the new society which was afterwards named Few, in honor of the first president of the college, J. A. Few.

The present hall was finished in 1851 and was opened with elaborate exercises. During the Civil War college was suspended and the hall was used as a hospital. The doctors in charge were very kind and considerate in preserving intact the books and manuscripts of the society.

When college opened after the war Phi Gamma had quite a large membership as compared with the number of students in college. In fact she had all the students except two. Among the men who were members at this period were, J. S. Bryan, W. R. Branham, W. A. Haygood, Walker Lewis, J. E. Pope and C. O. Jones. With the earnest efforts of these zealous young men the old spirit of the society was revived and since then the work has steadily pushed forward.

As an evidence of the work done by Phi Gamma Society there can be no better witness than the illustrious alumni she has sent out to bless the world. These men have distinguished themselves in almost every line of reputable endeavor and have reflected the highest honor on their society. To the college of bishops she has given, Jas. S. Key, Atticus G. Haygood and Warren A. Candler. In the itinerary and foreign mission fields are found among others, Dr. Walker Lewis, Dr. C. O. Jones, Dr. Robbins, Dr. Sassnett, Dr. Heidt, Dr. Bigham and Dr. Park. Among the statesmen are found such names as L. Q. C. Lamar, U. S. Senator and Justice of the Supreme Court of U. S.; U. S. Senator, W. J. Bryan (Fla.); Congressman Clin. J. Welbourn, J. W. Islar (S. C.) and Gordon Lee. In the legal profession are Judges J. W. Aikin, late president of the State Senate, J. K. Hines, Henry Harris and Judge Lewis. Some of her prominent educators are, former presidents of Emory, O. L. Smith, A. G. Haygood, W. A. Candler. and C. E. Dowman; W. C. Bass, a former president of Wesleyan Female College, Rufus W. Smith, president of LaGrange Female College, C. C. Cody, professor of mathematics, Southwestern University, Cosby W. Smith, professor at Wesleyan, D. Q. Abbott and Euler B. Smith, Professor at Georgia Normal, W. N. Sheats, State School Commissioner of Florida, W. B. Merritt, State School Commissioner of Georgia and J. W. Hill, State School Commissioner of Alabama. Three of her former members are on the faculty of Emory at present. Dr. J. F. Bonnell, Prof. H. H. Stone and Prof. F. F. Farmer.

G. W. HUTCHINSON.

---

Roll of Phi Gamma.

Beckham, W. H.
Burt, W. H.
Bryan, J. M.
Bunn, H. C.
Cooper, W. C.
Corker, P. G.
Coppedge, J. T.
Crane, B.
Daley, H. S.
Daniel.
Dempsey, T. J., Jr.
Dickson, L. C.
Edmundson, J. W.
Elliott, C. V.
Evans, S.
Evans, H.
Fox, C. R.
Freeman, H. T.
Garrett, O. L.
Gibson, D. L.
Gibson, C. D.
Hutchinson, G. W.
Hill, A. F.
Jamar, W.
Jenkins, S. E.
Jones, H. H.

Johnston, B. H.
Lester, L. M.
Lambert, J. F.
Marshall, T. O.
Malone, D. H.
Mobley, H. L.
Moore, L.
Pafford, H. E.
Reeve, T. E.
Sewell, D. B.
Starr, T.
Smith, A. R.
Sandiford, H.
Saunders, W. A.
Stiles, V.
Stone, B. H.
Suttles, W. O.
Sandiford, P. L.
Thomas, D. C.
Tyler, C. H.
Webb, J. R.
White, G. C.
Wight, G. W.
Wight, J. S.
Wilcox, B. E.
History of Few Society.

With the realization of the fact that an organization for polemic association is of untold benefit to students, particularly in a literary institution, a portion of the students of Emory College, during its infancy, established the Phi Gamma Literary Society. The increasing number of members and the widespread popularity of the new feature soon caused the society to be too large and unwieldy and it was evident that two societies of such a nature were needed and that another should be organized. Therefore, several members of Phi Gamma formed themselves into a new association, which, in deference to the illustrious name and eminent virtues of the first president of Emory College, was named the Few Society.

The first meeting was held on August 10th, 1839, and from that time the society has always been of great value to those who have improved the opportunities it has afforded, aiding in their mental development and affording practice in oratory and debate.

The early minutes show an unusual interest in the debates and give evidence of the fact that during the past youths have waxed warm in stressing their points.

The original meetings of the society were held in the old Day Chapel, which served very well as a gathering place at that time. Realizing, however, that their plans and purposes could only be carried out by having a building of their own, steps were taken in that direction and now Few Hall stands as a monument to those who succeeded in building and paying for it.

The Civil War caused the only interruption of the work of the society since its organization. During that bloody conflict the hall no longer resounded with the thundering voices of young orators but instead could be heard the groans of dying men wounded in battle, for it had been converted into a hospital. Mr. Roberts and Rev. Charles Lane, however, survived the hardships and difficulties as they came up and when all was once more calm and peaceful, managed to place Few on a surer and more certain foundation.

The regular meetings of the society are now held every Monday morning, beginning at nine o'clock, and are conducted in an orderly and parliamentary manner so as to be of the greatest help and improvement to its members.

There are over 2,000 names on the matriculation book, among which are distinguished statesmen, lawyers, preachers, teachers and men of affairs, who are not only an honor to the society but to Emory College.

Few Society has always had, as its highest purpose "the promotion of Virtue and Patriotism, the cultivation of the forensic powers and for the sake of general improvement in science and literature." That these ends have, to a great extent, been accomplished is attested by the fact that hundreds of Few's sons have testified of the great help they have received from the society and the benefit it afforded, afterwards, in the busy scenes of life.

ROBERT M. ARNOLD.
Roll of Few Literary Society

Allgood, S. Y.
Anderson, R. H.
Arnold R. M.
Bird, B. C.
Brewton, W. H.
Brinkley, S.
Bryan, W. S.
Burford, W. F.
Bussey, T. N.
Buxton, R. L.
Buxton, S. H.
Daniels, E. J.
Dowd, O. N.
Fulford, C. W.
Gray, W. D.
Greene, E. H.
Haddock, S. C.
Heath, E. V.
Harrell, S. T.
Henderson, I.
Holbrook, H. C.
Howell, A. S.
Howell, H.
Jones, D. C.
Kenyon, E. D.
Lane, W. S.
Little, O. W.
MacKay, E. G.
Morgan, C. C.
Morgan, S. C.
McCord, J. D.
Micon, F. L.
McWhorter, C. R.
Munro, P. M.
Myrick, J. F.
Muse, P. M.
Orr, C. H.
Parham, L. G.
Pearson, I. T.
Peavy, H. J.
Peebles, J. M.
Perryman, D. H.
Smith, H. L.
Smith, W. V.
Stanford, W. O.
Starr, L. K.
Sullivan, T. M.
Tanner, A. C.
Taylor, J. W.
Thomas, D. C.
Trammell, O. B.
Townsend, J. N.
Walker, W. M.
Ward, C. S.
White, A. W.
Wilcox, J. M.
Wooten, A. A.
Debaters Against Wofford.

Subject:

Resolved, That, under existing conditions in the United States, the continuation of the protective tariff policy is preferable to the policy of gradual reduction to a tariff for revenue only.
Phi Gamma Champion Debaters.

H. T. FREEMAN.
T. J. DEMPSEY, Jr.
L. C. DICKSON.

Few Champion Debaters

R. M. ARNOLD.
A. W. WHITE.
T. M. SULLIVAN.
Footprints.

September 17th.—The car wheels grind and screech as they come to a stop in Covington. The Emory students pile out and transfer to the palace car drawn by the Oxford hayburners, and the noisy contingent begins to glide through the maizes of Midway on into the jaws of their future destiny and to the tender mercies of Madam Peed. As they near Oxford the oxen on a thousand hills lift up their plaintive voices in sad lament as they view this army of steak masticators approaching; the citizens stand with outstretched arms to receive their nine months' support; the numerous old maids of the village behave themselves very unseemingly as they see so much new masculine material approaching on which to exercise their dilapidated charms.

September 18th.—The college clock lazily strikes the doleful hour of 10 A.M., the chapel organ gives forth a demoniacal shriek as it awakes from its summer siesta; "Sub" Johnson surveys the new student body, and covering his face with his hands, weeps over the year's prospects—college opens.

September 19th.—King James conceitedly presents a new scheme of classification, certifies rain down upon the head of the unfortunate faculty and the new recruit finds that he is not such an intellectual wonder as the homefolks had led him to believe.

September 20th.—Weber and Brown hang around King James' back door for a handout from the English department, but being ordered to saw wood in the same old way, they prepare to depart to other Plutonian regions.

September 21st.—A tug of war between "frats" and "nons" for the new recruit, and a general riding of the goat ensues.

September 22nd.—The venerable locks of King James inspire reverence, but his knock-knees are the end of theory.

September 23rd.—Few and Phi Gamma give new men some examples of spellbinding oratory. Mr. Harry Brooks and Miss Arte Wright are married.

September 25th.—The new boy "Wille," hears from the "gal" he left behind, "Sally."

September 28th.—Madam Peed blows his nose and Pug Smith blacks King James' shoes.

October 1st.—Dowd and Ashley both attempt to manipulate the organ during the agonies of the college choir. Ashley is victorious.

October 3rd.—"Zeke" Turner agrees to take charge of gym.

October 5th.—New boys are in the agonies of homesickness.

October 8th.—Football practice commences.

October 14th.—Relay race won by Juniors.

October 18th.—Dr. B. A. Wise announced as English "Prof."

October 21st.—First game of football season.

October 25th.—Hannah weeps over the departure of Weber.

October 29th.—Few Society's anniversary.

October 31st.—Seniors have "possum" hunt. Dr. Peppler goes with the class. "Twenty-three" possums are caught.

November 8th.—Some soot falls on "Pep's" head and is removed with extreme modesty on the part of that blushing piece of masculine femininity.

November 9th.—President Pearce of Brenau lectures.

November 16th.—Fred Emerson Brooks lectures.

November 25th.—Football season ends.

Seniors win the pennant without having to stand under the goal post.

November 28th.—Annual editors elected.

November 31st.—Shelley Ivey sells the Arcade to W. T. Burt.

December 5th.—"Pep" and Shingler embrace.

December 10th.—"Fox" Bonnell buys a new cob pipe. "Red" Robertson buys his old one.

December 13th.—Freshman football team are given a bouquet by Shingler.

December 14th.—Impromptu debate won by Phi Gamma.
December 22d.—Xmas holidays.

January 1st.—Boys swap lies about what they did at home.

January 5th.—Effects of Georgia prohibition law are felt keenly by the faculty, and as a result many of the professors are confined to their rooms for lack of their accustomed remedy.

January 10th.—15th.—Coming events cast their shadows before them and “xams” loom up in all of their unmitigated dread.

January 22d.—“Xams” begin and all engage in a precipitate rush for the coveted “six.”

February 1st.—“Xams” end and with them many a poor devil’s hope for a rise.

February 8th.—Basketball is practiced some.

February 15th.—“Pey” and “Oedipus” experiment with catching rats.

February 24th.—The seniors test the refractory powers of the Atlanta photographer, and have their banquet at the Piedmont Hotel.

February 27th.—Senior class presents Dr. Peppler with a gold-headed cane—no reflections on his walk.

February 29th.—Oxford old maids give thanks for the privileges of leap year.

March 1st.—Baseball practice commences.

March 5th.—Bryan and Townsend are selected for the Emory-Wofford debate.

March 7th.—Phi Gamma Literary Society’s 71st anniversary celebrated.

March 15th.—Protracted meeting commences and continues for one month.

March 16th.—Baseball season opens.

March 20th.—“Ferdy” Duncan and “Bully” Felker embrace.

March 25th.—“Ceph” Stone wages war on the campus and plants some flower beds.

March 30th.—“Foxy” Farmer takes a trip to Milledgeville—barely escapes the asylum.

April 5th.—“King James” appoints “Pug” Smith to be his life long valet.

April 6th.—Spring term debate won by Phi Gamma.

April 13th.—Field Day.

April 13th.—Recital by Brennan ladies.

April 15th.—Senior class tree day.

April 16th.—Freshmen and Sophomore’s contest for speaker’s places.

April 23rd.—Dr. Dickey entertains the Seniors.

April 26th.—Memorial Day celebrated. Professor Stone, Walter H. Beckham and Irby Henderson make addresses.

May 4th.—Phoenix editors elected.

May 18th.—Seniors are tendered a reception by Few and Phi Gamma Literary societies.

June 7th.—Commencement Sunday.

June 10th.—Commencement Day. Old 1908 class departs. God bless her!

Self-Depreciation.

Sullivan (to Hutchinson on traveling rings in gym): “Go on, Hutch, don’t take so long.”

Hutch: “How can I go on? The only ring that’s unoccupied is the one I’m on.”

As Horace Used To Sing It.

Pater et mater solvent debita omnia et nos ludimus,
Amicis aemulationis scholae rixae, ejas!
Summum ut necesse excoitionis, quid fecerimus
Quam pecunia ergavimus et.

Prof. Shingler: “Mr. Starr, name a geological phenomenon which to you is difficult to explain.”

Starr: “One that I don’t understand is how bituminous coal is transformed into anthracose (anthracite).
Dream Girl.

I.
When o'er my eyes there comes a veil,
And sordid cares begin to pale,
'Tis then I see my dream girl.
By her my rest is gently guiled;
With her my time is gladly whiled—
She is a charm, my dream girl.

II.
She has a wondrous charming style,
With timid glance, entrancing smile—
This maid of dreams, my dream girl.
Her laughing eyes seem made of fun.
Her curling locks with gold seem spun—
An angel is my dream girl.

III.
Her gentle spirit ne'er repels,
Her secret heart she never tells—
This maid of love, my dream girl.
And when my spirit dark may seem,
I'll close my eyes and dream and dream,
And dreaming, see my dream girl.

W. H. BECKHAM.

Some Beatitudes.

1. And seeing the students, King James went to his office; and when he was set, the faculty came unto him:
2. And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,
3. Blessed are the poor in purse, for them was the loan fund created.
4. Blessed are they that mourn for Turner shall mourn with them.
5. Blessed are the meek for Johnson is the meekest of all.
6. Blessed are the merciful, for Bonnell is a trump.
7. Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall rise regardlessly.
8. Blessed are the "bootlickers," for they shall inherit the earth.
9. Blessed are they which do "bootlick," strenuously, for theirs is the kingdom of Dickey.
10. Blessed are ye when the boys shall revile you, and shall persecute you and shall say all manner of things against you rightly for my sake.
11. Rejoice and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward with me; for so persecuted they the "profs" which were before you.

W. C. COOPER.
Oxford College Life.

Dramatis Personae.

Jim Dickey—Monarch of all he surveys.
Pug Smith—An ardent follower of Dickey.
Madam Peed—He of Trigonometric fame.
Baldy Pep—The man with the hairless head.
Zeke Turner—A has-been student in Germany.
Hard-Luck Poorsub—One despised by Dickey.

ACT I.
Scene I.

Place: A room in the Hash-house, meagerly furnished. The lamp is turned low, and it is 11:30 at night. Poorsub is the only occupant of the room. He has just finished a letter to Jemimah Simpkins, his fair lady.

Poorsub (soliloquizing)—I have just written my adored Jemimah that I will be up to see her Sunday night. As I have no permission, I will have to slip away. Slipping off to Atlanta has been overlooked in the past, but were I caught up with, I would no longer have to eat hash and grits in this house. It would be home and mother for me. I am cordially hated by our beloved president, and he is eagerly seeking a chance to ship me. He would give anything for a chance, yes, he would even give two of his lengthy locks of hair to "fire" me consequently I will have to be exceedingly crafty to make my trip without being caught up with. He gets out his bandana handkerchief and ties up a change of socks and linen, preparatory to making the trip. He blows out the light and retires.

Scene II.
(Place: Midway depot. It is two o’clock at night. In the distance can be heard the rumbling of the approaching train. Our friend Pug is creeping stealthily from tree to tree.)

Pug (to himself)—Ah! If I could only see some college boy get off the train, then would my future be bright. I would give anything for a chance to distinguish myself in the eyes of dear Dr. Dickey, and he would be glad to ship a boy for slipping off to Atlanta without permission. (The train has stopped at the depot.) Pug sees Poorsub step off. He approaches and taps Poorsub on the shoulder.

Pug (in thundering tones)—At last I have caught you! Where have you been, Poorsub?

Poorsub—Nowhere. I was only crossing from the other side of the train.

Pug—You lie, base villain, you have slipped away to Atlanta and are just getting back.

Poorsub—You are mistaken, Professor.

Pug (in elevated tones)—Ah! no. Not me. For a great many am I, and am never mistaken. I am "Sherlock Holmes" in disgust. I perceive your handkerchief and in it is a change of collars and socks, hence it is easy for me to deduce that you have been on a trip. I see the frightened look in your eyes and it tells me that you went without permission. Now is the chance to prove myself worthy of my position. Many long nights have I sought to catch you in this nefarious conduct; at last I have you in my power.
Poorsub—Please do not report me, Professor.
Pug (a holy look on his face)—I have my Christian duty to perform, and consequently I must report you. I go to announce the news to my venerable master. (Exit Pug. Curtain.)

ACT II.
Scene II.

(Place: A twentieth century poker joint—(Dickey's office)—with a game in progress. It is Sunday night. The four players, Jim Dickey, Madam Peed, Zeke Turner and Baldy Pep, have all cut church in order to have a good old-fashioned game.)

Zeke (in a faraway voice)—Waiter, bring me a glass of beer. (The beer is brought and as Zeke slowly blows away the foam, he murmurs in a dreamy tone), Ah, this reminds me of school days in Germany.

Madam (laying down his cards)—W-a-a-l naow! As I have four of a kind, the pot is mine. (Pep's bald head commenced shining and a beatific grin spread over his face and even his shining head seemed joyful.)
Pep—Not yet, old girl; cast your eyes over my Royal straight flush. It seems that I get the money.

Dickey (with a venerable wave of his hand)—Hold! Not by the hair of Absalom. Perceive the four deuces and the joker which now I show you.

Madam—W-a-a-l naow! By all the six trigonometric functions I have lost.
Pep (his voice quivering with rage, fires a beer bottle at Dickey's head)—Sneak, you cheated. Accept that bottle as a token of my regard.

Zeke (mourning his pair of threes)—I wonder what my dear old professor in Germany would think of this row.

(Rap, rap, rap! Someone knocks at the door. They are rash. They care not who sees them now.)

Dickey (with a roaring voice)—Come in this room.
Pep (squeaking with his head leaning to one side like a parrot)—Ah! Do please come in.

Madam—W-a-a-l naow! Put one leg over and crawl in.
Zeke (with a strong Latin accent)—G-i-r-ease your-r back and slide under-r.
(Pug enters meekly with downcast eyes. His reverence for the others is clearly shown in his face.)
Pug—Most reverent brother professors, I have discovered something which I hope will merit your approval. I was over at the midnight train and saw Hardluck Poorsub get back from a trip to Atlanta. As I know that he had no permission to go, this will be a chance to fire him.

Dickey—Sneak!
Pep—Tattle-tale!
Zeke—Toady.

Madam—Snide! Why has your conduct been so rash? The number of students is already low. Without intercollegiate athletics, and with a few more like you on the faculty, our enrollment will be reduced to 23.

Dickey—It has been our policy to overlook such actions as the one you have just reported. But since it has come directly before us, we will have to ship Poorsub. How it does grieve my heart to have perform such a sad duty. (As it is now 3 o'clock, they retire to their respective homes.)

Scene II.

(Place:—Back of the old gymnasium. It is just at nightfall. Jim Dickey has made a date to meet Pug Smith there, and Pug is anxiously awaiting the time when he shall come. At last he comes.)

Jim (patting Pug on the back)—Ah! Professor, you have performed your duty nobly and I am well pleased with your conduct in reporting Poorsub. I have had the pleasure of shipping him from this dear old burg. While in my office and after I had told him of his dismissal, he attempted to give me his opinion of myself and the whole college in general, and how much he thought of the basis on which it was run. This gave me an excuse to do what I have long desired, namely: ejecting him from the office on the point of my boot. Indeed you have made me happy. Yea, thrice happy.

Pug (bewildered)—But why the scene in the poker joint? Why was I so roundly berated by each and every one of you?

Dickey (in a conciliatory manner)—That was merely policy on my part. I knew the others were not in favor of reporting such actions, and it was to my advantage to agree with them. Ah! Professor, you have a great deal to learn of the ways of the world. Follow in my steps and be two-faced. Then will you succeed. I would not have told this to any other than you. But since you were the instrument of my happiness, I have told it to you. Ask any favor of me and I will grant it, even though it involves getting a hair cut for myself.

Pug (joyfully)—Master, please grant me the pleasure of being in your presence three more minutes each day. Words that fall from your lips are even as jewels and precious stones to me, and being in your presence will be sufficient recompense for any labors that I may have to perform.

Dickey (patronizingly)—Even though you are a great bore to me, yet I have given my word, and a child of the tribe of Dickey never breaks his word, therefore it will have to be.

(Pug falls on his knees at Dickey's feet as the curtain goes down.)

FINIS.

The Freshman's Soliloquy

Tell me not in football signals
That a straight play I must make,
For that senior tacklings furious,
So I'd rather work a fake.

A Little Anachronistic.

Dr. Pep: While we are discussing the labors of Hercules, will you name one of the twelve, Mr. Robinson?

Robinson: "He captured two saddled horses that had gotten away from the yankees during the Civil War, and rode one of them to Cuba where he greatly assisted Admiral Tolstoi."
An Apology.

The other night, enraptured quite,
With spirits raised full high,
In careless fit, attempting wit,
I made a dear friend cry.

II.
And though to me, who seem's care free,
Her feelings, hurt, give pain,
Yet much I'd pay on any day,
To see those tears again.

III.
For artists grand, with master hand,
Could never exactly trace,
Those tear-dimmed eyes, like stars in skies,
Half hid by clouded face.

IV.
And as I gazed, full well amazed,
In those eyes I'd learned to love,
I craved the bliss of one wee kiss
And thus the sting remove.

V.
So in formal way, I wish to say,
I grieve my thoughtless act,
Yet in my heart the truth will start,
I want that moment back.

W. CLYDE COOPER.

A Midnight Reverie.

It was about midnight and dark as a dungeon outdoors. It had been a dark, misty day, and as night fell the clouds seemed to settle down over the earth, enveloping it with a gloominess that caused people to shudder as they looked out, and to turn up the lamp or light an extra candle in order to drive the dreariness from their rooms; but all in vain. An ordinary noise increased in volume and reverberated until one thought it would never stop. A single dog barking away off in the distance seemed to only increase the stillness.

I was alone in my room. A friend and I had pledged each other that we would not smoke any more until the Christmas holidays. I had bought him off for this one day and how I had smoked. Five centers, ten centers and twenty-five centers had been burned up recklessly. I had been bound to enjoy my respite. It now lacked but a few minutes to midnight and I picked up a long, nice, fat cigar to see how much of it I could burn up before the clock should cease striking the hour that should end my day of enjoyment. The cigar smelled good. I bit off the end. It tasted good. I was in the act of applying a match to it when I was startled by a squeaking voice which said in the most nonchalant manner, "Oh! no, I wouldn't now if I were you." I was startled for I knew that I was alone, but from whence came that voice. I looked about me but nowhere could I see anyone. I dropped the cigar. "Look before you, look before you," squeaked the voice. I looked, and there sitting on my desk in the fashion of tailors sat the wickedest, most diminutive little red devil imaginable. He wasn't more than four inches high and wore the conventional red suit. His general appearance escaped me as my gaze was riveted to his eyes. They glowed like coals of fire and their color was intensified by a rim of white which showed all around them. They were not like ordinary eyes, for they were set out on stalks, as I perceived when he held my gaze with one eye and the other began to twist around and take in the appearance of my room, and finally arose from behind his head still glaring at me. With a sudden jerk the eye came back to its original position and he was seized with an ungovernable fit of laughter.
He held his sides but it seemed to me that there was little to hold. However, he twisted in his convulsions, his eyes never ceased staring into mine. They never laughed. They gazed and seemed to be burning into my very being.
"Ho, ho, ho," he laughed. "You think this is the first time we ever met, but it isn't. Look at these fingers and toes and my back." He whirled around in the most agile manner while his eyes appeared over the top of his head, never leaving their gaze on me. His fingers and toes ended in fine needle-like points and his back resembled a porcupine's except the quills were fine as hairs, but bristly. "Don't you remember the time you smoked your first cigar down in the old orchard at home?" Again he was convulsed in the most diabolical laughter. I, too, had laughed over that since, but it was no laughing affair then.
"Oh, but I had fun that day," he continued. "I am the devil Nicotine. My brothers call me Nic for short," he added by way of parenthesis. "You thought you were going to die that day. Whenever I'd claw your stomach with my hands, or in my glee rub my back against the walls of your stomach you'd think your end had come. This only added to my merriment and I'd turn somersaults to the other side and light with my feet, hands and back planted in the walls there which would make you gag the harder and long, yea long for death to relieve you. Oh, that was a merry day for me; how about you?" and one eye cocked away up askance and the other cocked away down askance. As he saw that I was in no way inclined to reply, he continued. "Since then you and I have been pretty much together all the time. Now it is seldom that I can find any ticklish spot in your stomach, you have such a thick coat there, that I can't make you aware of my presence."

Just then a thick curl of blue smoke arose between us. Startled, I looked to see from whence it came. Horror of horrors, my precious cigar, my last cigar had burst into a flame and was burning up. And as I gazed, unable to move, the little red devil slid down on the curling smoke and disappeared as the last spark flickered out.

—D.

And A Senior Too.

Hutch: "You study astronomy, don't you, Freeman?"
Freeman: "Yes."
Hutch: "Well, what is the consolation of Hercules?"
Breeze Whispers.

I.
O, thou gently whispering breeze,
E'er in flight and ne'er at ease,
Can ne'er your restless soul be calm?
Rippling now the sea's broad breast,
Rustling now the lark's light nest,
Can ne'er sad spirits find a balm?

II.
In your flight from land to land,
In your course that's never spanned,
Have ne'er you found an isle of peace?
In your thoughts of human right,
In your gently gliding flight,
Have ne'er you found a time to cease?

III.
Tho' to man you're oft a friend,
Tho' against God you've never sinned,
Does yet a spirit seek repose?
In your gently whispering sounds,
In your mighty endless bounds,
Does yet a soul to rest still close?

IV.
O'er the land that you've manned,
O'er the seas that you've spanned,
Have ne'er you found a sweet relief?
Of all the secrets you have learned,
Of all the knowledge you have earned,
Have never you found a balm for grief?

V.
Then the gently whisp'ring breeze,
E'er in flight and ne'er at ease,
Seemed lulled to slumber, singing low—
Rippled then the seas broad breast,
Rustled then the lark's light nest,
And gently whisp'ring murmured "no."

W. H. BECKHAM.
Sophs Have A Ten-thirty Under "Fatty".

Dramatis Personae.

Fatty Wise—Dispenser of knowledge concerning the English Language.
Pee Wee Adams—A pious pupil.
Paulos Munro—A rowdy ruffian.
Hendie Warren—A great "shoot 'em up."
Parson Henderson—A boisterous bully.
Dixie Wade—A ministerial student.
Sambo Harrell—A tobacco toper.
Grady Clay—A faculty favorite.
Irish Mackay—A Shamrock sport.

SCENE—Lecture room of English Teacher at Emory College.
TIME—Ten thirty a. m.

(Fatty enters and hears loud and boisterous shouts, sees lumps of coal sailing across the room, while Paulos and Sambo assiduously apply the lighted ends of their cigarettes to the necks of the few who are trying to study a little before the recitation begins.)

Fatty—(lifting his chubby hand in protest)—Gentlemen, let's have order while the roll is called. You should not hurl that coal around in that manner—a piece only missed my head.

Parson (jumping to his feet): Why, Fatty, I assure you that it is a source of regret to the entire class that it was hurled in that manner. We promise better marksmanship in the future.

Fatty: I certainly hope that you will do better in the future. (Great applause.)

(Roll is called, Paulos answering "here" for six of the absentees, while Sambo and Parson take care of the other eleven.)

Fatty—I congratulate the class on such splendid attendance. Mr. Clay may recite and I am assured of a perfect recitation. Mr. Clay, give the principal parts of sprean.

Grady—Base-on-balls, stolen-base, two-bagger, score. (Tremendous applause from the class on such perfect rendition.)

Fatty—Mr. Munro may recite.

Dixie (springing to his feet)—Now, Fatty, you are well acquainted with the fact that Paulos is not a man to be guilty of knowledge, and, according to all the fixed rules of justice, you do him a grave wrong in requesting him to recite.

Fatty—Noble words well spoken my sunny-haired youth.

Paulos—Fatty, I thank you; Dixie, I thank you for thus sparing me embarrassment. (Tremendous applause.)

(At this juncture Fatty espies Sambo silently sucking a pimp stick.)

Fatty—Mr. Harrell, I prefer that you do not smoke cigarettes in this room. Sambo (extinguishing cigarette and lighting cigar)—Beg pardon, your corpulent highness, I was unaware of your dislike for the pimp stick.

Fatty—Mr. Harrell, please discontinue smoking altogether while in here.

(Fatty fails to see the enormous chew of tobacco which Sambo bites off, being busy dodging a lump af coal from the villainous hand of Irish Mackay.)
Fatty—Mr. Mackay, please explain your actions.
Irish—Why, Fatty, the only explanation that I can offer is that my aim was poor.
Fatty—Very good, sir. (Thunderous applause.)
(Clock strikes eleven and class applauds this most heartily).
Fatty—Gentlemen, let’s have order while Mr. Warren favors us with one of his faultless recitations.
Irish—I rise to protest, Fatty, as you have monopolized entirely too much of our valuable time already. Just keep quiet while we develop our musical talents. (Irish here leads the class in singing “Hinkie, Dinkie, Dee.”)
Pee Wee (gaining recognition)—My fellow-classmates, this conduct is unbecoming gentlemen and students of a Christian institution, and I know the noble president of this college will be deeply shocked when I perform my Christian duty of telling him of these rough house proceedings.
Class—Punk! Bum! Rot!
(Order being finally restored, Hendie begins recitation.)
Parson (in a noisy whisper)—Sambo, I’ll roll ’em up high with you for dopes.
Sambo—I’m game! (They roll.)
Fatty—Gentlemen, if you will roll dice in here, please spread your handkerchief over the top of he desk, as the rattle disturbs Mr. Warren in reciting.
(Parson finds Dame Fortune unfavorable to him in this game, tries others with varying fortune.)
Parson—We have decided to cut out recitation for this trip and hike for Stone’s store and there to finish rolling for dopes.
Pious Pee Wee—But, Parson, some of the class have Sophomore Latin at the next period.
Parson—Ah! Twenty-three for Latin, that is easily cut. There are several who have not yet rolled me for dopes and we go up to Stone’s to finish, as it is more convenient up there.
Irish—I agree most heartily with the suggestion. I myself have not yet rolled; I feel sure that I could roll aces three straight times.
Paulos—But do aces count high?
Many voices—No!
Many others—Yes!
Sambo—I move that Fatty decide.
Class—Agreed.
Fatty—I rule that two aces shall count high, but I wish you gentlemen would wait until the hour is up before you roll.
Parson—Oh! cut it short, Fatty, we are off in a bunch for Stone’s store.
(Exit class singing “So Long, Mary”).
Fatty—Woe is me!

DAN L. GIBSON, ’10.
Retrospection.

I.

When on some mossy bank I lie,
The sun beyond the western sky,
And night's dark curtains 'round me fall
As rap'ry on a funeral wall,
Like one beneath some magic spell
And dreaming things he ne'er can tell,
I lie thus drunken with delight,
And listen to the voice of night.

II.

The rustling of the broad oak leaves
While nodding in the evening breeze,
The distant chant of negroes gay,
The answering echoes far away,
The sound of banjo music sweet,
The patter soft of dancing feet,
All cast a wondrous charm o'er me
And join in sweetest harmony.

III.

The croaking frogs too, lend their aid
With comic voice in serenade.
The warbler's faintly uttered peep,
As startled in his evening sleep,
And e'en the owlet's dismal hoot,
While goes his sire some nest to loot,
And in so sweet a cadence swell
I lose myself in Nature's spell.

IV.

And listening thus, enraptured quite,
Scarce hearing distant sounds of night,
My soul from earthly care is free
To fly through fields of memory.
The distant sounds then hearing not,
Myself and resting place forgot,
With soul full light, and heart-beats fast,
I live again the happy past.

W. CLYDE COOPER.
Orphan Anne

By WALTER H. BECKMAN.

Far up in the Tennessee country was the home of Anne Allston. Her little two room cabin of logs and clay was perched high on Raccoon Ridge where old Mother Nature seemed to love the spot as well as its owner. Wild flowers grew in abundance. Clematis vine and trailing honeysuckle almost covered the little cabin as though seeking to protect from harm this humble mountain abode and its fair occupant. To the mountain people she was known as "Orphan Anne," although twenty years had elapsed since old Dan, her drunkard father, had been carried by a quiet little procession of rugged mountaineers to a lonely little grave on the hillside. She had always lived in the same little cabin—she and her faithful dog Fritz—but Dan's grave never lacked her attention.

The narrow mountain road from the valley below wound lazily up the ridge, past Anne's fertile patches and on by the little cabin door. Many strangers, passing up the mountain and attracted by the peculiar picturesqueness of this scene, would pause at the cabin for a moment's rest and a drink of water. A great many, too, would pause to marvel at Anne's beauty—but that was all. A cool drink of water, a word of direction, or a smiling farewell, were all that any ever received from Orphan Anne.

"She's a peculiar child," old Sol Sykes, one of the mountaineers, would mutter with a sad shake of his head. "Ain't much like her dad wuz, and he said she wan't much like her mammy wuz, so I dunno, I dunno," and with this unsatisfactory comment he would turn his attention to other matters.

It was nearing the close of a day in late September. The last lingering rays of an early autumn sun played caressingly over the mountain's crest as though loth to depart. As evening came on the birds in the valley below seemed to sing with a softer note, and the wild flowers on the mountain side hung in drooping clusters as though weary from the day's sun. The thick vegetation in the valley drooped with inclined head as if timidly awaiting the kiss of the morning dew. All nature seemed only waiting for the stern eye of old Sol to sink into the western shadow to plunge herself into the sweet repose of a summer night's rest. Anne stood in the doorway of her little cabin, her graceful, athletic figure suffused in the golden glow of the setting sun, and her keen eyes scanning the road that led up from the valley.

"Bout time for a revenue officer to show up on these mountains," she muttered to herself. "Sam Larkins, the peddler, told me last week the boys better look sharp. I wish and have wished a long time, that they'd quit selling whiskey, but if the officer depends on me to tell their hiding place, he'll go back empty-handed," and so saying she turned and walked back into her cabin.

The words had scarcely been uttered before there appeared on the mountain road a rough-looking individual, garbed in hickory shirt and blue overalls, mounted on a wiry little pony. His face to all appearances was expressionless, yet his eagle eyes seemed to glow from under his broad brim hat with the grim determination of a characteristic moonshiner. The ambitious efforts of his little pony soon brought him to the mountain's crest and he drew rein at the door of Anne's cabin.

"Well, Dick, what is it now?" inquired Anne, appearing at the door.
The mountaineer gazed at her a moment in silence and stroked the pony's mane, but at length a frown crossed his eyes and he looked down at the valley. "Anne, the officers are after us agian," he remarked quietly.

"Sam Larkins told me about 'em. What you boys going to do?" she inquired softly.

"What moonshiners usually do," he replied, with a meaning touch of his hip pocket.

"You mean you'll fight?"

"Yes, we will fight, and I have come for you to aid us."

"But I shall not aid you," she informed him with downcast eyes.

The mountaineer's brow contracted and in his vexation he pulled savagely at his long moustache. Astonishment and anger was written on his countenance.

"Has the revenue officer won you over?" he suddenly asked.

"No, I shall not help either side," she answered, slightly blushing.

"Anne, how dare you refuse when so often you have shielded us from the government?"

"Dick, I told you men last fall when Reddy Royster was killed, that never again would I stand against the law for your crowd," she answered.

"Why, Anne?"

"Because it is wrong."

"Been a parson talking to you, I guess," Dick remarked sarcastically.

"No, Dick, I've been talking to myself. I'm a mountain bred woman and am not much better than the rest of them, but I have always kept a little board back Bible."

"Very religious," the mountaineer remarked contemptuously.

Anne's cheeks colored to a deep red and she plainly showed that she was vexed. She took a step forward and gazed him square in the face.

"You boys and your mean whiskey made dad die a drunkard. I was left an orphan on this old mountain and you men aided me in many ways. Please don't think I am not grateful—God in heaven knows that I am—but don't, please don't ask me to help you out in this mean business. I can't do it."

The mountaineer was silent and his eyes sought the ground. His thoughts went back to Anne's father, and he dwelt fondly over the memory of her childhood and the part he had played in it. It was hard to realize that she was no longer a child and it grieved him to think that he could no longer claim her childish affection—she was now a woman. He thought he understood her present feelings—that feeling of resentment against him and his crowd, and the understanding of them was distinctly unnerving. His lips twitched when at length he looked up and met her frank look, but he couldn't speak. He turned his pony about and slowly and silently departed down the mountain. Anne watched him until he rounded the last bend in the trail and was lost in the shadows beyond, but never once did he look back. She had rather hoped that he would.

A few mornings later, just as the early rays of the morning sun were shimmering among the mountain's cliffs and crags, Dan Braswell, the revenue officer, made his appearance. He was different from those that had preceded him. He had a frank, boyish look, which if studied a little closer revealed grim determination, mingled with tenderness, and his figure was athletic, but not rugged.

The moonshiners began to watch his operations with intense interest, for he had at the very first caused trouble in their ranks. On his very first raid he had captured two distilleries in full operation, and his subsequent visits were none the less troublesome to them. In all of their troubles, however, they never blamed Anne nor spoke lightly of her action. "She usually does what is right, boys, so I dunno, I dunno," was Sol Syke's customary comment, and this was accepted by them as final criticism of the matter.

In the early course of his experience, the revenue officer had made her acquaintance. Like many others who had preceded him, he marveled at her beauty and wondered at her peculiarities. Like many others also, he found that his admiration, while appreciated was not sought, and that his efforts at intimate friendship, while not always repulsed, were never in the least encouraged.

As for Anne, she slyly watched his operations with growing interest. In the course of his ramblings, he often paused at her cabin and good naturedly engaged her in conversation. She was at first quick to discourage such attempts on his part, but he never became discouraged; he would just laugh and pass on. She soon found it rather difficult to maintain her cold reserve under such conditions as these, and she soon found her feigned resistance giving way to sly encouragement. Once when one of the mountaineers was slyly teasing her, she looked archly' up and slightly blushing remarked: "Dan is different from most men I've met," and then modestly refrained from further expressing herself on the subject.

Late one afternoon as he was returning from the mountain, the revenue officer seeing Anne in the doorway of her little cabin, paused for a few moments' conversation.

"Anne, I have often wondered if you do not hate me," he remarked as he drew rein.

"Are you quite sure that I do not?" she inquired, with a coy smile and a flippant toss of her head.

"Not as sure as I would like to be, by any means, since I have often feared you."

"Why, Mr. Braswell?" she inquired with downcast eyes.

"I have often thought that you sympathized with the cause of the moonshiners," he replied.

"I am in sympathy with nothing unlawful. I sympathize with them, not their cause."

"Then you are friendly to me?"

"I am certainly not an enemy to your cause," she modestly replied.

"Thank you; I feel a great deal easier," he remarked, with a short laugh, and after exchanging a few more remarks he departed down the mountain. Just before the little cabin was lost to sight, he looked back. Anne was still standing in the doorway watching him.

During the subsequent days that followed he made it convenient to take many such trips to the little cabin. The place seemed to have an unusual attraction for him and its air of homeliness strangely appealed to him. He was proud that he had succeeded in breaking down and overcoming every barrier that Anne had at first interposed, and he rejoiced in his privilege of friendship with her. He had tried to reason Anne out, but had signally failed to reach a satisfactory conclusion. She had strangely interested him and he found himself wondering at his own feelings. It was her beauty that had at first attracted him, but later on her unblemished rustic character and high, though quaint principles of honor, had laid the foundation for an unfeigned admiration which gradually increased. She had not at first impressed him as being his equal, but soon he worshipped her as his infinite superior. Although of a limited education, she thirsted for more knowledge. He commenced to supply her with books and reading matter, and rejoiced to see her expand. These innovations came into her simple mountain life as a distinct pleasure and she acknowledged his kindly interest with frank sincerity and unaffected modesty.

He at length attempted an analysis of his feelings. Was he manifesting this interest through purely disinterested motives or was it all leading up to something? The question worried him considerably, but he wasn’t prepared at present to answer it.

It was nearing the close of autumn and the revenue officer had about completed his duties. With the aid of his several deputies he had practically abolished every distillery on the mountain. He drew rein one afternoon at Anne’s cabin and dismounted for a drink of water.

“I have probably intruded myself upon you for the last time,” he remarked as she handed him some water. “I trust not, sir, for your intruding is always a pleasure,” she rejoined, smiling.

“To-morrow I will leave.”
“When to return?”
“Probably I shall never return.”

Then I shall miss you very much,” she softly mumbled, with blushing cheeks and a touch of sadness in her voice. “I shall return to the narrow, lonesome life I lived before I knew you.”

“And I shall return to live a narrow, lonely existence also,” he muttered confusedly.

Both were silent. He was again analyzing his feelings, but the analysis was now easy, and he was playing into the hands of cupid.

“Anne, together we can live a new life. Will you come with me and try?” he suddenly inquired with beseeching eyes.

“Yes, together we will try,” she murmured softly, after a moment’s hesitation.

All nature seemed to be in sympathy with them, and never did the old mountain seem more beautiful in its rustic beauty. The birds even seemed to warble a cherry approval, but old Sol Sykes, hearing of the occurrence, paused a moment and then gruffly muttered, “It may be best, but I dunno, I dunno.”

House Uncovered

Minister while preaching: “Let us care for our bodies, for are they not the houses of our souls?”

Student, looking intently at Dr. Peppler’s bald head: “Well, I’ll declare, Pep’s house hasn’t got a shingle on it.”
Emory College Athletic Association

Officers.
A. E. Dewar ...................... President.
Dr. E. K. Turner ................. Vice-President.
Prof. G. P. Shingler .......... Treasurer.
W. H. Beckham ................. Secretary.
W. C. Smith ................... Captain of Field Sports.
G. C. White .................. Manager of Track Team.
J. M. Bryan ................ Asst. Manager Track Team.
A. E. Dewar ................ Captain Track Team.

Members of Executive Committee.
Dr. E. K. Turner,
Prof. G. P. Shingler,
W. C. Smith,

Members ex-officio.

SENIOR CLASS.
C. H. Orr.
A. E. Dewar.
T. J. Dempsey.

JUNIOR CLASS.
E. V. Heath.
J. W. Roberts.
J. F. Lambert.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.
G. P. Hammond.
H. W. Gallaher.
W. Rumble.

FRESHMAN CLASS.
E. M. Walker.
J. M. Peeples.
G. M. Jackson.

SUB-FRESHMAN CLASS.
W. M. Walker.
B. E. Wilcox.
W. W. Jamar.

Roll of Emory College Athletic Association 1907-08.

Adair, E.
Adams, F. W.
Aiken, A. M.
Allgood, H. Y.
Andrews, A.
Armistead, E. S.
Armor, W. N.
Arnold, R. M.
Arrington, R. H.
Beckham, W. H.
Blackwell, G. L.
Brinkley, S.
Bryan, J. M.
Bryan, W. S.
Burford, R. P.
Burke, W. B.
Burns, Ralph.

McGhee, R. M.
McGhee, R. W.
McWhorter, F.
Middlebrooks, C. L.
Mobley, H. L.
Montgomery, L. F.
Morgan, C. C.
Myrick, J. F.
Orr, C. H.
Parham, J. B.
Parham, L. G.
Pearson, I. T.
Peeples, J. M.
Peeples, R. A.
Pendleton, A.
Perryman.
Rawlins, F. B.
Bush, Isaac.
Bussey, T. N.
Butler, G. D.
Cheshire, H. G.
Clarke, W. S.
Clay, G. E.
Converse, A.
Converse, W. S.
Copeland, G. B.
Corker, P. G.
Crane, B. B.
Daniels, J. H.
Dorsey, R. H.
Davis, Hall.
Dempsey, T. J., Jr.
Dewar, A. E.
Duncan, Dr. F. N.
Edmondson, W.
Elder, G. J.
English, J. E.
Evans, H.
Felker, Q.
Gallaher, H. W.
Gerry, R.
Green, Sam.
Green, E. H.
Greer, A. P.
Haddock, S. C.
Hammond, G. R.
Harmon, P. B.
Hawkins, H. D.
 Heard, B. S.
Heath, E. V.
Hinton, C. C.
Irwin, B. S.
Jackson, G. M.
Jamar, W.
Johnson, Prof. E. H.
Johnson, E. W.
Jones, D. C.
Jones, H. H.
Kenyon, E. D.
Kolb, L. C.
Lambert, J. F.
Lester, L. M.
Lewis, T. A.
Marshall, T. O.
Reeve, T. E.
Redding, T. J.
Roberts, J. W.
Robertson, A. G.
Rumble, W.
Sappington, T. J.
Saunders, W. O.
Sharp, J. S.
Sewell, D. B.
Shelton, G.
Shingler, Prof. G. P.
Smith, A. R.
Smith, W. V.
Smith, W. C.
Smith, M. W.
Snow, L.
Starr, D. P.
Starr, H. M.
Starr, L. K.
Stevenson, R.
Stiles, S. V.
Strickland, W. R.
Sullivan, T. M.
Suttles, W. O.
Tanner, A. C.
Taylor, J. W.
Thomas, W. C.
Todd, L. N.
Townsend, J. N.
Trimble, R. B.
Turner, Ed.
Walker, E. M.
Walker, W. M.
Ward, C. S.
Warren, H.
Watson, R. N.
Wesley, Ottis.
White, A. W.
White, G. C.
Wight, G. W.
Wilcox, B. E.
Williams, V.
Wilson, E. C.
Wilson, T. A.
Wisdom, W. B.
Wood, H. C.
Woodruff, L. O.
All-Emory Football Team.

Dr. Duncan, Coach.
Prof. Hanner, Coach.
Prof. Shingler, Coach.
Dr. Peppler, Coach.
Hill, Sub.
Robertson, H. B.
Dewar, F. B.
Clay, H. B.
Butler, Sub.

Felker, R. E.
Copeland, Sub.
Smith, Q. and Capt.
Roberts, L. E.
Sullivan, L. T.
Edmundson, L. G.
Johnson, Center.
Jones, R. G.
Lambert, R. T.
Senior Football.

Dr. Peppler, Coach.
Felker, R. E.
Snow, L. E.
Orr, L. H. B.
White, G. C., Sub.
Sewell, Sub.
Strickland, Center.
Haddock, L. G.

Dewar, F. B.
Robertson, R. H. B.
Lester, Sub.
Beckham, Sub.
Williams, R. T.
Jones, R. G.
Smith, W. C., Q., Capt.
Sullivan, L. T.
Junior Football.

Prof. Hanner, Coach.
Copeland, R. T.
Green, S., Q.
Wisdom, L. G.
Morgan, Sub.
Starr, L. K., Sub.
Hinton, Sub End.
Hill, Halfback.

Ward, Halfback.
Townsend, R. G.
Heath, Center.
Lambert, L. T.
Evans, Sub.
White, Sub.
Roberts, End.
Reeves, F. B.

Jack Covington, Mascot.
Sophomore Football.

Dr. Duncan.
Woodruff, Sub.
Clay, Halfback.
Lewis, H. B.
Wesley, Sub.
Butler, End.
Edmundson, Guard.

McWhorter, Guard.
Adams, F. B.
Corker, Sub.
Wight, Q.
Stiles, Tackle.
Hammond, Tackle.
Gallaher, End.
Freshman Football.

Prof. Shingler, Coach.
Barfield, Sub.
Walker, E. M., R. T.
Irvin, L. T.
Shelton, R. E.
Montgomery, Captain, Q.
Walker, W. M., L. G.
Harmon, L. H. B.

Sharp, Sub.

Arrington, End.
Jones, End.
Johnson, C.
Myrick, R. G.
Elder, R. H. B.
Middlebrooks, F. B.
Freeman, Sub.
Saunders, Sub.

Standing of Football Teams at Close of Season 1907

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TEAM</th>
<th>PLAYED</th>
<th>WON</th>
<th>LOST</th>
<th>TIED</th>
<th>P. C.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Senior</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Junior</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sophomore</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Freshman</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Track Team.

Dewar.
Ward.
Saunders.
Clay.
Corker.
Kenyon.
Beckham.
Brinkley.
Rawlins.
Lambert.
Bonnell.
McGhee, R. M.
Stiles.
Peeples, J. M.
Hawkins.
Wight, G. W.
Trimble.

Bryan, W. S.
Johnson, Ed.
Bush.
Parham.
Bryan, J. M.
Davis.
Lewis.
Bussey.
Stone.
Walker.
Parham.
Christian.
Converse, L.
Green, S.
White, G. C.
Smith, W. C.
Snow, L.
Junior Baseball Team.
Freshman Baseball Team.
Sub-Freshman Baseball Team.
Sophomore Basketball Team

Bonnell.
Clay.
Wight.
Saunders.
Corker.
Kenyon.
Stiles.
Davis.
Senior Basketball Team.

Jones, Guard.
Orr, Center.
Smith, W. C., Forward.

McGhee, Guard.
Sullivan, Forward.
Junior Basketball Team.

Green, S. Roberts,
Wilson. Bryan, W. S
Brinkley. Reeves.
Hill.
Freshman Basketball Team.

Prof. Shingler.
Bussey.
Johnson.
Thomas.

Dr. Turner.
Trimble.
Saunders.
Harrington.

Blackwell.
Emory Tennis Club.

Wight, G. W.
Dempsey.
Reynolds.
Rivers.
Peevy.
Green.
Burke.
Brinkley.
Corker.

Heard.
Saunders.
Bussey.
McGhee, R. M.
Cooper.
Parham.
Pendleton.
Bonnell.
Mobley.

Walker.
Cromie Sages "Cutting" Chapel.

(THE) "MUSIC HATH SUCH CHARMS" (FOR PUG)
Muse’s

The College Man’s Store

Muse’s has been fast friends with the young men for years—so closely allied in fact that this store has won the name of College Man’s Store.

Young Men’s Suits, $12.50 to $35.00

Boyden Shoes
Muse Special Shoes
Young Men’s Furnishings

College Hats College Hat Bands
Grips, Suit Cases

Come to See Us. Muse’s, 3-5-7 Whitehall Street.

The Typewriter Exchange

BRANCH OF AMERICAN WRITING MACHINE CO.

167 Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga.

Rebuilt Typewriters of All Makes

“Invincible” Typewriter Supplies for all Machines
Wrigley Engraving Company

Designers
Engravers Electrotypers
Stereotypers

Atlanta -:- Georgia

THOMAS & BARTON CO.
703, 710, 712 Broadway, Augusta, Georgia

Pianos, Organs, Sewing Machines, Furniture, Rugs, Mattings

Baby Carriages, Musical Instruments, Etc.

CLARK'S STUDIO
SUCCESSOR TO MOTES & CLARK

The Only Ground Floor and Up-To-Date Studio in State

Rates to Students

243 PEACHTREE ST.
Phone 3324 Atlanta, Ga.

THE most fashionable Gents' Furnisher. In easy reach of the Student body. I most earnestly solicit your valued patronage and promise you the latest and the best at popular prices. -:- -:- -:-

C. E. COOK

Covington, Ga.
HARRY DEATH
THE STUDENTS PHOTOGRAPHER

Discounts Given to Students on all Sizes

MAKER OF HIGH GRADE PHOTOGRAFPHS
In All Styles and Finishes.
Large Groups and Class Pictures A Specialty

When You Think Pictures, Think
Harry Death’s Studio

Office Sword’s Building
COVINGTON, GEORGIA
Distributing agents for Prang Educational Co.,
Ga., Ala., Fla., N. C., S. C., Miss., and Tenn.

GET THE HABIT OF GOING TO LESTER
Book & Stationery Co.
Commercial Stationers and Printers
60 Peachtree and 57 N. Broad, Atlanta, Ga.

Architects' and Engineers' Supplies
Typewriters and Office Supplies
BELL PHONES, 314-334, MAIN.

McCRARY & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO MOORE & STEPHENSON

High-Grade Photography Portraits in Oil, Pastel and Water Colors
Reduced Rates to College Students
ALL WORK EXECUTED IN STUDIO
34 1-2 WHITEHALL ST. ATLANTA, GA.

The Finest and Most Down-to-Date
BARBER SHOP
In the United States
66 Peachtree Street.

A. F. HERNDON, Prop.
When in Atlanta Give Us a Call.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>E. H. MOBLEY</th>
<th>Aiken &amp; Anderson</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Gents’ Furnishings</td>
<td>Livery, Feed and Sales Stable</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crawford Fine Shoes</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jno. B. Stetson and</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chesterfield Soft and Stiff</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hats.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prices Reasonable</td>
<td>Call on US When You Want a</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Team</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. T. Daniel,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>East Side Barber Shop</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patronage of Students</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Solicited</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Covington</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgia</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sain</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Jeweler</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Covington</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgia</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Enterprise Printing Company, COVINGTON, GA.
L. L. FLOWERS, Mgr.

Printing for all purposes from the necessary forms for the successful transaction of business to the artistic catalog designed to inform and influence the prospective customer.

Programs, Invitations and Commercial Work

Dr. TULLY N. SMITH DENTIST

OFFICE:
11 Star Building

COVINGTON,
GA.

F. A. HENDERSON
Soda Fount, Cigars, Tobacco, Confectioneries,
Staple and Fancy Groceries,
Stationery, Students’ Supplies

STUDENTS’ BARBER SHOP
All Work Done by White Barbers Satisfaction Guaranteed

J E. RAWLINS, Proprietor

Byrd Printing Company
Atlanta, Georgia.